15 For the Lord of hoaſtes, the God of Iſrael ſaith thus, Houſes and fieldes, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the poſſeſſion vnto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, ſaying, g According to the cuſtome the inſtrument or euidence was ſealed vp with the common ſeale, and a copy thereof remained, which contained the ſame in effect, but was not ſo auntenticall as the other, but was left open to be ſeene if any thing ſhould be called into doubt.

h And ſo to hide them in the ground, that they might be preſerued as a token of their deliuerance, 17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖ hard vnto thee.

‖ Or, hid.

18 * Thou ſheweſt mercy vnto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquitie of the fathers into the boſome of their i children after them: O God the great & mighty, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts,

19 Great in counſell, and mighty in worke. (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the ſons of men, to giuen to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his works)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Iſrael and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And haſt brought thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt giuen them this land, which thou didſt ſweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedſt them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the ‖ mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it by the meanes of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and behold, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaid vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for ſiluer, and take witneſſes: for the citie ſhalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, ſaying, 27 Behold, I am the LORD GOD of all m fleſh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the n Caldeans ſhall come and fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie, and burne it with the houſes, vpon whoſe roofes they haue offered inceoſe vnto Baal, and powred drinke-offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke mee vnto anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah haue ſurely done euill before me; from their o youth: for the children of Iſrael haue ſurely prouoked mee to angr, with the workes of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath beene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I ſhould remooue it out of my ſight,

32 Becauſe of all the euill of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Prieſts, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them, o riſing vp earely, and inſtructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it.

35 And they built the high p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Ben-hinnom, to cauſe their ſonnes and their daughters to paſſe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they ſhould doe ſuch abomination, to cauſe Iudah to ſinne.

36 And now r therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken concerning this citie, whereof ye ſay, It ſhalbe deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

37 * Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue ſcattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely.

38 And they ſhalbe * my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will giue them t one heart and one way, that they may feare mee for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an euerlaſting u couenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land aſſuredly with my whole heart, and with all my ſoule.

42 For thus ſaith the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, ſo will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promiſed them.

43 And the fields ſhallbe poſſeſſed in this land, whereof ye ſay, it is deſolate without man or beaſt, and ſhallbe giuen into the hand of the Chaldeans.

44 Men ſhall buy x fields for ſiluer, and make writings and ſeale them, and take witneſſes in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah, & in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cauſe their captiuity to returne, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepheards to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, &c in the land of Beniamin and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes, and at that time will I cause l the Branch of righteousnesse to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he shall execute iudgement and righteousnesse in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call m her, is the Lord our n righteousnes.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offrings, and to offer meat offrings, and to do sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day and night in their season.

21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what q this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off: thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my conenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth,

26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seed to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelnie toward their seruants.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when r Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and all his hoaste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the king of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah, thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt die in s peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh the Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, d to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That euery man should let his e seruant go free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebreweese, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they † repented and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants and handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a

* Deut.15,1,12.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming liberty,euery man to his neighbour,and ye had made a couenant before me in [f] the house, wherevpon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and streight couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name : for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid,whom ye had set at liberty at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeied me,in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour : behold, I proclaime a liberty for you, saith the Lord, to [g] the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah,and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies,and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoast, which [i] are gone vp from you.

22 Behold,I will command,saith the Lord,and cause them to returne to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire : and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37.11.

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord,in the daies [a] of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah,saying, a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap.27,1.

2 Go vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in law,who was no Israelite,but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes,and the whole house of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the || treasure.

c That is, a Prophet.

|| Or, doore.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine,and cuppes,and [d] said vnto them,Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saith not,The Lord saith thus, for then they ought to haue obeyed, but he tendeth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said,We will drinke no wine:for [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs,saying, [f] Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

e Whom Iehu the king of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2 King 10,15.

f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancy, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth,and be ready to depart at all occasions.

7 Neither shall you build house,nor sow seed,nor plant vineyard, nor haue any,but all your daies ye shall dwell in tents,that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeied the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father,in all that he hath charged vs,and we drinke no wine all our daies,neither we,our wiues,our sonnes,nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard,nor field,nor seed,

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeied, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem,from the hoast of the Caldeans, and from the hoast of Aram : so we [h] dwell at Ierusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vow, that it could not be broken for any necessity : for where they were commanded to dwel in tents,they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah,saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel,Goe,and tell the men of Iudah,and the inhabitants of Ierusalem,Will [i] ye not receiue doctrine, to obey my words,saith the Lord ?

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that he cōmanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine,is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none,but obey their fathers commandement : notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets,rising vp early,and sending them,saying, * Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not encline your eare, nor obey me.

* Chap.18.11, and 25,5.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts,the God of Israel,Behold,I will bring vpon Iudah,and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them,but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

l That is, by his Prophets and ministers which sheweth that it is as much, as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

18 And Ieremiah said vnto the house of the Rechabites,Thus saith the Lord of hoasts,the God of Israel,Because ye haue obeied the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts,the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man,to stand before me for euer.

m His posterity shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth as Ieremiah inditeth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all.

14 He

14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the [b] sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen from the daies of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquity and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the House of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath that the Lord hath declared against his people.

8 So Baruch the Sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fift [g] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Ioliah king of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the words of Ieremiah in the House of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary in the higher court at the entry of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Saphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord,

12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellor, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hanaoiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Cushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the words, they were [i] afraid, both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certainly tell the king of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, How diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these words vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes to Baruch, Go, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the king to the court, but they laid vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the king all the words, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi reade it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the king sate in the winter house, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the pen-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants that heard all these words.

25 Neuerthelesse, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the words that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee [o] againe another roule and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt,

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, That the king of Babel shall certainely come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue [q] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visite him and his seede, and his seruants for their iniquity, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it to Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

2 But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which he spake by the ‖ ministery of the Prophet Ieremiah.
3 And Zedekiah the king c sent Iehucal the sonne

Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.
4 (Now Ieremiah went d in and out among

5 Then Pharaohs hoast was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ieru-salem, heard tidings of them, they † departed from Ierusalem)
6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, 7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoast, which is come foorth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.
8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this city, and take it and burne it with fire.
9 Thus saith the Lord, ‖ Deceiue not your from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoast of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet
should euery man raise vp in his tent, and burne
this city with fire.
11 ¶ When the hoast of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs army,
12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to go into the f land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.
13 And when he was in the g gate of Beniamin,
there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Irijah,
the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou † fleest to the Caldeans.
14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flie not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Irijah tooke Ieremiah, & brought him to ÿ princes.
15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the Scribe: for they had made that the h prison.
16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time.
17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly, in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, saith he, thou shalt be deli-uered into the hand of the king of Babel.
18 Moreouer, Ieremiah said vnto king Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?
19 * Where are now your prophets, which pro-phecied vnto you, saying, The king of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?
20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord
the king: let my prayer be † accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there.
21 Then Zedekiah the king commaunded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giuen him daily a peece of bread out of the bakers streete, vntill all the i bread in the city were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remai-

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 14 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how hee might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, & Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the words that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,
2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this city, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for b a pray, and shall liue.
3 Thus saith the Lord, This city shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels army, which shall take it.
4 Therefore the princes said vnto the king, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre
c that remaine in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.
5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your hands, for the king can deny d you nothing.
6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stucke fast in the myre.
7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‖ blacke Moore,
one of the Eunuches which was in the kings house,
heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon,
(then the king sate in the e gate of Beniamin)
8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the king, saying, 9 My lord the king, f these men haue done euill
in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and hee dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the city.
10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Take from hence thirty men, † with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.
11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, & went to the house of the king vnder the treasury, and tooke there old rotten ragges, and old worne clouts, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

vnto Ieremiah, Put now these old rotten ragges

13 So they drew vp Ieremiah with coards, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the g court of the prison.

g Where the king had set him before to beat more liberty, as Chap. 37. 21.

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the House of the Lord, and the king said vnto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt thou not slay me? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sweare secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then said Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hoastes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy soule shall liue, & this city shall not be burat vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeeld thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this city be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feated the reproach of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Ieremiah said, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are k left in the king of Iudahs house, shalbe brought foorth to the king of Babels princes, and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, & haue preuailed against thee: thy feet are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother, with others, were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, saith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath beene seduced by his familiar friend and false prophets, which haue left him in the myre.

23 So they shall bring out all the wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this city shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, & say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly l besought the king that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there.

l Herein appeareth the infirmity of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him, And he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Nebuchadnezzar besegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing, is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is preuided for. 16 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuity.

IN * the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and his hoaste against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

* 2 King. 25, 1. Chap. 52, 4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the city was broken a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Shamgarnebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the city by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two walls, and he went toward the wildernes.

b which was a posterne doore, reade 2 Kig. 25, 5.

5 But the Caldeans hoast pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto c Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the wales of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

‖ Or, captaine of the guard.

10 But Nebuz.r-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

d For the rich and the mighty which put their trust in their thirts and meanes, were by Gods iust iudgement most rigorously handled.

11 Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah † vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying,

12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but do vnto him e euen as he shall say vnto thee.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whom he made the scourge to punish the king, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushaz-ban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes.

14 Euen they sent and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto f Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home, so he dwelt among the people.

f Whom the king of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behind.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this city for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou feareest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou g hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his trouble.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him go from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.
2 a And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and sayd vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.
3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done
according as he hath said: because ye haue b sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.
4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, † tarie still:
beholde, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.
5 For yet he was not returned: therefore hee
sayd, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes, and a reward, and let him goe.
6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to c Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.
7 Now when all the captaines of the hoaste, d which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,
8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Ioha-nan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.
9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans:
dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you:
10 As for me, Behold, I will dwell at Mizpah
to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs:
but you, gather you wine, and summer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that ye haue ‖ taken.
11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countryes, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits, very much.
13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoast, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And sayd vnto him, Knowest thou not that g Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee?
But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them
not.
15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let mee goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?
16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam sayd vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt b not do this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

a From this second verse vnto Chap. 41.7. it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, and this vision is declared what it was.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the a seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishamah of the seede royall, and the princes of the b king, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did c eate bread together in Mizpah.
2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Netha-niah with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.
3 Ishmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.
4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it, 5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men hauing their beards shauen, and their cloathes rent and cut, with d offrings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.
6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went foorth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as hee went: and when he met them, hee sayd vnto them, Come e to Gedaliah, the sonne of Ahikam.
7 And when they came into the midst of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the midst of the pit, he and the men that were with him.
8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: so hee stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.
9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had f made because of Bashaking of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.
10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen
the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.
11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and

c They did eate together as familiar friends.
d For they thought that the Temple had not beene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorrowe.
e For his death was kept secret, and he fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem, and the Temple: but after slew them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.
f Asa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and cast ditches and trenches, 1. Kings 15.22.

g Which had bin captaines vnder Zedekiah.

all the g captaines of the hoaste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the h Ammonites.

h For Baalis the king of the Ammonites was the cause of this murther.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon.

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth i Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, i Which place Dauid of old had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2. Sam 19.38.

18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 Hee admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

1 THen all the captaines of the hoaste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most, came,

2 And sayd vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold.)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may a doe.

a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would know of Gods word what they should doe, but will not follow it, but in asmuch as it agreeth with that thing, which they haue purposed to doe.

4 Ten Ieremiah the Prophet sayd vnto them, I haue heard you behold I will pray vnto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing back from you.

5 Then they sayd to Ieremiah, b The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falsehood vse it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the simple and the godly.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whom wee send thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ c And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

c Here is declared the vision and the occasion thereof, whereof mention was made, Chap. 42.1.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoast, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And sayd vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom yee sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

d Reade Chap. 18.8.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you e from his hand, e Because all kings hearts and wayes are in his hands, he can turne them and dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they neede not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prou. 21.1.

12 And I will grant you mercy that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to || dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of hoastes, the God of Israel, If yee set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there,)

16 Then the sword that ye feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine, nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath beene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shalbe a detestation, and an astonishment, and a g curse, and a reproach, and ye shall see this place no more.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. and 44.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelity and stubburnnesse.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath sayd concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainely that I haue admonished you this day

20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

h For ye were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence i in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophecieth the destruction of Egypt.

1 NOw when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these words,

2 Then spake a Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the b proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath d not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, a Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they brast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flattery, reade Isa. 30.10.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah e prouoketh thee

d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the trueth: though indeede they be most farre from all obedience.

e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander, and speake wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and cary vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoaste tooke all the remnant of Iudah that were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had beene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, & Ieremiah the [g] Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel [k] my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: [l] such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them and cary them away captiues, & he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 He shall breake also the images of ‖ Beth-shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt, & the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

Hee reprooueth the people for their idolatry. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophecied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at [a] Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hoastes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednesse which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods whom they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus sayth the Lord of hoasts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither yee be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproach among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednesse, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖ humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to euill, and to destroy all Iudah,

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah that [e] haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment, and a [f] curse and a reproach.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence,

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they † haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [g] such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of ẏ Lord, we will [h] not heare it of thee,

17 But wee will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our kings and our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then † had wee [k] plenty of vitailes and were well and ‖ felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes ‖ to make her glad,

c He setteth before their eyes Gods iudgements against Iudah and Ierusalem for their idolatry, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickednesse prouoke the Lord: for then they should be double punished.

d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering them, we might liue in his feare, and know if he haue not spared our fathers, yea, kings, princes, and rulers, and also whole countreys, and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes, cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, and to follow our owne fantasies: for Satan euer solliciteth such, and doeth not leaue them till he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madnesse, euen to iustifie their wickednesse against God and his Prophets.

i Reade Chap. 7. 18. it seemeth that the Papists gathered of this place Salue Regina, and Regina cœli lætare, calling the virgine Mary Queene of heauen, and so of the blessed virgine and mother of our Sauiour Christ, made an idole: for here the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

† Ebr. we were satiate with bread. k This is still the argument of idolaters, which esteeme religion by the belly, and in stead of acknowledging Gods workes, who sendeth both plenty and dearth, health and sickenesse, they attribute it to their idoles, and so dishonour God. ‖ Or, saw. ‖ Or, want. ‖ Or, to appease her.

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which yee haue committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because you haue burnt incense, and because yee haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah, that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your m hand, saying, We will performe our vowes that wee haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name n shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Behold, I will watch ouer them for euill, and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, & by the famine, vntill they be vtterly destroyed.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, o shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into § land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my wordes shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will p giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

24 The daughter of Egypt shalbe confounded: she shalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite thy y common people of No and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him.

26 And I will deliuer them into the hands of those that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward shee shall dwell as z in the old time, saith the Lord.

27 ¶ a But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall returne and be in reſt, and proſperitie, and none shall make him afraide.

28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord, for I am with thee, and I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

The word of the Lord against the Philiſtims.

THe words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philiſtims, before that Pharaoh ſmote a Azzah.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters riſe vp out of the b North, and shalbe as a ſwelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle,

3 At the noiſe and ſtamping of the hoofes of his ſtrong horſes, at the noiſe of his charets, & at ſ rumbling of his wheeles: ſ fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feebleness of c hands,

4 Becauſe of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philiſtims, and to destroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the reſt that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philiſtims, the remnant of the yle of d Caphtor.

5 ſ Baldneſſe is come vpon Azzah: Aſhkelon is cut vp with the reſt of their valleys. How long wilt e thou cut thy ſelfe?

6 O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou ceaſe? turne againe into thy ſcabberd, reſt and be ſtill,

7 How can it b ceaſe, ſeeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the ſea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites. 26 Because of their pride and cruelties.

COncerning Moab, thus ſayeth the Lord of hoastes, the God of Iſrael, Woe vnto a Nebo: for it is waſted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Miſgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab ſhall boaſt no more of Heſhbon: for they haue deuiſed euill againſt it. b Come, and let vs deſtroy it, that it be no more a nation: alſo thou ſhalt be deſtroyed, c O Madmen, and the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

3 A voyce of crying ſhalbe from Horonaim with deſolation and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed: her little ones haue cauſed their cry to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourners ſhall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of deſtruction.

6 Flee and ſaue your liues, and be like vnto the e heath in the wilderneſſe.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy f works and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken, and g Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captiuity with his Prieſts and his Princes together.

8 And the deſtroyer ſhall come vpon all cities, and no city ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh and the plaine ſhall be deſtroyed as the Lord hath ſpoken.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 h Curſed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord ‖ negligently, and curſed be he that keepeth backe his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath beene at reſt from his youth, and hee hath ſetled on his lees, and hath not beene i powred from veſſell to veſſell, neither hath hee gone into captiuitie: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſayth the Lord, that I will ſend vnto him ſuch as ſhall carie him away, and ſhall emptie his veſſels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab ſhalbe aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of k Bethel their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mightie and ſtrong men of warre?

15 Moab is deſtroied, & his cities † burnt vp, & his choſen yong men are gone down to ſlaughter, ſaith the King, whoſe name is, The Lord of hoaſts.

16 The deſtruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, ſay, ‖ How is the ſtrong ſtaffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doeſt inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt: for the deſtroyer of Moab ſhall come vpon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

19 Thou that dwelleſt in Aroer, ſtand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is deſtroyed, howle and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waſte, b Meaning, that it is not poſſible that the wicked ſhould by any meanes eſcape or flay the Lord, when he will take vengeance.

a These were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke before he went to fight againſt Necho king of Egypt.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel, as though hee had beene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art p mooued.
28 O yee that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.
29 * We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogan-cie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.
30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, q but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.
31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.
32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea s of Iazer: the destroyer is fallen vpō thy summer fruits, & vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse:

rim shalbe wasted.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord against the Ammonites. 7 Idumea. 23 Damascus. 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of a Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their king b possessed Gad?
and his people dwelt in c his cities?
2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noise of warre to be heard in d Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.
3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: cry yee daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackecloath:
mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall go into captiuity, and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.
4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the e valleyes?
thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter:
shee trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?
5 Behold, I will bring f a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hoastes, of all those that be about thee, and yee shall be scattered euery man
g right forth, and none shal gather him that fleeth.
6 And h afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.
7 ¶ To Edom thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Is wisdome no more in i Teman? is counsel perished from their children, is their wisdome vanished?
8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (k they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.
9 If the l grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.
10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy m fatherles children, and I will preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.
12 For thus sayth the Lord, n Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.
13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayeth the Lord, that o Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproach, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.
14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodom and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, q he shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make r him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me? and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the s shepheard that will stand before me?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hoastes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Benhadad.

28 ¶ Vnto c Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes shall they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their d curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off, e they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

CHAP. L.

Hee prophecieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the † ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North c there commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath beene as lost sheepe: their f shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from g mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 i Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be yee as the hee goates k before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby shee shall be taken: their arrowes shalbe as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoyle her.

g That is, Persia, so called of Elam the sonne of Shem.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquity of Israel shalbe sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whom I reserue.
21 Goe vp against the land of the t rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pe-kod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.
22 A cry of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.
23 How is the u hammer of the whole world destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!
24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O
Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against
the Lord.
25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought foorth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hoasts in the land of the Caldeans.
26 Come against her † from the vtmost border: open her store houses, tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of
27 Destroy all her x bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.
28 The voyce of them that y flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.
29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that shee hath done, doe vnto her: for shee hath beene proud against the Lord, euen against the holy One of Israel.
30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.
31 Behold, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hoasts: for thy day is come,
euen the time that I will visit thee.
32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shal deuoure all round about him.
33 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe.
34 But their strong redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hoastes, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, z and disquiet
the inhabitants of Babel.
35 A sword is vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vp-on her princes, and vpon her wise men.
36 A sword is vpon the † soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is vpon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.
37 A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the mids of her, and they shalbe like women:
a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoyled.
38 A a drought is vpon her waters, and they shalbe dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.
39 Therefore the b Ziims with the Iims shall dwell there, and † the ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shalbe no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.
40 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.
41 ¶ Behold, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from c the coasts of the earth.
42 They shall hold the bow and the buckler:
they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.
43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands d waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorow as of a woman in trauaile.
44 Behold, he * shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation:
for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me, and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the e shepheard that will stand before me?
45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord, that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall 6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The wonne confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanity of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Seraiah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, & against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying a wind,

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall empty her land, for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, spare ye not Spare not her young men, but destroy all her hoaste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust thorow in her streets.

5 For Israel hath beene no b widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hoastes, though their land was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israel.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the middes of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: hee will render vnto her a recompense.

7 Babel hath beene as a golden cup in the d Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations e rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed; forsake her, & let f vs go euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgment is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought foorth our g righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖ gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the h vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skours: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many i waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, euen the ‖ end of thy couetousnes.

14 The Lord of hoastes hath sworne by † him * selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the endes of the earth, he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne k knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image; for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

19 The m portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, & Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoastes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine n hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the chariot and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake old & yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maid.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying o mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the P rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations; but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her; appoint the prince against her; cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuise of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight, they haue remained in their holdes; their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling place, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that a citie is taken on a r side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The city is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

Zedekiah * was one & twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem; and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoikim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his raigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoast against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the wildernesse.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all the hoaste was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the King and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

13 And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the King of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

17 Also the f pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the House of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the g besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse where with they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of gold, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away.

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen bulles, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in the House of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without h weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters, round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the networke were an i hundreth round about.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and l seuen men that were in the Kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoaste, who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that shee had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersarie sawe her, and did moke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned,therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthines:yea,she sigheth,and turneth backward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last end, therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemie † is proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hande vpon all her pleasant things:for she hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom m thou diddest command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: see,O Lord,and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue yee no regard, all yee that passe by this way? behold and see, if there be any n sorow like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto mee wherewith the Lord hath afflicted mee in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath o hee sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: hee hath spread a net for my feet, and turned mee backe:he hath made me desolate, and dayly in heauinesse.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall;the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of mee;hee hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hath troden q the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretched out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

18 The Lord is righteous;for I haue rebelled against his † commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorow: my virgins and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they s sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me,for I am full of heauines: the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced,and they shall be like vnto me.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob: & not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen back his e right hand from before the enemie,and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 He f hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion, he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie:he hath deuoured Israel and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the Feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath, the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemy the walles of her palaces: they haue made a g noise in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart, h and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets ‖ receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heades: they haue girded themselues with sackecloath: the virgins of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale

thee?

foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquity, to turne away thy captiuity, causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hisse and wag their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the ioy of the whole earth?
16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the of the daughter Zion, let teares run downe like a

the apple of thine eye cease.

watches, powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.
2 He hath led me, and brought me into darknes,
but not to light.
3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.
4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.
5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.
6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.
7 He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauy.
8 Also when I cry and shout, he shutteth out my c prayer.
9 He hath d stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.
10 e He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.
11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces; he hath made me desolate.
12 He hath bent his bow, and made me a marke for the arrow.
13 He caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.
14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.
15 He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with f wormewood.
16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, &
hath couered me with ashes.
17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace; I forgat prosperity.
18 And I said, My strength and my g hope is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.
20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled h in me.
21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.
22 It is the Lords i mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.
23 They are renewed k euery morning; great is thy faithfulnesse.
24 The Lord is my l portion, saith my soule;
therefore will I hope in him.
25 The Lord is good vnto them that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.
26 It is good both to trust, and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.
27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke
in his m youth.
28 He sitteth alone, n and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.
29 He putteth his o mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.
30 He giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him; he is full with reproaches.
31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.
32 But though he send affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.
33 For he doeth not p punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth,
35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High.
36 In subuerting a man in his cause; the Lord
q seeth it not.
37 Who is he then that saith, & it commeth to passe, and the Lord r commandeth it not?
38 Out of the mouth of the most High procee-deth not s euill and good?
39 Wherefore then is the liuing t man sorow-full? man suffereth for his sinne.
40 Let vs search and try our waies, and turne againe to the Lord.
41 Let vs lift vp u our hearts with our hands
vnto God in the heauens.
42 We haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.
43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs; thou hast slaine, and not spared.
44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloud,
that our prayer should not passe thorow.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets & hypocrites when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier.20,1.
b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauy iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersity of words.
c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruit of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly & the oftner.
d And keepeth me in hold as a prisoner.
e He hath no pity on me.
† Ebr. sonnes.
f With great anguish and sorrow he hath made me to lose my sense.
g Thus with paine he was driuen to and fro betweene hope and despaire, as the godly oft times are, yet in the end the spirit getteth the victory.
h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themselues, and feele his mercies.
i Considering the wickednes of man, it is marueill that any remaineth aliue: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake, and for his promise will euer haue his Church to remaine, though they be neuer so few in number, Isa.1,9.
k We feele thy benefits dayly.
l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal.16,5.
m He sheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience, may be stronger.
n He murmureth not against God, but is patient.
o He humbleth himselfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succour.
p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessity for our amendment, when he suffereth the wicked to oppresse the poore.
† Ebr. with his heart.
q He doeth not delight therein.
r He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods prouidence.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: a consider, and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 We are fatherlesse euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes

4 We haue drunken our b water for money: & our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our c hands to the Egyptiens for seruitude and bondage. c We are ioyned in league as haue submitted our selues vnto them, a This prayer as it is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt, and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extremity with them, or 7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne d their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sworde of the wildernes.

10 Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by f their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 Thy tooke the yong men to grind, and the children fell vnder g the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the h gate, and the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our hearts is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wo now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our i eyes are dimme.

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion, which is desolate: the foxes run vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for k euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuity with his mother, and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the things which they had prophecied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the city should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And least the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assured them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should be chiefly performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophecied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuity.

f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3, 23.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of c God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Iehoiachins captiuity.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a e whirlewind came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnes was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of ‖ amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenes of f foure beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the soles of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went footh, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their † spirit led them, and they returned not when they went foorth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went light ning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and i returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beastes, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a k Chrysolyte: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.

h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right side, and the face of a bullocke and of an Eagle on the left side.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheeles went with them; and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and whither did the spirit of the wheeles lead them, & the wheeles were lifted vp besides them; for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp besides them; for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderfull, like vnto crystall spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight the one toward the other; euery one had two which couered them, and euery one had two which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noise of their wings like the noise of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noise of an hoast; and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a Saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire a round about within it to looke too, euen from his loynes vpward: and to looke too, euen from his loynes downeward, I saw as the likeneſſe of fire, and brightnes round about it.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is ſent to call the people from their errour.

A Nd a he ſaid vnto me, b Sonne of man, ſtand vp vpon thy feete, and I will ſpeake vnto thee.

2 c And the ſpirit entred into mee, when hee had ſpoken vnto me, and ſet me vpon my feete, ſo that I heard him that ſpake vnto me.

3 And he ſayd vnto me, Sonne of Man, I ſend thee to the children of Iſrael, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled againſt me; for they and their fathers haue rebelled againſt me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and ſtiffe hearted; I do ſend thee vnto them, and thou ſhalt ſay vnto them, thus ſaith the Lord God.

5 But ſurely they will not heare, neither in deede will they ceaſe; for they are a rebellious houſe, yet ſhall they know that d there hath beene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou ſonne of man, e feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels and thornes be with thee, and thou remaineſt with ſcorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious houſe.

7 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeake my words vnto them, but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeede ceaſe: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou ſonne of man, heare what I ſay vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious houſe: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, a hand was ſent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he ſpread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, g Lamentations and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the conſtant boldneſſe of the ſpirit, is ſent vnto the people that were in captiuity. 17 The office of true miniſters.

MOreouer he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, eate that thou findeſt: a eate this roule, and goe and ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he ſaid vnto mee, ſonne of man, cauſe thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate, and it was in my mouth as ſweete as hony.

4 And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, goe and enter into the houſe of Iſrael, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not ſent to a people of an † vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the houſe of Iſrael,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, whoſe words thou canſt not vnderſtand: yet if I ſhould ſend thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the houſe of Iſrael are impudent and ſtiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy b face ſtrong againſt their faces, and thy forehead hard againſt their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious houſe.

10 He ſaid moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, c receiue in thine heart all my words that I ſpeake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares,

11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and ſpeake vnto them, and tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord God: but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeede ceaſe.

12 Then the ſpirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde mee a noyſe of a great ruſhing, ſaying, d Bleſſed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard alſo the noyſe of the wings of the beaſts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noyſe of a great ruſhing.

14 So the ſpirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I e went in bitternеſſe and indignation of my ſpirit, but the hand of the Lord was ſtrong vpon mee.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to f Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I ſate where they ſate, and remained there aſtoniſhed among them g ſeuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of ſeuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a b watchman vnto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from mee.

18 When I ſhall ſay vnto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely die, and thou giueſt not him warning, nor ſpeakeſt to admoniſh the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the ſame wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednеſſe, nor from his wicked way, hee ſhall die in his iniquitie, but thou haſt delinered thy ſoule.

20 Likewiſe if a i righteous man turne from his righteouſneſſe, and commit iniquity, I will lay a k ſtumbling blocke before him and hee ſhall die, becauſe thou haſt not giuen him warning, he ſhall die in his ſinne, and his l righteous deedes which hee hath done, ſhall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheleſſe, if thou admoniſh that righteous man, that the righteous ſinne not, and that he doeth not ſinne, he ſhall liue becauſe he is admoniſhed: alſo thou haſt delinered thy ſoule.

22 And the m hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and he ſaid vnto me, Ariſe, and goe into the n field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had riſen vp, and gone forth into the field, behold, the n glory of the Lord ſtood there, as the glory which I ſaw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

a The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophecied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it, set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an a yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the b house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laide vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy c right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine d arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt prophecie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay e bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen g three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eat thereof.

14 Then sayd I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead or torne in pieces, neither came there any l vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he sayd vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullockes m dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer, he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake n the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haires, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor, and cause it a to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee ballances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of the b city, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and binde them in thy c lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: d for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus sayth the Lord God, This is Ierusalem, I haue set it in the mids of the nations and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my e iudgements into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements, and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because your f multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, yee haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold I, euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will do in thee that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the mids of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.

CHAP. VI.

Hee foreweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie. 8 He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the * mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the a mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers and to the valleys, Beholde, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the b Sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their c idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the hie places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken and cease, and your images of the Sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the slaine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e shall be displeased in themselues for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would do this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, f Smite with thine hand, and stretch foorth with thy foot, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 Hee that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and hee that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then g ye shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shall be among their idols round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the tops of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweete sauour to all their idoles.

14 So will I * stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate h from the wildernesse vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The ende of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all a thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, ‖ Behold, one euill, euen one euill is come.

6 An ende is come, the ende is come, it b watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The c morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the d sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pity, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone foorth, the e rod flourisheth: f pride hath budded.

11 g Cruelty is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be h lamentation for them.

a An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

AND in the a sixt yeere, in the b sixt moneth, & In the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of c fire, to looke too, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke me by an hairy locke of mine head, and the spirit lift me vp betweene the earth and the heauen, and brought mee † by a Diuine d vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner e gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of f indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw g in the field.

5 Then sayd hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the h altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He sayd furthermore vnto mee, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they do? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from i my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And hee caused mee to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, a hole was in the wall.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he sayd vnto me, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things, and k abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stoode before them seuentie l men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Iaazzaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like m a cloude.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel n doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Againe he sayd also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And hee caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sate women mourning for o Tammuz.

15 Then sayd he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then hee sayd vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue cast out p stinke before their noses.

1 The destruction of the city. 4 They that shalbe saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HE cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of [c] the citydraw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, fiue [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [d] ynkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, where vpon he was and stood on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man cloathed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the mids of the city, euen through the mids of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne, and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the city, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pity.

6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the young, and the maide and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whom [g] the marke is, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then go forth: and they went out and slew them in the city.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of [k] blood, and the city full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pity, but will recompence their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man cloathed with linnen which had the ynkehorne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hote burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsall of the vision of the wheeles, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

AND as I looked, behold, in the * firmament that was aboue the head of the [a] Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And he spake vnto the man cloathed with linnen, and said, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from between the Cherub, and scatter them ouer [b] the city. And he went in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord [c] went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

5 And the [d] sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man cloathed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was cloathed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a [e] Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had beene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they [f] turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, and their ‖ tings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to theses wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp; * this is the beast that I saw at the riuer Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherub, lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherub, stood, they stood: & when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the ‖ spirit of the beasts was in them.

18 [h] Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

20 * This is the [i] beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likeneſse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenes of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

a Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he propheciath, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart promiseth them. 22 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirit lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twenty men: among whom I saw Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Peletiah the sonne of Beneiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsel in this city.

3 For they say, a It is not neere, let vs build houses: this city is the b caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophecy against them, sonne of man prophecy.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, Oye house of Israel, thus haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this city, and ye haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the midst of it, they are c the flesh, and this city is the caldron, but I will bring you foorth of the midst of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliuer you into d the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of e Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This city shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the midst thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophecied, Pelatiah the sonne of Beneiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little b Sanctuary in the countries were they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: & I will take the i stony heart out of their bodie, and will giue them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and execute them: & they shalbe my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, & the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the midst of the city, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the city.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, & brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were k led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

1 The parable of the captiuity. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, † prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuity, and goe foorth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring foorth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuity: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe foorth into captiuity.

that they would confirme the word of their prophecy.
7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? [d] ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest that ye are false prophets.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because you haue spoken vanity and haue seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saieth the Lord
God.
9 And mine hand shalbe vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and diuine lies, they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

e That is, in the booke of life wherein the true Israelites are written.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: & one built vp a [g] wall, and behold the others dab-bed it with vntempered morter.
11 Say vnto them, which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send hailestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormy wind shall breake it.
12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said
vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?
13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormy wind to breake fooorth in my wrath, and a great showre shalbe in mine anger, & haile-stones in mine indignation to consume it.
14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

f Reade Ier. 6, 14.
g Whereas the true Prophets prophecied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayd (which is here called the building of the wall) an other false prophet would esteme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.
16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophecy vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.
17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophecy out of their owne heart: and prophecy thou against them, and say, 18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sow [i] pillowes vnder all arme holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that stan-deth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?
19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handfull of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?
20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith

h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth foorth vnder the authoritie of Gods word.
i These superstitious women for lucre would prophecie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, and kerchiefes to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.
k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?
l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophecied.

m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

with ye hunt the [m] soules to make them to flee, & I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules go, euen the soules that yee hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shalbe no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sadde, whom I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life, n By threatning them that were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanity, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people 21 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquity before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that soiourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, & I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and I will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shalbe euen as the punishment of him that asked.

11 That the house of [g] Israel may go no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinned against me by comitting a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast foorth of it:

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doeth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindnes, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Ier. 10,15.

c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shalbe led with lies according as he delighted therein, 2 Thes. 2, 10.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

‖ Or, by my selfe.

f The prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false Prophets to seduce them that delite in lies rather then in the trueth of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1 Kin. 22, 20. 22 and destroyeth aswell those Prophets as that people.

g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked, are admonitions to the godly, to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

h Reade Chap. 4, 16. and 5, 17 Isa. 3, 1.

14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnes, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noysome beasts into the land and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe through, because of beasts,

16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or If I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, go through the land, so that I destroy man and beasts out of it.

18 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shalbe deliuer themselues.

19 Or If I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast.

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my * foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword and famine, and the noysome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left [l] a remnant of them that shalbe caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come foorth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shalbe comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

i Though Noah, and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captiuity with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people yet would I not heare them, reade Ier. 15, 1.

k Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, vers. 22.) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnesse is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his owne sake.

CHAP. XV.

2 As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

ANd the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast into the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, as the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one [b] fire: and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, a Which bringeth foorth no fruit, no more then the other trees of the forrest doe: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which beare the name of his Church, did not bring foorth fruit, it should be vtterly destroyed.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

Lord, when I ſet my face againſt them,

8 And when I make the land waſte, becauſe they haue greatly offended, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ieruſalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 He inſtructeth the wickednes of other people in compariſon of the ſinnes of Ieruſalem. 49 The cauſe of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promiſed to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, cauſe Ieruſalem to know her abominations,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God vnto Ieruſalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy natiuity when thou waſt b borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou waſt not waſhed in water to ſoften thee: thou waſt not ſalted with ſalt, nor ſwadled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of theſe vnto thee, for to haue compaſſion vpon thee, but thou waſt caſt out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy perſon in the day that thou waſt borne.

6 And when I paſſed by thee, I ſaw thee polluted in thine c owne blood, and I ſaid vnto thee, when thou waſt in thy blood, Thou ſhalt liue: yea when thou waſt in thy blood, I ſayd vnto thee, Thou ſhalt liue.

7 I haue cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou haſt gotten excellent ornaments: thy breaſts are faſhioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I ſpred my skirts ouer thee, and couered d thy filthines: yea, I ſware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with e thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with f water: yea, I waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I g anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee alſo with broidered worke, and ſhod thee with badgers ſkin: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, & I couered thee with ſilk.

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put braceletes vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and eare-rings in thine eares, and a beautifull h crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou decked with gold and ſiluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and ſilke, and broydered worke: thou didſt eate fine flowre, and hony and oyle, and thou waſt very beautifull, and thou didſt grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was ſpread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my i beautie which I had ſet vpon thee, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didſt k truſt in thine owne beauty, and playedſt the harlot, becauſe of thy renowme, and haſt powred out thy fornications on euery one that paſſed by, thy deſire was to him.

16 And thou didſt take thy garments, and deckedſt thine hie places with diuers colours, [m] and playedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhal not come, neither hath any done ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my ſiluer, which I had giuen thee, and n madeſt to thy ſelfe images of men, and diddeſt commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookeſt thy broydered garments, and couereſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate alſo, which I gaue thee, as fine flowre, oyle and hony, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt euen ſet it before them for a ſweete ſauour: thus it was, ſaith the Lord God

20 Moreouer thou haſt taken thy ſonnes and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne vnto mee, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed vnto them, to o be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlaine my children, and deliuered them to cauſe them to paſſe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou haſt not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt polluted in thy blood.

23 And beſide all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, ſaith the Lord God.)

24 Thou haſt alſo built vnto thee an hie place, and haſt made thee an high place in euery ſtreet.

25 Thou haſt built thine high place at euery ‖ corner of the way, and haſt made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou haſt opened thy feete to euery one that paſſed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the p Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and haſt increaſed thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did ſtretch out mine hand ouer thee, and will diminiſh thine ordinary, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philiſtims, which are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt plaied the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt inſatiable: yea, thou haſt played the harlot with them, and yet couldeſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, ſayth the Lord God, ſeeing thou doeſt all theſe things, euen the worke of a ‖ preſumptuous whoriſh woman?

31 In that thou buildeſt thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makeſt thine hie place in euery ſtreet, and haſt not beene as an harlot q that deſpiſeth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifies to all other whores, but thou giueſt gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardeſt them that they may come vnto thee on euery ſide for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neitheir the like fornication ſhalbe after thee: for in that thou giueſt a reward and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord,

36 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, Becauſe thy ‖ ſhame was powred out, and thy filthineſſe diſcouered through thy fornications with thy louers, a Thou boaſteſt to be of the ſeed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followeſt the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children do the maners of their fathers. Iſa. 1. 4 and 57 3.

b When I firſt brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthineſſe and forſaken of all men, I tooke thee, and gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God waſh his Church, and giue life, there is no hing but filthines and death

d Theſe words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, and filthines, are oftentimes repeated to beat downe their pride, and to cauſe them to conſider what they were before God receiued them to mercy, fauoured them, and couered their ſhame.

e That thou ſhouldeſt be a chaſte wife vnto me, and that I ſhould maintaine thee & cedue thee with all graces.

f I waſhed away thy ſinnes.

g I ſanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby he ſheweth how he ſaued his Church, ſanctified it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth wherein the dignity of Ieruſalem ſtood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beauty and excellency.

k In abuſing my gifts, and in putting thy confidence in thine owne wiſdom and dignity, which were the occaſions of thine idolatry.

l There was none idolatry ſo vile wherewith thou diddeſt not pollute thy ſelfe.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in thoſe things, which pleaſe the eyes and outward ſenſes.

n Thou haſt conuerted my veſſels and inſtruments, which I gaue thee to ſerue me with, to the vſe of thine idoles.

o Meaning, by fire, vnleade Leu. 18. 21. 2. Kings. 23. 10.

p He noteth the great impiety of this people, who firſt falling from God to ſeeke helpe at ſtrange nations, did alſo at length embrace their idolatry, thinking thereby to make their eſtate more ſtrong.

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that ſome harlots contemne ſmall reward, but no louers gaue a reward to Iſrael, but they gaue to all others: ſignifying, that the idolaters beſtow all their ſubſtance, which they receiue of God for his glory, to ſerue their vile abominations.

‖ Or, nether parties.

and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them.
37 Behold, therefore I will gather all [r] thy lo-uers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthines vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.
38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are [f] harlots, and of them that shead blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath, and ielousie.
39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strip thee also out of thy cloathes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.
40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.
41 And they * shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in ẏ sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.
42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my [t] ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease, and be no more angry.
43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpon thy head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.
44 Behold, all that use prouerbs, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x] so is her daughter.
45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy [y] sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.
46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and † thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.
47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.
48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters,
as thou hast done, and thy daughters.
49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, [b] pride, fulnesse of bread & abundance of idlenes was in her, & in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.
50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away as pleased me.
51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.
52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

r Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23. 9.

c Which worshipped the calues in Both el and Dan.

d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee Sodom and Samaria were iust.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captiuity, with the captiuity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters, euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them.
54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.
55 And thy sister Sodome and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, [g] when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.
56 For thy sister Sodom † was not heard of [h] by 57 Before thy wickednes was [i] discouered, as in the same time of the reproch of ẏ daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about [k] her, which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abominations, saith the Lord.
59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou diddest despise ẏ [l] oath, in breaking the couenant.
60 Neuertheles, I will [m] remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will confirme vnto thee an euerlasting Couenant.
61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue [n] thy sisters, both thy elder & thy yonger, and I will giue them
vnto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy couenāt.
62 And I will establish my couenant with thee,
and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.
63 That thou mayest remember, and be [p] ashamed, & neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

e This he speaketh in comparison, seeing, that he would restore Ierusalem when Sodome should be restored, that is, neuer: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Iewes.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake
a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,
3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great [a] egle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,
4 And brake of the top of his twigge, and cari-ed it into the land of [b] merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.
5 Hee tooke also of the [c] seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.
6 And it budded vp, and was like [d] a spreading vine of [e] lowstature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot foorth buds.
7 There was also [f] another great Eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, & spred forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

and deſtroy the fruit thereof, and cauſe them to dry? all the leaues of her bud ſhall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it out by the roots thereof.

11 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto
me, ſaying,
12 Say now to this rebellious houſe, Know ye not what theſe things meane? tell them, behold, the King of Babel is come to Ieruſalem, and hath taken [k] the King thereof and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel.

k That is, Ieconiah, 2 Kings 24 15.

13 And had taken one of the Kings ſeed, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken [l] an oath of him: he hath alſo taken the princes of the land.

l For his ſubiection and obedience.

14 That the kingdome might be in ſubiection,
and not lift it ſelfe vp, but keepe their couenant,
and ſtand to it.
15 But he rebelled againſt him, and ſent his am-baſſadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horſes, and much people: ſhall he proſper? ſhall
he eſcape that doth ſuch things? or ſhall he breake
the couenant, and be deliuered?
16 As I liue, ſaith the Lord God, he ſhall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the king that had made him king, whoſe oath he deſpiſed, and whoſe couenant made with him, he brake.
17 Neither ſhall Pharaoh with his mightie hoſt, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue caſt vp mounts, and builded rampartes to deſtroy many perſons, 18 For he hath deſpiſed the oath, and broken
the couenant (yet loe, he hath giuen [m] his hand) becauſe he hath done all theſe things, he ſhall not eſcape.
19 Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord God, As I liue,
I will ſurely bring mine oath that he hath deſpiſed, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

m Becauſe he tooke the Name of God in vaine, and brake his oath which he had confirmed by giuing his hand: therefore the Prophet declareth that God would not ſuffer ſuch periury and infidelity to eſcape puniſhment.

20 * And I will ſpread my net vpon him, and he

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoſt, ſhall fall by the ſword, and they that remaine ſhalbe ſcattered toward all the winds: and ye ſhall know that I the Lord haue ſpoken it.
22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo take off the top [n] of his high cedar, and will ſet it, and cut off the [o] top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.
23 Euen in the high mountaine of Iſrael will I plant it: and it ſhall bring forth boughs, and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it ſhall remaine all birds, and euery [p] foule ſhall dwell in the ſhadow of the branches thereof.
24 And all the [q] trees of the field ſhall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the dry tree to floriſh: I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and haue done it.

ther hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,
12 Or hath oppreſſed the poore and needy, or hath ſpoiled by violence, or hath not reſtored the

he hath done all theſe abominations, [c] he ſhall die
the death, and his blood ſhalbe vpon him.

c He ſheweth how the ſonne is puniſhed for his fathers fault: that is, if hee be wicked as his father was, and doeth not repent, he ſhalbe puniſhed as his father was, or elſe not.

fathers ſinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth ſuch like,

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hat committed, and keepe all my d statutes, & do that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that he hath committed they shall not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 f Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnes, and commit iniquity, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doth, shall he liue? all his g righteousnes that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your waies vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnes, and committed iniquity, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquity that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doth that which is lawfull and right, hee shall saue his soule aliue.

28 Because he consi dereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely liue, and not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my waies equall? or are not your waies vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore, and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquity shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, wherby ye haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God, cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

1 The captiuity of the kings of Iudah signified by the lions whelps and by the lion. 10 The prosperity of the city of Ierusalem that is in paii, and the misery thereof that is to come.

Thou also take vp a lamentation for the a princes of Israel,

2 And say, Whereforelay thy b mother as a lionesse among the lions? she nourished her yong ones among the lions whelps,

3 And she brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lion, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The c nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, & they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when she saw that she had waited and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her d whelps, and made him a lion,

6 Which went among the lions, and became a lion, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

7 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring.

8 Then the e nations set against him on euery side of the countreies, and layed their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison in chaines, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holds, that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy f mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought foorth fruit and branches by the abundant waters,

11 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked vp in wrath: she was cast downe to the ground, and the h East wind dried vp her fruit: her branches were broken and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wildernes in a dry and thirsty ground.

14 And fire is gone out i of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruit, so that she hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shalbe for a lamentation.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answer them when they pray, because of their vnkindnesse 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuity. 46 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

And in the k seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause l them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers.

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and m lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iacob, & made my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them, to bring them foorth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands.

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, & defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would notheare me: for none cast away the abominations of n their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

e That is, in the fruits of his faith which declare that God doth accept him.
f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercy to poore sinners, who rather is ready to pardon, then to punish, as his long suffering declareth, Chap 33, 11. Albeit God in his eternall counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate, yet the end of his counsell was not their death onely, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doth not approoue same, therefore it is here said that he would haue them to turne away from it, that they might liue.

b This declareth the great lenity and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.
c I sware that I would be their God, which maner of oath was obserued from all antiquity, where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be vntrueth.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my ſtatutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man doe, he ſhall liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them alſo my * Sabbaths to be a ſigne betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that ſanctifie them.

13 But the houſe of Iſrael rebelled againſt mee in the wildernes: they walked not in my ſtatutes, & they caſt away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he ſhall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wildernes to conſume them,

14 But I had reſpect to my name, that I ſhould not be polluted before the g heathen in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheles, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleaſant aboue all lands.

16 Becauſe they caſt away my iudgements, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but haue polluted my h Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.

17 Neuertheleſſe, mine eye ſpared them, that I would not deſtroid them, neither would I conſume them in the wildernes.

18 But I ſaid vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers, neither obſerue their maners, nor defile your ſelues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my ſtatutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them.

20 And ſanctifie my Sabbaths, and they ſhalbe a ſigne betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithſtanding the children rebelled againſt me: they walked not in my ſtatutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if a man do, he ſhall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the wildernes.

22 Neuertheleſſe, I withdrew mine hand and had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes, that I would ſcatter them among the heathen, and diſperſe them through the countreis.

24 Becauſe they had not executed my iudgements, but had caſt away my ſtatutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eies were after k their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue l them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they ſhould not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts in that they cauſed to paſſe by the fire all that firſt openeth the wombe, that I might deſtroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, ſonne of man, ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blaſphemed me, though they had before grieuouſlie tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they ſaw euerie high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented their offering of prouocation: there alſo they made their ſweet ſauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I ſaid vnto them, What is the high place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this daie.

30 Wherefore, ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted † after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your ſonnes to paſſe thorow the fire, you pollute your ſelues with all your idols vnto this day: ſhall I anſwer you when I am asked, O houſe of Iſrael? As I liue, ſaith the Lord God, p I will not anſwer you when I am asked.

32 Neither ſhall that be done that commeth into your mind: for ye ſay, we will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreis, and ſerue wood and q ſtone.

33 As I liue, ſaith the Lord God, I will ſurely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreies, wherein ye are ſcattered, with a mighty hand, & with a ſtreched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the r wildernes of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernes of the land of Egypt, ſo will I plead with you, ſaith the Lord God.

37 And I will cauſe you to paſſe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I will ſ chuſe out from among you the rebels, & them that tranſgreſſe againſt me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, t Goe you, and ſerue euery one his idole, ſeeing, that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holie Name no more with your gifts, and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, and all the land ſerue mee: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings, and the firſt fruits of your oblations, with all your holie things.

41 I will accept your ſweet ſauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreyes, wherein ye haue beene ſcattered, that I may be ſanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall bring you into the land of Iſrael, into the land for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhall ye remember your waies, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bin defiled, and ye u ſhall iudge your ſelues worthie to be cut off, for all your euils that ye haue committed.

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, a and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecy againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, and will draw my ſword out of his ſheath, and cut off from thee both the b righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous & wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword goe out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the c North.

5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord haue drawen my ſword out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy d reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? Then anſwer, Becauſe e of the bruit: for it commeth, and euery heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhalbe weake, and all minds ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall goe vnder as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhalbe done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

9 Sonne of man, prophecy, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, ſay, A ſword, a ſword both ſharpe and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is fourbiſhed that it may f glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the g rod of my ſonne, as h all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharp, & is fourbiſhed that he may giue it into the hand of the i ſlayer.

12 Cry and howle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come vnto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrors of the ſword ſhalbe vpon my people, k ſmite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, and what ſhall this be, if the ſword contemne euen the rod? It ſhalbe no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, prophecy and ſmite m hand to hand, and let the ſword be doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuy chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee n alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

16 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and will cauſe my wrath to ceaſe, I the Lord haue ſaid it

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, ſaying,

19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee o two waies, that the ſword of the King of Babel may come, both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the waie of the citie.

20 Appoint a waie, that the ſword may come to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and p to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the King of Babel ſtood at the q parting of the waie, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idoles, and looked in r the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalem to appoint captains to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt among, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhalbe vnto them ſas a falſe diuination in their ſight for the oathes made vnto them: t but he will call to remembrance their iniquity, to the intent they ſhould be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred in diſcouering your rebellion, that in all your works your ſinnes might appeare: becauſe I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhalbe taken with the hand

25 And thou u Prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall haue an end.

26 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will take away the x diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it ſhalbe no more vntill he y come, whoſe right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou ſonne of man, prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemy: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſword, the ſword is drawen foorth and fourbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſume, becauſe of the glittering.

29 Whiles they ſee z vanity vnto thee, and prophecied a lye vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are ſlaine, whoſe day is come, when their iniquitie ſhall haue an end.

30 Shall I cauſe it to returne into his ſheath? I will iudge thee in the place were thou was created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow againſt thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beaſtlie men, and skilfull to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood ſhalbe in the mids of the land, and thou ſhalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue ſpoken it.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wicke dnesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou a iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody city? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The city sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her b time may come, and maketh idoles c against her selfe, to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy daies to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproach to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreis.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in d name and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee e haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shedde blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue f smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath beene in the mids of thee,

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands g be strong, in the daies that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreis, and will cause thy h filthinesse to cease from thee,

16 And thou shalt take thine i inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as k drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the fornace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there l and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the fornace, so shall yee be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, m and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracy n of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hid their o eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in * the mids thereof are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her p Prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should q make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before mee for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne waies haue I rendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the Idolatry of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one a mother.

3 And they committed fornication in b Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginity.

4 And the names of c them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sisters: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot † when d shee was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours.

6 Which were cloathed with blew silke, both captaines and princes they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets and them that are godly?
b That is, the time of her destruction.
c To her owne vndoing.

d Whose very name all men hate.

e He meaneth hereby that there was no kind of wickednesse which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her.

g That is, able to defend thy selfe.

i Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.

k Which before was most precious.

l Meaning, he eby that the godly should be tried, and the wicked destroyed.

m Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.

a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one family.
b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.
c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in herselfe, meaning Samaria, which was the royall city of Israel: and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem, where Gods Temple was.
† Ebr. vnder me.
d When the Israelites forsooke God, and put were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and their trust in the Assyrians.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom she doted, & defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one fort.

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when she saw men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion.

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loines, & with died attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie.)

16 Assoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them, into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloſed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the daies of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou callest to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant young men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and [†] I will leaue the punishment vnto them, & they shall iudge thee according to their [‖] iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy cloathes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy [k] wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest, euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy [l] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shalbe discouered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

30 I will do these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with [n] drunkennesse and sorrow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breasts: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, & blood is in their hands, & with their idoles haue they committed aduulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meat.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same daie, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they haue slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same daie into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of my house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eies, & deckedst thee with ornaments.

41 And sattest [q] vpon a costlie bed, and a table prepared before it, wherevpon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the companie great, were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shal she and her fornications come to an end.

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chaſte eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatry so to be abhorred, that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

f Meaning, the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lusts dote vpon the images and paintings of them after whom they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchadnezzar.

† Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

i They shall destroy the princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, and that with greater seuerity.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great that they should cause them to loſe their senses and reason.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, teade Chap. 16, 20.

p They sent into other countries to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

q He meaneth the altar that was prepared for the idoles.

r which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.
45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them after the manner of [f] harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.
46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult and to the spoyle, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.
48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all [e] women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse.
49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon
you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

f That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16. 38.

e Meaning, all other cities and countries.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

Againe in the [a] ninth yeere, in the tenth mo-neth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying, 2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.
3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.
4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, euen eue-ry good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.
5 Take one of the best sheepe, and ‖ burne also the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seeth the bones of it therein.
6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie city, euen to the pot, [f] whose skum is therein, & whose skum is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall vpon it.
7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon
the ground to couer it with dust, 8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an hie rocke that it should not be couered.
9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God,* Woe to the bloody city, for I will make ‖ y^e^ burning great.

consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.
11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it,

and that the skumme of it may be consumed.
12 [l] Shee hath wearied herselfe with lies, and her skumme shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.
14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according 15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto

me, saying,
16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the [o] pleasure of thine eyes with a plague:
yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe.
17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, [p] and put on thy shooes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eat [q] not the bread of men.
18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in [r] the morning, as I was commanded.
19 And the people said vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so?
20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will [s] pollute my Sanctuary, euen the [t] pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom yee haue left,
shall fall by the sword.
22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lippes, neither shall yee eate the bread of men.
23 And your tire shalbe vpon your head, and your shooes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your ini-quities, and mourne one toward another.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee,
saying,
2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Am-monites, and prophecie against them, 3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saidest, [a] Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, 4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the [b] men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their [c] palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke:
5 And I will make [d] Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepe-cote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.
6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast

a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroyed my citie and Temple.
b That is, to the Babylonians.
c They shall chase thee away, and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.
d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe city of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12, 27.

hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feet, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countries, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities [e] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession; so that the Ammonites shall not more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them,

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophecieth that Tyrus shalbe ouerthrowen, because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because thath Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shalbe [c] replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea monteth vp with his waues,

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebucad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy wals shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay the people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the toppe of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall? and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments: and shall cloathe themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground and be astonished at euery moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the Sea men, the renowmed citie which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the daie of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of old time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glorie in the land of the [k] liuing.

21 I wil ‖ bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy [d] calkers, all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy marchandise.

10 They of Persia, and of Lud and of Phut were in thine armie: thy men of warre they hanged the shield and helmet in thee: they set foorth thy beautie.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the [e] Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beauty perfit.

12 They of Tarshish were thy marchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tinne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchants, [f] concerning the liues of men, and they brought vessels of braste for thy marchandise.

14 They of the house of [h] Togarmach brought to thy faires, horses and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy marchants: and the marchandise of many yles were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, [i] hornes, teeth and peacockes

16 They of Aram were thy marchants for the multitude of thy ‖ wares: they occupied in thy faires, with ‖ emeraudes, purple, and broydred worke, and ‖ finne linnen, and corall, and peatle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchants: they brought for thy marchandise wheate of [k] Minnith, and Pannag, and hony, and oyle, and ‖ balme.

18 They of Damascus were thy marchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy marchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy marchants in precious cloathes for the charets

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ‖ occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they marchants.

22 The marchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchants: they occupied in thy fayres with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold,

23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy marchants.

24 These were thy marchants in all sorts of things, in rayment of blew silke, and of broydered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with coardes: chaines also were among thy marchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish ‖ were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy ‖ robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the [l] East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

CHAP. XXIX.

He prophecieth againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiſeth that he will reſtore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which he tooke againſt Tyrus.

IN the a tenth yeere and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophecie againſt him, and againſt all Egypt.

3 Speake, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great b dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath ſaid, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my ſelfe.

4 But I will put c hookes in thy iawes, and I will cauſe the fiſh of the riuers to ſticke vnto thy ſcales, and I will draw thee out of the midſt of thy riuers, and all the fiſh of thy riuers ſhall ſticke vnto thy ſcales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee and all the fiſh of thy riuers: thou ſhalt fall vpon the open field: thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beaſts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall know that I am the Lord, becauſe they haue bin a ſtaffe of d reede to the houſe of Iſrael.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddeſt breake and rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakeſt and madeſt all their loynes to ‖ ſtand e vpright.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a ſword vpon thee, and deſtroy man and beaſt out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt ſhalbe deſolate, and waſte, & they ſhall know y I am the Lord: becauſe he hath ſaid, f The riuer is mine, & I haue made it,

13 Yet thus ſaith the Lord God: * At the ende of fortie yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were ſcattered,

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecy, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Howle and cry, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shalbe the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shalbe in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shalbe broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countreis that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers go foorth from me in ships, to make the careleſſe Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt, for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terribles nations shalbe brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will made the riuers dry, and sell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land wast, and all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of [‖] Noph, and there shalbe no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in [‖] Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon [‖] Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of [‖] No.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt, Sin shall haue great sorrow, and No shalbe destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorrowes daily.

17 The yong men of [‖] Auen, and of [‖] Phibeseth shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuity.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day [c] shall restraine his light, when I shall breake there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall go into captiuity.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, & they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, [f] I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not be bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and so make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake [g] his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, & the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know, that I am the Lord, [h] when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countries, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

A comparison of the prosperity of Pharaoh with the prosperity of the Assyrians. 10 He prophecied alike destruction to them both.

AND in the [a] eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c little riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou [b] like in thy greatnesse?

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauens made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring foorth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches and the chesnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beauty.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so for all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height,

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the e mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroied him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleis his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field ‖ shalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the water shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men: among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I g couered the deepe for him, and I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall h be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that were slaine with the sword, & his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom i art thou thus like in glory and in greatnes among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the k vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword, this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 11 Hee prophecied that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a ‖ lion of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remain vpon thee, and I will fill all the beastes of the wild with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleies d with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou e swimmest, euen to the mountains, and the riuers shalbe full of thee.

7 And when I shall f put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke. * I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of the heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring g darknes vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make my people amazed at thee, and their Kings shall be astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, and they shall destroy the h pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great waterfides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make i their waters deep, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laid waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and hee shall be t comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh, and all his armie shalbe slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

a The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despaire, and beldeneth them with the promise of mercy. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophets.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their a watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiueth warning shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his b iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my c mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I d require at thine hand.

9 Neuerthelesse, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speaks and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, e how should wee then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, f I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euil ways, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The g righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that hee returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if hee trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, If he turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and h right,

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that he hath committed, shalbe mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that

CHAP. XXXIV.

2 Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that hee will visite his dispersed flocke; and gather them together. 23 Hee promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the shepheards of Israel, prophecie and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Who be vnto the a shepheards of Israel, that feede themselues. should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

* Iere. 23.1.

a By the shepheards he meaneth the king, the Magistrates, Priests, and Prophets.

b Ye seeke to enrich your selues by their commodities, and to spoile their riches and substance.

3 Ye eate the b fat, and ye cloathe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

c He describeth the office, and duety of a good pastour, who ought to loue and succour his flocke, and not to be cruell toward them.

4 The c weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue yee not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

d For lacke of good gouernment and doctrine they perished.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were d deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fedde themselues, and fedde not my sheepe,

9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from e their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

e By destroying the couetous hirelings, and restoring true shepheards, whereof we haue a signe so oft as God sendeth true preachers, who both by doctrine and life labour to feede his sheepe in the pleasant pastures of his word.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe & wil deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bin scattered in f the cloudy and darke day, f In the day of their affliction and misery: and this promise is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne land, and feed them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

g Meaning, such as lift vp themselues aboue their brethren, and thinke they haue no need to be gouerned by me.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and to giue to either as they deserue.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will bind vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the g strong, and I will feed them with h iudgement.

i By good pasture and deepe waters is meant the pure word of God and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it.

17 Also you my sheepe, thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe & sheepe, betweene the rams and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good i pasture, but yee must tread downe with your feet, the residue of your pasture? and

and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feet.

19 And my sheepe eat that which ye haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which yee haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad.

22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoiled, & I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feede them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, & he shalbe their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the Prince among them, I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and I will cause the euill beast to cease out of the land, and they shall dwell safely in the wildernes, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine; and I will cause raine to come downe in due season: and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shall yeeld her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coardes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renowme, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproach of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they euen the house of Israel are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of Israel.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophecie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behelde, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to slight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleyes, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, [e] These two nations and these two countries shalbe mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation, which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them, when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all the blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouths ye haue boasted against me, and I haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholy, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Hee promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 21 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God reneweth our hearts that wee may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the [*] mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord,

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the [a] enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the [b] high places of the world are ours in possession.

3 Therefore prophecy and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and yee are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproach of the people.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers and to the valleys, & to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken, which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue [d] taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart: and with despitefull minds to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are

g God declareth his mercies and goodnesse toward his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall g shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shall be tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, and the desolate places shallbe builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase, and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then h at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon i you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse ‖ you and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprive them of men.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

‖ Or, haue.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou k land deuourest vp men, and hast beene a waster of thy people.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproach of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproach of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, where with they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deeds, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

* Isa. 52. 5. rom. 2. 24.

21 But I fauoured mine holy l Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

l And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproached me, if I had suffred my Church to perish.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine m holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

m This excluderh from man all dignity, and meane to deserue any thing by, seeing that God reserueth the whole to himselfe, and that onely for the glory of his holy Name.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.

‖ Or, you.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane n water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthines, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

n That is, his spirit, whereby he reformeth the heart, and regenerateth him, Isa. 44. 3.

26 * A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

* Iere. 32. 39. chap. 11. 19.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for o corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

o Vnder the abundance of temporall benefits he concludeth the spirituall graces.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deeds that were not good, & shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bin p destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

p Ye shall come to true repentance, and thinke your selues vnworthy to be of the number of Gods creatures, for your ingratitude against him.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste, and desolate, and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen, that are left round about you, shall q know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

q He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the soyle or plentifulnesse of the earth that any countrey is rich and abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues and curses declare, when he maketh it barren.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set mee downe in the mids of the ‖ field, which was full of a bones:

a He sheweth by a greater miracle that God hath power, and also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodies, and raise them vp againe.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe he said vnto mee, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O yee dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that yee may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboue the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto mee, Prophecie vnto the winde:

winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the foure [b] winds, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And yee shall knowe that I am the Lord, [c] when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchers.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreouer, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree [e] of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, & bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountains of Israel, * and one king shallbe king to them all: and they shallbe no more two peoples, neither be diuided any more hencefoorth ioto two kingdomes.

23 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruant shall be king ouer them, and they shall all haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

25 And they shall dwell in the [f] land, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

26 Moreouer, I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shall be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiplie them, and will set my sanctuarie among them for euermore.

27 My tabernacle also shall be with them: yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord doe sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuary shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

a He prophecieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against [a] Gog and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hookes in thy iawes, and I will bring thee forth and all thine hoaste, both horses and horsemen, all cloathed with all sorts of armour, euen a greate multitude with bucklers and shields, all [b] handling swords.

5 They of [c] Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helmet.

6 [d] Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee [e] readie, both thou, and all thy multitude that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land that hath beene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet ‖ they haue beene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou, and all thy band, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy mind, and thou shalt thinke [f] euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will goe vp to the land that hath no walled towers: [g] I will goe to them that are at rest and dwell in safety, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates,

12 Thinking to spoile the prey, and to take a booty, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell, and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish with all the lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, [h] Art thou come to spoile the prey? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to carie away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoile a great prey?

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day, when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

b Signifying, all parts whereas the Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithfull shall be brought to the same vnity of spirit and doctrine, wheresoeuer they are scattered throwe the world.

k That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, and townes where you are captiues.

a Which was a people that came of Magog the sonne of Iaphet, Gen. 10. 2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine countrey, so that by these two countreys which had the gouernement of Grecia and Italie, are meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuel. 20. 8.

b He sheweth that the enemies shou'd bend themselues against the Church, but it should be to their owne destruction.

c The Persians, Ethiopians and men of Africa.

d Gomer was Iaphets sonne, and Togarmah the sonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Asia Minor.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world should assemble themselues against the Church and Christ their head.

‖ Or, it: meaning, the land of Israel.

f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

g Meaning Israel, which had now bin destroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not to much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodnesse of God.

h One enemie shall enuie another, because euery one shall thirste to haue the spoyle of the Church.

i Shall not thou spie thine occasions to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age and from the comming of Christ vnto the end of the world.
l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies as Chap. 36 23. and 37. 28.
m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not beene aduertised afore time, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordeined.
n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible.
o Against the people of Gog and Magog.
* Chap. 36 23. and 37 28.

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mighty armie.
16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land, thou shalt be in the k latter dayes, and I will bring thee vp-on my land, that the heathen may know mee, when I l shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.
17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he,
of whom I haue spoken in olde time, m by the hands of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?
18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.
19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.
20 So that the fishes of the Sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the fielde, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, & the mountains shall be ouerthrowen, and the n staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.
21 For I will call for a sword against him
o throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shall be against his brother.
22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a sore raine, and haile-stones, fire, and brimstone.
23 Thus will I be * magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoaste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birdes and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.
2 And I will destroy thee, a and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon
the mountaines of Israel:
3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.
4 Thou b shalt fall vpon the mountaine of Israel, and all thy bands and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.
5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.
6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the c yles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.
7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the mids of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as Chap. 38. 22.
b Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods word the enemie shall be destroyed wheresoeuer he assaileth his Church.
c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

8 Behold, d it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.
9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall e goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon
the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vp-on the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.
10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, sayth the Lord
God.
11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog
f a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley, whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stop their g noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.
12 h And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.
13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name, when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.
14 And they shall chuse out men to go continually thorow the i land with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.
15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it in the valley of Hamon-Gog.
16 And also the name of the citie shall be ‖ Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.
17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: k gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that yee may eate flesh, and drinke blood.
18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goats, and of bullocks, euen of all beasts of Bashan.
19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drinke blood till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.
20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.
21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue laid vpon them.
22 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so foorth.
23 And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for l their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.
24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

d That is, this plague is fully determined, in my counsell, and cannot be changed.
e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquilitie and burne all their weapons because they shall no more feare the enemies, and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ, all enemies shall be ouercome.
f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.
g For the stinke of the carkeises.
‖ Or, the multitude of Gog.
h Meaning a long time.
i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.
‖ Or, multitude.
k Whereby hee signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.
l The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength neither yet by the weakenes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring again the captiuity of Iaakob, and haue compassion on the whole house of Israel, and will be iealous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations.

28 Then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the fine and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ‖ a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought mee thither, and beholde, there was a [b] man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and hee stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, & heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shewe thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with, of sixe cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came he vnto the gate which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ post of the gate, which was one reed broad, and ‖ the other post of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubits: and the post of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed

8 Hee measured also the porch of the gate within with one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubits: and the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

[a] The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sorts: for their feasts, they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

F An hundred cubites D F which was the length of a court and his chambers.

10 And the Chambers of the gate Eaſtward, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: they three were of one meaſure, and the poſtes had one meaſure on this ſide, and one on that ſide.

11 And he meaſured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The ſpace alſo before the chambers was one cubite on this ſide, & the ſpace was one cubite on that ſide, and the chambers were ſixe cubites on this ſide, and ſixe cubits on that ſide.

13 He meaſured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore againſt doore.

14 He made alſo poſtes of threeſcore cubites, and the poſts of the court, and of the gate, had one meaſure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubits.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their poſts within the gate round about, and likewiſe to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the poſts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the ſide of the gates ouer againſt the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eaſtward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, meaſured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide, and the poſtes thereof and the arches thereof were after the meaſure of the firſt gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubits, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the meaſure of the gate that looketh toward the Eaſt, and the going vp vnto it had ſeuen ſteps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court ſtood ouer againſt the gate toward the North, and toward the Eaſt, and hee meaſured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that, hee brought mee toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee meaſured the poſtes thereof, and the arches thereof according to theſe meaſures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like thoſe windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubits.

26 And there were ſeuen ſteps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them, & it had palme trees, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide vpon the poſts thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he meaſured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he meaſured the South gate, according to theſe meaſures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the poſtes thereof, and the arches thereof according to theſe meaſures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter Court, and palme-trees were vpon the poſtes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight ſteps.

32 ¶ Againe hee brought mee into the inner court toward the Eaſt, and he meaſured the gate according to theſe meaſures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the poſtes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to theſe meaſures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the poſts thereof, on this ſide and on that ſide, and the going vp to it had eight ſteps.

35 ¶ After hee brought mee to the North gate, and meaſured it, according to theſe meaſures.

36 The chambers thereof, the poſtes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the poſtes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the poſtes thereof on this ſide, and on that ſide, and the going vp to it had eight ſteps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the poſts of the gates: there they waſhed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate ſtood two tables on this ſide, and two tables on that ſide, vpon the which they ſlewe the burnt offering, and the ſinne offering, and the treſpaſſe offering.

40 And at the ſide beyond the ſteps, at the entrie of the North gate ſtood two tables, and on the other ſide, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this ſide, and foure tables on that ſide by the ſide of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they ſlew their ſacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen ſtone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and an halfe long, and a cubite and a halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon alſo they laide the inſtruments wherewith they ſlew the burnt offring and the ſacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, faſtened round about, and vpon the tables lay the fleſh of the offring.

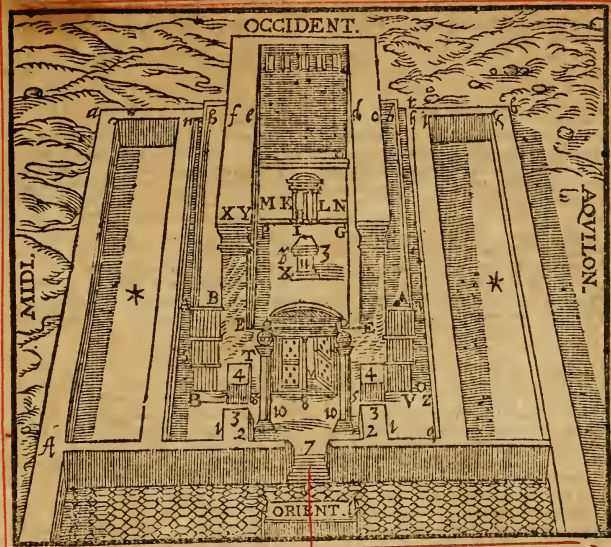
44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the ſingers in the inner court, which was at the ſide of the North gate: and their proſpect was toward the South, and one was at the ſide of the Eaſt gate, hauing the proſpect toward the North.

Verſ 28. The inner court G. The eight ſteps are hid with the building, but they are like them of the Eaſt gate Q: for all the courts were of one meaſure, quantitie and faſhion.
Verſ 32 The inner court on the Eaſt ſide N, and ſo in all he maketh ſixe courts, two on the Eaſt ſide, two on the North and two on the South ſide, looke in the great figure.
Verſ 38 He ſpeaketh of ſixe chambers, which were in the porch of the inner court on the North ſide I, The entry of the chambers, that is, the doores were vnder the vpper poſts or pentiſes, which hanged ouer the chambers, as alſo did ouer the gate. Looke in the great figure.
Verſe 39. In the porch of the inner court were foure tables K, and as many in the outward court S, a cubite and an halfe long, and as broad, and one cubite high.
Verſ. 44 The chambers in the inner porch on the North ſide for the ſingers L, but the perſpectiue hindereth the ſight, therefore behold them which are in the Eaſt court for they are all alike: likewiſe on the South ſide. The Prophet was now in the Eaſt court, where hee ſaw the altar meaſured, and deſcribeth one row of chambers, which was for the Prieſts.

45 And

THE FIGVRE OF THE TEMPLE.



45 And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South is for the Priestes, that haue charge to keepe the house.

Vers. 45 He speaketh of the two rowes of chambers, which were in the inner court N, whereof they on the North side were for Priests that sacrificed O, and they on the South side for them that kept the Temple N, which chambers were East and by South as the other O were East and by North. These must be seene in the great figure.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

Vers. 47. The Altar P.

47 So he measured the court an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the Altar that was before the house.

Vers. 48 He entred by the gate Q to come into the porch of the Temple R. The which Temple is here described more at large, because the things here mentioned might the better be vnderstood. vers. 48. By the posts of the porch hee meaneth the wall which was fiue cubites thicke on either side of the alley or porch 1. 2. The two little gates in the side of the porch 34. which were to goe to the Priests chambers that were by the Temple A B. Vers. 49. The length of the porch 20. cubites 3. 6 And the breadth eleuen, 7. 8. The steppes whereby the Prophet came into the porch of the Temple 9 7. The two pillars 10

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubits, and the breadth eleuen cubits, and hee brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, hee brought mee to the Temple and measured the postes, fixe cubites broad on the one side, and fixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

Vers. 1. The vpper postes or postiles, meaning the tops of the chambers on the sides of the Temple A B, The second chamber G goeth out more then the first R, and the third A more then the second,

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

Vers. 2. The breadth of the entrie or gate renne cubites. C D. Fiue cubites from the Temple wall to the gate on either side E C D F. The length of fourty cubites from the Temple gate to the most holy place S. 1. The breadth of the Temple twentie cubites E F. or G P. He speaketh not here of the height: therefore it is made of thirty cubits according to Salomons.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie sixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.

Vers. The Angel went into the most holy place. The post of the entrie, that is, the threshold, or thicknesse of the wall I I. The gate sixe cubites K L. The breadth on either side of the gate seuen cubits M K and I N, which make in all twentie cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple, and he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

Vers. 4. The length twentie cubites G O, so is it was square. * Vers. 5. The first chamber was foure cubites Q R. The second fiue S T and the third sixe A B. There were three heights or stages of chambers R S A. The turning staire cannot be shewed in the figure, but may easily be conceiued.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward, round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the hiest by the mids.

Verſ 8. The foundations of ſixe cubites, meaning, the bie chamber was ſo, and the neither from thence ſeemed ſo likewiſe, by a perpendicular line or plummet B Z.
verſ. 9. The chamber without was the bie chamber, and from that chamber the wall was but ſixe cubits thicke, B X Y: for downe ward it was ſixe Q S.
verſ. 10 The chambers on the one ſide were diſtant from them on the other ſide twentie cubites, which was the breadth of the Temple.
verſ. 11. The doores of the chambers on the North ſide, opened toward the North V, and they on the South ſide toward the South R, for there was an alley of ſixe cubits round about the Temple V Z, and was ſo cloſed with a wall 11.
verſ. 12. The building, or the great place compaſſed with a wall, of ſixe cubits thicke, and was further off the Temple then the alley, or ſeparate place *, and this is more plainely ſet forth in the great figure.
Verſ. 16. He declareth that wharfoeuer was of ſtone worke from the bottome to the top, was covered with wood on the Eaſt, South and North ſide.

verſ 22. The altar V, which was three cubits high Y X, and two cubites long Y Z.

8 I ſaw alſo the houſe high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of ſixe great cubits.

9 The thickeneſſe of the wall which was for the chamber without, was ſixe cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubits round about the Houſe on euery ſide.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was ſixe cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the ſeparate place toward the Weſt corner, was ſeuentie cubits broad, and the wall of the building was ſixe cubits thicke round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he meaſured the houſe an hundreth cubits long, and the ſeparate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubits long.

14 Alſo the breadth of the forefront of the houſe and of the ſeparate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundreth cubits.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building ouer againſt the ſeparate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The poſtes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three ſides ouer againſt the poſtes, ſieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes and the windowes were ſieled.

17 And from aboue the doore, vnto the inner houſe and without, and by all the wall round about within, and without it was ſieled according to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one ſide, and a face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other ſide: thus was it made through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims, and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The poſts of the Temple were ſquared, and thus to looke vnto was the ſimilitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſaid vnto me, This is the Table that ſhall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrowe windowes and palme trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porch, and vpon the ſides of the houſe, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Prieſts, and the holy things.

THen brought he me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought mee into the chamber that was ouer againſt the ſeparate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the lenght of an hundreth cubits, was the North doore, and it was fifty cubits broad.

3 Ouer againſt the twenty cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer againſt the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber againſt chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for thoſe chambers ſeemed to eate vp theſe, to wit, the lower, and thoſe that were in the midſt of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemoſt, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer againſt the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fifty cubits, and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And vnder theſe chambers was the entry, on the Eaſt ſide, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickeneſſe of the wall of the court toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt the ſeparate place, and ouer againſt the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their faſhions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers, that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the Eaſt, as one entreth.

13 Then ſaid he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Prieſts that approach vnto the Lord, ſhall eate the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meat offring, and the ſinne offering, and the treſpaſſe offring: for the place is holy.

14 When the Prieſts enter therein, they ſhall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they ſhall lay their garments wherein they miniſter, for they are holy, and ſhall put on other garments, and ſo ſhall approach to thoſe things, which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, he brought me forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt, and meaſured it round about.

16 He meaſured the Eaſt ſide with the meaſuring rodde, ſiue hundreth reedes, euen with the meaſuring reede round about.

17 He meaſured alſo the North ſide, ſiue hundreth

18 And he measured the South ‖side fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reeds with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broade to make a separation betweene the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel, came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell upon my face.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp and brought mee into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto mee out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

* Chap. 9. 3. a When I prophecied the destruction of the citie of the Caldeans.
b Which was departed afore, Chap. 10. 4 and 18, 21.

7 Which said vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, & the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israell for euer, & the house of Israel shall no more c defile my holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of d their kings in their hie places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene mee and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, & let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, & the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion therof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the † description of the house, It shalbe vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and a hand breadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offring, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullock without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offring vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and † consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offrings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, sayth the Lord God.

Verse 1, The East gate D in the great figure.

THen hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be a shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shal enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

a Meaning, from the common people, but not from the Priests, nor the Prince, reade Chap. 46. 8, 9.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he mee toward the North gate before the house: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

† Ebr. set thine hearts.

5 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, † marke well & behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all ỹ I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, & marke well ỹ entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellions, euen to the house of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord God, O house of Israel, yee haue enough of all your abominations.

b For they had brought idolaters which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatry, Chap 23.49.

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary b strangers vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations

c Ye haue not offered vnto mee according to my Law.

8 For yee haue not kept the c ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the d Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatry were put from their dignitie and could not be restored into the Priests office, although they had beene of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferiour offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2. King 23.9.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused ỹ house of Israel to fall into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, sayth the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame, and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that e kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue mee, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, sayth the Lord God.

e Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serue mee, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be cloathed with linnen garmens, & no wool shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of ỹ inner court, & within.

18 They shal haue linnē bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird thēselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe foorth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also f shaue their heads, nor suffer their lockes to grow long, but round their heads.

f As did the infidels and heathen.

21 * Neither shall any Priests drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

* Leuit. 10.9.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath beene the widow of a Priest.

* Leuit. 21, 13, 14

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 *And they shal come at no dead person to defile them selues, except at their father or mother, or sonne or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they g be defiled, g They may be at their burial, which was a defiling.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are three seperate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priestes and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the city, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 14 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer, when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, yee shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an [a] holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the city and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the fiue and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the city, fiue thousand broad, and fiue and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shalbe for the prince of the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed afore any good order can be established among the people.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Let it [b] suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelnie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayeth the Lord God.

10 Ye shall [c] haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantity, saue that Ephah conteined in diuerse things that which Bath did in liquor. Leuit. 5. 11. 2 Kings 5. 11.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equality thereof shalbe after the Homer.

* Exod. 30. 13. Leuit. 27. 25. Numb. 3. 47.

12 * And the shekel shall be twenty Gerahs, and twenty shekels, and [d] fiue and twenty shekels and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

d That is, threescore shekels make a weight called Mina, for he reckoneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and yee shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of Barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one Lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the lande shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offrings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the He feastes of the house of Israel: he shal prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offering, and the burnt offring, and the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and cleanse the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and yee shall eate vnleauened bread.

* Exod. 12. 18. Leuit. 23. 5.

22 And vpon that day shall the prince prepare for himselfe and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rames without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meat offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29. 40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the new moone. 8 Thrown which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the new moone it shalbe opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

Verse 1. The inner court gate Q. whereunto they went vp by eight steps, as appeareth in the great figure.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offring that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be sixe lambes without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shall be an Ephah for a ram: and the meat offering for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambs and a ram: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offring, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambs [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he ỹ entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shal go forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall go forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shalbe in the midst of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they shall go forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offring shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shal then open him the gate ỹ turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offring and his peace offrings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offring vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere, without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offring for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flowre: this meat offring shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offring, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sons, it shall be his sonnes, and it shalbe their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shalbe his to the [c] yeere of liberty: after, it shall returne to the Prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer the prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then sayd he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seeth the trespasse offring and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meat offring, that they should not beare them into the vter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and behold, in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubits long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then sayd he vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

AFterward he brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and behold, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode toward the east, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the Southside of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and let me about by the way without vnto the vter gate by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters in the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me thorow the waters, the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side and on the other.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wheresoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

of the North Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shalbe the North part.
18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea, and so shalbe the East part.
19 And the South side shall be toward Teman,
from Tamar to the waters of || Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.
20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath:
this shalbe the West part.
21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.
22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shalbe vnto you, as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, l they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes
of Israel.
23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayeth the Lord God.

l Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

a The tribes after that they entred into the land vnder Ioshua, diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

NOw these are the names of the a tribes. From the Northside, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.
2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.
3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naph-tali.
4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.
5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.
6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.
7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.
8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part b shalbe the offring which they shall offer of fiue and twenty thousand reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary
shalbe in the middes of it.
9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lord, shalbe of fiue and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.
10 And for them, euen for the Priests shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shalbe in the mids thereof.
11 It shalbe for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.
12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.
13 And ouer against the border of the Priests
the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.
14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.
15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand,
shalbe a prophane place for the citie, for housing,
and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.
16 And these shalbe the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part c fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure
thousand.
17 And the suburbs of the citie shalbe toward the North two hundreth and fifty, and toward the South two hundreth and fifty, and toward the East two hundreth and fifty, and toward the West two hundreth and fifty.
18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward: and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion,
and the increase thereof shall be for foode vnto them that serue in the city.
19 And they that serue in the city, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

b That is, the portion of the ground which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shalbe diuided into three parts, for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the city.
* Chap. 44, 5.
c Meaning, that it should be squared.

20 All the oblation shall be fiue and twentie thousand with a fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foursquare for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the city.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other side of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the city, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shalbe in the mids thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shalbe the princes: betweene the border of b Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shalbe the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side to the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun, from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward d Temath, the border shalbe euen from e Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the f riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Ruben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, and three portes, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the city from that day shalbe, † The Lord is there.

a Euery way it shall be fiue and twenty thousand.

b So that Iudah was on the North side of the Princes and Leuites portion, and Beniamin on the Southside.

c Which is here taken for Idumea.
d Which was Iericho the citie of palme trees.
e Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the Sea, called Mediterraneum.

† Ebr. Iehouah-shammah.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE great prouidence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaued his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuity, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babilonians, Persians, Grecians and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he shereth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so hee teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church, vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuity of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuseth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the kings ordinary appointed, but they abstaine from it.

IN the a third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of b Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

3 And the King spake vnto c Ashpenaz the master of his d Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the e Kings seede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well f fauoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vnderstand knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the g learning, and tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the King appointed them prouision euery day of a h portion of the kings meate, and of the wine, which he dranke, for nourishing them i three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand k before the King.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

a Reade 2 King 24. 2. and Iere. 25. 1.
b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.
c Who was an officer of the warden.
d He calleth them Eunuches whom the King nourished, and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterward.
e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that hee might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good intreaty and learning of his religion they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure hurt to these noble men.

f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this he did for his owne commodity, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy

g Necessary meane to gouerne and countrey fashions

h To serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

i That by their good entertainement they might learne to forget the mediocrity of their owne people.

k To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue.

l Afwell to serue at the table, as in other offices.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, ˡ Belte-shazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart that hee would not ᵐ defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches.)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, ⁿ I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meat and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King.

11 Then sayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

12 Prooue thy seruants, I beseech thee, ᵒ ten dayes, and let them giue vs ᵖ pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and prooued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their q countenances appeared fairer, and in † better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meat.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning ʳ and wisedome: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all ˢ visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time ᵗ was expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the inchaunters and astrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto ᵘ the first yeere of King Cyrus.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude, which they were not able to resist.

m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eate) but because the king should not entise him by this sweet poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this space he might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, being mooued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate dainty meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby beene wonne to the King, and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had beene accursed. q This bare feeding and that also of Moses, when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee must liue in such sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seing hee will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. † Ebr. fatter in flesh r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut 18 11. s So that he onely was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Numb. 12, 6. t Of the three yeeres aboue mentioned, vers. 5 u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common-wealth stood.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interpret his dreame 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreame, and the interpretation thereof 44 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the ᵃ second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed ᵇ dreames wherewith his spirit was ᶜ troubled, and his ᵈ sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians, and the sorcerers, and the ᵉ Caldeans for to shew the King his dreames: so they came and stood before the King.

3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the ᶠ Aramites language, O king, liue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and wee shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the King answered and sayd to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, yee ᵍ shall be drawen in pieces, and your houses shall be made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shew ʰ his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered and sayd, I know certainly that ye † would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before mee till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayd, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King, nor Prince, nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they ⁱ sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and sayd vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue him leisure, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is meant of the sonne when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were conteined in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame: that he had not had the like.

d He was so heauy with sleepe, that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour, as though all the wisdome and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voide of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vsed to speake it, as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancy (which vaunted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be prooued fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but meere ignorance, and so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

i Which declareth that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the company of these sorcerers and astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the King did it vpon a rage and no zeale.

‖ Or, the captaine of the guards.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and declared the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said,* The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his.

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discouereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the k light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my l fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdome and m strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24. ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the King had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not n the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and sayd vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and said, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in o heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar what shalbe in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this:

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As p for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine q gold, his breast, and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasse.

33 His legs of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the gold broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer floures, and the wind caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art r this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome sinferiour to thee, of siluer, and another t third kingdome of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in u pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be x diuided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feete were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay, and earth, they shall mingle themselues with y the seede of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which z shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the a stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the gold: so the great God hath shewed the King, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and b bowed himself vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meate offrings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchy and generall Empire, and also because hee would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among these wonderfull alterations, and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet it was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Persians which were not inferiour in dignity, power, and victory, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice, shewing that the world should grow worse and worse, till it were restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardenes thereof, but to the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuill wars and continuall discords among themselues.

y They shall by marriages and affinities striue to make themselues strong: yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdomes of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of Christ shall only remaine for euer.

a Meaning, Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning shall be small & without beauty to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verf. 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shalbe eternall: for the spirit that is in them is life eternall, Rom 8. 10. b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred, if he suffred it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

sayd,

* Psal. 113. 2. and 115. 18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were shame, as verf. 13. and the reft at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equity, because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason and art is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the hie misteries, that should be reuealed.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueale the signification of this dreame, the King might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By gold, siluer, brasse, and yron, are meant the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the Stone) come himselfe and destroy the last: & this was to assure the Iewes, that their affliction should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchy.

said, I know of a truth that your [e] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many, and great [d] gifts. Hee made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

e This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exo 9. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.
d Not that the prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might releeue his poore brethren, which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuity, and also he receiued them, least he should offend this cruel king, which willingly gaue them.
e He did not this for their priuate profit, but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction might haue some release and ease by this benefit.
f Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that hee had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 25 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made [a] an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the bredth thereof sixe cubits: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the [b] dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp, and they stood before the image which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, [d] nations and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe, and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and langues fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayd to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, shall fall down, and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psaltery and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, to fall downe, and worship the image which I haue made? for if yee worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the mids of an hot fiery fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sayde to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee [g] are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is [h] able to deliuer vs from the hote fiery fornace, and he will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen vnto thee, O king, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen [i] times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his army, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fiery fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hoate, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonied, & rose vp in haste, and spake, & said vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the mids of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto him, It is true, O king.

25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the [k] sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, a Vnder pretence of religion, and holinesse in making an image to his idole Bel, hee sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: and this declareth that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion at the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteen yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the King feared least the Iewes by their religion, should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glory.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.
c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approoue their religion, if the kings authority were alleadged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.
d These are the two dangerous weapons, wherewith Satan vsed to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and heere the King required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had beene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policy of erecting this image was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.
f Signifying that he would receiue them to grace if they would now at the length obey his decree.
g For they should haue done iniury to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.
h They ground on two points, first on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.
i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witty they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancy to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them from death, or else for this life giueth them a better.
k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellency: therefore the king called this Angel whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

the seruants of the hie God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego [l] came forth of the mids of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, [m] Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, & yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any [n] blasphemy against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shallbe drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king vnto all people, nations & languages, that dwell in all the [o] world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hath wrought toward mee.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! [p] his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the arke, till the Lord called him forth.

m He was mooued by the greatnes of the miracle to prayse God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

n If this heathen king mooued by Gods spirit would not see blasphemy vnpunished, but made a law and set a punishment to such transgressors, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, least according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so far as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IV.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king, he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignity.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at [a] rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a [b] dreame, which made me afraid, and the thought vpon my bedde, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but [c] they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was [d] Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy Gods, in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, [e] chiefe of the inchanters, because I know, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tel me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of my head in my bed, and behold, I saw a [f] tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, & the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a [g] watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen,

11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuerthelesse, leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.

13 [h] Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 [i] The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaund was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his [k] peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake & said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meat for all, vnder the which the beastes of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnes is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Whereas the King sawe a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and sayd, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the fielde, [l] till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the king, a There was no trouble that might cause mee to dreame, and therefore it came only of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he saw of the foure Empires, for Daniel both declared what that dreame was and what it meant, and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not only to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchadnezzar did to make him forgeth the true religion of God.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the sorcerers and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

f By the tree is signified the dignity of a king whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

g Meaning the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut downe this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God.

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchadnezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole army of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God, which he saw ordeined against the king, and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory: and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pity.

l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interpret seuen moneths and others seuen weeks but it seemeth he meant of yeeres.

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and
thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field:
they shall make thee to eate grasse as the [m] oxen,
and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen:
and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that [n] the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer
he will.
23 Whereas they said, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall re-maine vnto thee after that, thou shalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.
24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and [o] breake off thy sinnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercy towards the poore: loe, let there be a [p] healing of thine errour.
25 All these things shall come vpon the king
Nebuchad-nezzar.
26 ¶ At the end of twelue [q] moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel, 27 And the king spake, and said, Is not this great Babel that I haue build for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiesty?
28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee.
29 And they shall driue thee from men, and
thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field:
they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou know-est, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.
30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as Eagels feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.
31 And at the end of these [r] daies, I Nebuchadnezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him, that liueth for euer, * whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.
32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing and according to his [s] will he worketh in the army of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?
33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beauty was restored vnto me, and my counsellers and [t] my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.
34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar [u] praise, and extoll and magnifie the king of heauen, whose works are all truth, and his waies iudgements: and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either stricken mad, and so auoyded mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandered among the beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.
n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.
o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.
p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.
q After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God, except his Spirit mooue him: seeing that these terrible threatnings could not mooue him to repent.
r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished.
Chap.7,14. Mich 4.17. Luke 1,33.
s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, and a most perfect law, whereby he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure or aske a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith and giue him the glory.
t By whom it seemeth that he had beene put from his kingdome before.
u He doeth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault, that God may onely haue the glory, and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

King [a] Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thousand 2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes his wiues & his concubines might drinke therein.
3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.
4 They dranke wine, and praised the [d] gods of gold, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood, and of stone.
5 At the same houre appeareth fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer [e] against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.
6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his [f] knees smote one against the other.
7 Wherefore the king cried lowd, that they should bring [g] the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the Wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, & declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe cloathed with purple, & shall haue a chaine
of gold about his necke, and shalbe the third ruler
in the kingdome.
8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.
9 Then was king Balshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.
10 Now the [h] Queene by reason of the talke of the King and the princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake and said, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee,
nor let thy countenance be changed.
11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy Gods, and in the daies of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wise-dome like the wisdome of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the [i] enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and sooth-sayers.
12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissol-ued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the King named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.
13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuity of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Iewry?
14 Now I haue heard of thee, that [k] the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Euil merodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church: and how the prophecy of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeeres.
b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banket, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent, when their destruction is at hand.
‖ Or, ouercome with wine.
c Meaning, his grandfather.
d In contempt of the true God, they praise their idols, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them, to doe them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.
e That it might the better be seene.
f So he that before contemned God, was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.
g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.
h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.
i Reade Chap.4 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also he did not vse these vile practises, because hee was not among them when all were called.
k For the idolaters had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the Angels had power as God, and therefore thought that the spirit of prophecy and vnderstanding came of them.

derstanding, and excellent wisdome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue beene brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be cloathed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto [l] Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiesty, and honour, and glory.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

19 And for the maiesty that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, & feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till he knew that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasse, yron, wood and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy waies, him hast thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger and patiently waited for thine amendment.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

n This word is twise written for the certainty of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

‖ Or, wanting.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they cloathed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his neck, and made proclamation concerning him that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeeres old.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An acte against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandement of the king. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome [a] an hundreth and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome, a Reade Ester, Chap. 1, 1.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the king ‖ should haue no damage.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers, and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

b This heathen king preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours [c] sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them, therefore against such assaults there is no better remedy then to walke vpright in the feare of God and to haue a good conscience.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the king, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers & dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirty daies saue of thee, O king, he shalbe cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people, when they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these few daies to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirty daies, saue to thee, O king, shalbe cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuity of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be [f] altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) [g] able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O king, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for [h] my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O king, I haue done [i] no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he [k] beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were [l] cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones apieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble & feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for he is the [n] liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shall be euerlasting.

27 He rescueth and deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The tenne hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bedde: [a] then he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon [b] the great sea:

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a [c] lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a [d] beare, & stood vpon the [e] one side: and he had three ribs in his mouth betweene his teeth, [g] and they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a [h] leopard, which had vpon his backe [i] foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and [k] dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and behold, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had great [m] yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces, & stamped [n] the residue vnder his feet, and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little [p] horne, before whom there were [q] three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld till the [f] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll, his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles, as burning fire.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand [u] thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] bookes opened.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authority, which is oftimes either lightnesse, or stubburnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare, nor be ashamed to breake such.
g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.
h My iust cause and vprightnes in this thing wherein I was charged, is approoued of God.
i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandement to obey God, & so did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.
k Because he committed himselfe wholy vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Hebr. 11. 33.
l This is a terrible example against all the wicked which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such when their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.
m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatry: and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for continuall quietnesse after their seuentie yeers as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shal not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therfore encourageth them to looke for a continuall affliction, till the Messiah be vttered & reuealed, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises be fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.
c Meaning, the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authority, as though they had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.
d Meaning, the Persians which were barbarous and cruell.
e They were small in the beginning and were shut vp in the mountaines and had no bruit.
f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.
g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the world.
h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonia
i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonia, & Ptolemeus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countreys: for his armie conteined but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battel Darius which had ten hundreth thousand, when he was so heauie with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane Empire which was a monster, & could not be compared to any beasts, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying, the tyranny and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreyes, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Cæsar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings in effect, but because they could not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, & also in this prophecie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was taken away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the deputies to send into the prouinces, & tooke the gouernement of certaine countreyes to himselfe. r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls, and Senate, should beare the names of dignity, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce & cruel, which is here meant by ye proud mouth. f Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first comming of Christ. t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory. u That is, an infinite number of Angels which were ready to execute his commandement. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reuealed by his Gospel.

11 Then

11 Then I beheld, y because of the voyce of the presumptuous words which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire,

12 As z concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his dominion shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that stood by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the g most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was h so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the i residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose k looke was more stout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same l horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them.

22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue n three Kings,

25 And shall speake words against o the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may p change times and lawes, and they shalbe giuen into his hand vntill a q time, and times and the dividing of time.

26 But the r iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the s kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose Kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and all t powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

y Meaning, that he was abolished when he saw these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to man of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises.

a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and like in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity.

b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiesty appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him, in respect of that that he was our Mediatour.

c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdom, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the strangeneſſ of the vision.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verſe 10.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom 4 13 and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beaſtes or tyrants ſhould inuade, and vſurpe vntill the world were reſtored by Chriſt, and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their affections ſhould haue an end at length.

g That is, of the moſt high things, becauſe God hath choſen them out of this world, that they ſhould looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romane Empire by Conſuls. the Romans changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: alſo the Romanes were the ſtrongeſt of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themſelues.

i Reade verſe 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beaſt, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were moſt cruell againſt the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles

m Till God ſhewed his power in the perſon of Chriſt, and by the preaching of the Goſpel gaue vnto his ſame reſt, and ſo obtained a famous Name in the world, and were called the Church of God, to the kingdome of God.

n Reade the expoſition hereof, verſe 8.

o That is, ſhall make wicked decrees and proclamations againſt Gods word, and ſend throughout all their dominion, to deſtroy all that did profeſſe it.

p Theſe Emperors ſhall not conſider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and maners, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God ſhall ſuffer them thus to rage againſt his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, the time for his elect time. r God by his royy this little horne, that is ſhall neuer riſe vp againe. s He ſheweth wherefore the beaſt ſhould be deſtroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue reſt and quietneſſe, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Goſpel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by theſe wordes: Vnder the heauen: and therefore here here ſpeaketh of the beginning of Chriſtes kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Chriſt their head. t That is, ſome of euery ſort that beare rule. u Though he had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to ſeeke out this matter curiouſly, yet he was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the vſe of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. a0 The vnderſtanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of king Belſhazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto mee Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto mee at the firſt.

2 And I ſaw in a viſion, and when I ſaw it, I was in the palace of Shuſhan, which is the prouince b of Elam, and in a viſion me thought I was by the riuer of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and ſaw, and behold, there ſtood before the riuer a c ramme which had two hornes, and theſe two hornes were high: but one was d higher then another, and the higheſt came vp laſt.

4 I ſaw the ramme puſhing againſt the Weſt, and againſt the North, and againſt the South: ſo that no e beaſts might ſtand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he liſted, and became great.

5 And as I conſidered, behold, a goat came from the Weſt ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had ſeene ſtanding by the riuer, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I ſaw him come vnto the ramme, and being mooued againſt him, he h ſmote the ramme and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to ſtand againſt him, but he caſt him downe to the ground, and ſtamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the ſtrongeſt, his great i horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that but at length he will aſwage theſe troubles, and ſhorten ſake, Matth. 24.22. which is here meant by the dividing of power ſhall reſtore things that were out of order, and ſo declare that is ſhall neuer riſe vp againe. f He ſheweth wherefore the beaſt ſhould be deſtroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue reſt and quietneſſe, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Goſpel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by theſe wordes: Vnder the heauen: and therefore here here ſpeaketh of the beginning of Chriſtes kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Chriſt their head. t That is, ſome of euery ſort that beare rule. u Though he had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to ſeeke out this matter curiouſly, yet he was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memory, and wrote it for the vſe of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. a0 The vnderſtanding of the vision.

a After the generall viſion, he commeth to certaine perticular viſions as touching the deſtruction of the Monarchie of the Perſians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and alſo he had ſufficiently ſpoken thereof.

b That is, of Perſia.

c Which repreſented the kingdome of the Perſians and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations,

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great ſpeed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignity of the generall captaine, ſo that the ſtrength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne. h Alexander ouercame Darius in two ſundry battes, and ſo had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Perſians. i Alexanders great power was broken. for when he had ouercome all the Eaſt, he thought to retire toward Greece, to ſubdue them that had rebelled, and ſo died by the way.

k That is, which were famous for almoſt in the ſpace of fifteene yeere there were fifteene diuers ſucceſſours before this monarchie was diuided to theſe foure, whereof Caſſander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Aſia the leſſe and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a fernile and flattering nature, and alſo there were other betweene him and the kingdome and therefore is here called the little horne, becauſe neither princely conditions, nor any other thing were in him, why he ſhould obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Where by he meaneth Ptolemais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged againſt the elect of God, and rode his precious ſtatres vnder feet, which are ſo called, becauſe they are ſeparated from the world.

q That is, God, who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abaliſh all religion, and therefore caſt Gods ſeruice out of his Temple, which God had choſen as a little corner from all the reſt of the world to haue his Name there truely called vpon.

ſ He ſheweth that their ſinnes are the cauſe of theſe horrible afflictions: and yet conſorteth them, in that he appoints h this tyrant a time, whome he would not ſuffer vtterly to abooliſh his religion.

t This horne ſhall vice. u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels aſking this queſtion of Chriſt, whom he called a certaine one, or a ſecret one, or a marueilous one. x That is, the ſinnes of the people, which were cauſe of his deſtruction. y That is, which ſuppreſſeth Gods religion, and his people. z Chriſt anſwered me for the comfort of the Church. a That is, vntill ſo many naturall dayes be paſt, which make 6 yeeres 3. moneths and an halfe: for ſo long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned. b Which was Chriſt who in this maner declared himſelfe to the olde fathers, how he would be God manifeſt in fleſh. c This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God. d The effect of this viſion ſhall not yet appeare, but a long time after. e Meaning, that great rage which Antiochus ſhou'd ſhew againſt the Church. f That is, out of Grecia. g They ſhall not haue like power as had Alexander. h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruell, and alſo craftie that he could not be deceiued. i That is, not like Alexanders ſtrength. k Both the Gentiles that dwelt about him, and alſo the Iewes.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horne, which waxed very great toward the m South, and toward the n East, and toward the o pleaſant land.

10 Yea it grew vp vnto he P hoſte of beauen, and it caſt downe ſome of the hoſte, and of the ſtarres to the ground, and trode vpon them,

11 And exrolled himſelfe againſt the q prince of the hoſte, from whom the r dayly ſacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was caſt downe.

12 And a time ſhall be giuen him ouer the dayly ſacrifice for the iniquitie: and it ſhall t caſt downe the trueth to the ground, and thus ſhall it doe, and proſper.

13 Then I heard one of the u Saints ſpeaking, and one of the Saints ſpake vnto a certaine one, ſaying, How long ſhall endure the viſion of the dayly ſacrifice, and the in iquitie of the x deſolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the y armie vnder foote?

14 And z he anſwered me, vnto the a euening and the morning, two thouſand and three hundreth: then ſhall the Sanctuary be cleanſed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had ſeene the viſion, and ſought for the meaning, beholde, there ſtood before me b like the ſimilitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Vlai, which called, and ſaide, Gabriel, c make this man to vnderſtand the viſion.

17 So he came where I ſtood: and when hee came, I was afraid, & I fell vpon my face: but he ſaid vnto me, Vnderſtand, O ſonne of d man: for d in the laſt time ſhall be the viſion.

18 Now as he was ſpeaking vnto me, I being aſleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and ſet me vp in my place.

19 And he ſaid, Behold, I will ſhew thee what ſhall be in the laſt e wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it ſhall come.

20 The ramme which thou ſaweſt hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes and Perſians.

21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the firſt king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure ſtood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which ſhall ſtand vp f of that nation, but not g in his ſtrength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious ſhall be conſumed, a King of h fierce countenance, and vnderſtanding darke ſentences, ſhall ſtand vp.

24 And his power ſhall be mightie, but not i in his ſtrength: and hee ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, and ſhall proſper, and practiſe, and ſhall deſtroy the k mightie, and the holy people.

25 And through his l policie alſo he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand, and hee ſhall exroll himſelfe in his heart, and by m peace ſhall deſtroy many: hee ſhall alſo ſtand vp againſt the n prince of princes, but he ſhall be broken downe o without hand.

26 And the viſion of the b euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore ſeale thou vp the viſion, for it ſhall be after many dayes.

27 And I Daniel was ſtricken and ſicke q certaine dayes: but when I roſe vp, I did the kings buſineſſe, and I was aſtonished at the viſion, but none vnderſtood it.

IN the firſt yeere of Darius the ſonne of a Ahaſhueroſh, of the ſeede of the Medes, which was made king ouer the b realme of the Caldeans,

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and d ſought by prayer and ſupplications with faſting and ſackcloath and aſhes.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open ſhame, to our g Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, becauſe we haue ſinned againſt thee.

9 Yet compaſſion and forgiueneſſe is in the Lord our God, albeit wee haue rebelled againſt him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the h voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee hath laid before vs by the miniſtery of his ſeruants the Prophets.

the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.
12 And he had confirmed his words, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole † heauen hath not beene the like,
as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.
13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.
14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doth:
for we would not heare his voyce.
15 * And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowme, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.
16 O Lord, according to all thy k righteousnes,
I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from the city Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproach to all that are about vs.
17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the m Lords sake.
18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare:
open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnes, but for thy great tender

mercies.
19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,
21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen
the man * Gabriel, whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.
22 And he informed me, and talked with mee, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.
23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.
24 Seuenty p weekes are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holie citie, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the r sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnes, and to seale vp the vision, and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy.
25 Know therefore and vnderstand that from f the going foorth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ieru-salem, vnto Messiah the Prince, shall be seuen t weekes and u threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in Messiah be slaine, and shall y haue nothing, and the people of the z prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell

it shalbe destroyed by desolations.
27 And he a shall confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to b cease, c and for the ouerspreading of the abomi-nations hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the t These weekes make fourty nine yeeres, whereof 45 are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the sixt yeere of Darius, who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple are 62 weekes, which make 434 yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple vnto the baptisme of Christ, all hope of recouery.

CHAP. X.

1 There appeared vnto Daniel a man cloathed in linnen,
11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the a third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was b long, and hee vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.
2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauines
for three weekes of daies.
3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe
at all, till three weekes of daies were fulfilled.
4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel, 5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man e cloathed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Vphaz.
6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.
7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.
8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for f my strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I retained no power.
9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face, and my face was toward the ground.
10 And behold, an g hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees, and vpon the palmes of mine hands.
11 And said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto me, I stood trembling.
12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel:
for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words

a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly and a great feare to Daniel.
b Which is to declare that the godly should not haste too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.
c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March, and part of April.
d Being caried by the Spirit of prophecy to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.
e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecy that followeth.
* Ier. 10,9.
f The word also signifieth comelines, or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformity.
g Which declareth that when we are striken downe with the maiesty of God, wee cannot rise except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

13 But the [b] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood mee one and twenty daies: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.
14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter daies: for yet the [k] vision is for many daies.
15 And when he spake these words vnto me,
I set my face toward the ground, and held
my tongue.
16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and say vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sor-rowes are returned vpon mee, and I haue retained
no strength.
17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in mee,
neither is there breath left in me.
18 Then there came againe and touched me,
one like the appearance of a man, and hee strengthened me,
19 And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not:
[n] peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto mee, I [o] was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.
20 Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, [p] the Prince of Grecia shall come.
21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your Prince.

b Meaning, Cambises who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the profit of the Church.
i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.
k For though the Prophet Daniel should ende and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the comming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.
l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.
m I was ouercome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.
n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull to the people of Israel. o Which declareth that when God smiteth down his children, he doth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little. d Meaning, that hee would not onely himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the kingdomes, which should bee enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Grece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 and of the Romanes.

Also I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I [a] stood to incourage and to strengthen
him.
2 And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet [b] three kings in Persia, and the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp [c] all against the realme of Grecia.
3 But a [d] mighty King shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.
4 And when he shall stand vp, [e] his kingdome shalbe broken, [f] and shalbe diuided toward the [g] foure winds of heauen: and not to his [h] posterity, nor according to [i] his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shalbe pluckt vp euen to be for others besides [k] those.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he ouercame the Caldeans.
b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.
c For he raised vp all the East countryes to fight against the Grecians, and albeit hee had in his army nine hundreth thousand men, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, & so fell into a disease or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chief princes first diuided his kingdome among themselues. g After this his Monarchy was diuided into foure for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolomeus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and cruelty in causing his posterity to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another. i None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posterity hauing no part thereof.

5 And the [l] king of the South shalbe mighty, and one of [m] his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.
6 And in the end of yeeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the kings [n] daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but he shall not retaine the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but she shalbe deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and hee that comforted her, in these times.
7 But out of the bud of her [r] rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, [s] which shall come with an army, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.
8 And shall also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and he shall continue moe [u] yeres then the king of the North.
9 So the King of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.
10 Wherefore his [x] sons shalbe stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great army, and one [y] shall come, and ouerflow and passe through: then shall he [z] returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.
11 And the King of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for he shall set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.
12 Then the multitude shalbe proud, and their heart shalbe lift vp: for he shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.
13 For the king of the North [b] shall returne
and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mighty army, and great riches.
14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shall exalt themselues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.
15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong city: and the armes of the South shall [e] not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.
16 But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and hee shall stand in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.
17 Againe he shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confe-derates with him: thus shall he do, & he shall giue him the [h] daughter of women to destroy [i] her: but

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mighty, for he should haue both Asia and Syria.
n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolomeus Philadelphus shalbe giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.
o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.
p Neither Ptolomeus nor Antiochus.
q Some reade, seede, meaning, the childe begotten of Berenice.
r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage were destroyed.
s Meaning, that Ptolomeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.
t To reuenge the sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.
u For this Ptolomeus reigned sixe & fourty yeeres.
x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sons of Calinicus shall make war against Ptolomeus Philopater the son of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. z That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt. a For Antiochus had sixe thousand horsemen and threescore thousand footmen. b After the death of Ptolomeus Philopater, who left Ptolomeus Epiphanes his heire. c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia and these two brought great power with them. d For vnder Onias which falsely alledged that place of Isa. 19. 19. certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophecy: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to resist Scopas Antiochus captaine. f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof hee admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence. g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolomeus Epiphanes. h To wit, a beautifull Woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

36 And the ſ King ſhall doe what him liſt: he ſhall exalt himſelfe, and magnifie himſelfe againſt all that is God, and ſhall ſpeake marueillous things againſt the God of gods, and ſhall proſper, till the wrath t be accompliſhed: for the determination is made.

37 Neither ſhall he regard the u God of his fathers, nor the deſires x of women, nor care for any God: for he ſhall magnifie himſelfe aboue all.

38 But in his place ſhall he honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, ſhall he honour with z gold and with ſiluer, and with precious ſtones, and pleaſant things.

39 Thus ſhall he doe in a the holdes of Mauzzim with a ſtrange god whom hee ſhall acknowledge: he ſhall increaſe his glory, and ſhall cauſe them to rule ouer many, and ſhall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time ſhall the king of the b South puſh at him, and the king of the North ſhall come againſt him like a whirlewind with charets, and with horſemen, and with many ſhips, and hee ſhall enter into the countreies, and ſhall ouerflow and paſſe through.

41 He ſhall enter alſo into the c pleaſant land, and many countreyes ſhalbe ouerflowen: but theſe ſhall eſcape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He ſhall ſtretch forth his hands alſo vpon the countreyes, and the land of Egypt ſhall not eſcape.

43 But he ſhall haue power ouer the treaſures of gold and of ſiluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he ſhall paſſe.

k She ſhall not agree to his wicked counsell, but fauour her husband as her duety requireth, and not ſeeke his deſtruction.
l That is, toward Aſia, Grecia, and the Iſles which are in the ſea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreyes yles which were diuided from them by ſea.
m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambaſſadours to ſhame in all places, Attilius the Conſull, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight and cauſed his ſhame to turne on his owne head.
n By his wicked life, and obeying of fooliſh counſell.
o For feare of the Romanes he ſhall flee to his holds.
p For when as vnder the pretence of pouerty he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men ſlew him.
q That is Seleucus ſhall ſucceede his father Antiochus.
r Not by forren enemies, or battell, but by treaſon.
ſ Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought was the occaſion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature and defrauded his brothers ſonne of the kingdome, and vſurped the kingdom without the conſent of the people.
t He ſheweth that great forreine powers ſhall come to helpe the yong ſonne of Seleucus againſt his vncle Antiochus: and yet ſhall be ouerthrowen.
u Meaning, Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters ſonne, who was this childes couſin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, becauſe he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct. x For after the battell Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league. y For he came vpon him at vnawares, and when he ſuſpected his vncle Antiochus nothing. z Meaning, in Egypt. a He will content himſelfe with the ſmall holds for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefeſt. b He ſhall be ouercome with treaſon. c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him d Declaring that his ſouldiers ſhall braſt out and venture their life to ſlay and to be ſlaine for the ſafegard of their prince. e The vncle and the nephew ſhall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they ſhall imagine miſchief one againſt the other. f Signifying, that it ſtandeth not in the counſell of men to bring things to paſſe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a ſecret bridle, that they cannot doe what they liſt themſelues. g Which hee ſhall take of the Iewes in ſpoyling Ieruſalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to mooue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence. h That is, the Romane power ſhall come againſt him: for P. Popilius the Ambaſſadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came againſt the people of God the ſecond time. i With the Iewes which ſhall forſake the couenant of the Lord: for firſt he was called againſt the Iewes by Iaſon the hie Prieſt, and this ſecond time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes ſhall hold with Antiochus.
l So called becauſe the power of God was nothing diminiſhed, although this tyrant ſet vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and ſo began to corrupt the pure ſeruice of God.
m Meaning, ſuch as bare the name of Iewes, but in deed were nothing leſſe, for they ſold their ſoules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.
n They that remaine conſtant among the people ſhall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.
o Whereby he exhorteth the godly to conſtancy, although they ſhould periſh a thouſand times, and though their miſeries endure neuer ſo long.
p As God will not leaue his Church deſtitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but ſo helpe, as they may ſtill ſeeme to fight vnder the croſſe, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here propheſieth.
q That is, there ſhall be euen of this ſmall number many hypocrites.
r To wit, of them that feare God and will loſe their life for the defence of true religion. Signifying alſo that the Church muſt continually be tryed and purged, and ought to looke for one perſecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we muſt obey. ſ Becauſe the Angels purpoſe is to ſhew the whole courſe of the perſecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Chriſt, he now ſpeaketh of the Monarchy of the Romanes which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion and contemned the true God. t So long the tyrants ſhall preuaile as God hath appointed to puniſh his people: but he ſheweth that it is but for a time. u The Romans ſhall obſerue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but ſhall change their gods at their pleaſures, yea, contemne them and preferre themſelues to their gods. x Signifying that they ſhould be without all humanity: for the loue of women is taken for ſingular or great loue, as 2 Sam 1, 26. y That is, the god of power and riches, they ſhall eſteeme their own power aboue all their gods and worſhip it. z Vnder pretence of worſhipping their gods, they ſhall enrich their city with the moſt precious iewels of all the world, becauſe that hereby all men ſhould haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worſhipped them in their temples, leaſt they ſhould haue beene deſpiſed as Atheiſts: but this was to increaſe their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they ſo made others the rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians & the Syrians ſhall at length fight againſt the Romanes, but they ſhall be ouercome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes that when they ſhould ſee the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked ſhould eſcape their hands, that then they ſhould not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, foraſmuch as he warned them of it ſo long afore, and therefore he would ſtill preſerue them.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antonius discomfited.
e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.
f The Romanes after this reigned quietly throughout all countreyes, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore hee shall goe forth [e] with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.
45 And hee shall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shalbe in great affliction and trouble at Christs comming, and next that God wil sent his Angel to deliuer it, whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.
b Meaning, all shal rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth because the faithfull should haue euer respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort.

AND at that [a] time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shalbe a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation
vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.
2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life,
and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.
3 And they that be [c] wise, shall shine as the brightnes of the firmament: and they that [d] turne
many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.
4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp the words, and seale the booke [f] till the end of ÿ time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.
5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the [g] riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.
6 And one said vnto the man cloatheth in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wonders?
7 And I heard the man cloatheth in linen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his [h] right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall tary for [i] a time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished [k] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.
8 Thē I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: thē said
I, O my Lord, what shalbe the end of these things?
9 And he said, Go thy way Daniel: for ÿ words are closed vp, and sealed till the end of the time.
10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried:
but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.
11 And from the time that the [l] daily sacrifice
shalbe taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there [m] shalbe a thousand two hundred and ninety dayes.
12 Blessed is he that waiteth & commeth to the thousand, three hundreth and [n] fiue & thirty daies.
13 But goe [o] thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

g Which was Tygris.
h Which was as it were a double oath and did the more confirme the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time signifying that their troubles should haue an end.
k When the Church shalbe scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the law.
m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.
n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.
o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that hee should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion. d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, and next all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God. e Though the most part despise this prophecy, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure. f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

HOSEA.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtill counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipping him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse & worse and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperity was at the highest vnder Ieroboam, the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to codemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuenty yeers, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatning only, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetnes of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal parts of the Law, which are the promises of saluation, & the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom only they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vsed threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophecied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue threescore yeeres.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto
Hosea the sonne of Beeri, In the dayes
[a] of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, [b] kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.
2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord sayd vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications:
for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.
3 So he went, & tooke [d] Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.
4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house of [f] Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.
e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe city of the ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood, 2 Kings 10.8. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that hee shed in Izreel, for albeit God did stirre him vp to execute his iudgements: yet he did them for his owne ambition & not for the glory of God as the end declared: for he built vp that idolatry which he had destroyed.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or else was commanded by God to set foorth vnder this parable or figure, the idolatry of the

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Izreel.
6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pity vpon the house of Israel, but I will vtterly [i] take them away.
7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.
8 Now when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.
9 Then said God, Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people, therfore will I not be yours.
10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Israel shalbe as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shalbe said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.
11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

g When the measure of their iniquity is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policy and force.
h That is, not obtaining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.
i For the Israelites neuer returned after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.
k For after their captiuity he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezr. 1, 1.
l That is, not my people.
m Because they thought that God could not haue beene true to his promise except he had preserued them, he declareth, though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.
n To wit, after the captiuity of Babylon when the Iewes were restored, but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.
o The calamity and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatry and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,
2 Plead with your [b] mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight,
and her adulteries [c] from betweene her breasts, 3 Least I strip her naked, and [d] set her as in the day that she was [e] borne, and make her as a wil-dernes, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.
4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children:
for they be the [f] children of fornication.
5 For their mother hath plaied the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will go after my [g] louers that giue mee
my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.
6 Therefore behold, I will stoppe [h] thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her paths.
7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, [i] I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.
8 Now she did not know that I [k] gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.
9 Therefore will I returne, and take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.
10 And now will I discouer her [m] lewdnesse
in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer

a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercy.
b God sheweth that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50, 1.
c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.
d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and dowry and certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.
f That is, bastards and begotten in adultery.
g Meaning, the idoles which they serued & by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.
h I will punish thee that then thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee and bring thee into such streightnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.
i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.
k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles.
l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.
m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions, whereby shee worshippeth her idoles.

her out of mine hand.
11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.
12 And I will destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beastes shall eate
them.
13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of [n] Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her [o] earerings and her iew-els, and she followed her louers, and forgate mee, saith the Lord.
14 Therefore behold, I will [p] allure her, and bring her into the wildernesse, and speake friendly vnto her.
15 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley [q] of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall [r] sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.
16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me [s] Ishi, and shalt call me no more [t] Baali.
17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shalbe no more re-membred by their [u] names.
18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them with the [x] wild beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bow, and the sword and the battell out of the earth: and will make them to sleepe safely.
19 And I will marry thee vnto me for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto mee in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy, and in compassion.
20 I will euen marry thee vnto me in [y] faith-fulnesse, and thou shalt know the Lord.
21 And in that day I will heare, saith the Lord,
I will euen heare [z] the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel.
23 And I will sow her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercy vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people: And they shall say, Thou art my God.

n I will punish her for her idolatry.
o By shewing how harlots trim themselues to please others, he declareth how that superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy dayes.
p By my benefits in offring her grace and mercy, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.
q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Iosh. 7, 16. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death and an entry into life.
r She shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.
s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.
t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.
u No idolatry shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my word.
x Meaning, that he will so blesse them that all creatures shall fauour them.
y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.
z Then shall the heauen desire raine for the earth, which shall bring foorth for the vse of man. * Rom. 9 25. 1 Pet. 2, 10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shalbe cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

THen said the Lord to me, [a] Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loued the wine bottels.
2 So [c] I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an Homer of barley, and an halfe Homer of barley.
3 And I said vnto her, Thou shall abide with [d] me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.
4 For the children of Israel shall [e] remaine

a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles.
b That is, gaue themselues wholy to pleasure, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.
c Yet I loue her and payed a small portion for her least she perceiuing the greatnes of my loue should haue abused me and not beene vnder duty: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue. Exod. 21. 32.
d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.
e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuity, but also vnto Christ.

many

f That is, they should neither haue policy nor religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed.
g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72, 17.

many daies without a king & without a f prince, and without an offring, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert and seeke the Lord their God, and g Dauid their king, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnesse in the latter daies.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people and the priests of Israel.

HEare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord a hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no trueth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying and killing, and stealling, and whoring, they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproone another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the d day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy e mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because f thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were b increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 i They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquity.

9 And there shalbe like people like k Priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat, and not haue enough, they shall l commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 m Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My n people aske counsell at their stockes, & their staffe teacheth them: for the o spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 p They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hils vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therfore your daughters shall be P harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not q visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shall fall.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God, against whom they chiefly offended, Isa. 7, 13. Zech. 13, 10. Mich. 6, 1, 2.
b In euery place appeareth a liberty to most hainous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.
c As though he would say that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yet, they will speake against the prophets and priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.
d Ye shall perish all together: the one because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.
e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boasted.
f That is, the Priest shalbe cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33, 3. Mal. 2, 7.
g Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were weary with hearing the word of God.
h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.
i To wit, the Priests seeke to eate the people offerings, and flatter them in their sinnes.
k Signifying, that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.
l Shewing that their wickednesse shalbe punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shalbe deceiued of their hope.
m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beasts.
n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stocken and stickes.
o They are carried away with a rage.
p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles: therefore he will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1, 28.
q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendement, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

15 Though thou Israel, play the harlot, yet r let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to s Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vntuly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a t lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, x Bring ye.

19 The wind hath y bound them vp in her wings, and they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to repent in time.
s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should resort thither.
t Hee calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquity, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.
u God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.
x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.
y To carry them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OYe Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue beene a a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to b slaughter, though I haue beene a c rebuker of them all.

3 I know d Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their minds to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, & they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the e prid of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therfore shall Israel & Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall go with their sheepe, and with their bullockes, to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord; for they haue begotten f strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Ramah: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O b Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the trueth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that k remooue the bound: therefore will I power out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed and broken in iudgement, because hee willingly walked after the l commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickenes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto m Asshur, and sent vnto king n Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelpe, to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will go, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction, they will seeke me diligently.

a The Priests and princes catched the poore people in their snares, as the foulers did the birds, in these two high mountaines.
b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holinesse, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.
c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.
d They boasted themselues not one iot to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.
e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.
f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.
g Their destruction is not farre off.
h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying, that the Lordes plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.
i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.
k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order and all maner of religion.
l To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow
m Who was king of

God. n In stead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand, the Assyrians,

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction cauſeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickedneſſe of the Prieſts.

COme, and let a vs returne to the Lord: for he hath ſpoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs,and he will bind vs vp.
2 After two daies will b he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raiſe vs vp, and we ſhall liue in his ſight.
3 Then ſhall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our ſelues to know the Lord: his going foorth is prepared as the morning, and he ſhall come vnto vs as the raine,& as the latter raine vnto the earth.
4 O Ephraim, what ſhall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how ſhall I intreat thee? for c your good-neſſe is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.
5 Therefore haue I d cut downe by the Prophets: I haue ſlaine them by the words of my mouth,and thy e iudgements were as the light that goeth foorth.
6 For I deſired f mercy, and not ſacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.
7 But they g like men haue tranſgreſſed the couenant: there haue they treſpaſſed againſt me.
8 h Gilead is a city of them that worke iniquity,
and is polluted with blood,
9 And as theeues wait for a man,ſo the company of Prieſts murther in the way by conſent: for they worke miſchiefe.
10 I haue ſeene villeny in the houſe of Iſrael:
there is the whoredome of Ephraim, Iſrael is defiled.
11 Yea,Iudah hath ſet a i plant for thee, whiles
I would returne the captiuity of my people.

a Hee ſheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord,that hee might call backe his plagues.
b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.
c You ſeeme to haue a certaine holineſſe and repentance,but it is vpon the ſudden and as morning cloud.
d I haue ſtill laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not food to feed thē, but a ſword to ſlay them.
e My doctrine which I taught thee, was moſt euident.
f He ſheweth to what ſcope his doctrine tended, that they ſhould ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward ſacrifices.
g That is, like light and weake perſons.
h Which was the place where the Prieſts dwelt, and which ſhould haue beene beſt inſtructed in my word.
i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonneſſe of the people. 11 Of their puniſhment.

WHen I would haue healed Iſrael, then the iniquity of Ephraim was diſcouered, and the wickedneſſe of Samaria: for they haue dealt fal-ſly: and the a thiefe commeth in, and the robber ſpoyleth without.
2 And they conſider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedneſſe: now their owne inuentions haue beſet them about: they are in my ſight.
3 They make the b king glad with their wickednes,and the princes with their lies.
4 They are all adulterers, and as a very c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaſed from rai-ſing vp, and from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.
5 This is the d day of our king: the princes haue made him ſicke with flagons of wine: he ſtretcheth out his hands to ſcorners.
6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker ſleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.
7 They are all hote as an ouen,and haue deuou-red their iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.
8 Ephraim hath f mixt himſelfe among the people:Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.
9 Strangers haue deuoured his ſtrength, and he knoweth it not:yea,g gray haires are here,& there vpon him,yet he knoweth not.
10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God,
nor ſeeke him for all this.
11 Ephraim alſo is like a doue deceiued without h heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Aſſhur.
12 But when they ſhall goe,I will ſpreed my net vpon them,and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chaſtiſe them as their i Congregation had heard.
13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me; deſtruction ſhalbe vnto them, becauſe
they haue tranſgreſſed againſt me: though I haue
k redeemed them,yet they haue ſpoken lies againſt
me.
14 And they haue not cried vnto me with their hearts,l when they houled vpon their beds:m they aſſemble themſelues for corne and wine, and they rebell againſt me.
15 Though I haue bound and ſtrengthened their arme,yet doe they imagine miſchiefe againſt
me.
16 They returne,but not to the moſt hie: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes ſhall fall by the ſword, for the rage n of their tongues: this ſhalbe their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were ſubiect to all wickednes, both ſecret and open.
b They eſteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and ſeeke but how to flatter & pleaſe him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth, ſtill till his dough be leauened and raiſed.
d They vſed all riot and exceſſe in their feaſts and ſolemnities,whereby their king was ouercome with ſurfet, and brought into diſeaſes, and delighted in flatteries.
e By their occaſion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.
f That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one ſide, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow cold, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.
g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to ſeeke the helpe of man.
i According to my curſes made to the whole Congregation of Iſrael.
k That is, diuers times redeemed them,and deliuered them from death.
l When they were in affliction, & cried out for paine, they ſought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely ſeeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and paſſe not for me their God.
n Becauſe they boaſt of their owne ſtrength, and paſſe not what they ſpeake againſt me and my ſeruants,Pſal.73,9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael, becauſe of their idolatry.

SEt the trumpet to thy a mouth, he ſhall come as an eagle againſt the Houſe of the Lord, becauſe they haue tranſgreſſed my couenant,and treſpaſſed againſt my Law.
2 Iſrael ſhall b cry vnto me, My God, we know
thee.
3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good:the enemy ſhall purſue him.
4 They haue ſet vp a c king,but not by me:they haue made princes,and I knew it not: of their ſiluer and their gold haue they made them idols:
therefore ſhall they be deſtroyed.
5 Thy calfe,O Samaria,hath caſt thee off: mine anger is kindled againſt them: how long will they be without d innocency!
6 e For it came euen from Iſrael,the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria ſhalbe broken in pieces.
7 For they haue f ſowen the wind,and they ſhall reape the whirlewind: it hath no ſtalke: the bud ſhall bring forth no meale: if ſo be it bring forth,
the ſtrangers ſhall deuoure it.
8 Iſrael is deuoured,now ſhall they be among the Gentiles as a veſſell wherein is no pleaſure.
9 For they are gone vp to Aſſhur: they are as a g wilde aſſe alone by himſelfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.
10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations,now will I gather them and they ſhall ſorow a little for the h burden of the king and the princes.
11 Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars to ſinne,his altar ſhalbe to ſinne.
12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a i ſtrange thing.
13 They ſacrifice fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offrings, and eat it: but the k Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity,and viſite their ſinnes: they ſhall returne to Egypt.

a God encourageth the Prophet to ſignifie the ſpeedy comming of the enemy againſt Iſrael,which was once the people of God.
b They ſhall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.
c That is, Ieroboam by whom they ſought their owne liberty, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themſelues,and of their fathers in the wildernes.
f Shewing that their religion hath but a ſhow, and in it ſelfe is but vanity.
g They neuer ceaſe, but runne to and fro to ſeeke helpe.
h That is for the tribute which the king and the princes ſhall lay vpon them, which meanes the Lord vſeth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as ſtrange in reſpect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no ſeruice, which he himſelfe hath not appointed.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuity of Israel.

REioyce not, O Israel for ioy a as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued b a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 c The floore, and the wine presse shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer d wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him; but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof shall be polluted: for their bread e for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe f then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from g destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shalbe in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: h the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim i should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in al his waies, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They k are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like l grapes in the wildernesse: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figge tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to m their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth n and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, is as a tree o in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a p barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in q Gilgal; for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House; I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an a emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is c diuided: now shall they be found faulty: he shall breake downe their altars, he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no d King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making e a couenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the fielde.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen; for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the fome vpon the water.

8 The high places also of i Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall say to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they l stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire n that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two o furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight in p threshing: but I will passe by her q faire neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnesse: reape after the measure of mercy: r breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousnesse vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednes: ye haue reaped iniquity: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as s Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatry in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44,17. as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policy and religion, shalbe reiected as things polluted.
e The meat offring which they offred for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when ye shall see your selues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.
h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them, who challenged to themselues to be their prophets and spirituall men.
i The Prophets duety is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.
l Meaning, that he so esteemed them, and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.
n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little.
o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preserue them from the cold ayre of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto mee but now I will giue him to the slaughter.
p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my Religion in Gilgal.

a Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new strength, it increased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubburnnesse.
b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day shall come that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17 6.7.
e In promising to be faithfull toward God.
f Thus their integrity and fidelity which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.
g When the calfe shall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests, which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices, and cryed with a loud voyce: which superstition Eliiah derided, 1 King. 18.27. reade 2 King 23.5.
i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap. 4. 15.
* Isa 2.19. Luke 23 30. Reuel. 6 16. and 9 6.
k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remayned in that stubburnnesse from that time.
m The Israelites were not mooued by their example to cease from their sinnes.
n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.
p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
q I will lay my yoke vpon her fatte necke.
r Reade Ierem. 4.4.
s That is, Shalmanazar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kinde nor age.

of battel: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.
15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a child, then I loued him,
and called my sonne out of Egypt.
2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.
3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.
4 I ledde them with coards [c] of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layde
the meat vnto them.
5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his [d] King, because they refused to conuert.
6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.
7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though [e] they called them to the most hie,
yet none at all would exalt him.
8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within mee: [h] my repentings are rouled together.
9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids
of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the city.
10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lion: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.
11 [k] They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, sayth the Lord.
12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies,
and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly: and not as beasts or slaues.
d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shalbe led captiue into Assyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to punish them.
g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29,23.
h Meaning, that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to do: and herein appeareth his Fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall ouercome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.
i To consume thee, but will cause thee to yeeld, and so receiue thee to mercy: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord.
k The Egyptians and the Assyrians shalbe afraid when the Lord mainteineth his people.
l Gouerneth their state according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the wind, and followeth
after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oyle is caried into Egypt.
2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will he recompense him.
3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had [d] power with God.
4 And had [e] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed; he wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.
5 Yea the Lord God of hoastes, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.
6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.
7 Hee is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand; he loueth to oppresse.
8 And Ephraim sayd, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found mee out riches in all my labours: they shall find none iniquitie in me, [h] that were wickednesse.
9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the solemne feast.
10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministery of the Prophets.
11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.
12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.
13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee reserued.
14 But Ephraim prouoked him with high places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproach shall his Lord reward him.

a That is, flattereth himselfe with vaine confidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.
d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Reade Gen. 32. 31.
f God found Iaakob as hee lay sleeping in Bethel, Gen. 28. 12. and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speach appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.
g As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abraham or Iaakob.
h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reprooue their doings.
i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents, as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou dost now contemne.
k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayeth, that all their religion was but vanitie.
l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, yee seeme to reproch your father, who was a poore fugitiue and seruant. m Meaning, Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 and the cause of their destruction.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was [a] trembling:
hee [b] exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.
2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen:
they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a [d] man, Let them kisse the calues.
3 Therefore they shall be as the morning
cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoake that goeth out of the chimney.
4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee:
for there is no Sauiour beside me.
5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.
6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.
7 And I wil be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.
8 I will meete them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion:
the wilde beasts shall teare them.
9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.
10 [g] I am: where is thy king that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue me a king and princes?
11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

a Hee sheweth the excellencie and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.
b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their authoritie.
d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and worship these calues which were their idoles.
e He calleth them to repentance, and reprooueth their ingratitude.
f Thy destruction is certaine, and my benefits toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry and vaine confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.
g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

12 The

h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Iere. 17.1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is out of this danger wherein he is, and not tary to be stifled.
k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death he will be glue them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

a He exhorteth them to repentance to, auoid all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.
b He threweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is h bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the i breaking foorth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death, O k death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction. Repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grow vp among his brethren, an East wind shall come, euen the wind of the Lord shall come vp from the wildernes, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dried vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thanks.

SAmaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shalbe dashed in peces, and their women with child shalbe ript.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take vnto you words and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquity, and receiue vs graciously, so will we render the calues of our c lips.

4 Asshur shall not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercy.

5 d I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

e 6 I will be as the dew vnto Israel: he shall grow as the lily and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beauty shalbe as the olue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his f shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles: I g haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is h wise, and he shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

c Declaring, that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, euen thanks and praise, Heb 13.15.
d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride.
e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare him, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a protection, and safegard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.
h Signifying, that the true wisedome and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

I O E L.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threateneth greater plagues, because they grew daily to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers, but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecy against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for the misery, that was at hand.

THe word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O a Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath beene in your daies, or yet in the daies of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye c drunkards, & wheepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine, for it shalbe pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figtree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloath, for the e husband of her youth.

9 The meat offring, and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate and for the barley, because the harueft of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered; surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 h Gird your selues and lament, ye Priests; howle ye ministers of the altar; come, and lie all night in sackcloath, ye ministers of my God; for the meat offering and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctify you a fast; call a solemne assembly; gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord.

15 Alas; for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnes from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods; the garners are destroyed; the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry; for the fire hath a Signifying the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

b He calleth the leaues to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had now plagued the fruits of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennes was taken away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.
e Mourne grieuously, as a woman which hath lost her husband to whom she hath beene married in her youth.
f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, insomuch as Gods seruice was left off.

g All comfort and substance for mans sustinence is taken away.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoid Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored, is vnfained repentence.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

devoured the pastures of the wilderneſſe, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beaſts of the field cry alſo vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the k fire hath deuoured the paſtures of the wildernes.

CHAP. II.

He prophecieth of the comming & cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to mouue them to conuert. 28 The loue of God toward his people.

BLow a the trumpet in Zion, and ſhout in mine holy mountaine, let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A b day of darknes, and of blacknes, a day of clouds and obſcurity, as the morning ſpread vpon the mountaines, ſo is there a c great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither ſhalbe any more after it, vnto the yeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of d Eden before him, and behind him a deſolate wildernes, ſo that nothing ſhall eſcape him.

4 The behold-ing of him is like the ſight of horſes, and like the horſemen, ſo ſhall they runne.

5 Like the noyſe of charets in the tops of the mountaines ſhall they leape, like the noiſe of a flame of fire that deuoureth the ſtubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face ſhall the people trembie: all faces e ſhall gather blacknes.

7 They ſhall runne like ſtrong men, and go vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man ſhall go forward in his waies, and they ſhall not ſtay in his paths.

8 Neither ſhall one f thruſt another, but euery one ſhall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

9 They ſhall runne to and fro in the city: they ſhall run vpon the wall: they ſhall climbe vp vpon the houſes, and enter in at the windowes like the thiefe.

10 The earth ſhall tremble before him, the heauens ſhall ſhake, the g ſunne and the moon ſhalbe darke, & the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their ſhining.

11 And the Lord ſhall h vtter his voyce before his hoſt, for his hoſt is very great: for he is ſtrong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore alſo now the Lord ſaith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And i rent your heart, and not your cloathes: and turne vnto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciſull, ſlow to anger, & of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth if he will k returne and repent and leaue a bleſſing behind him, euen a meat offring and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, ſanctify a faſt, call a ſolemne aſſembly.

16 Gather the people, ſanctify the congregation: gather the elders: aſſemble the l children, and thoſe that ſuck the breaſts: let the bridgroome go foorth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priеſts, the miniſters of the Lord, weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproach, that the heathen ſhould rule ouer them. * Wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be m iealous ouer his land, and ſpare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will anſwere and ſay vnto his people, Behold, I will ſend you corne and wine, and oyle, and you ſhalbe ſatiſfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

20 But I will remooue farre off from you the n Northran army, and I will driue him into a land, barren and deſolate with his face toward the o Eaſt ſea, and his end to the vtmoſt ſea, and his ſtinke ſhall come vp, and his corruption ſhall aſcend, becauſe he hath exalted himſelfe to doe thin.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beaſts of the field: for the paſtures of the wildernes are greene for the tree beareth her fruit: the figgetree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God, for he hath giuen you the raine of p righteouſneſſe, * & he will cauſe to come downe for you the raine, euen the firſt raine, and the latter raine in the firſt moneth.

24 And the barnes ſhal be full of wheate, and the preſſes ſhall abound with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the graſſhopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller, and the palmer worme, my great hoaſt which I ſent among you.

26 So you ſhall eat and be ſatiſfied and praiſe the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilouſly with you: and my people ſhall neuer be aſhamed.

27 Ye ſhall alſo know that I am in the mids of Iſrael, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people ſhall neuer be aſhamed.

28 And afterward will I powre q out my Spirit vpon all fleſh, and your ſonnes and your daughters ſhall prophecy: your old men ſhall dreame r dreames, and your young men ſhall ſee viſions.

29 And alſo vpon the ſeruants, & vpon the maids in thoſe daies will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will ſhew ſ wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of ſmoke.

31 The ſunne ſhalbe turned into darknes, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whoſoeuer ſhall call t vpon the name of the Lord ſhalbe ſaued: for in mount Zion and in Ieruſalem ſhalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath ſaid, & in the x remnant whom the Lord ſhall call.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God againſt the enemies of his people.

FOr behold, in a thoſe daies and in that time, when I ſhall bring againe the captiuity of Iudah and Ieruſalem,

2 I will alſo gather all nations, & will bring them downe into the b valley of Iehoſhaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Iſrael: whom they haue ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

4 Yea, and d what haue you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will ye render me e a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompense vpon your head.

5 For ye haue taken my siluer and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you sold vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall send them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off, for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp:

10 f Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your h sithes, for the harnest is ripe, come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, & the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the i hope of his people, and the strength of his children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers goe k thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines l drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall runne with waters, and a fountaine shall come foorth of the House of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 m Egypt shalbe waste, and Edom shalbe a desolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will n cleanse their blood, that I haue not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

c That which the enemy gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.

d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemy, as though that iniury were done to himselfe.

e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

f For afterward God sold them by Nebuchad-nezzar and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted, as though the price had beene theirs.

g When I shall execute my iudgement against mine enemies, I will cause euery one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Churches sake.

h That he shall encourage the enemies where their wickednes is full ripe, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

i God assureth his against all trouble, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shalbe deliuered.

k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they doe, it is this people, which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemy.

l He promiseth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47, 1. which should water and comfort the most barren places, Amos 9, 13.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of his graces.

n He had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthines, but now he promiseth to cleanse them, and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatry, he stirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or shepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancy to reproue all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spared not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliuerance and saluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecy of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus. 6 The Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea, and Ammon.

He words of Amos, who was among the heardmen at a Tecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the daies of Vziah king of Iudah, and in the daies of b Ierobo'am the sonne of Ioash king of Israel, two yeeres before the c earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepheard s shall perish, and the top d of Carmell shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For e three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue e threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the f palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuity vnto h Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they i caried away prisoners the whole captiuity to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saieth the Lord God.

9 g Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, a Which was a towne sixe miles from Ierusalem in Iudea, but he prophecied in Israel.

b In his daies the kingdome of Israel did most flourish.

c Which as Iosephus writeth, was when Vziah would haue vsurped the Priests office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie.

d Whatsoeuer is fruitfull and pleasant in Israel, shall shortly perish.

e He sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their transgressions: which are meant by three and foure, which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them.

f Of the Syrians shall none be spared for committing this cruelty against one city, much more shall not Israel escape punishment which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man.

g The antiquity of their buildings shall no way ouerthrow my iudgements, reade Ier. 49, 27.

h Tiglath Pileser led the Assyrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

it, because they shut the whole captiuity in Edom, and haue not remembred the k brotherly couenant,

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and ‖ did cast off all pity, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him l alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the places of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they m haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewind.

15 And their king shall go into captiuity, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel,

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of c Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for d shooes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the e dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maid, to dishonour my holy Name.

8 And they lye downe vpon cloathes laid to pledge f by euery altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the House of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroied his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourty yeeres thorow the wildernes to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, & commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecy not.

13 Behold, I am k pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the ‖ swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 Nor he that handled the bow shall stand, & he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You a onely haue I known of all the families of the earth: therefore will I visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be b agreed?

4 Will a c lyon roare in the forrest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpe cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 d Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take vp the e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or f shall a trumpet be blowen in the city, & the people be not afraid? or shall there g be euill in a city, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he h reuealeth his secret to his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken, who can but i prophecy?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: & behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery l in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen round about the countrey, & shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh m out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed: and in n Damascus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testify in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hoastes, k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren, therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked the to hatred. ‖ Ebr. corrupt his compassions.

l He was a continuall enemy vnto him.

m He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the houshold of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruell against the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him vnto the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednesse.

g They spoyle others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that he will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquity.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercy toward them, should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i Ye contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.

k You haue ouerlaied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1, 14

l None shalbe delivered by any meanes.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth & moueth him, which is called the agreement between God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophet, except there be some great occasion.

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?

g Doth any aduersity come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45, 7

h God reuealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit mooued them so to speake as they did.

k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians, to be witnesse of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression. l The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses. m When the lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a tippe of an eare, to shew that the sheepe haue beene worried. n Whereby they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue beene in safety.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.
15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith
the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this word, yee a kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, and your posterity with fish-hookes.
3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kowe forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.
4 Come to d Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three e yeeres.
5 And offer a thankesgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this g liketh
you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.
6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannesse of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another city: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one ci-tie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied:
yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure; yet haue yee not returned vnto
me, saith the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of l Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses:
and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrels, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe thus vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.
13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man
what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hoastes is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuity of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vnto you,
euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise; she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts and not of men.
b They encourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people to powle them, so that they may haue profite by it.
c He alludeth to fishers, which catch fish by hookes and thornes.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to those places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had beene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Read Deut 14. 28.
f As Leuit. 7. 13.
g You onely delight in these outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meat.
i I stayed the raine til the fruits of the earth were destroyed with drought, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They could not find water enough where they had heard say it had rained.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 10.
m You were almost all consumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2. king. 14. 26
n Turne to him by repentance.
a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnesse and daintinesse.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shall leaue b an hundreth:
and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue,
5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuity, and Beth-el shall come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lord, and yee shall liue, least hee breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.
7 They turne d iudgement to wormewood,
and leaue off righteousnes in the earth.
8 Hee e maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth
the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon
the open earth: the Lord is his Name.
9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty, and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.
10 They haue hated him, f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.
11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and g ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.
12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.
13 Therefore h the prudent shall keepe silence
in that time, for it is an euill time.
14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue:
and the Lord God of hoastes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.
15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hoastes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.
16 Therefore the Lord God of hoastes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shall be in all streets: and they shall say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the i husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.
17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation:
for I will passe through thee, saith the Lord.
18 Woe vnto you, that k desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light.
19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.
20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darknesse,
and not light, euen darkenesse and no light in it?
21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies 22 Though ye offer me burnt offrings and meat offrings, l I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offrings of your fat beasts.
23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols.)
24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteousnes as a mighty riuer.
25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and of-frings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house
of Israel?

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God, therefore he saith that these shall not saue them.
d In steade of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppression.
e He describeth the power of God, Iob 9. 9.
f They hate the Prophets which reprooue them in the open assemblies.
g Ye take both his money and also his food, wherewith he should liue.
h God will so plague them that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faults.
i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.
k Thus he speaketh, because the wicked and hypocrites said they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30. 9. Ioel. 2. 11. Zeph. 1. 15.
l Because ye haue corrupted my true seruice, and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1. 11. Iere 6. 10.
m Do your duety to God, and to your neighbour, and so ye shall feele his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

n That idole which you esteemed as your king, and caried about at you did Chiun, in which images you thought that there was a certaine divinity.

26 But you haue borne n Sicouth your king, and Chiun your Images, and the starre of your gods, which you made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasure.

WOe to a them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, b which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be c they better then these kingdoms? or the border of their land greater then your border,

3 Yee that put farre away the d euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquity?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, and stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musicke like e Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and annoint themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is f sorie for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and g the sorow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.

8 h The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hoasts, I abhorre i the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle k shall take him vp and burne him, to cary out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him, that is by the l sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And hee shall say, None. Then shall he say, m Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses n runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit of righteousnesse into o wormewood.

13 Yee reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs p hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hoasts: and they shall afflict you from the entring in of q Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

a The Prophet threateneth the wealthie, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their swift inhabitants the Canarites: and seeing beforetime they did nothing auaile them that were there borne, why should you looke that they should saue you which were b rought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse then yours yet are: thinke you to be better, or to escape?

d Ye that continue still to your wickednes, and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but glue your selues to all idlenesse, wantonnesse and riot.

e As he caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes.

f They pitied not their brethren, whereof many were slaine and caried away captiue.

g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselues, shall depart.

h Reade Ierem. 51. 14. i That is, the riches and pompe. k The destruction shall be so great, that none shall almost be left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt ashes with more ease. l That is, to some neighbour that dwelleth round about. m They shalbe so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate, or reprobate. n He compareth them to barren rockes, whereupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them. o Reade Chap. 5. 7. p That is, power and glory. q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah, 12 His craftie counsell.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, hee formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter grouth: and loe, it was in the latter grouth b after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob: for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed mee, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line e with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Izhak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eat thy bread, and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el, for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe prophecie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Izhak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, i Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be deuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie forth of his land.

as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the kings sheepe were shorne.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubburnesse of this people.

e Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

f That is, when Amos had prophecied that the king should be destroyed: for the wicked Priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, where as none other could take place.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed by another practise, that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit.

h Thus he shewyeth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had giuen him a charge, which he must needes execute.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authority of his Prophets, by his plagues and iudgements against them, which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28. 16. and 29. 21. 22.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, a basket of sommer fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A basket of a sommer fruit. Then said the Lord vnto mee, The end is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes, and the readinesse of Gods iudgements.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.
c By staying the sale of food, and necessarie things which you have gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickely that little that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues
d When the death was once come they were so greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.
e That is, the measure small, and the price great.
f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall be drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.
g In the middest of their prosperitie I will send great affliction.
h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.
i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles: which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet doe by theirs.
k That is, the common maner of worshipping, and the seruice or religion there vsed.

bodies shall be in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

4 Heare this, O yee that c swallow vp the poore, that yee may make the needy of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that we may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that wee may set foorth wheate, and make e the Ephah small and the shekell great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely, I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and f drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the g Sunne to goe downe at noone: I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning: and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloath vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the Land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the h word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne i of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and k the maner of Beersheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

CHAP. IX.

Threatnings against the Temple. 2 And against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord standing vpon the a Altar, and he said, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the posts may shake; and cut them in pieces, euen the b heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: hee that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will b I command the c serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his d spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians e vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from f Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not vtterly g destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the b least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the i Tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old,

12 That they may possesse the remnant of k Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall l touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seed: and the mountaines shall m drop sweet wine, and all the hils shall melt.

14 n And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall builde the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefits.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alwayes to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelties, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for as much as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom, a Wee haue heard a tumor from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and b let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Behold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clifts of the rocks, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 d Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy f bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, to the end that euery one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made i a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shal be m as though they had not beene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall be n a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoast of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

a God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the tumour is now published, Iere 49.14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom.

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet art but an handfull in comparison of others, and art shut vp among the hills as separate from the rest of the world.

d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Ier. 49.9.

e They in whom thou diddest trust for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall be shine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and gheists haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom hee now comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchadnezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, & hadst part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord deprined them of their former dignities, and gaue them to be caried in captiuitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall be vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will resettle my Church and restore it.

n God attributeth this power, to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10, 17. deut. 4. 24. heb 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ, when all the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites, the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad Spaine

q Meaning that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here, the Lord and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

When Ionah had long prophecied in Israel and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to go and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh, the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted vnto the Lord, for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14.25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience

THe word of the Lord came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to b Nineueh, that c great citie, and crie against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to e Iapho: and he found a shippe going to Tarshish, so he paid the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into a After that he had preached a long time to Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophecied in Iudia, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek 1.1.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authours write, it contained in circuit 480 furlongs, and had a thousand and fiue hundreth towers, and at the time there were an hundreth and twentie thousand children therein, Chap. 4.11.

d Whereby he declared his weaknesse, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he should nothing at all profit there, seeing he had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4.1.

e Which was the hauen port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that vocation wherevnto God had called him, and wherein he would haue assisted him.

the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, vnto the sea, to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meaneth thou, O sleeper? Arise call vpon thy g God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceeding afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought, and was troublous.)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheleſſe the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, h We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men i feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the k belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God a out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly b of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my d life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

ANd the word of the Lord came vnto a Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose, and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a b great and excellent city of three dales iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the city a dales c iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourty dales, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God, & proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloath, from the greatest of them, euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the king of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and laid his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloath, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said thorow Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor e beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloath, and cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their h works that they turned from their euill waies: and i God repented of the euill that he had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I prevented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knew, that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to dye then to liue.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idols which declareth that idolatrie haue no thy nor certainty, but in their troubles seeke they cannot tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them, for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest figne of wickednes.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

m That the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and thereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support to this his charge which was enioyned him.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedy to escape, his faith brast out into the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For he was now in the fishes belly as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of hell: and all these dangers, as it were tasting me from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing faue on God alone.

f They refuse their owne felicity and the goodnes which they should elle receiue of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe, and sendeth him foorth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmity.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the city, and preached, and so he continued till the city was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumb beasts had sinned or could repent, but that by their example men might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

f He willed that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercy.

g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of their owne conscience, he doubted whether God would shew them mercy.

h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceede of faith, which God had planted by the ministery of his Prophets.

i Reade Iecrem. 18, 8.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which he pretended should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1, 3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing least Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blasphemed, as though he feared his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

4 Then

i Meaning, Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered. k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations whea they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the braggs and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victory, so oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment thereof shalbe at the last comming of Christ,

Mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O i towre of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen k the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou cry out with lamentation? is there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou go foorth of the city, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they m know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise and threth, n O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord: and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellency of Beth-leem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter a of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art b little to be among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come foorth vnto me, that shalbe the ruler in Israel, whose c going foorth haue beene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d she which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall e stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, & in the maiesty of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he f shalbe our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy g Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he h deliuer vs from Asshur, when he commeth into our land, and when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the i remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people, as a dew from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for a He foresweareth them of the dangers that shall come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garisons to vexe her, and that her rulers should be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes diuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Bethleem was not able to make a thousand, he called it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine and gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, Mat. 2.

c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his workes were appointed of God from all eternity.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with child, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn 16, 21. e That is, Christ his kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people as well the Gentiles as the Iewes shall dwell in safety. f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient safegard for vs, and though the enemy inuade vs for a time, yet shall God stirre vp many which shalbe able to deliuer vs. g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians with whom were the chiefe at that time. h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemy commeth into our land. i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man.

man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the mids of many people, as the Lion among the beasts of the forest, and as the Lions whelpe among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shalbe lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine k horses out of the mids of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy greues out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, l which they haue not heard.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou putteit thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee.

l It shalbe so terrible that the like hath not beene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkind. 6 What maner of sacrifices do please God.

HEarken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and ye mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor had answered him, from c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the d righteousnes of the Lord.

6 Wherewith e shall I comebefore the Lord, and bow my selfe before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my f first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: g surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the h city, and the man of wisdome shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witnesse against the obstinacy of his people.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the truth of his promise and his manifold benefites toward you.

e That the people by hypocrisy aske how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoyde his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortify their owne affections, and to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in few words calleth them to the obseruation of these two Table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any city or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiesty, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.
k Thou shalt be confumed with inward griefe and euils.
l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserue.
m You haue received all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith she ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisedome and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment: but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall you

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked ballances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof i are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and k thy casting downe shalbe in the middes of thee, and thou l shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer, and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but not reape: Thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle, and make sweet wine, but shall not drinke wine.

16 For the m statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproach of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

WOe is mee, for I am as the a Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in wait for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as e abriar, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth; then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller; keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father; the daughter riseth vp against her mother, the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against mee, h O mine enemies though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring mee foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the myre of the streetes.

11 This is i the day that thy walles shall be built: this day shall driue farre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of m their inuentions.

14 n Feed thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in old time.

15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hand vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall moouе out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iakob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in old time.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.
b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge, and the rich man are linked together all to doe euill, and to cloake the deede one of another.
c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abilioeth them no wicked deede nor iniurie.
d These men agree amoog themselues and conspire with one consent to doe euill.
e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.
f Meaning of the Prophetes and gouernours.
g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.
h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.
i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.
k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.
l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.
m After this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.
n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in times past.
o God promiseth to bs fauourable to his people, as he hath beene afore time.
p They shall be as dumme men and dare bragge no more.
q They shalbe astonished and astruction.
r They shall will declare in effect

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt & ready to receiue the word of God, at Ionahs preaching and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodh-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, hee stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.
2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord
reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.
3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wic- ked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.
4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and hee drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.
5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea,
the world, and all that dwell therein.
6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.
7 The Lord is good [h] and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.
8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.
9 What doe ye [k] imagine against the Lord?
he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.
10 For he shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dryed.
11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counseller.
12 Thus sayth the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.
13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee,
and will burst thy bonds in sunder.
14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.
15 * Behold vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keep thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes, for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa 13.1.
b The vision or reuelation which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.
f That the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape, when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Least the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not need to returne the second time.
l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him. m Which may be vnderstood either of Saneherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh. n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, hee will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them by the Assyrians. o Meaning, Saneherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2 King 19. 36. 37. * Isa 52.7. Rom. 10.15. p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Saneherib.

CHAP. II.

Here describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe
the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.
2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.
3 The shield of his mightie men is made red, [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.
4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lighting.
5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men; they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.
6 The gates of the riuer shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.
7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maides shall lead her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breasts.
8 But Nineueh is [g] of old like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.
9 [h] Spoyle ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none end of the store and glory of all the pleasant vessels.
10 [i] Shee is emptie and voide and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loines, and the faces [k] of them
all gather blackenesse.
11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lions, and the pasture of the lions whelpes? where the lion and the lyonesse walked, and the lions whelpe,
and none made them afraid.
12 The lion did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and woried for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dennes with spoyle.
13 Behold, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will burne her charets in the [m] smoke, and the sword shall deuoure the yong lions, and I will cut of thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy [n] messengers shall no more be heard.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scourged them, reade Isa 10.12.
c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.
d Both to feare the enemy, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch: but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.
h God commandeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures. i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shall be after this sort. k Reade Ioel 2.6 l Meaning, Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruell like the Lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children. m That is, assoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle. n Signifying the heralds, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. Some reade, of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was woont to bruise the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloody city, it is all full of lyes and robbery:
[a] the pray departeth not.
2 The noyse of a whip, [b] and the noyse of the mouuing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.
3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpses; they stumble vpon
their corpses,
4 Because of the multitude of the fornicati-ons of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth ÿ people through her

a It neuer ceaseth to spoyle and robbe.
b He sheweth how the Caldeans shall haste, and how couragious their horses shall be in beating the ground when they come against the Assyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beauty and subtiltie entiseth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

her whoredome; and the nations through her witchcrafts.
5 Behold, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hoastes, and will discouer thy skirts vpon my face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.
6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stocke.
7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pity vpon her?
where shall I seeke comforters for thee?
8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?
9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none end: Put and Lubim were ‖ her helpers.
10 Yet was shee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.
11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, & shalt seeke help because of the enemy.
12 All thy strong cities shalbe like figtrees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Behold, thy people within thee are women:
the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.
14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.
15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the swoȓd shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the [e] locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grashopper.
16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchants aboue
the starres of heauen: the locust spoileth and fly-eth away.
17 Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the cold day; but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away, & their place is not know-en where they are.
18 Thy [f] shepheards do sleepe, O king of Asshur:
thy strong men lye downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathered them.
19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruite of thee, shall clappe the hands ouer thee: for vpon [g] whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.
‖ Or, thine.
e Signifying, that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.
f Thy princes and counsellers.
g Meaning, that there was no people, to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore hee had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And least the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this, that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

1 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THe burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.
2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare! euen cry out vnto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!
3 Why doest thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to behold sorow? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.
4 Therefore the Law is dissolued, and iudge-ment doth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth [b] compasse about the righteous, therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.
5 Behold among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and marueile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] yee will not beleeue it, though it be told you.
6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the bredth of the land to possesse the dwelling places that are not theirs.
7 They are terrible & fearefull: [e] their iudgment,
and their dignitie shall proceed of themselues, 8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the [*] euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.
9 They come all to spoyle: for their faces shalbe an [f] East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie [g] as the sand.
10 And they shall mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a scorne vnto them: they shall de-ride euery strong hold: for they shall gather [h] dust, and take it.
11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse & doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.
12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy One? we shall not [k] die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.
13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednes. wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth
the man, that is more righteous then he?
14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea,
and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them?

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie and brotherly loue: but in stead thereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and strife.
b To suppresse him, if any should shew himselfe zealous of Gods cause.
c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euill as the rest.
d As in times past you would not beleeue Gods word, so shall yee not now beleeue the strange plagues which are at hand.
e They themselues shall be your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue autoritie ouer them to controll them.
* Zeph. 3. 3.
f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruits.
g They shalbe so many in number.
h They shall cast vp mounts against it.
i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory, and become proud and insolent, attributing the prayse thereof to their idoles.
k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod.
l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net,and gather it in their yarne,whereof they reioyce and are glad.
16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their m net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat,and their meat plenteous.
17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net,and not spare continually to slay n the nations?

CHAP. II.

a A vision. 5 Against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatry.

I Will stand vpon my a watch, and set mee vpon the towre, and will looke and see what he would say vnto me,and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.
2 And the Lord answered me,and sayd,Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne b that readeth it.
3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the c last it shall speake,and not lie: though it tary,waite: for it shall surely come,and shall not stay.
4 Beholde, d hee that lifteth vp himselfe, his mind is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue
by his faith,
5 Yea, indeede the proud man is as e hee that transgresseth by wine; therefore shall hee not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.
6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerb against him,and say, Ho,he that increaseth that which is not his? f how long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?
7 Shall g they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?
8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations,
all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee,
because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell
therein.
9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.
10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house,by destroying many people,and hast sinned against thine owne soule.
11 For the i stone shall cry out of the wall,
and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.
12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood,and erecteth a city by iniquitie.
13 Behold, is it not of the k Lord of hoastes, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very va-nitie.
14 For the earth shall l be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.
15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour
m drinke; thou ioynest thine heate,& makest him
drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.
16 Thou art filled with shame n for glory;
drinke thou also, and be made naked; the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee,
and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.
17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee; so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.
18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies,though he that made it,trust therein,when he maketh dumbe idoles.
19 Woe vnto him that sayth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp,it shall teach thee; d behold, it is layed ouer with gold and siluer,and there is no breath in it.
20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

m Meaning,that the enemies flatter themselues, and glory in their owne force, power and wit.
n Meaning, that they should not,

a I will renounce mine owne iudgement, and only depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.
b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may reade it.
c Which conteined the destruction of the enemy,and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections,yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appoynted.
d To trust in himselfe, or in any worldly thing,is neuer to be quiet: for the only rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom.1.17. Gal.3.11.Hebr. 10.38.
e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard, that is, without reason and sense,whom God will punish and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Chaldeans, f Signifying, that all the world shall wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression and couetousnes, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.
g That is, the Medes and Persians,that should destroy the Babylonians? h Signifying,that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression. i The stones of ẏ house shall cry and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe. k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare through all ẏ world. m Hee reprocheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with couetousnesse and cruelty,so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame; for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.
o Because the Babylonians were cruel not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon and the beasts therein,he sheweth that the like crueltie shall be executed against them p Hee sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them,for they were but blockes or stones,reade Iere. 10.8.

a A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the a ignorances.
2 b O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce,and was afraid; O Lord, reuiue thy c worke in the mids of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen; in wrath remember mercy
3 God commeth from d Teman, and the holy One from mount Paran, Selah. His glory coue-reth the heauens,and the earth is full of his prayse, 4 And his brightnesse was as the light; e hee had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.
5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.
6 Hee stood and measured the earth; hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow; his f wayes are euerlasting.
7 g For his iniquity I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.
8 Was the Lord angry against the h riuers?
or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride
i vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.
9 Thy k bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the l oathes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou m diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.
10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled; the streame of the water n passed by; the deepe made a noyse,and lift vp his hand on high.
11 The o sunne and moone stood still in their habitation; p at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.
12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger,

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God, not onely for their great sins, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.
b Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.
c That is,the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish,before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

14 Thou diddest s strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewind to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I t heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble, for when he commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig-tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of te olive shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheep shallbe cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make me to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

q Signifying, that there is no saluation, but by Christ.
r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.
s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.
t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.

u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he propheseied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to find mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that race, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

a Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah ŷ sonne of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the son of * Amon king of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shallbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the b Chemarims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by c Malcham.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.

8 And it shallbe in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the kings children, and all such as are cloathed with d strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that e dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shallbe a noise, and crie from the f fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of g the lowe place: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with h lights, and visit the men that are frozen i in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: k the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscurity and darkenesse, a day of clouds and blackenesse,

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shal walk like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shallbe powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their gold shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shalbe deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for he shall make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

1 He moueth to returne to God. 5 propheseying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites and others.

GAther a your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued,

2 Before the decree come foorth, and ye be as into themselues and gather themselues, least they be scattered like chaffe, a He exhorteth them to repentance, and willeth them to defend chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meek of the earth, which [b] haue wrought his iudgment: seeke righteousnes, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

b That is, which haue liued vprightly and godly according as he prescribeth by his word.

4 For [c] Azzah shallbe forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

c He comforteth the faithfull in that that God would change his punishments from them vnto the Philistims their enemies and other nations.

5 Who vnto the inhabitants of the sea [d] coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

d That is, Galilea: by these nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes, and in stead of friendship were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whom the Lord appoynted to be slaine.

6 And the sea coast shallbe dwellings and cottages for shepheards and sheepfolds.

7 And that coast shallbe for the [e] remnant of the house of Iudah, to feed therevpon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night; for the Lord their God shall visit them, and turne away their captiuitie.

e He sheweth why God would destroy their enemies, because their countrey might be a resting place for his Church.

8 I haue heard the reproach of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and [f] magnified themselues against their borders.

f These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that countrey which the Lord had giuen them.

9 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord of hoasts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodome, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles, and salt pittes, and a perpetuall desolation, the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possesse them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproached, and magnified themselues against the Lord of hoasts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: [g] for he will consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

g When he shall deliuer his people and destroy their enemies and Idols, his glory shall shine throughout all the world.

12 Ye Morians also shallbe slaine by my sword with them.

13 And he will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Asshur, and will make Nineueh desolate, and waste like a wildernes.

14 And flocks shall lie in the mids of her, and all the beastes of the nations, and the [h] pelicane and the ‖ owle shall abide in the vpper posts of it: the voyce of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolation shall be vpon the postes, for the cedars are vncouered.

15 This is the [i] reioycing city that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none besides me: how is she made waste, and the lodging of the beasts! euery one that passeth by her, shall hisse and wag his hand.

i Meaning, Nineueh, which reioycing so much of her strength and prosperity, should be thus made waste, & Gods people deliuered.

4 Against the gouernours of Ierusalem, 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Israel.

WO to her that is filthy and polluted, to the robbing [a] citie.

a That is, Ierusalem.

2 She heard not the voyce; shee receiued not correction; she trusted not in the Lord; shee drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring * lyons; her iudges are as * wolues in the euening, which [b] leaue not the bones till the morrow.

* Ezek.22,25,27. mich.3.11
* Hab.1.8.
b They are so greedy that they eate vp bones and all.

4 Her prophets are light, and wicked persons; her priests haue polluted the Sanctuary, they haue wrested the Law.

5 The [c] iust Lord is in the mids thereof; he will doe none iniquity; euery morning doth he bring his iudgement to light, he faileth not; but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

c The wicked then boasted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet answereth that that cannot excuse their wickednesse: for God will not beare with their sinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and sent his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

6 I haue [d] cut off the nations: their towers are desolate: I haue made their streets waste, that none shal passe by; their cities are destroyed without man, and without inhabitant.

d By the destruction of other nations hee sheweth that the Iewes should haue learned to feare God.

7 I said, surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue instruction; so their dwelling should not be destroyed howsoeuer I visited them, but [e] they rose earely, and corrupted all their works.

e They were most earnest and ready to do wickedly.

8 Therefore [f] wait ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the pray; for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath; for all the earth shallbe deuoured with the fire of my ielousie.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you shall looke for my vengeance as well as other nations.

9 Surely [g] then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon ẏ name of the Lord, to serue him † with one consent.

g Least any should think then that Gods glory should haue perished when Iudah was destroyed, he sheweth that he will publish his grace through all the world.
† Eb. with one shoulder, as Hos.6.9.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the [h] daughter of my dispersed, praying vnto me, shall bring me an offering.

h That is, the Iewes shall come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderstood vnder the time of the Gospel.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for [i] all thy works, wherein thou hast transgressed against mee: for then will I take away out of the mids of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

i For they shall haue full remission of their sinnes and the hypocrites which boasted of the Temple, which was also thy pride in times past, shall be taken from thee.

12 Then will I leaue in the middes of thee an humble and poore people; and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall do none iniquity, nor speake lies; neither shall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth; for they shall be fed and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion; be ye ioyfull, O Israel; be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath taken away thy [k] iudgements; he hath cast out thine [l] enemy; the king of Israel, euen the Lord is in the mids of [m] thee; thou shalt see no more euill.

k That is, the punishment of thy sinne.
l As the Assyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians and others nations
m To defend thee as by thy sinnes thou hast put him away, and left thy selfe naked, as Exod.32.25.

16 In that day it shallbe said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion, let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mightie; he will saue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy; he will quiet himselfe in [n] his loue; he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

n Signifying, that God delighteth to shew his loue and great affection toward his Church.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproach for [o] it.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church, and because of their religion.

19 Behold, at that time I will bruise all that afflict thee, and I will [p] saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the [q] lands of their shame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you; for I will giue you a name and a praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuity before your eyes, saith the Lord.

p I will deliuer the Church, which now is afflicted, as Mich.4.6. q As among the Assyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them and put them to shame.

HAGGAI.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi, to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, hee declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet hee comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of great felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the works that he hath begun, and send Christ whom hee had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the Prophecie of Haggai. 3 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of king a Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of ỹ moneth, came ỹ word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto b Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoasts, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come c that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your d sieled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 e Ye haue sowen much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye haue not enough: ye drinke, but yee are not filled: ye cloathe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hoasts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Go f vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and g I will be fauourable in it, and I will h be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow i vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hoasts? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the k voyce of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp l the spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a Prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hoastes their God,

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministery of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you that sawe this a House in her first glory, and how doe you see it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and b doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hoastes.

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, c Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

8 And I will mooue all nations, and d the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, saith the Lord of hoastes.

9 The e siluer is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hoastes.

10 The glory of this last House shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hoastes: and in this place will I giue f peace, saith the Lord of hoastes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say,

13 If one beare g holy flesh in the skirt of his gurment, and with his skirt do touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oile, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis and the third king of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease, by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had not bene to be stirred vp and admonished of their dueties, what shall wee thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?
c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie and priuate profit to religion, & ye content with small beginnings.
d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.
e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all.
f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and to the setting forth of his religion.
g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, h Hag. 1, 1. 29.
b That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.
i And so bring it to nothing. k This declareth that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exod. 14. 31. Iudg. 7. 20 Act. 15. 18
l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers, before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn. 6. 44.

a For the people according as Isa. 30, 11. and Eze. 40. had prophecied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spirituall Temple, the Church of Christ.
b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.
c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renued.
d Meaning Christ, whom all ought to looke for and desire: not by desire he may signifie all precious things, as riches, &c such like.
e Therefore when his time commeth, he can make all the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doth not stand in materiall things, neither can be built.
f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil 4. 7.
g That is the flesh of the sacrifices wherby he signifieth that that thing therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary by that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly.

which of it selfe is good, cannot make another thing so: and Priests answered and said, It shall be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.
16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [b] day and afore, euen afore a stone was layd vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:
17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten, when one came to the winepresse, for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.
18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the laboures of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.
19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was layde:
consider it in your minds.
20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet ẏ vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.
21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,
22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] will shake the heauens and the earth.
23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of king-domes, and I will destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.
24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hoastes.

b Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.
i That is, before the building was begun.
k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.
l He exhorteth them to patience, and to abide till the haruest came, & then they should see Gods blessings.
m I will make a change, and renue all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.
n Hereby hee sheweth that there shall be no let or hinderance, when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.
o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophecie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore, hee putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: & yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they remained still in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius, came ẏ word of the Lord vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the son of Iddo the Prophet, saying, 2 The Lord hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.
3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.
4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the former * Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Turne yee now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith
the Lord.
5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and doe the Prophets liue foreuer?
6 But did not my words and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of [f] your fathers? and [g] they returned, and saide, As the Lord of hoastes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our owne wayes, & according to our works, so hath he dealt with vs.
7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying, 8 I [i] saw by night, and behold, [k] a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behind him were there [l] red horses speckled and white.
9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these?
And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me,
I will shew thee what these be.
10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.
11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still and is at rest.
12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hoastes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?
13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with mee, with good words and comfortable words.
14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zachariah, whereof is mention, 2.Chron.24,20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours, as of Iehoiada or Berechiah, and Iddo.
c Hee speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements, that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.
d Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, & mortified you: for else man hath no power to returne to God but God must conuert him, as Ierem.31,18. lament.5,21. Isa 21,3,& 31,6 and 45,21. * Iere.3,12. Ezek.18.30. Hose 14,2. Ioel 2,12.
e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer. 1.Pet.1,25.
f Seeing yee sawe the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe ye not feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets?
g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.
h Which conteineth part of Ianuary and part of February.
i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church: but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow. yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his posts and messengers abroad by whom he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.
k Who was the chiefe among the horsemen.
l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels by whom God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sorts.
m That is, Christ the mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countrey about them were at rest.

Lord

Lord of hoaſtes, I am n ielous ouer Ieruſalem and Zion with a great zeale,
15 And am greatly angry againſt the careleſſe heathen: for I was angry but o a little, and they helped forward the affliction.
16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ieruſalem with tender mercy; mine houſe ſhall be builded in it, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, and a line p ſhallbe ſtretched vpon Ieruſalem.
17 Crie yet, and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, My cities ſhall yet q be broken with plenty: the Lord ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhall yet chuſe Ieruſalem.
18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and ſaw, and behold r foure hornes.
19 And I ſaid vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he anſwered me, Theſe are the hornes which haue ſcattered Iudah, Iſrael and Ieruſalem.
20 And the Lord ſhewed me foure ſ carpenters.
21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to doe? And he anſwered, and ſaid, Theſe are the hornes, which haue ſcattered Iudah, ſo that a man durſt not lift vp his head; but theſe are come to fray them, and to caſt out the hornes of ỹ Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to ſcatter it.

n Though for a time God deferre his help and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them ſtill moſt dearely, as a moſt mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.
o In deſtroying the reprobate I ſhewed my ſelfe but a little angry toward my church, but the enemie would haue deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the end of my chaſtiſements.
p To meaſure out the buildings.
q The abundance ſhalbe ſo great, that the places of ſtore ſhall not be able to containe theſe bleſſings that God will ſend, but ſhall euen breake for fulneſſe.
r Which ſignified all the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.
ſ Theſe Carpenters or Smiths are Gods inſtruments, which with their malles and hammers breake theſe hard and ſtrong hornes which ſhould ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is ſo ſtrong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and behold, a a man with a meaſuring line in his hand.
2 Then ſayd I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſayd vnto mee, To meaſure Ieruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.
3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and another Angel went out to meet him,
4 And ſayd vnto him, Runne, ſpeake to this
b yong man, and ſay, c Ieruſalem ſhalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell
therein.
5 For I, ſaith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will e be the glory in the mids of her.
6 Ho, ho, come f forth and flee from the land of the North, ſaith the Lord: for I haue ſcattered you into the foure g windes of ỹ heauen, ſaith the Lord.
7 h Saue thy ſelfe, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babel.
8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, After this i glory hath he ſent mee vnto the nations, which ſpoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth
the k apple of his eye.
9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand l vp-on them: and m they ſhallbe a ſpoyle to thoſe that ſerued them, and yee ſhall know, that the Lord of hoaſts hath n ſent me.
10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, ſaith the Lord.
11 And many nations ſhall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and ſhalbe my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, & thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoaſts hath ſent me vnto thee.
12 And the Lord ſhall inherit Iudah his portion in the holy land, and ſhall chuſe Ieruſalem
againe.
13 Let all fleſh be ſtill before the Lord: for he is raiſed vp out of his holy place.

a That is, the Angel who was Chriſt: for in reſpect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God, and ſo called.
b Meaning, himſelfe Zechariah.
c Signifying the ſpirituall Ieruſalem and Church vnder Chriſt, which ſhould be extended by the Goſpel through all the world, and ſhould need no materiall walles nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerued and dwell in peace among all their enemies.
d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies and to deſtroy them if they approach neere.
e In me they ſhall haue their full felicitie and glory.
f He calleth to them, which partly for feare and partly for their owne caſe remained ſtill in captiuity, and ſo preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promiſed in his Church.
g As it was I that ſcattered you, ſo haue I power to reſtore you.
h By fleeing from Babylon, and comming to the Church.
i Seeing that God hath begun to ſhew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the ſame ſtill toward you, and therefore ſendeth me his Angel and his Chriſt to defend you from your enemies, that they ſhall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.
k Yee are ſo deare vnto God, that he can no more ſuffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thruſt in the eye, Pſal. 17.8.
l Vpon the heathen your enemies.
m They ſhall be your ſeruants, as you haue bene theirs.
n This muſt neceſſarily be vnderſtood of Chriſt, who being God equall with his Father, was ſent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church and to gouerne them.

CHAP. III.

A propheſie of Chriſt and of his kingdome.

AND he ſhewed mee Iehoſhua the high Prieſt, a ſtanding before the Angel of the Lord, and
b Satan ſtood at his right hand to reſiſt him.
2 And the c Lord ſaid vnto Satan, The Lord reprooue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath choſen Ieruſalem, reprooue thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?
3 Now Iehoſhua was cloathed with e filthie garments, and ſtood before the Angel.
4 And he anſwered and ſpake vnto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he ſaid, Behold,
I haue f cauſed thine iniquity to depart from thee,
and I will cloathe thee with change of raiment.
5 And I ſaid, Let them g ſet a faire diademe vpon his head. So they ſet a faire diademe vpon his head, and cloathed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord ſtood by.
6 And the Angel of the Lord teſtified vnto
Iehoſhua, ſaying,
7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou ſhalt alſo h iudge mine houſe, and ſhalt alſo keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k theſe that ſtand by.
8 Heare now, O Iehoſhua the hie Prieſt, thou and thy fellowes that ſit before thee: for they l are monſtrous perſons: but behold, I will bring forth
the m Branch my ſeruant.
9 For loe, the n ſtone that I haue laid before Iehoſhua: vpon one ſtone ſhall be ſeuen eyes: behold, I o will cut out the grauing thereof, ſaith the Lord of hoaſts, and I will take p away the iniquitie of this land in one day.
10 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoaſtes, ſhall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figtree.

a He prayed to Chriſt the Mediatour for the ſtate of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with fleſh and blood, but with Satan himſelfe and ſpirituall wickedneſſe, Ephes. 6.12.
c That is, Chriſt ſpeaketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he ſheweth himſelfe to be the continuall preſeruer of his Church.
d Meaning, that Iehoſhua was wonderfully preſerued in the captiuity, and now Satan ſought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.
e In reſpect of the glorious garments and precious ſtones that the Prieſtes did weare before the captiuity: and by this contemptible ſtate the Prophet ſignifieth that theſe ſmall beginnings ſhould be made excellent when Chriſt ſhall make the full reſtitution of his Church.
f He ſheweth of what apparell he ſpeaketh, which is, when our filthy ſinnes are taken away, and wee are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the ſpirituall reſtitution.
g The Prophet prayeth, that beſides the raiment, the Prieſt might alſo haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Prieſthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Chriſt, who was both Prieſt and King. and here all ſuch are condemned, that can content themſelues with any meane reformation in religion, ſeeing the Prophet deſireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.
h That is haue rule and gouernement in my Church, as thy predeceſſors haue had.
i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and miniſtery of the Church.
k That is, the Angels, who repreſented the whole number of the faithfull: ſignifying that all the godly ſhould willingly receiue him.
l Becauſe they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and eſteemed as monſters, Iſa 8.18.
m That is, Chriſt, who did ſo humble himſelfe that not onely he became the ſeruant of God, but alſo the ſeruant of men: and therefore in him they ſhould haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Iſa. 11.1. Ier. 23.5. and 33.14.15.
n He ſheweth that the miniſters cannot build before God lay the firſt ſtone, which is Chriſt, who is full of eyes, both becauſe he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to ſeeke light at him. Chap. 4.10.
o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of GOD.
p Though I haue puniſhed this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and viſit their ſinnes no more.
q Ye ſhall then liue in peace and quietneſſe, that is, in the kingdome of Chriſt, Iſa. 2.2. micah. 4.4. haggai 2.10.

CHAP. IV.

The vision of the golden candlesticke, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,
2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a [a] candlesticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen [b] pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof, 3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.
4 So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?
5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.
6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto [c] Zerub-babel, saying, Neither by [d] an army nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hoasts.
7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and [f] he shall bring foorth the head stone thereof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.
8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,
9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and [g] thou shalt know that the Lord of hoasts hath sent me vnto you.
10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe
thorow the whole world.
11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliues trees vpon the right and vpon
the left side thereof?
12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him,
What be these two oliue branches, which thorow
the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?
13 And he answered mee, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.
14 Then said he, These are the two [l] oliue branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection. b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lamps, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe though he had no helpe of man. c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church, who are his body and members. d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vse not mans helpe thereunto. e He compareth the power of the aduersaires to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daylie labour to let in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple. g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple. h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he signifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about to bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, chap. 3. 9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of grace.

CHAP. V.

a The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying booke.
2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubits, and the breadth thereof
ten cubits.
3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shall be cut off, aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth, shallbe cut off, aswell on this side, as on that.
4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hoasts, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.
5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.
6 And I sayd, What is it? And hee sayd,
This is an [e] Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee sayd moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them through all the earth.
7 And behold, there was lift vp a [g] talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the mids
of the Ephah.
8 And he said, This is [i] wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.
9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two [k] women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.
10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?
11 And he sayd vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, hee sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies. b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour. c Meaning, wheresoeuer he be in the world. d He that transgresseth the first table, and serueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name. e Which was a measure in drie things, conteining about ten pottels. f That is, all the wickednes of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which hee keepeth in a measure, and can shut it or open it at his pleasure. g To couer the measure. h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse. i Signifying, that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgement by the meanes of the weake and infirme meanes. l To remooue the iniquity and affliction that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he describeth the foure Monarchies.

AGaine I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.
2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses, 3 And in the third charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet, horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.
4 Then I answered, and sayde vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are these, my Lord?
5 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto
mee, These are the foure [g] spirits of the heauen, which goe foorth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.
6 That with the blacke horse went forth into a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will. b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the externall counsell, and prouidence of God whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter. c Which signified the great crueltie and persecution that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie. f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Nineue, and Babylon and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world.

the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went foorth toward the [h] South countrey.
7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe thorow the world, and he said, Go, passe thorow the world. So they went thorowout
the world.
8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.
9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee,
saying,
10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Hel-dai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of [l] Iosiiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.
11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hoasts, and saith, Behold, the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and he shall growe [o] vp out of his place, and he shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.
13 Euen hee shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shallbe betweene [r] them both.
14 And the crownes shall be to [s] Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, and to [t] Hen the son of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.
15 And they that are [x] farre off, shall come and builde in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hoastes hath sent mee vnto
you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys thereabout.
i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict, till God giue it him. Iob 1,12.
k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.
l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authority among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the kingdome, and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.
m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and king.
n Meaning Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus.
o That is, of himselfe without the helpe of man.
p Which declareth, that none could build this Temple whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai 2.10.
q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow.
r The two offices of the kingdome, and Priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shallbe no more disseuered.
s Who was also called Heldai.
t He was also called Iosiiah.
u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue beene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelity these two crownes shal remaine as tokens, Acts 1,16.
x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel, shall helpe toward the building of the spirituall Temple.
y If yee will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu,
2 For [b] they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord,
3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hoastes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift mo-neth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?
4 Then came the word of the Lord of hoastes
vnto me, saying.
5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuen-tie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? [g] doe I approoue it?
6 And when yee did eate, and when yee did drinke, did ye not eat [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?
7 Should yee not heare the wordes which the Lord [i] hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her,
when the South and the plaine was inhabited?
8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,
9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hoastes, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother, 10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.
11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.
12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, least they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hoasts sent in his [m] Spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoasts.
13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hoasts.
14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land [o] waste.

a Which conteined part of Nouember and part of December.
b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere.41.2.
c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.
d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.
e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.
g For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reprooued.
h Did ye not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie, and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Law.
i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they inuented, & in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.
k He sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth.23.23.
l And would not carie the Lords burthen, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehe.9,29.
m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.
n That is, after they were caried captiue.
o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hoastes came to me, saying,
2 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, I was [a] iea-lous for Zion with great iealousie, and I was iea-lous for her with great wrath.
3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a [b] citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hoastes, the holy Mountaine.
4 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, There shall yet old [c] men and old women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.
5 And the streets of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streets thereof.
6 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Though it be [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vn-possible in my sight, saith the Lord of hoastes?
7 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

a I loued my city with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniury.
b Because she shall be faithfull, and loyall toward me her husband.
c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.
d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gen.18,14. Rom 4.20.

8 And

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shalbe my people, & I wil be their God in trueth, & in righteousnes.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, Let your hands be strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hoastes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not entreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hoastes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shallbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hoastes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hoastes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely, & vprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighboer, and loue no false oathe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hoastes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall go to another, saying, * Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hoasts: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hoastes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hoastes, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

a The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burthen of the worde of the Lord in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus shallbe his rest: when the b eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shallbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border c thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be d very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her f power in the sea, and shee shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be athamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the g stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his h teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shallbe for our God, and he shallbe as a prince in Iudah, but i Ekron shallbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about k mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now I haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion, shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy king commeth vnto thee: m he is iust, and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the o charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shallbe from p sea vnto sea, and from the q Riuer to the end of the land.

11 r Thou also shalt be saued through the blood of thy conenant. I haue loosed thy s prisoners out of the pit wherein t is no water.

12 Turne you to the s strong hold, ye o prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a y bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shallbe seene ouer them, and his arrow shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come foorth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hoastes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shallbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.
b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.
c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.
d That is, by Damascus: meaning, that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shalbe sure and stable.
f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereunto.
g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 35.10.
i Which declareth that man can not turne to God till he change mans heart by his spirit, and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.
k Which fact was appointed when the city was beseiged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauines: for God will send them ioy and gladnesse.
l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.
* Isa. 2.2, Mich. 4.1.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtilties, which they cloaked with this name of wisedome.
f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.
g Meaning, that all should be destroyed, saue a very few, that should remaine as strangers.
h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their cruelty and wrongs done to them.
i As the Iebusites had bin deliuered, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.
k He sheweth that Gods power onely shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries be they neuer so equell, or assemble their power neuer so often.
l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue beene afflicted by their enemies.
m That is, he hath righteousnesse and sanctification in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.
n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eies of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 22.5.
o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this Kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.
p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.
q That is from Euphrates.
r Meaning Ierusalem, or the Church, which is saued by the blood of Christ wherof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them.
s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.
t That is, into the holy land where the city and the Temple are, where God will defend you.
u Meaning the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie.
x That is, double benefits and prosperity in respect of that which ye haue suffered from Dauids time to the captiuitie.
y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which bee here meaneth by the Grecians.
z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies, and haue abundance and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moouve them to intemperancie, but to sobriety, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

shall be

ſhalbe as the [a] ſtones of his crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodneſſe! and how great is his beautie! corne ſhall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the maydes.

a The faithfull ſhalbe preſerued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies ſhalbe compelled to eſteeme them: for Gods glory ſhal ſhine in them, as Ioſephus declareth of Alexander the great when hee mette Iadi the high Prieſt.

CHAP. X.

1 The vanitie of Idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiſeth to viſite and comfort the houſe of Iſrael.

Aske you of the [a] Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: ſo ſhall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you ſhowres of raine, and to euery one graſſe in the field.

2 Surely the [b] idoles haue ſpoken vanitie, and the ſoothſayers haue ſeene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore [c] they went away as ſheepe: they were troubled, becauſe there was no ſhepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled againſt the ſhepheards, and I did viſite the [d] goates: but the Lord of hoaſts will viſite his flocke the houſe of Iudah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horſe in the battell.

4 Out [f] of him ſhall the corner come foorth: out of him the nayle, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery [g] appointer of tribute alſo.

5 And they ſhalbe as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the myre of the ſtreetes in the battell, and they ſhall fight, becauſe the Lord is with them, and the riders on horſes ſhalbe confounded.

6 And I will ſtrengthen the houſe of Iudah, and I will preſerue the [h] houſe of Ioſeph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitty them: and they ſhall be as though I had not caſt them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim ſhall be as a gyant: and their heart ſhall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children ſhall ſee it, and be glad: and their heart ſhall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will [i] hiſſe for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they ſhall increaſe, as they haue increaſed.

9 And I will [k] ſow them among the people, and they ſhall remember me in farre contreyes: and they ſhall liue with their children and [l] turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe alſo out of the land of Egypt, & gather them out of Aſſhur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place ſhall not be found for them.

11 And he [m] ſhall goe into the ſea with affliction, and ſhall ſmite the waues in the ſea, and all the depths of the riuer ſhall drie vp: and the pride of Aſſhur ſhalbe caſt downe, and the ſcepter of Egypt ſhall deprat away.

12 And I will ſtrengthen them in the Lord, and they ſhall walke in his Name, ſaith the Lord.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes becauſe by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promiſed, and ſo famine came by Gods iuſt iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague, he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and ſo he will giue them abundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods puniſhments in times paſt, becauſe they truſted not in him, but in their idoles and ſorcerers who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, the cruell gouernours which did oppreſſe the poore ſheepe, Ezek 34.16.17.

e He will be mercifull to his Church and cheriſh them as a king or prince doth his beſt horſe which ſhalbe for his owne vſe in the warre.

f Out of Iudah ſhall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who ſhall be as a corner to vphold the building, and as a nayle to faſten it together.

g Ouer their enemies

h That is, the ten tribes, which ſhould be gathered vnder Chriſt to the reſt of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his: for with a becke or hiſſe hee can call them from all places ſuddenly.

k Though they ſhall yet be ſcattered and ſeeme to be loſt, yet it ſhalbe profitable vnto them: for there they ſhall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accompliſhed vnder the Goſpel, among whom it was firſt preached.

l Not that they ſhould returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Goſpel.

m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel ſmote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The deſtruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Chriſt. 7 A grieuous viſion againſt Ieruſalem and Iudah.

Open thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire ſhall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, becauſe all the mightie are deſtroyed: howle ye, Ookes of Baſhan, for the [c] defenced forreſt is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the ſhepheards: for their [d] glory is deſtroyed; the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is deſtroyed.

4 Thus ſayeth the Lord my God, Feede the ſheepe of the [e] ſlaughter.

5 They that poſſeſſe them, ſlay them [f] and ſinne not: and they that ſell them, ſay, [g] Bleſſed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne ſhepheards ſpare them not.

6 Surely I will no more ſpare thoſe that dwell in the land, ſaith the Lord: but loe, [h] I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his [i] king: and they ſhall ſmite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the ſheepe of ſlaughter, euen the [k] poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me [l] two ſtaues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the ſheepe.

8 [m] Three ſhepheards alſo I cut off in one moneth, and my ſoule loathed [n] them, and their ſoule abhorred me.

9 Then ſayd I, I will not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that periſheth, let it periſh: and let the remnant eate, euery one the fleſh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my ſtaffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might diſanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and ſo the [o] poore of the ſheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I ſayd vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me [p] my wages: and if no, leaue off: ſo they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of ſiluer.

13 And the Lord ſayd vnto me, Caſt it vnto the [q] potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of ſiluer, and caſt them to the potter in the houſe of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other ſtaffe, euen the Bands, that I might diſſolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Iſrael.

15 And the Lord ſayd vnto me, Take to thee yet [r] the inſtruments of a fooliſh ſhepheard.

16 For loe, I will raiſe vp a ſhepheard in the land, which ſhall not looke for the thing that is loſt, nor ſeeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that [ſ] ſtandeth vp, but he ſhall eate fleſh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole ſhepheard that leaueth the flocke: the ſword ſhalbe vpon his [t] arme, and vpon his

a Becauſe the Iewes thought themſelues ſo ſtrong by reaſon of this mountaine, that no enemy could come to hurt them, the Prophet ſheweth that when God ſendeth the enemies, it ſhall ſhew it ſelfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing, that if the ſtrong men were deſtroyed, the weaker were not able to reſiſt.

c Seeing that Lebanon was deſtroyed, which was the ſtrongeſt munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the renowme of Iudah and Iſrael ſhould periſh.

e Which being now deſtinate to be ſlaine, were deliuered as out of the lyons mouth.

f Their gouernours deſtroy them without any remorſe of conſcience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods bleſſings, which commeth of the ſpoyle of their brethren.

h I will cauſe one to deſtroy another.

i Their gouernours ſhall execute crueltie ouer them.

k That is, the ſmall remnant, whom he thought worthie to ſhew mercie vnto.

l God ſheweth his great benefits toward his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his moſt beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands, Deſtroyers, but in the 14. verſe the firſt reading is confirmed.

m Whereby hee ſheweth his care and diligence that he would ſuffer them to haue no euill rulers, becauſe they ſhould conſider his great loue.

n Meaning, the people, becauſe they would not acknowledge theſe great benefits of God.

o He ſheweth that the leaſt part euer profit by Gods iudgements.

p Beſides their ingratitude God accuſeth them of malice and wickedneſſe, which did not onely forget his benefits, but eſteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too litle to pay his wages, which could ſcarſe ſuffice to make a few tyles for to couer the Temple.

r Signifying that they ſhould haue a certaine kinde of regiment and outward ſhew of gouernment: but in effect it ſhould be nothing: for they ſhould be wolues, and deuouring beaſts in ſtead of ſhepheards.

ſ And is in health and ſound.

t By the armes he ſignifie his ſtrength, as he doeth wiſedome and iudgements by the eye: that is, the plague of God ſhall take away both thy ſtrength and iudgement.

right eye. His arme shall be cleane dried vp, and his right eye shalbe vtterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THE burden of the worde of the Lord vpon [a] Israel, saeyth the Lord, which spred the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem [a b] cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will hee be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saeyth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the Princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hosts, their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the woode, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of David, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of [e] grace and of compassion, and they shal looke vpon me, whome they haue [f] pierced, and they shall lament for [g] him as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shal there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the [h] mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the [k] land shall bewaile euery family apart, the family of the [m] house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of [n] Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatry. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there [a] shall bee a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleanesse.

2 And in that day, saeyth the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the [b] names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I will cause the [c] prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet [d] prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lyes in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] shall thrust him through, when he prophecieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets [f] bee ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shal they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But bee shall say, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to bee an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these [h] wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my [i] shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hosts: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, saeyth the Lord, [k] two parts therein shal be cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

a Thatis, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefites in deliuering their brethren, and had rather reuenge in captiuitie, then to returne home when God called them.
b Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies also shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.
c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.
d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.
e They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compassion on them.
f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Iohn. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.
g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their vngratitude.
h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God. i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2 Chron. 35. 22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefes, shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families bee conteineth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ. n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

a He sheweth what shalbe the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinne by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleanesse.
b Hee promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.
c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.
d That is, when they shall prophecie lyes, and make God, who is the author of truth, a cloake therewith.
e Hee sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deut. 13. 6. 9.
f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lyes, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy:
g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing. h Hereby he sheweth that though their parents and friends leale more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer. i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible diuision among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Matth. 26. 31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall enioy them, shalbe tried with greate afflictions, so that it shalbe Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceede out of the Church, and of the vsefuluation thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy spoyle shall bee [a] diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battel, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall go into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then the Lord shall goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when he [b] fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day vpon the [c] mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great [d] valley, & halfe

a He meeth the godly against the great inuasions that shall come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.
b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.
c By this maner of speech the Prophet sheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle saue it. d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

of the mountaine shall remooue toward the North,
and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.
5 And yee shall flee vnto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the [f] earthquake, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord [g] my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.
6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light,
but darke.
7 And there shall be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light.
8 And in that day shall there [i] waters of life go out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea,
and shalbe, both in summer and winter.
9 And the Lord shall be King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one [k] Lord, and his name shall be one, 10 All the land shall be turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ie-rusalem, and it shall be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel vnto the kings winepresses.
11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shalbe no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall be safely inhabited.
12 And this shalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.
13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lord shalbe among them, and euery one shall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.
14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with [o] golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.
15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camell and of the asse, and of all the beasts that be in these tents at this [p] plague.
16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hoasts, and to keepe
the feast of Tabernacles.
17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hoastes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.
18 And if the family of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite
all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of tabernacles.
19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.
20 In that day shall there be written vpon the [r] bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the [s] pots in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar.
21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hoastes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shalbe no more the [t] Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hoastes.

e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Reade Amos 1, 1.
g Because they did not credit the Prophets words, hee turneth to God and comforteth himselfe in that that hee knew that these things should come, and sayth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.
h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is heere meant by the euening) God would send comfort.
i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance.
k All idolatry and superstition shall be abolished, and there shalbe one God, one faith and one religion.
l This new Ierusalem shal be seene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatnesse.
m God will not onely rayse vp warre without, but sedition at home to try them.
n To hurt and oppresse him.
o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a pray but to destroy and shed blood.
p As the men should be destroyed, verse 12.
q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.
r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.
s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.
t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, nor any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of the Church after the captiuitie, & after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. Hee confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, chiefly hee reprooueth the Priests for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatiencie, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy to the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

THe [a] burden of the worde of the Lord to Israel by the ministery of Malachi.
2 I haue loued you, sayth the Lord: yet yee say, [b] Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iaa-kobs brother, saith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob.
3 And I [c] hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.
4 Though Edom say, Wee are impouerished,
but we will returne and build the desolate places:
yet sayth the Lord of hoastes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for euer.
5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say,
The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.
6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hoastes vnto you, [d] O Priests that despise my Name? and ye say, [e] Wherein haue wee despised thy Name?

a Reade Isa. 13, 1.
b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder.
c For beside that the figures of this hatred appeared euen whē he was made seruant vnto his younger brother being yet in his mothers belly, & also afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it: whereas ye my people whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, read Rom. 9. 13.
d Besides the rest of the people hee condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprooued others of their hypocrisie, and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greeuous euils.
e Hee noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blind guides.

7 Ye offer f vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not g to be regarded.
8 And if ye offer the blind for sacrifice, it is h not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hoastes?
9 And now I pray you, i pray before God,
that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene
by your meanes: will hee regard k your persons, sayth the Lord of hoastes?
10 Who is there euen among you, l that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayth the Lord of hoastes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.
11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is m great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offring:
for my Name is great among the heathen, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, n The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.
13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a o wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hoastes, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus yee offred an offring: should I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord?
14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke p a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hoastes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

f Yee receiue all maner offrings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law, or no.
g Not that they sayd thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.
h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie and so come not to the purenesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.
i He derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.
k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous and wicked?
l Because the Leuites who kept the doores did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect.
m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Law, framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.
n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane, as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and so committed both impiety, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse.
o The Priests and people were both weary with seruing God, and passed not what maner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.
p That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him according to his couetous mind.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

AND now, O ye a Priests, this commandement is for you.
2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory b vnto my Name, sayth
the Lord of hoastes, I will euen send a curse vpon
you, and will curse your c blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because yee doe not consider it in your heart.
3 Behold, I will corrupt d your seede, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the e dung of your solemne feast, and you shall be like vnto it.
4 And yee shall know, that I haue f sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I h gaue him feare, and hee feared me, and was afraid before i my Name.
6 The Law of k trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: he walked with mee in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquity.
7 For the Priestes l lippes should preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the m messenger of the Lord of hoastes.
8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee
haue caused many to fall by the Law: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayeth the Lord of hoastes.
9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Law.
10 Haue we not all one n father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?
11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Israel hath defiled the holines of the Lord, which hee loued, and hath married the p daughter of a strange god.
12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that q offereth an offring vnto the Lord of hoasts.
13 And this haue ye done againe, and r coue-red the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.
14 Yet yee say, s Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed:
yet is shee thy t companion, and the wife of thy u couenant.
15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y abundance of spirit: and wherfore one? because he sought a godly z seed: therefore keepe your selues in your a spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.
16 If thou hatest her, b put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth c the iniury vnder his garment, sayth the Lord of hoasts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.
17 Yee haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him?
When ye say, Euery one that doeth e euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them.
Or where is the God of f iudgement?

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.
b To serue mee according to my word.
c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.
d Your seede sowen shall come to no profit.
e You hoast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame and be as vile as dung.
f The Priests obiected against the Prophet that he could not reproone them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing slaundered, when these villaines and doung are called by their owne names.
g Hee sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part, that hee would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.
h I prescribed Leui a certaine Law to serue me.
i He serued mee and set foorth my glory with all humilitude and submission.
k Hee sheweth that the Priestes ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.
l Hee is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.
m Shewing that whosoeuer doth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, or their brethren.
o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in mariage with them that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priest.
r Yee cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.
s This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.
t As the one halfe of thy selfe.
u Shee that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excesse of lustes.
a Containe your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that hee doeth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults hee sheweth, which is the lesse.
c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.
d Yee murmure against God, because hee heard not you assoone as ye called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

Behold, I will send my a messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the b Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple:
euen the c messenger of the Couenant, whom ye desire: behold, hee shall come, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
2 But who d may abide the day of his com-ming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth?
for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.
3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of e Leui and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.
4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ie-rusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeeres afore.
5 And I will come neere to you to iudgment, and I will be a swift witnes against the soothsay-ers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and yee sonnes of Iaakob f are not consumed.
7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: g returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, sayth the Lord of hosts: but ye sayd, Wherein shall we returne?
8 Will a h man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoyled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In i tithes and offerings.
9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoy-led me: euen this whole nation.
10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meate in my house, and prooue me now herewith, sayth the Lord of hoastes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you,
and powre you out a blessing k without measure.
11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your sakes, and hee shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shalbe a pleasant land, sayth the Lord of hosts.
13 Your words haue bene stout m against me, sayth the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?
14 Yee haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue God:
and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hoastes?
15 Therefore we count the proude blessed:
euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are n deliuered.
16 o Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a p booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.
17 And they shall be to mee, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day q that I shall do this, for a flock, and I will r spare them, as a man spareth his owne
sonne that serueth him.
18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke 7,27.
b Meaning, Messias, Psal.40.1,7. Dan 9.17,25.
c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made and ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his father, and is Lord or king, because hee hath the gouernement of his Church.
d He sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lords comming will not abide when hee draweth neere: for he will consume them, and purge his and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests that they might be lights, and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token, that he doeth still defend them, and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.
g Reade Zech.1,3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraud their gods of their honour or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue beene maintained, and the Priests and the poore relieued.
k Not hauing respect how much yee need: but I will giue you in all abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruites.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first, in that they sayd that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next, that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After these admonitions of the Prophet, some were liuely touched, and encouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners.
q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods.
r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord before the which Eliiah should come.

For behold, the day commeth that shall a burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, sayth the Lord of hoastes, and shall leaue them neither roote nor branch.
2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the b sonne of righteousnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall go c forth, and grow vp as fat calues.
3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soales of your feete in the day that I shall doe this, sayth the Lord of hoastes.
4 d Remember the Law of Moses my seruant, which I commaunded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.
5 Beholde, I will send you e Eliiah the Prophet before the comming of the great and f fearefull day of the Lord.
6 And he shall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, least I come and h smite the earth with cursing.

a He prophecieth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.
b Meaning, Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace shall lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes.5,14. and he is called the sonne of righteousnesse, because in himselfe he hath all perfection and also the iustice of the Father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenerateth vs vnto righteousnesse, cleanseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God.
c Yee shall be set at libertie, and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2.Cor.3,17.
d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more feruent minds desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Law of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also be armed against all tentations.
e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth.11,13,14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion, is aptly compared to Eliiah.
f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.
g He sheweth wherein Iohns office should stand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob.
h The second part of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

THE PRINTER to the diligent Reader.

DEare Chriſtian Reader, to the intent that thou mighteſt the better enioy the benefit of theſe notes or expoſitions vpon the New Teſtament: I thought it not amiſſe to declare vnto thee the vſe of the ſame. And firſt, foraſmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, conteining like phraſe or ſenſe, haue beene ſo placed, that none without great labour could finde out the text alledged, I haue made theſe ſixe ſeuerall figures or marks, * ✣ ∵ ⁑ ⁂ *, and haue ſet them aſwell in the margent as in the text, ſo that thou mayeſt eaſily finde that which thou deſireſt. For example, in the firſt word of the firſt Chapter of Matthew is placed this firſt marke *: looke out the like marke in the margent, and there thou ſhall finde Luke 3, 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew: and ſo likewiſe thou ſhalt finde in the reſidue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word, or ſentence, the firſt is onely marked, and thoſe that follow unmarked, appertaine to the ſame. And if it fall out that there be more then ſixe directions in one columne, then is the firſt repeated againe, and the reſidue following in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the firſt columne of Matthew, where both in the text and margent alſo, they are all two times ſet downe, and the foure firſt repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmeticke, as 1.2.3.4.&c. throughout the Euangeliſts and Acts, declare the effect or ſumme of the doctrine conteined betweene one of the ſayd figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, there from figure 1. in the firſt line and firſt word of Matthew vnto the figure 2 in the 18 v. of the ſame chapter, the doctrine there gathered is ſet downe in the margent in this ſort: 1 Ieſus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the ſtocke of Dauid as God promiſed. And in the Epiſtles in like ſort they declare the methode and arte which the Apoſtles vſe, and how euery argument or reaſon dependeth one vpon another: theſe figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery chapter.

Laſtly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like anſwering vnto them in the margent, ſerue to expound and lighten the darke words and phraſes immediatly following them. As in the firſt line and ſecond word, the letter a, being referred vnto a, directly againſt him in the margent, ſheweth that this word, Booke, ſignifieth A rehearſall as the Hebrewes vſe to ſpeake, as Geneſ. 5, 1. The booke of the generations. Theſe letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto z, and ſo beginning againe with a, if there be Notes that they doe exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This being faithfully done for thy commodity, reape thou the fruit, and giue the prayſe to God.

Farewell.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW.

CHAP. I.

1 That Iesus is that Messias, the Sauiour promised to the Fathers. 18 The natiuity of Christ.

THe ✢ 1 a booke of the b generation of Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid, the c sonne of Abraham.
2 ✣ Abraham begate Isaac. ∵ And Isaac begate Iacob. And ✻ Iacob begate Iudas and his brethren:
3 ✯ And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.
4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.
5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And ✣ Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.
6 And ✣ Iesse begate Dauid the King. And Dauid the King begate Salomon of her that was ∵ the wife of Vrias.
7 And ✻ Salomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.
8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias.
9 And Hozias begate Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.
10 And ✯ Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.
11 And *Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim d begate Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon.
12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, ✣ Iechonias begate Salathiel. And ✣ Salathiel begate Zorobabel.
13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.
14 And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.
15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.
16 And Iacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, that is called Christ.
17 So e all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are foureteene generations. And from Dauid vntill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.
18 ¶ 2 Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was ✻ betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the holy Ghost.
19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to ✻ make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.
20 But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Dauid, feare not to f take Mary thy g wife: for that which is h conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.
21 And she shall bring 3 foorth a sonne, and thou shalt ✢ call his name I E S V S: for he shall ✢ i saue his people from their sinnes.
22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,
23 ✣ Behold, a k virgine shalbe with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.
24 ¶ Then Ioseph being raised from sleepe, did as the Angell of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.
25 But he knew her not, l till she had brought foorth her first borne sonne, and hee called his name I E S V S.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruits of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph fleed into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the Children.

WHen ∵ 1 Iesus then was borne at Bethlehem in a Iudea, in the daies of Herod the King, behold, there came b Wise men from the East to Hierusalem, 2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.
3 When King Herod heard this, he was c troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.
4 And gathering together all the d chiefe Priests and e Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.
5 And they said vnto him, At Bethlehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,
6 ✻ And thou Bethlehem in the land of Iuda, art not the f least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that g shall feede my people Israel.
7 Then Herod priuily called the Wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,
8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring me word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.
9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came & stood ouer the place where the babe was.
10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and h fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their i treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen gold, and frankincense, and myrrhe.
12 And after they were k warned of God in a dreame, that they should not goe againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

∵ Luke 2,6.

b Wise and learned men: It is a Persian word which they vse in good part.
c Was much moued, for he was a stranger, and came to the kingdome by force: and the Iewes were troubled: for wickednesse is mad and raging.

n That is to say, All that compasse about Bethlehem: for Rachel Iacobs wife, who died in childebed, was buried in the way that leadeth to this towne, which is also called Ephrata, because of the fruitfulnesse of the soile, and plenty of corne.
3 Christ is brought vp in Nazareth, after the death of the tyrant by Gods prouidence: that by the very name of the place, it might plainly appeare to the world, that he is the Lords true Nazarite.

13 ¶ [a] After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, & flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe to destroy him.
14 So he arose and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt, 15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord
by the ✠ Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.
16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, & sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coastes thereof from two yeere old and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.
17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken [l] by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 ✠ In Rhama was [m] a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weepping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.
19 [3] And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Io-seph in Egypt,
20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.
21 Then he arose vp, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.
22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aside into the parts of Galile.
23 And went and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

15 Then Iesus answering said to him, Let be now:
for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill [n] all righteous-nesse. So he suffered him.
16 And Iesus when he was baptized, came straight

1 Christ is tempted. 4 Hee vanquisheth the deuill with Scripture. 11 The Angels minister vnto him. 12 He preacheth repentance, and that himselfe is come. 18 The calling of Peter, Andrew, 21 Iames and Iohn 15 He preacheth the Gospel, and healeth the diseased.

THEN ✠ was [1] Iesus led aside of the Spirit into the wildernesse, to be tempted of the deuill.
2 And when he had fasted [a] forty daies, and forty nights, he was afterward hungry.
3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the Sonne of God, command that these stones be made bread.
4 But he answering, said, It is written, ✠ Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.
5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into the holy city, and set him on a [b] pinacle of the Temple, 6 And said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, ∵ that he will giue his Angels charge ouer thee, and with their hands they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foot against a stone.
7 Iesus said vnto him, It is written againe, ✠ Thou shalt not [c] tempt the Lord thy God.

11 ✣ Then the deuill left him: and behold, the Angels came, and ministred vnto him.

12 ¶ ∵ 2 And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile,

13 And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in d Capernaum, which is neere the sea in the borders of Zabulon, and Nephthalim,

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

15 * The lande of Zebulon, and the land of Nephthalim by the way of the e sea, beyond Iordan, f Galile of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sate in darkenesse, sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 ✠ From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the kingdome of heauen is at g hand.

18 ¶ 3 And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 * And he said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing the nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nettes, & he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So 4 Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in h their i Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the k kingdome, and healing l euery sickenesse, and euery m disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad thorow all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases, & n torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, & those which were o lunatike, and those that had the p palsie: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Hierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

19 * 4 Whosoeuer therefore shall breake one of these least commandements, and teach men so, he shalbe called the h least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoeuer shall obserue and teach them, the same shalbe called great in the kingdome of heauen.

20 For I say vnto you, except your righteousnesse ✣ exceede the righteousnesse of the Scribes and Pharises, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

21 5 Yee haue heard that it was said vnto them of the old time, ✣ Thou shalt not kill: for whosoeuer killeth shall be culpable of iudgement.

l By that iudgement which stood of 23. Iudges,who had the hearing and deciding of weightie affaires and matters of life and death: as the highest Iudges of all,were to the number of 71.which had the hearing of most weightie affaires,as the matter of a whole tribe, or of an high Priest, or of a false prophet.
m Whereas we reade here,Hell,it is in the text it selfe, Gehenna,which is an Hebrew word made of two, and is asmuch to say,as the valley of Hinnon, which otherwise the Ebrewes called Tophet: it was a place where the Israelites were wont most cruelly to sacrifice their children to false gods, whereupon it was taken for a place appointed to torment the reprobates in Ierem.7.31.
n The Iewes vsed foure kindes of punishments, before their gouernement was taken away by Herode, hanging, heading, stoning, and burning: this is it that Christ shot at,because burning was the greatest punishment,therefore in that he maketh mention of a iudgement, a councill, & a fire,he sheweth that some sinnes are worse then other some , but yet they are all such that wee must giue account for them,and shall be punished for them. 6 The couetous Pharises taught that God was appeased by the sacrifices appointed in the Law,which they themselues deuoured. But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any mans offering , vnlesse he maketh satisfaction to his brother whom hee hath offended:and sayeth moreouer,that these stubburne and stiffe necked despisers of their brethren , shall neuer escape the wrath and curse of God,before they haue made full satisfaction to their brethren. o He applieth all this speech to the state of his time , when as there was an altar standing in Hierusalem,and therefore they are very foolish,that gather hereupon, that wee must build altars,and vse sacrifices : but they are more fooles , which drawe that to purgatorie , which is spoken of peace making and atonement one with another. ✝ Luke 12.58. p Cut off all cause of enimitie. q Thou shalt be dealt withall to the vtmost extremitie. 7 Hee is taken for an adulterer before God , whatsoeuer hee be , that coueteth a woman: and therefore we must keepe our eyes chaste , and all the members wee haue, yea, and wee must eschewe all occasions which might moue vs to euill,howe deare soeuer it cost vs. ✝ Exod 20.14. rom.13.9. ∵ Chap. 18.8.9 marke 9.47. r Hee nameth the right eye and the right hande , because the partes of the right side of our bodie are the chiefest, & readiest to commit any wickednesse. ſ Word for word,doe cause thee to offend:for sinnes are stumbling blockes as it were,that is to say, rockes which wee are cast vpon. ⁑ Chap,19.7. deut.24.1. marke 10.4. luke 16.18. 1.cor.7.10. 8 The meaning of the third commandement against the froward opinion and iudgement of the Scribes,which excused by oaths or indirect formes of swearing. ✯ *Exod. 20.7. b Counterfeites, for Hypocrites were players that played apart in a play.
2 He reprehendeth two foule faults in prayer , ambition, and vaine babling.
c Long prayers are not condemned,but vaine, needlesse, and superstitious.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue need, before ye aske of him.
9 [3] After this maner therefore pray ye, ✠ Our father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy name.
10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done
euen in earth as it is in heauen.
11 Giue vs this day our [d] dailie bread.
12 And forgiue vs our debts, as we also forgiue
our debters.
13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deli-uer vs ✠ from [e] euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.
14 ∵ [4] For if ye doe forgiue men their trespasses, your heauenlie Father will also forgiue you.
15 But if yee doe not forgiue men their trespasses, no more will your father forgiue you your trespasses.
16 [5] Moreouer, when ye fast, looke not sowre
as the hypocrites: for they [f] disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you that they haue their reward.
17 But when thou fastest, annoint thine head,
and wash thy face,
18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.
19 ¶ [6] Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon
the earth, where the mothe and canker corrupt, & where theeues digge through and steale.
20 ✱ But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theeues neither digge through nor steale.
21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.
22 ¶ ✱ [7] The light of the body is the eye: if then thine [g] eye be single, thy whole body shalbe light.
23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shalbe darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkenesse, how great is that darkenesse?
24 * [8] No man can serue [h] two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Yee cannot serue God and [i] riches.
25 ✠ [9] Therefore I say vnto you, be not care-full for your life, what ye shall eate, or what ye shal drinke: not yet for your bodie, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meat? and the bodie then raiment?
26 Behold the foules of the [k] heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor cary into the barnes, yet your heauenly Father feedeth them. Are yee not much better then they?
27 Which of you by [l] taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?
28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the Lilies of the field doe growe: they [m] are not wearied, neither spin:
29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glory was not araied like one of these.
30 Wherefore if God so cloathe the grasse of the field which is to daie, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you,
O ye of little faith?
31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eate? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be cloathed?
32 (For after all these things seeke the Gentiles) for your heauenlie Father knoweth that ye haue need of all these things.
33 But seeke ye first the kingdome of God, and his righteousnesse, and all these things shalbe mi-nistred vnto you.
34 Care not then for the morrow, for the morrow shall care for it selfe: the day hath enough

1 IVdge [1] not, that ye be not iudged.
2 For with what ✠ iudgement ye iudge, ye shall

8 For whosoeuer asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.
9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne aske him bread, would giue him a stone?
10 Or if he aske fish, will he giue him a serpent?
11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good gifts, how much more shall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thistles?

17 So euery good three bringeth foorth good fruite, and a corrupt tree bringeth foorth euill fruite.
18 A good tree cannot bring foorth euill fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring foorth good fruit.
19 ✠ Euery tree that bringeth not foorth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of another, and haue souldiers vnder me: and I say to one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and 7 [a] And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude of Iohn, What went ye out into the wildernesse to see? a reede shaken with the wind?

8 But what went ye out to see? A man cloathed in soft raiment? Behold they that weare soft cloa-

I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.
10 For this is he of whom it is written, ✠ Behold,
I send my messenger before thy face, which shall 11 Verely I say vnto you, Among them which are begotten of women, arose there not a greater

17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.
18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking,
and they say, He hath a deuill.
19 The Son of men came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: [4] but in you, had beene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long agone in sackcloath and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shalbe easier for Tyrus

hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.
2 And when the Pharises saw it, they said vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe * that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.
3 But he said vnto them, ✠ Haue ye not read

9 ∵ [2] And he departed thence, and went into

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.
11 And he said vnto them, What man shall there be among you, ẏ hath a sheep, & if it fall on ẏ Sab-

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a 13 Then said he to the man, Stretch foorth thine hand. And he stretched it foorth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 [3] Then the Pharises went out, and consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

25 ⁵ But Iesus knew their thoughts, and said to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought, and euery city or house diuided against it selfe shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, hee is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery ∵ idle word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt be iustified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ ⁸ ✣ Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharises, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said vnto them, An euill and aduulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shalbe giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas.

40 ✣ For as Ionas was three daies and three nights in the whales belly: so shall the sonne of man be three dayes and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 ⁹ The men of Niniue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they * repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

42 ✣ The Quene of the ⁸ South shall rise in iudgement with the generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the ʰ vtmost parts of the earth to heare the wisdome of Salomon: and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

43 ¶ ✣ Now when the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then hee saith, I will returne into mine house from whence I came: and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept and garnished.

45 ¶ Then he goeth, and taketh vnto him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: ✣ and the end of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ ¹⁰ ✣ While he yet spake to the multitude, behold, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

THe same ∵ day went Iesus out of the house, and sate by the sea side.

2 ¹ And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sate downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting whithered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung vp, and choaked them.

8 And some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one corne an hundreth fold, some sixty fold, and another thirtie fold.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 ² And he answered and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you to know the secrets of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 ✣ For whosoeuer hath, to him shalbe giuen, and he shall haue abundance: but whosoeuer hath not, from him shalbe take away euen that he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias, which prophecy saith, ✣ By hearing ye shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing yee shall see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 ³ But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophetes, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, & haue not seene them, and to heare those things, which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

Sower.
19 Whensoeuer any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his [a] heart: and this is hee which hath receiued the seed by the way side.

a Though there be mention made of the heart, yet this sowing is referred to hearing without vnderstanding. For whether the seed be receiued in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth to the heart.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stony ground, is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it.
21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for assoone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.
22 And he that receiued the seed among thornes, is hee that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.
23 But he that receiued the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundred fold, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie fold.
24 ¶ 4 Another parable put hee forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seed in his field.

4 Christ sheweth in another parable of the euill seed mixt with the good, that the Church shall neuer be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and maners, vntill the day appointed for the restoring of all things to come, and therefore the faithfull haue to arme themselues with patience and constancy.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemy and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.
26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.
27 Then came the seruants of the housholder, and sayde vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seede in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?
28 And he sayd vnto them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp?
29 But he sayd, Nay, least while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.
30 Let both grow together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheat into my barne.

when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbs, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come

1 Here is in Iohn an example of an inuincible courage, which all faithfull Ministers of Gods word ought to follow: in Herod, an example of tyrannous vanitie, pride and crueltie, and to be short, of a courtly conscience, and of their intolerable flatterie, which haue once giuen them[illegible] ouer to pleasures: in Herodias and her daughter, an example of [illegible], and womanlike crueltie.

3 ✠ For Herod had taken Iohn, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife.

4 For Iohn sayd vnto him, It is not ♣ lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when he would haue put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a ∵ Prophet.

6 But when Herods birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased [b] Herod.

7 Wherefore hee promised with an oath, that he would giue her whatsoeuer she would aske.

8 And she being before instructed of her mother, sayd, Giue mee here Iohn Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the king was sory: neuertheles, because of the oath, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her.

10 And sent, and beheaded Iohn in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mayd, and shee brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke vp the body, and buried it, and went and told Iesus.

13 ⁂ And when Iesus heard it, hee departed thence by ship into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foot out of the cities.

14 [a] And Iesus went forth and saw a great multitude, and was mooued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sicke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, ✶ his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and buy them vitailes.

16 But Iesus sayd to them, They haue no need to go away: giue ye them to eat.

17 Then sayd they vnto him, Wee haue here but fiue loaues, and two fishes.

18 And he sayd, Bring them hither to me.

19 And hee commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the fiue loaues, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And assoone as he had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and ✶ when the euening was come, hee was there alone.

24 3 And the ship was now in the mids of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary wind.

AND ✣ 1 after sixe dayes, Iesus tooke Peter & Iames, and Iohn his brother, & brought them vp into an hie mountaine apart.
2 And was b transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the Sunne, and his cloathes were as white as the light.
3 And behold, there appeared vnto them Moses, and Elias, talking with him.
4 Then answered Peter, and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: if thou wilt, let vs make here three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.
5 While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud shadowed them: and behold, there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, ✣ This is c that my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased: heare him.
6 And when the disciples heard that, they d fell on their faces, and were sore afraid.
7 Then Iesus came and touched them, & sayd, Arise, and be not afraid.
8 And when they lifted vp their eyes, they saw no man, saue Iesus onely.
9 ¶ And as they came downe from the moun-taine, Iesus charged them, saying, Shew the e vision to no man, vntill the Sonne of man rise againe from the dead.
10 ∵ And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that ⁑ Elias must first come?
11 And Iesus answered, & sayd vnto them, Certainly Elias must first come, and restore all things.
12 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.
13 Then the disciples perceiued that he spake
vnto them of Iohn Baptist.
14 ¶ ✯ 2 And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man, and f fell downe at his feete, 15 And sayd, Master, haue pittie on my sonne:
for hee is g lunatike, & is sore vexed: for oft times hee falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water.
16 And I brought him to thy disciples, & they could not heale him.
17 Then Iesus answered, and sayd, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! bring him hither to me.
18 And Iesus rebuked the deuill, and he went out of him, & the childe was healed at that houre.
19 3 Then came the disciples to Iesus apart, and sayd, Why could not we cast him out?
20 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Because of your vnbeleefe: for* verely I say vnto you, if yee haue faith as much as is a graine of mustard seede, yee shall say vnto this mountaine, Remooue hence to yonder place, and it shall remooue: and nothing shallbe vnpossible vnto you.
21 4 Howbeit this kinde goeth not out, but by b prayer and fasting.
22 ¶ 5 And they ✣ being in Galile, Iesus sayd vnto them, The Sonne of Man shallbe deliuered into the handes of men.
23 And they shall kill him, but the third day shall he rise againe: and they were very sory.

6 ∵ 2 But whosoeuer shall offend one of these little ones which beleeue in me, it were better for him, that a milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 3 Woe be vnto the world because of offences, for it must needs be that [c] offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom ẏ offence commeth.

8 ⁂ Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foote cause thee to [d] offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maimed, then hauing two hands, or two feete, to be cast into euerlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

1 Christ rideth on an asse vnto Hierusalem. 12 He casteth out the sellers. 13 The house of prayer. 19 The withered figtree. 25 Iohns baptisme. 28 Who do the will of God. 30 Publicanes, Harlots. 33 Gods vineyard. The Iewes. 38 The sonne killed of the husbandmen. 42 The cornerstone.

AND ✠ [1] when they drew neere to Hierusalem, and were come to Bethphage,vnto the mount of the Oliues, then sent Iesus two disciples, 2 Saying to them,Goe into the towne that is ouer against you, and anon yee shall finde an asse bound,and a colt with her: loose them,and bring them vnto me.
3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye,

[a] he will let them goe.
4 All this was done that it might be fulfilled,

6 So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had

7 And brought the asse and the colt, and put on them their [c] cloathes,and set him [d] thereon.
8 And a great multitude spred their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from 29 But he answered, and sayd, I will not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and sayd likewise. And he answered, and sayd, I will, Sir; yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the publicanes and the harlots ᵖ goe before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the ᑫ way of righteousnesse, and yee beleeued him not: but the Publicanes and the harlots beleeued him, and ye, though ye saw it, were not mooued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeue him.

33 ¶ 8 Heare another parable, There was a certaine housholder, ✱ which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winepresse therein, and ʳ built a tower, & let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruit thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Againe he sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all hee sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they sayd among themselues, * This is the heire; come, let vs kill him, & let vs ˢ take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will hee doe to those husbandmen?

41 They said vnto him, He will ᵗ cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruits in their seasons.

16 Woe be vnto you blinde guides, which say, Whosoeuer sweareth by the Temple, it is nothing: but whosoeuer sweareth by the gold of the Temple, he [q] offendeth.

17 Ye fooles and blind, Whether is greater, the gold, or the Temple that [r] sanctifieth the gold?

18 And whosoeuer sweareth by the altar, it is nothing: but whosoeuer sweareth by the offering that is vpon it, offendeth.

19 Ye fooles and blinde, whether is greater, the offering, or the altar which sanctifieth the offering?

20 Whosoeuer therefore sweareth by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.

21 ✲ And whosoeuer sweareth by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein.

22 * And hee that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the [f] throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 ¶ [7] ✣ Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye tithe mynt, & annyse, and cummyn, and leaue the weightier matters of the law, as iudgement, and mercy and [t] fidelitie. These ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other.

24 Ye blinde guides, which straine out a gnat, and swallow a camell.

25 ¶ [8] Woe be to you ✣ Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for yee make cleane the vtter side of the cup, and of the platter: but within they are full of briberie and excesse.

26 Thou blinde Pharise, cleanse first the inside of the cuppe and platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also.

27 Woe be to you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye are like vnto whited tombes, which appeare beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and all filthinesse.

28 So are yee also: for outward yee appeare [righteous] vnto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisie and [9] iniquitie.

29 Woe be vnto you, Scribes and Pharises, hypocrites: for ye build the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had beene in the dayes of our fathers, we would not haue beene partners with them in the blood of the Prophets.

31 So then ye be witnesses vnto your selues, that yee are the children of them that murthered the Prophets.

32 [u] Fulfill ye also the measure of your fathers.

33 O serpents, the generation of vipers, how should ye escape the damnation of [x] hell!

34 [10] Wherefore behold, I send vnto you Prophets, and wisemen, and Scribes, and of them yee shall kill & crucifie: and of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogues, and persecute from citie to citie,

35 [11] That vpon you may come all the righteous blood that was shed vpon the earth, ✣ from the blood of Abel the righteous, vnto the blood of Zacharias the sonne of [y] Barachias, ✣ whom ye slew betweene the Temple and the altar.

36 Verely I say vnto you, all these things shall come vpon this generation.

37 [12] ∵ Hierusalem, Hierusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them which are sent to thee, how often would I haue [z] gathered thy children together, as the henne gathereth her chickins vnder her wings, and ye would not!

38 Behold, your habitation shallbe left vnto you desolate.

39 For I say vnto you, yee shall not see mee henceforth till that ye say, Blessed is he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

2 [1] And Iesus said vnto them, See yee not all these things? Verely I say vnto you, ✲ there shall not be here left a stone vpon a stone, that shall not be cast downe.

3 And as hee sate vpon the mount of Olіues, his disciples came vnto him apart, saying, Tell vs when these things shall be, and what signe shall be of thy comming, and of the end of the world.

4 [2] And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, * Take heede that no man deceiue you.

5 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

6 And ye shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres: see that yee be not troubled: for all these things must come to passe, but the [a] end is not yet.

7 For nation shall rise against nation, and realme against realme, and there shall be famine, and pestilence, and earthquakes in [b] diuers places.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.
26 Wherefore if they shall say vnto you, Behold, he is in the desert, goe not forth: Behold, he is in the secret places, beleeue it not.

of those dayes, shall the sunne be darkened, and the moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be shaken.
30 And then shall appeare the n signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the

Then 1 the kingdome of heauen shal be likened vnto ten virgines, which tooke their lampes and a went forth to meet the bridegroome.
2 And fiue of them were wise, and fiue foolish.

1 We must desire strength at Gods hand, which may serue vs as a torch: while wee walke through this darkenesse, to bring vs to our desired ende: otherwise if wee become slouthfull and negligent as wearie of our paines and trauell, wee shall be shut out of the dores. a The pompe of bride-ales was woont for the most part to be kept in the night season, and that by damsels.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.
5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all
b slumbred and slept.

b Their eyes being heauie with sleepe.

6 And at midnight there was a crie made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meet
him.
7 Then all those virgines arose and trimmed their lampes.
8 And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.
9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, least there will not be ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.
10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.
11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.
12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vn-

13 ✢ Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day, nor the houre, when the son of man will come.
14 ✢ a For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his ser-uants, and deliuered to them his goods.
15 And vnto one he gaue fiue talents, & to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owne c ability, & straightway went from home.
16 Then hee that had receiued the fiue talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other fiue talents.
17 Likewise also he that receiued two, hee also gained other two.
18 But hee that receiued that one, went and dig-ged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.
19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.
20 Then came hee that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto mee fiue talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.
21 Then his master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much:
d enter into thy masters ioy.
22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came,
and saide, Master, thou deliueredst vnto mee two talents: beholde, I haue gained two other talents more.
23 His Master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast beene faith-full in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.
24 Then hee that had receiued the one talent, came, and said, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not,
and gatherest where thou strawedst not:
25 I was therefore afraid, and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.
26 And his master answered, and said vnto him,
Thou euill seruant, and slothfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.
27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my mony to the e exchangers, & then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

40 And the king shall answere, and say vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, in as much as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.
41 Then shall he say to them on the left hand,
✢ Depart from me ye cursed, into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

to you: I was naked, and ye cloathed me not: sicke,

9 For this oyntment might haue beene sold for much, and beene giuen to the poore.
10 4 And Iesus knowing it, sayd vnto them,
Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought
a good worke vpon me.
11 ✣ 5 For yee haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.
12 For [f] in that she powred this ointment on my body, she did it to bury me.
13 Verely I say vnto you, Wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached thorowout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memoriall of her.
14 ¶ ∵ Then one of the twelue, called Iudas
Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, 15 And sayd, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.
16 And from that time, he sought opportunity to betray him.
17 ¶ ✱ 6 Now [g] on the first day of the feast of vnleauened bread, the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Passeouer?
18 And he sayd, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The Master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples.
19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made ready the Passeouer.
20 ✲ So when the euen was come, hee [h] sate
downe with the twelue.
21 And as they did eate, he sayd, * Verely, I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.
22 And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?
23 And he answered and sayde, ✣ Hee that [i] dippeth his hand with mee in the dish, hee shall betray me.
24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but wo be to that man by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if he had neuer beene borne.
25 Then Iudas [k] which betrayed him, answered, and said, Is it I, Master? Hee said vnto him, Thou hast said it.
26 ¶ 7 ✣ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had [l] blessed, he brake it, and gaue it to his disciples, and said, Take, eate: [m] this is my body.
27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had gi-uen thankes, he gaue it to them, saying, Drinke ye [n] all of it.
28 [o] For this is my blood of the [p] newe Testament that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.
29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.
30 And when they had sung [q] a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues.
31 ¶ 8 ✣ Then said Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I ∵ will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shallbe scattered.
32 But ✱ after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.
33 But Peter answered, and said vnto him,
Though that all men should be offended by thee,
yet will I neuer be offended.
34 ✲ Iesus saide vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.
35 Peter saide vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.
36 ¶ * 9 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, & said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe, and pray yonder.
37 And he tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorrow-full, and [r] grieuously troubled.
38 10 Then said Iesus vnto them, My soule is verie heauie, euen vnto the death: tarry ye here,
and watch with me.
39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, [s] let this [t] cup passe from me: neuerthelesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt.
40 11 After, hee came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and said to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

a By this word Feast, is meant the whole feast of vnleauened bread: the first and eight day whereof were so holy, that they might do no maner of worke therein, though the whole company of the Sanhedrin determined otherwise: And yet it came to passe through Gods prouidence, that Christ suffred at that time, to the ende that all the people of Israel might be witnesses of his euerlasting sacrifice.
3 By this sudden worke of a sinfull woman, Christ giueth the ghests to vnderstand of his death, and buriall which was nigh: the fauour whereof shall bring life to all sinners which flee vnto him. But Iudas taketh an occasion hereby to accomplish his wicked purpose and counsell.

l Marke saith, Had giuen thankes: and therefore blessing is not a consecrating with a coniuring kinde of murmuring and force of words: and yet the bread and the wine are changed, not in nature, but in quality, for they become vndoubted tokens of the body and blood of Christ, not of their owne nature or force of words, but by Christs his institution, which must be recited and laid forth, that faith may find what to lay hold on, both in the word & in the elements.
m This is a figuratiue speech, which is called Metonymia: that is to say, the putting of one name for another: so calling the bread his body which is the signe and sacrament of his body: & yet notwithstanding, it is so a figuratiue and changed kind of speech, that the faithfull doe receiue Christ indeed with all his giftes (though by a spirituall meane) & become one with him.

4 The parable of the sower. 14 And the meaning thereof. 18 Thornes. 21 The candle 26 Of him that sowed, & then slept. 31 The graine of mustard seed. 39 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

∵ Mat. 13,1. luke 8,4.
a Sea side of Tiberias.
b In a ship which was launched into the sea.
1 The selfe same doctrine of the Gospel is sowen euery where, but it hath not like successe indeede through the fault of man, but yet by the iust iudgement of God.

AND ∵ he began againe to teach by ẏ a sea side, & there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and sate b in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and sayd vnto them in his doctrine,

3 1 Hearken: Behold, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But assoone as the Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeeld fruit that sprang vp, & it grew, & it brought foorth, some thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundreth fold.

9 Then he sayd vnto them, He that hath eares, to heare, let him heare.

c Word for word, solitary.
d They that followed him at the heeles.
e That is to say, to strangers, and such as are none of ours.
✠ Esai. 6 9 mat. 13.14 luke 9,10. iohn 12,40 actes 28,26, rom. 11,8,

10 And when he was c alone, they that were d about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are e without, all things be done in parables,

12 ✠ That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should be forgiuen them

13 Againe he sayd vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seede by the wayes side, in whom the word is sowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, & taketh away the word that was sowen in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard ẏ word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares f of this world, and the ✠ deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, & bring foorth fruit: one corne thirtie, an other sixtie, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ 2 Also he sayd vnto them, ✠ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke?

22 ∵ For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened, neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 3 And he sayd vnto them, Take heed what ye heare. ⁂ With what measure you mete, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen,

25 ✠ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that hee hath.

26 ¶ 4 Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed in the ground.

27 And g should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seed should spring and grow vp, hee h not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruite i of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anone he putteth in the sickle, because the haruest is come.

30 ¶ * 5 He sayd moreouer, Whereunto shall wee liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of the heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And ✠ with many such parables he preached the word vnto thẽ, k as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake he nothing vnto them: but hee l expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ ✠ Now the same day when euen was come, he sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as hee was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 6 And there arose a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow,

3 Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could bind him, no not with chaines:

4 Because that when he was often bound with fetters & chaines, he plucked the chaines asunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day hee cryed in the mountaines, and in the graues, and strooke himselfe with stones.

6 And when he saw Iesus afarre off, he ranne, and worshipped him,

7 And cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of the most High God? I c will that thou sweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

c That is, assure me by an oath, that thou wilt not vexe vs.

8 (For hee sayd vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vncleane spirit.)

9 And hee asked him, What is thy name? and he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for wee are many.

10 And hee d prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the countrey.

d That deuill that played the messenger for his fellowes.

11 Now there was there in the e mountaines a great heard of swine feeding.

e This whole countrey is for the greater part of it very hilly, for the mountaines of Galaad runne through it.

12 And all the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vncleane spirits went out & entred into the swine, and the heard ranne headlong from the high banck into the f sea, (& there were about two thousand swine) & they were choked vp in the sea.

f Strabo in the sixteenth booke saith that in Gadaris there is a standing poole of very naughtie water, which if beasts taste of, they shead their haire, nailes, or houes, & hornes.

14 And the swineheards fled, and told it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both cloathed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coasts.

18 And when hee was come into the ship, hee that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but sayd vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shewe them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

28 For she sayd, if I may but touch his cloathes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dryed vp, and shee felt in her body, that shee was healed of that plague.

30 And immediatly when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the prease, and sayd, Who hath touched my cloathes?

31 And his disciples sayd vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for shee knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, & told him the whole trueth.

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which sayd, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the master any farther?

36 3 Assoone as Iesus heard that word spoken, hee sayd vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleeue.

16 ✣ So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom l I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn saide vnto Herod, ✣ It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias m laid wait against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, hee did many things, and heard him n gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth-day made a banket to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile:

22 And the daughter o of the same Herodias came in, and danced, and pleased Herod, and them that sate at table together, the King saide vnto the maide, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And hee sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of mee, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome.

24 ∵ So p she went forth, & said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the King, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue me euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the King was very sory: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the King sent the q hangman, and gaue charge that his head should be brought in. So hee went and beheaded him in the prison,

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ ✣ And the Apostles gathered themselues together to Iesus, and tolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

32 ✲ So they went by ship out of the way into a desart place.

33 But the people sawe them when they departed, and many knew him, and ranne afoote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

✣ Mat.14.15.

r This is a kinde of demaund and wondering, not without a priuie mocke, which men do commonly vse, when beginning to be in a fume they deny to doe any thing.

s Which is about twentie crownes, which is fiue pound.

38 ✠ Then he said vnto them, How many loaues haue ye? goe and looke. And when they knew it, they said, Fiue, and two fishes.
39 So he commanded them to make them all sit downe by t companies vpon the greene grasse.
40 Then they sate downe by u rowes, by hundreds, an by fifties.
41 And hee tooke the fiue loaues, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and gaue thankes, and brake the loaues, and gaue them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he diuided among them all.
42 So they did all eate, and were satisfied, 43 And they tooke vp twelue baskets full of the fragements, and of the fishes.
44 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men.
45 ¶ 7 And straightway hee caused his disciples to goe into the shippe, and to goe before vnto the other side vnto Bethsaida, while hee sent away the people.
46 Then assoone as he had sent x them away, he departed into a mountaine to pray.
47 ✠ And when euen was come, the shippe was in the mids of the sea, and hee alone on the land.
48 And hee saw them troubled in rowing, (for the winde was contrary vnto them) and about the fourth watch of the night, hee came vnto them, walking vpon the sea, and would haue passed by
them.
49 And when they sawe him walking vpon the sea, they supposed it had beene a spirit, and cried out.
50 For they all sawe him, and were sore afraide:
but anon he talked with them, and said vnto them,
Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.
51 Then hee went vp vnto them into the ship,
and the winde ceased, and they were y much more amased in themselues, and marueiled.
52 For they had not z considered the matter of the loaues, because their hearts were hardened.
53 ¶ ∵ And they came ouer, and went into the land of Gennesaret, and arriued.
54 8 So when they were come out of the ship,
straightway they knew him,
55 And ranne about throughout all that region round about, and began to cary hither and thither in couches all that were sicke, where they heard that he was.
56 And whithersoeuer hee entred into townes, or cities, or villages, they layde their sicke in the streetes, and prayed him that they might touch at the least the edge of his garment. And as many as touched a him, were made whole.

THen ✠ 1 gathered vnto him the Pharises, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem.
2 And when they sawe some of his disciples
a eate meate with b common hands, (that is to say, vnwashen) they complained.
3 (For the Pharises, and all the Iewes, except they wash their handes oft, eate not, c holding the traditions of the Elders.
4 And when they come from the d market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and e pots, and of brasen vessels, and of beds.)
5 Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vnwashen hands?
6 2 Then hee answered and saide vnto them,
Surely ✠ Esay hath prophecied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lippes, but their heart is farre away from 7 3 But they worship me in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 4 For ye lay the Commandements of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as ẏ wash-

him, and said vnto them, Hearken yee all vnto me, and vnderstand.
15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile
the man.
16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.
17 And when he came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.
18 And he said vnto them, What? are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe yee not knowe that whatsoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the h purging of all meates?
20 Then he saide, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

1 IN ∵ those dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called

2 I haue compassion on the multitude,because they haue nowe continued with mee three dayes,

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne

1 God did neuer allow those diuorces, which the Law did tolerate.
[b] Looke Matt.19. For Moses gaue them no commandement to put away their wiues, but rather made a good prouiso for the wiues against the stubburne hardnesse of their husbands.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ✲ God made them male and female:

7 ✣ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ∵ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, ✣ Whosoeuer shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adulterie [c] against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ ✲ [2] Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus sawe it, hee was displeased, & saide to them, Suffer the little children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shall not receiue the kingdome of God [3] as a little childe, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ [4] And when he was gone out on the way, there came one * running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus saide to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandements, ✣ Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt [d] hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things haue I obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and saide vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, followe me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and saide vnto his disciples, How hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and saide vnto them, Children, how hard it is for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camell to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselues, Who then can be saued?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and saide, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ✣ [5] Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lo, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together
the whole band,
17 1 And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile,
King of the Iewes.
19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did
him reuerence,
20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke
the purple off him, and put his owne cloathes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.
21 ✠ And they 3 compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Syrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.
22 ✠ 4 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens sculles.
23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not.
24 ∵ 5 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what euery man should haue.
25 And it was the third houre when they crucified
him,
26 And the title of his cause was written aboue,
THAT KING OF THE IEWES.
27 They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.
28 Thus the scripture was fulfilled, which sayth,
✠ And he was counted among the wicked.
29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, ✠ Hey, thou that destroyest
the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.
31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, sayd among themselues with the Scribes, He saued
other men, himselfe he cannot saue.
32 Let Christ the king of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleeue.
They also that were crucified with him, reuiled
him.
33 ¶ Now when the sixt houre was come, 6 darknes arose ouer c all the land vntill the ninth houre.

34 And at the 7 ninth houre Iesus cried with a loud voice, saying, ✠ Eloi, Eloi, lamma-sabachthani?
which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?
35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayd, Beholde, he calleth Elias.
36 And one ran, and filled a ✠ spunge full of vineger, and put it on a reed, & gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come,
and take him downe.
37 And Iesus cried with a loud voice, and gaue vp the ghost.
38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.
39 Now when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, saw that he thus crying gaue vp the ghost, he sayd, Truely this man was the Sonne
of God.
40 ¶ 8 There were also women which beheld afarre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of Iames the lesse, and of Ioses, and Salome,
41 Which also when he was in Galile, ∵ followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.
42 ✠ And now when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath)
43 ✠ Ioseph of Arimathea, an d honourable counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in e boldly vnto Pilate,
and asked the body of Iesus.
44 And Pilate marueiled, if he were alreadie dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had beene any while dead.
45 And when he knew the trueth of the Centurion,
he gaue the body to Ioseph:
46 Who bought a linnen cloath, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloath, and layed him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre:
47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Ioses
mother, beheld where he should be layed.

7 Christ striuing mightily with Satan, with sinne, and with death, all three armed with the horrible curse of God, grieuously tormented in body hanging vpon the crosse, and in soule plunged in the depth of hell, yet he riddeth himselfe, crying with a mighty voice: and notwithstanding the wound which hee receiued of death in that that he died, yet by smiting both things aboue and things beneath, by renting of the vaile of the Temple, and by the testimonie wrung out of them which murdered him, hee sheweth euidently vnto the rest of his enemies which are as yet obstinate, and mocke at him, that he shall be knowen out of hand to be conquerour and Lord of all.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO LVKE.

CHAP. I.

1 Lukes Preface. 5 Zacharias and Elisabet. 15 What an one Iohn should be. 20 Zacharias striken dumbe, for his incredulitie. 26 The Angel saluteth Mary, and foretelleth Christes natiuitie. 39 Mary visiteth Elisabet. 46 Maries song. 68 The song of Zacharias, shewing that the promised Christ is come. 76 The office of Iohn.

1 Luke commendeth the witnesses that saw this historie.
a Many tooke it in hand, but did not performe: Luke wrote his Gospel before Matthew and Marke.
b Luke was not an eye witnesse, and therefore it was not hee to whom the Lord appeared when Cleopas saw him: and he was taught not onely by Paul, but by others of the Apostles also.
c It is most mightie, and therefore Theophilus was a very honourable man, and in place of great dignity.
d Luke began his Gospel a great deale farther off, then the other did.
e Haue fuller knowledge of those things, which before thou knewest but meanely.

Forasmuch as 1 many haue a taken in hand to set foorth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded,
2 b As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning saw them their selues, and were ministers of the word,
3 It seemed good also to mee (c most noble Theophilus) assoone as I had searched out perfectly all things d from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point, 4 That thou mightest e acknowledge the cer-taintie of those things whereof thou hast beene instructed.
5 IN a the f time of g Herod king of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the ✣ h course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.
6 Both were i iust before God, and k walked in all the l commandements and ordinances of the Lord, m without reproofe.
7 And they had no childe, because that Elisabet was barren: and both were well striken in age.
8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order,
9 ✣ According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the n Temple of the Lord.
10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, ∵ while the incense was burning.
11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord, standing at the right side of the Altar of incense.
12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.
13 But the Angel sayd vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisa-bet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.
14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.
15 For hee shall be great in the o sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor p strong a Iohn who was another Elias, and appointed to be herauld of Christ, comming of the stocke of Aaron, and of two famous and blamelesse parents, hath shewed in his conception, which was against the course of nature, a double miracle, to the end that men should be more readily stirred vp to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets. f Word for word in the dayes: so speake the Hebrewes, giuing vs to vnderstand, how short and fraile a thing the power of princes is. g Herod the great. ✣ 1.Chron.24 1 h For the posteritie of Aaron was diuided into courses. i The true marke of righteousnesse is, to be liked & allowed of in the iudgement of God. k Liued, so speake the Hebrewes, for our life is as a way, wherein we must walke, vntill we come to the marke. l In all the morall and ceremoniall law m Whom no man could iustly reproue: now so it is, that the fruits of iustification are set forth here, and not the cause, which is faith onely, and nothing els.

by shall I know this? for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.
19 And the Angell answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel x that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.
20 And behold, thou shalt be dumbe, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things
be done, because thou beleeuest not my wordes, which shalbe fulfilled in their season.
21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that he taried so long in the Temple.
22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumbe.
23 And it came to passe, when the daies of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.
24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet con-ceiued, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the daies wherein he looked on me, to take from mee
my rebuke among men.
26 ¶ 3 And in the sixt moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 ✠ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the y house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.
28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art z freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.
29 And when she saw him, shee was b troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutation that should be.
30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not,
Marie: for thou hast c found fauour with God.
31 ✠ For loe, thou shalt conceiue in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, ∵ and shalt call his Name Iesus.
32 He shall be great, and shall be d called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.
33 * And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none

24 Then said Marie vnto the Angel, e How shall this be, seeing f I know not man?
35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her,
The holy Ghost g shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadow thee:
therefore also that h Holy thing which shalbe borne of thee, shalbe i called the Sonne of God.
36 And beholde, thy k cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceiued a sonne in her olde age: and this is her l sixt moneth, which was called barren.
37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.
38 Then Marie said, Beholde the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 4 And Marie arose in those dayes, and went into the m hill countrey with haste to a n ci-tie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.
41 And it came to passe, as Elizabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe o sprang in her bellie, and Elisabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.
42 And she cried with a loude voyce, and said,
Blessed art thou among women, because p the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.
43 And whence commeth this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to mee?
44 For loe, assoone as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my 45 And blessed is shee that beleeued: for those things shalbe performed, which were told her from 45 5 Then Marie said, My soule magnifieth the uiour.

48 For hee hath q looked on the r poore degree of his seruant: for beholde, from henceforth

56 ¶ And Marie aboade with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.
57 ¶ 6 Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, & she brought forth a sonne.
58 And her neighbours and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they ✠ reioyced with her.
59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.
60 But his mother answered, and sayd, Not so,
but he shalbe called Iohn.
61 And they sayd vnto her, There is none of thy kinred that is named with this name.
62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.
63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marueiled all.

AND 1 it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that there came a decree from Auguſtus Ceſar, that all the a world ſhould be b taxed.
2 (This firſt taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria)
3 Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne citie.
4 And Ioſeph alſo went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the c citie of ✠ Dauid, which is called Beth-leem (becauſe he was of the houſe and linage of Dauid,) 5 To be taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife, which was with childe.
6 ¶ And ſo it was, that while they were there,
the dayes were accompliſhed that ſhee ſhould be deliuered.
7 And ſhee brought foorth her firſt begotten ſonne, and wrapped him in ſwadling cloathes, and laid him in a cratch, becauſe there was no roome for them in the Inne.

1 Chriſt the ſonne of God, taking vpon him the forme of a ſeruant, and making himſelfe of no reputation, is poorely borne in a ſtable: and by the meanes of Auguſtus the mightieſt prince in the world (thinking nothing leſſe) hath his cradle prepared in Beth-leem, as the Prophets forewarned.
a So farre as the Empire of the Romanes did ſtretch.
b That is, the inhabitants of euery citie ſhould haue their names taken, and their goods rated at a certaine value, that the Emperour might vnderſtand, how rich euery countrey, citie, family, and houſe was. c Where Dauid was borne, and brought vp in. ✠ Iohn 7. 42.

8 ¶ 2 And there were in the ſame countrey ſhepheards, d abiding in the fielde, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.
9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord e came vp-on them, and the glory of the Lord ſhone about them, and they were ſore afraid.
10 Then the Angel ſaide vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that ſhall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauiour, which is Chriſt the Lord.
12 And this ſhallbe a ſigne vnto you, Yee ſhall
finde the babe ſwadled, and laid in a cratch.
13 And ſtraightway there was with the Angel
f a multitude of heauenly ſouldiers, praiſing God,
and ſaying,
14 Glory be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men g good will.
15 And it came to paſſe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the ſhep-heards ſaide one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and ſee this thing that is come to paſſe, which the Lord hath ſhewed vnto vs.
16 So they came with haſte, and found both Mary and Ioſeph and the babe layd in the cratch.
17 And when they had ſeene it, they publiſhed abroad the thing that was tolde them of that childe.
18 And all that heard it, wondred at the things which were tolde them of the ſhepheards.
19 But Mary kept all thoſe ſayings, and pondred them in her heart.
20 And the ſhepheards returned glorifying and praiſing God, for all that they had heard and ſeene,
as it was ſpoken vnto them.
21 ¶ ✠ 3 And when the eight dayes were accompliſhed, that they ſhould circumciſe the child, his name was then called ✠ Ieſus, which was named of the Angel, before he was conceiued in the wombe.

24 And to giue an oblation, ✠ as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doues, or two yong pigeons.
25 5 And beholde, there was a man in Hieruſa-and feared God, and waited for the conſolation of Iſrael, and the i holy Ghoſt was vpon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould not ſee death, before he had ſeene that Anointed of the Lord.
27 And he came by the motion of the ſpirit into the Temple, and when the k parents brought in the babe Ieſus, to doe for him after the cuſtome of the Law,
28 Then he tooke him in his armes, and praiſed
God, and ſayd,

in peace, according to thy m word,
30 For n mine eyes haue ſeene thy o ſaluation,

22 ¶ ✣ 5 And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lanched forth.
23 And as they sailed, hee fell h asleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and i they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie.
24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water:
and they ceased, and it was calme.
25 Then he saide vnto them, Where is your

27 6 And as hee went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.
28 And when he saw Iesus, hee cried out, and fell downe before him, & with a loud voyce said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me
not.
29 For he commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, k and was caried of the deuill into wildernesses.) 30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.
32 And there was there by an heard of many swine feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that hee would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.
33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the heard was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choaked.
34 When the heardmen sawe what was done,
they fled: and when they were departed, they told
it in the citie and in the countrey.
35 Then they came out to see what was done,

13 Such as follow Christ, must prepare themselues to suffer all discommodities.

12 For I say to you, that it shall be easier in that day for them of Sodome, then for that citie.

13 ✠ Woe be to thee, Chorazin, woe be to thee, Beth-saida: for if the miracles had beene done in Tyrus and Sidon, which haue beene done in you, they had a great while agone repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 Therefore it shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which art exalted to heauen, shalt be thrust downe to hell.

16 ¶ ✠ Hee that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: and he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.

17 ¶ ⁴ And the seuentie turned againe with ioy, saying, Lord, euen the deuils are subdued to vs ᵉ through thy Name.

18 And hee saide vnto them, I sawe Satan, like lightning, ᶠ fall downe from heauen.

19 Behold, I giue vnto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemie, and nothing shall ᵍ hurt you.

20 Neuerthelesse, in this reioyce not, that the spirites are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen.

21 ¶ ⁵ That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirite, and said, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the ʰ wise and vnderstanding, and hast reuealed them to babes: euen so, Father, because it so pleased thee.

22 ⁶ All things are giuen me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, and he to whome the Sonne will reueale him.

23 ¶ ⁷ And he turned to his disciples, and said secretly, ✠ Blessed are the eyes, which see that yee see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets & Kings haue desired to see those things, which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ ✠ ⁸ Then beholde, ⁱ a certaine Lawyer stoode vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe to inherite eternall life?

26 And hee saide vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And hee answered and saide, ✠ Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, ✠ and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 Then he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 ⁹ But hee willing to ᵏ iustifie himselfe, saide vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and saide, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came downe a certaine Priest that same way, and when hee sawe him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritane, as he iourneyed, came neere vnto him, and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, hee tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and said vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercie on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Goe, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ ¹⁰ Now it came to passe, as they went, that hee entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sate at Iesus feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and saide, Master, doest thou not care that my sister hath left mee to serue alone? bid her therefore, that shee helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needfull, Marie hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

The leauen of the Pharises. 5 Who is to be feared. 8 To confesse Christ. 17 The parable of the rich man whose land was very fertile. 21 Not to care for earthly things, 31 But to seeke the kingdome of God. 39 The thiefe in the night. 51 Debate for the Gospels sake.

IN ✠ [1] the meane time, there gathered together [a] an innumerable multitude of people, so that they trode one another: and he began to say vnto his disciples first, Take heede to your selues of the leauen of the Pharises, which is hypocrisie.

2 ✠ For there is nothing couered, that shall not be reuealed: neither hidde, that shall not be knowen.

3 Wherefore whatsoeuer yee haue spoken in darkenesse, it shallbe heard in the light: and that which ye haue spoken in the eare, in secret places, shallbe preached on the houses.

4 * [2] And I say vnto you, my friends, be not afraide of them that kill the bodie, and after that are not able to doe any more.

5 But I wil [b] forewarne you, whom ye shall feare: feare him which after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell: yea, I say vnto you, him feare.

6 Are not fiue sparowes bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 ✠ Yea, and all the haires of your head are numbred: feare not therefore: ye are more of value then many sparowes.

8 ✠ [3] Also I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shall confesse me before men, him shall the Sonne of man confesse also before the Angels of God.

9 But he that shall deny me before men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 ✠ And whosoeuer shall speake a worde against the Sonne of man, it shall be forgiuen him: but vnto him that shall blaspheme the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiuen.

11 ✠ [4] And when they shall bring you vnto the Synagogues, and vnto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye shall answere, or what ye shall speake.

12 For the holy Ghost shall teach you in the same houre, what ye ought to say.

13 [5] And one of the company said vnto him, Master, bid my brother diuide the inheritance with me.

14 And he said vnto him, Man, who made mee a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?

15 Wherefore he said vnto them, Take heed, and beware of [c] couetousnesse: for though a man haue aboundance, yet his [d] life standeth not in his riches.

16 [6] And he put foorth a parable vnto them, saying, The [e] ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruits plenteously.

17 Therefore hee [f] thought with himselfe, saying, What shall I doe, because I haue no roome where I may lay vp my fruites?

18 And he said, This will I do, I will pull down my barnes, and builde greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soule, Soule, thou hast much goods laid vp for many yeeres: liue at ease, eate, drinke, and [g] take thy pastime.

20 But God said vnto him, O foole, this night will they fetch away thy soule frō thee: then whose shall those things be which thou hast prouided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches [h] to himselfe, and is not rich in God.

22 [7] And he spake vnto his disciples, Therefore I say vnto you, ∵ Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your bodie, what ye shall put on.

23 The life is more then meat: and the body more then the rayment.

24 Consider the rauens: for they neither sowe nor reape: which neither haue storehouse nor barne, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then foules?

25 And which of you with taking thought, can adde to his stature one cubite?

26 If ye then be not able to do the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labour not, neither spin they: yet I say vnto you, that Salomon himselfe in all his royaltie was not cloathed like one of these.

28 If then God so cloath the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morow is cast into the ouen, how much more will he cloathe you, O yee of litle faith?

29 Therefore aske not what yee shall eate, or what ye shal drinke, neither [i] hang you in suspence.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ✣ What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wilder nesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

5 And when he hath found it, hee layeth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue founde my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing teane groates, if shee loose one groate, doth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, shee calleth her friendes, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groat which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ k Hee said moreouer, A certain man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them sayd to his father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to mee. So he diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not many dyes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, he tooke his iourney into a farre country, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and hee began to be in necessitie.

15 Then hee went and claue to a citizen of that country, and hee sent him to his farme, to feed swine.

16 And hee would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy sonne: make me as one of thine hired seruants.

20 So he arose and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 n And the sonne said vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

22 Then the father sayd to his seruants, Bring foorth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eat, and be merry:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merry.

25 f Now the elder brother was in the field, and when hee came and drew neere to the house, hee heard melodie, and dancing.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he sayd vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out, and intreated him.

k Men by their voluntary falling from God, hauing spoiled themselues of the benefits which they receiued of him, cast themselues headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatnesse of their miserie wherewith they were tamed, doeth not onely gently receiue them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest blisse.

l The beginning of reperance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which stirreth vs to hope well.

m Against God, because he is sayd to dwell in heauen.

n In true repentance there is a feeling of our sinnes, ioyned with sorrow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiuenesse.

f Such as truely feare God, desire to haue all men to be theis fellowes.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy good with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine. It was meete that we should make merry and bee glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serue two masters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

AND he sayd also vnto his disciples, [1] There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and he was accused vnto him, that hee wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and sayde vnto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an account of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters debters, and sayd vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he sayd, An hundreth measures of oyle. And he saide to him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickely, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And he sayde, An hundreth measures of wheate. Then he sayd to him, Take thy writing, and write fourescore.

8 And the Lord commended [a] the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the [b] children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches [c] of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euerlasting [d] habitations.

10 [2] He that is faithfull in the least, he is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then yee haue not beene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the [e] true treasure?

12 And if yee haue not beene faithfull in [f] another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours?

13 ✠ 3 No seruant can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharises also, which were couetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 4 Then hee saide vnto them, Yee are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 ✠ 5 The Lawe and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preasseth into it.

17 ✠ Now it is more easie that heauen and earth should passe away, then that one title of the Lawe should fall.

18 ¶ ∵ Whosoeuer putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her [g] that is put away from her husband, committeth adulterie.

19 ¶ 6 There was a certaine rich man, which was cloathed in [h] purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layed at his gate full of sores,

21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, [i] he lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then hee cried, and sayd, Father Abraham, haue mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham sayd, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 7 Then he sayd, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house,

28 (For I haue fiue brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham sayd vnto him, They haue Moyses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he said, Nay father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then he said vnto them, If they heare not Moyses and the Prophets, neither will they be perswaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 We must forgiue him that trespasseth against vs. 10 Wee are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the comming of the kingdome of heauen. 23 False Christs. 36 After what maner Christs comming shall be.

THen sayd hee to his disciples, ✠ [1] It can not be auoided, but that offences will come, but Woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great milstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 ¶ [2] Take heed to your selues: If thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if hee repent, forgiue him.

4 ✠ And though hee sinne against thee seuen times

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselues, by other mens costs, it is a shame for vs, if with a free and liberall bestowing of the goods which the Lords hath giuen vs to that purpose, we doe not please him, nor procure the good will of our neighbours, seeing that by this onely meanes, riches, which are oftentimes occasions of sinne, are turned to another ende and purpose.

a This parable doth not approoue the stewards naughtie dealing, for it was very theft: but parables are set forth, to shew a thing couertly, & as it were vnder a figure to represent the trueth, though it agree not throughly with the matter it selfe: so that Christ meaneth by this parable to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedie in the affaires of this world, then the children of God are carefull for euerlasting life.

b Men that are giuen to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: S. Paul calleth those spirituall, and the other carnall.

c This is not spoken of goods that are euill gotten, for God will haue our bountifulnesse to the poore, proceed and come from a good fountaine: but he calleth those riches of iniquitie, which men vse naughtily.

d To wit, the poore Christians: for they are the inheriters of these Tabernacles. Theophil. 2 We ought to take heede that for abusing our earthly function and duetie, wee be not depriued of heauenly giftes: for howe can they vse spirituall gifts aright, who abuse worldly things? e That is, heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fleeting substance. f In worldly goods, which are called other mens, because they are committed to our credite. ✠ Mat 6,24. 3 No man can loue God and riches together. 4 Our sinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them whose sinnes they are.

✠ Mat 11.12.

5 The Pharises despised the excellencie of the new Couenant, in respect of the olde, being ignorant of the perfect righteousnesse of the Law, and how false expounders they were of the Law, Christ declareth by the seuenth Commandement.

g They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be maried againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, while shee liueth, reason fondly: for Christ speaketh of those diuorces which the Iewes vsed, of which sort we can not take the diuorcement for adultery, for adulterers were put to death by the law.

6 The end of the pouertie and miserie of the godly, shallbe euerlasting ioy: as the end of the riotousnesse and cruell pride of the rich shallbe euerlasting misery, without all hope of mercy.

h Very gorgeously and sumptuously: for purple garments were costly, and this fine linnen which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as golde.

i Heauenly and spirituall things are expressed, and set forth vnder colours and resemblances fit for our senses.

7 Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to liue by, layd forth vnto vs in the word of God, rashly and vainely doe men seeke for other reuelations.

times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt

5 ¶ [3] And the Apostles sayde vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.
6 And the Lord said, ✠ If ye had faith, as much as is [a] a graine of mustard seed, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.
7 ¶ [4] Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, would say vnto him
by and by, when hee were come from the field,
Goe, and sit downe at table?
8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, & gird thy selfe, and serue me, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drinke thou?
9 Doeth hee thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commanded vnto him? I trow
not.
10 [5] So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: we haue done that which was our duetie to doe.
11 ¶ [6] And so it was when he went to Hieru-salem, that hee passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galile.
12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there mette him ten men that were lepers, which stood a farre off.
13 And they lift vp their voyces and sayd, Ie-sus, Master, haue mercy on vs.
14 And when he saw them, he sayd vnto them, ✠ Go, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clensed.
15 Then one of them, when hee saw that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loud voyce praysed God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks, and he was a Samaritan.
17 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?
18 There is none found that returned to giue
God praise, saue this stranger.
19 And hee sayd vnto him, Arise, goe thy way,
thy faith hath saued thee.
20 ¶ [7] And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come,
he answered them, and sayd, The kingdome of God
commeth not with [b] obseruation.
21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there:
for behold, the kingdome of God is [c] within you.
22 [8] And he sayd vnto the disciples, the dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see [d] one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.
23 ∵ [9] Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow
them.
24 For as the lightning that lightneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.
25 But first must he suffer many things and be reprooued of this generation.
26 ✠ [10] And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.
27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.
28 ✠ Likewise also as it was in the dayes of Lot:
They ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.
29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.
30 After these ensampels shall it be in the day when the sonne of man is reuealed.
31 [11] At that day he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.
32 ∵ Remember Lots wife.
33 ✱ Whosoeuer will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoeuer shall lose it, shall [e] get it life.
34 ✱ I tell you, in that night there shallbe two in one bed: the one shallbe receiued, and the other shallbe left.
35 Two women shallbe grinding together, the one shallbe taken, and the other shallbe left.
36 Two shallbe in the field: one shallbe receiued,
and another shallbe left.
37 [12] And they answered, and sayde to him, Where, Lord? And he sayd vnto them, * Where-soeuer the body is, thither shall also the egles be gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The parable of the vnrighteous Iudge and the widow, 10 Of the Pharise and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the kingdome of heauen. 22 To sell all and giue to the poore. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blinde man receiueth sight.

AND [1] hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this end, that they ✠ ought alwayes to pray, & not to [a] waxe faint,
2 [b] Saying, there was a iudge in a certaine city,
which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.
3 And there was a widow in that city, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersarie.
4 And hee would not of a long time: but afterward he sayd with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man, 5 Yet because this widow troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and [c] make me weary.
6 And the Lord sayd, Heare what the vnrighteous Iudge saith.
7 Now shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though [d] he suffer long for them?
8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall hee finde faith on the earth?
9 ¶ [2] He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselues that they were iust, and despised other.
10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

3 God will neuer be vtterly lacking to the Godly (although he be not so perfitly with them, as they would) euen in those difficulties, which cannot be ouercome by mans reason.

c You looke about for Messias as though he were absent, but he is amongst you in the middes of you.

the one a Pharise,and the other a Publican.
11 3 The Pharise stoode and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust,adulterers,or euen

12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tithe of all them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

17 6 Verely I say vnto you,whosoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, hee shall not enter therein.
18 ∵ Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying,
Good Master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

me good? none is good,saue one, euen God.
20 Thou knowest the commandements,✠ Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not kill:
Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false
witnesse: Honour thy father and thy mother.
21 7 And he sayd, All these haue I kept from my youth.
22 Now when Iesus heard that, hee said vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, & come follow me.
23 But when he heard those things, he was very heauy: for hee was merueilous rich.
24 8 And when Iesus saw him very sorowfull, he sayd, With what difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!
25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye,then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.
26 Then sayd they that heard it,And who then shallbe saued?
27 And he sayd,The things which are vnpossi-ble with men, are possible with God.
28 ¶ ✠ Then Peter said, Loe, we haue left all,
and haue followed thee.
29 9 And he sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents or brethren,or wife,or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world,and in the world to come life euerlasting.
31 ¶ * 10 Then Iesus tooke vnto him ÿ twelue,

salem, and all things shallbe fulfilled to the sonne

and shalbe mocked,and shalbe spitefully entreated, and shalbe spitted on.
33 And when they haue scourged him,they will put him to death: but the third day hee shall rise
againe.
34 But they vnderstood h none of these things,

13 5 And

13 ⁵ And he called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, and said vnto them, Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come againe, & had receiued his kingdom, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that he might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, [b] thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he saide vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast beene faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased fiue pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Be thou also ruler ouer fiue cities.

20 ⁶ So the other came, and said, Lord, beholde thy piece which I haue layd vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laiedst not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sow.

22 Then he saide vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knewest that I am a straite man, taking vp that I laid not downe, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And hee saide to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

31 And if any aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof saide vnto them, Why loose yee the colte?

34 And they sayde, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 ∵ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

As for the first, the Lord when hee commeth will iustly punish them in his time: the other he will blesse, according to the paines which they haue taken: and as for the slouthfull and idle person, he will punish them as the first.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little while, another man sawe him, and sayd, Thou art also of them. But Peter sayd, Man, I am not.

59 And about the space of an houre after, a certaine other affirmed, saying, Verely, euen this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they hath seene a spirit.
38 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye troubled? & wherfore doe doubts arise in your hearts?
39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I my selfe: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as yee see me haue.
40 And when he had thus spoken, hee shewed them his hands and feet.
41 And while they yet beleeued not for ioy, and wondered, hee said vnto them, Haue yee here
any meat?
42 And they gaue him a piece of a broyled
fish, and of an hony combe.
43 And he tooke it, and did eate before them.
44 [7] And hee saide vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of mee in the Lawe of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes.
45 Then opened hee their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures, 46 And said vnto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behoued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe
from the dead the third day, 47 And that repentance, & remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, [h] beginning at Hierusalem.

49 And beholde, I doe send the ✠ promise of my Father vpon you: but tarie yee in the citie of and lift vp his hands, and blessed them.

them, ✠ hee departed from them, and was caried

52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Hierusalem with great ioy, sing, and lauding God. Amen.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST ACCOR-DING TO IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 That Word begotten of God before all worldes, 1 and which was euer with the Father, 14 is made man, 6.7 For what end Iohn was sent from God: 16 His preaching of Christes office. 19.20 The record that he bare giuen out vnto the Priestes. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

IN [1] the [a] beginning [b] was [c] that Word, & that Word was [d] with God, and that [e] Word was God.
2 This same was in the beginning with God.
3 ✠ [2] All [f] things were made by it, and [g] without it [h] was made nothing that was made.
4 [i] In it [k] was life, and that life was [l] the light of men.
5 [3] And that light shineth in the darkenesse,
and the darkenesse [m] comprehended it not.
6 ¶ ✠ [4] There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.
7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare wit-nesse of that light, that all men [n] through him might beleeue.
8 Hee was not [o] that light, but was sent to beare
witnesse of that light.
9 [5] This was [p] that true light, which lighteth
euery man that commeth into the world.
10 [q] Hee was in the world, and the world was ✠ made by him: and the world knew him not.
11 He came [r] vnto his owne, and his owne re-ceiued him not.
12 [6] But as many as receiued him, to them hee
gaue [s] prerogatiue to be the sonnes of God, euen
to them that beleeue in his Name.
13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the [t] will of the flesh, nor of ye will of man, but of God.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternitie or euerlastingnesse, and of one and the selfe-same essence or nature, with the Father.
a From the beginning, as the Euangelist saith, 1. Epistle 1.1. as though he said, that the world began not then to haue his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was euen then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore hee was before the beginning of all things. b Had his being. c This word, That, pointeth out vnto vs a peculiar and choise thing aboue all other, and putteth a difference betweene this Worde, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise also are called the word of God. d This word (With) pointeth out the distinction of persons to vs. e This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (Subiectum:) and this word (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (Predicatum.) ✠ Col.1.16. 2 The sonne of God declareth that same his euerlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preseruing of them, & especially by the excellent gifts of reason & vnderstanding, wherewith he hath beautified man aboue all other creatures. f Paul expoundeth this place, Coloss.1.15. and 16 verses. g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow-worker with him. h Of all these things which were made, nothing was made without him. i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the manner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power all life commeth to the world. k To wit, euen then, when all things are made by him, for els he would haue said, Life is in him, and not life was. l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our mindes to knowledge him the authour of so great a benefite.

3 The light of men is turned into darknesse, but yet so that there is clearenes ynough to make them withou excuse.
m They could not perceiue nor reach vnto it, to receiue any light of it, no they did not so much as acknowledge him.
✠ Mat.3.1. mark.1.4. luk 3.2.
4 There is another more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred vp, euen by Iohns voyce, who is as it were the herault of Christ. n Through Iohn. o That light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who onely can lighten our darkenesse. q When as the Sonne of God sawe, that man did not acknowledge him by his workes, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which hee had giuen to them all) hee exhibited himselfe vnto his people to be seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him. p Who onely and properly deserueth to be called the light, for he shineth of himselfe, & borroweth light of none. q That person of the Word, was made manifest euen at that time when the worlde was made. ✠ Heb.11.3. r The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh. 6 The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiueth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is to bee the sonnes of God. s He vouchsafed to giue them this prerogatiue to take them to be his children. t Of that grosse and corrupt nature of man, which is throughout the Scriptures set as enemie to the Spirit.

14 ✠ 7 And

✣ Mat. 3. 16.
7 That Sonne, who is God from everlasting, tooke vpon him mans nature, that one and the selfesame might be both God and man, which manifestly appeared to many witnesses, that saw him amongst whom he was conuersant, and vato whom by sure and vndoubted arguments he shewed both his natures.

a That is, man: for that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke vpon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soule.

x For a season, and when that was ended, he went vp into heauen: for the word which he vseth, is taken from tents: and yet notwithstanding, his absence from vs in body is not such, but that he is alwayes present with vs, though not in flesh, yet by the vertue of his spirit.

2. pet. 1. 17.

y The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ his godhead,

14 ✣ 7 And that Word was made u flesh, and x dwelt among vs, (and wee y sawe the glorie thereof, z as the glorie of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) a full of grace and trueth.

15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that commeth b after me, was c before me: for he was better then I.

16 ✣ 9 And of his fulnesse haue all we receiued, and d grace for grace.

17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace and trueth came by Iesus Christ.

18 ✣ 10 No man hath seene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the e bosome of the Father, he hath f declared him.

19 ¶ 11 Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests and Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?

20 And hee g confessed and h denyed not, and said plainely, I ✣ am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I I am not. Art thou k that Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that wee may giue answere to them that sent vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe?

23 He said, I * am the voice of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Esaias.

24 12 Now they which were sent, were of the Pharisee.

25 And they asked him, and said vnto him, l Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one m among you, whom yee know not.

27 ✣ Hee it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to vnloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.

29 ¶ 13 The next day Iohn seeth Iesus comming vnto him, and sayeth, Behold n a that Lambe of God, which o taketh away the p sinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, After me commeth a man, which was before me: for he was better then I.

31 And q I knewe him not: but becausse hee should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 14 So Iohn bare record, saying, I beheld ✣ that Spirit come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him.

33 And I knewe him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, hee said vnto mee, Vpon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is hee which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record that this is r that Sonne of God.

35 ¶ 15 The next day, Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.

36 16 And he beheld Iesus walking by, and said, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 17 And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and saw them follow, and said vnto them, What seeke yee? And they said vnto him, Rabbi, (which is to say by interpretation, Master) s where dwellest thou?

39 Hee said vnto them, Come, and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the t tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue found that Messias which is by interpretation, that u Christ.

42 And hee brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.

43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would goe into Galile, and found Philip, and said vnto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 18 Philip founde Nathanael, and sayde vnto him, Wee haue founde him of whome ✣ Moses did write in the Lawe, and the ✣ Prophets, Iesus that Sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.

✣ Mat. 3. 11. mark. 1. 7. luke 3. 16. acts 1. 5. and 11. 16. and 19. 4.

13 The bodie and trueth of all the sacrifices of the Law, to make satisfaction for the sinne of the world, is in Christ.

n This word (That) which is added, hath great force in it, not onely to set forth the worthinesse of Christ, and so to separate him from the Lamb: which was a figure of him, and from all other sacrifices of the Law, but also to bring into our minds the Prophecies of Esay and others.

o This word of the present time, signifieth a continuall act: for the Lambe hath this office properly vnto him, and for euer, to take away the sinnes of the world.

p That is, that great sort of sinnes, to wit, our corruption, and so consequently, the fruits of sinne, which are commonly called in the plurall number sinnes.

q I neuer knew him by face before, 24 Christ is proued to be the Sonne of God, by the comming downe of the holy Ghost, by the Fathers voice, and by Iohn testimonie.

✣ Mat. 3. 16. marke 1. 10. luke 3. 22.

r This word (That) pointeth out vnto vs some excellent thing, and maketh a difference betweene Christ and the Prophets, Moses and the Prophets commonly call the sonnes of God, or the sonnes of the most high.

15 Iohn gathered disciples, not to himselfe, but to Christ. 16 Christ is set before vs to followe not as a vaine shadowe, but as our Mediatour. 17 To this first gathering of the disciples we haue learned verie vs, that the beginning of salutation is from God, who calleth vs vnto his Sonne by the ministerie of his seruants: whom (so presenting vs) wee must also heare, and followe: him home, that being instructed by him, wee may also instruct others. s Where is thy lodging? t The night grew on. u That is, announced, and King after the manner of the Iewish people. 18 The good endeuours euen of the vnlearned, God doeth so allowe, that he maketh them matters to the learned. v Genesi. 49. 10. deut. 18. 18. ✣ Isai. 4. 2. and 40. 10, and 45. 8. iere. 23. 5. and 33. 14. ezech. 34. 23. and 37. 24. Dan. 9. 24.

19 We must especially take heede of false presumptions, which shut vp against vs the entrance to Christ.
20 Simple vprightnesse discerneth the true Israelites from the false.
21 The ende of miracles is to set before vs Christ the Almightie, and also the onely author of our saluation, that we may apprehend him by faith.
✣ Gen.28.12.
x By these wordes, the power of God is signified which should appeare in his ministery by the angels seruing him as the head of the Church.

46 19 Then Nathanael sayd vnto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.
47 20 Iesus sawe Nathanael comming to him, and said of him, Behold indeede an Israelite, in whom is no guile.
48 21 Nathanael saide vnto him, Whence knewest thou me? Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast vnder the fig tree, I saw thee.
49 Nathanael answered, and said vnto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Israel.
50 Iesus answered, and said vnto him, Because I said vnto thee, I sawe thee vnder the figge tree, beleeuest thou? thou shalt see greater things then these.
51 And he said vnto him, Verely, verely, I say vnto you, Hereafter shall ye see heauen open, and the Angels of God ✣ x ascending, and descending vpon that Sonne of man.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ turneth water into wine. 11 Which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 He goeth downe to Capernaum: 13 from thence he goeth vp to Hierusalem, 15 and casteth the merchandise out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall be destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeue in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

1 Christ declaring openly in an assembly by a notable miracle, that hee hath power ouer the nature of things, to feede mans body, leadeth the mindes of all men, to his spirituall and sauing vertue and power.
a After the talke which he had with Nathanael or after that hee departed from Iohn, or after that he came into Galile.
2 Christ is carefull enough of our saluation, and therefore hath no neede of others to put him in mind of it.
b Mine appointed time.
c These were vessels appointed for water, wherein they washed themselues.
d Euery firkin conteined an hundred pound, at twelue ounces the pound: whereby we gather that Christ helpe them with a thousand and eight hundred pound of wine.
e Word for word, are drunken. Now this speech, to be drunken, is not alwayes taken in euill part in the Hebrew tongue, but signifieth sometime such store, and plentifull vse of wine, as doth not passe measure, a. Gen 43 34.

AND 1 the a third day, was there a mariage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there.
2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage.
3 2 Now when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus sayd vnto him, They haue no wine.
4 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine b houre is not yet come.
5 His mother sayd vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he sayth vnto you, doe it.
6 And there were set there, sixe c waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of ẏ Iewes, conteining two or three d firkins a piece.
7 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.
8 Then he sayd vnto them, Draw out now, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.
9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for hee knew not whence it was, but the seruant, which drew the water, knew) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome,
10 And sayd vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue e well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.
11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed forth his glorie: and his disciples beleeued on him.
12 After that, he went downe into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his f brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.
13 3 For the Iewes Passeouer was at hand. Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.
14 4 And hee found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money sitting there.
15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrew their tables,
16 And said vnto them that sold doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of marchandise.
17 And his disciples remembred, that it was written, ✣ The g zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.
18 5 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, What h signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?
19 Iesus answered and said vnto them, ✣ Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will rayse it vp againe.
20 Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and sixe yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?
21 But he spake of the i temple of his body.
22 As soone therefore as hee was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that he thus said vnto them: and they beleeued the Scripture, and the word which Iesus had said.
23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleeued in his Name, when they saw his miracles which he did.
24 6 But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knew them all,
25 7 And had no neede that any should testifie of man, for he knew what was in man.

f That is, his cousins. 3 Christ being made subiect to the Lawe for vs, latisfieth the Law of the Passeouer. 4 Christ being ordeined to purge the Church, doeth with great zeale begin his office both of Priest and Prophet.

✣ Psal.69.9.
g Zeale in this place is taken for a wrathfull indignation and displeasure of the minde, conceiued of some naughtie and euill dealing towards them whom we loue well.
5 Against them which so binde God to an ordinarie calling which they themselues most shamefully abuse, that they will not admit an extraordinarie, which God conferreth from heauen, (and they although in vaine would haue it extinguished) vnlesse it be sealed with outward and bodily miracles.
h With what miracle doest thou confirme it, that we may see that heauenly power and vertue, which giueth thee authoritie to speake and doe thus? ✣ Mat 26 61. and 27.40. Mar.14.58. and 15.29 i That is, of his body. 6 It is not good crediting them, which stand onely vpon miracles. 7 Christ is the searcher of hearts, and therefore true God.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wildernes. 23 Iohn baptizeth, 27 and teacheth his, that he is not Christ.

THere 1 was now a man of the Pharises, named Nicodemus, a a ruler of the Iewes.
2 This man came to Iesus by night, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, wee knowe that thou art a b teacher come from God, for no man could doe these miracles that thou doest, c except God were with him.
3 2 Iesus answered and said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, Except a man be borne againe, he cannot d see the e kingdome of God.
4 Nicodemus said vnto him, How f can a man be borne which is olde? can hee enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?
5 Iesus answered, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirite, he cannot enter into the kingdome of God.
6 That which is borne of the flesh, is g flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is spirit.
7 Marueile not that I said to thee, Ye must be borne againe.
8 The winde bloweth where it h listeth, and

1 There are none sometimes more vnlearned, then the learned: but as well the learned as the vnlearned must desire wisdome of Christ onely.
a A man of great estimation, and a ruler amongst the Iewes.
b We know that thou art sent from God to teach vs.
c But he in whom some part of the excellencie of God appeareth. And if Nicodemus had knowen Christ aright, he would not onely haue said that God was with him, but in him, as Paul doeth. 2 Cor. 19.
2 The beginning of Christianitie consisteth in this, that we know our selues not only to be corrupt in part, but to be wholly dead in sinne: so that our nature hath need to be created anew, as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other vertue, but by the diuine and heauenly, whereby we were first created. d That is, go in, or enter, as hee expounded himselfe afterward, vers.5. e The Church: for Christ sheweth in this place, how we come to be citizen, and to haue ought to doe in the citie of God. f How can I that am old, be borne againe? for he answereth, as if Christ his wordes belonged to none but to him. g That is, fleshly: to wit, wholly vncleane and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrarie to which is the Spirit, that is, the man ingrafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is euerlasting and immortall, though the strife of the flesh remaineth. h With free and wandring blastes, as it listeth.

thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth : so is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.
9 [3] Nicodemus answered, and sayd vnto him,
How can these things be ?
10 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things ?
11 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, We speake that we know, and testifie that we haue seene : but ye receiue not our [i] witnesse.
12 If when I tell you earthly things, ye beleeue not, how should ye beleeue, if I shall tell you of heauenly things ?
13 For no [k] man [l] ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, [m] that Sonne of man which [n] is in heauen.
14 ✠ And as Moses lift vp the serpent in the wildernesse, so must that Sonne of man be lift vp, 15 That whosoeuer beleeueth in him, should not perish, but haue eternall life.
16 ✠ [5] For God so loued the world, that hee hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whosoeuer beleeueth [o] in him, should not perish, but haue euerlasting life.
17 ∵ [6] For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that he should [p] condemne the world, but that the [q] world through him might be saued.
18 He that beleeueth in him, is not condemned : but he that beleeueth not, is condemned already, because hee hath not beleeued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.
19 ※ [7] And this is the [r] condemnation, that that light came into the world, and men loued darke-nesse rather then that light, because their deedes were euill.
20 For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither commeth to light, least his deedes should be reprooued.
21 But he that [f] doth trueth, commeth to the light, that his deedes might be made manifest, that they are wrought [t] according to God.
22 ¶ After these things came Iesus, and his disciples into the land of Iudea, and there taried with them, and ✠ baptized.
23 And Iohn also baptized in Enon besides Salem, because there was much water there : and they came and were baptized.
24 For Iohn was not yet cast into prison.
25 [8] Then there arose a question betweene
Iohns disciples and the Iewes, about purifying.
26 And they came vnto Iohn, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Iorden, to whom * thou barest witnesse, behold, he bapti-zeth, and all men come to him.

3 The secret mysterie of our regeneration which cannot be comprehended by mans capacitie, is perceiued by faith, and that in Christ onely; because that he is both God on earth, and man in heauen, that is to say, in such sort man, that hee is God also, and therefore almighty : and in such sort God, that he is man also, and therefore his power is manifest vnto vs.

i You handle doubtfull things, and such as you haue no certaine author for, and yet men beleeue you : but I teach those things that are of a trueth and well knowen, & you beleeue me not.

k Onely Christ can teach vs heauenly things, for no man ascendeth, &c.

l That is, hath any spirituall light and understanding, or euer had, but onely that Sonne of God, which came downe to vs.

m Whereas he is sayd to haue come down from heauen, that must be understood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception : for Christ his birth vpon the earth was heauenly, and not earthly, for he was conceiued by the holy Ghost.

n That which is proper to the diuinitie of Christ, is here spoken of whole Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand, that he is but one person, wherein two natures are vnited, and this kind of speech men call, The communicating of proprieties.

49 The ruler sayd vnto him, Sir, go downe before my sonne die.
50 Iesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way, thy sonne
liueth: and the man beleeued the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.
51 And as hee was now going downe, his ser-uants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.
52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they sayd vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him.
53 Then the father knew that it was the same

he was come out of Iudea into Galile.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, and gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, & the disciples to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.
13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barley loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten.
14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is of a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world.
15 [2] When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.
16 ¶ [3] When euen was now come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, 17 ∴ And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, ^b towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.
18 And the Sea arose with a great winde that blew.
19 And when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they saw Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere vnto the ship: so they were afraid.
20 But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.
21 Then ^c willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.
22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one, whereinto his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,
23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thankes.
24 Nowe when the people saw that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?
26 [4] Iesus answered them, and said, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Ye seeke me not, because yee saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaues, and were filled.
27 ^d Labour not for the meate which perisheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlasting life, which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you: for him hath ✠ God the Father ^e sealed.

7 Christ, who is the true and onely authour and giuer of eternall life, was signified vnto the fathers in Manna.
h He denieth that Manna was that true heauenly bread, and sayeth that he himselfe is that true bread, because hee feedeth vnto the true and euerlasting life, And as for that, that Paul 1.Cor.10 calleth Manna spirituall food, it maketh nothing against this place, for hee ioyneth the thing signified with the signe: but in this whole disputation, Christ dealeth with the Iewes after their common opinion & conceit of the matter, and they had no further consideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the belly. i Which haue life, and giue life. 8 The gift of faith proceedeth from the free election of the Father in Christ, after which followeth necessarily euerlasting life: Therefore faith in Christ Iesus is a sure witnesse of our election, and therefore of our glorification, which is to come k Looke aboue Chap. 5. vers. 22. l Seeing and beleeuing are ioyned together: for there is another kinde of seeing, which is generall, which the deuils haue, for they see. but here he speaketh of that kinde of seeing, which is proper to the elect. 9 Flesh can not perceiue spirituall things, and therefore the beginning of our saluation commeth from God, who changeth our nature, so that wee being inspired of him, may abide to be instructed and saued by Christ.

43 Iesus then answered,and sayde vnto them,
Murmure not among your selues.
44 No man can come to me, except the Father, which hath sent mee, draw him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.
45 It is written in the ✠ m Prophets, And they

49 ∵ Your fathers did eate Manna in the wil-

51 11 I am that q liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man r eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue is my flesh, which I will giue for the life

52 12 Then the Iewes stroue among them-

54 Whosoeuer eateth my flesh, and drinketh

59 These things spake he in the Synagogue,as he taught in Capernaum.
60 13 Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said,This is an hard saying: who

him.
65 And he said, Therefore said I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me,except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.
66 15 From that time,many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.
67 Then saide Iesus to the twelue,Will ye also goe away?
68 Then Simon Peter answered him,Master,to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eter-
nall life:
69 And wee beleeue and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the liuing God.
70 16 Iesus answered them, Haue not I ✠ cho-

16 5 Iesus

16 [5] Iesus answered them, and sayd, e My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

18 [6] He that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but hee that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in him.

19 ✠ [7] Did not Moses giue you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? ✠ Why goe yee about to kill me?

20 The people answered, and sayd, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 [8] Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, I haue done one worke, and ye all marueile.

22 ∵ Moses therefore gaue vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the ✻ fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the f Law of Moses should not be broken, be ye angry with mee, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 ✲ [9] Iudge not g according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

25 ¶ [10] Then sayd some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he whom they goe about to kill?

26 And beholde, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know indeed that this is indeed that Christ?

27 [11] Howbeit we know this man whence hee is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

28 ¶ [12] Then cryed Iesus in the Temple as hee taught, saying, Ye both knowe mee, and knowe whence I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.

30 [13] Then they sought to take him, but no man layd hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleeued in him, and sayd, When that Christ commeth, will he doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 [14] The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, & then I goe vnto him that sent me.

34 * Ye shall seeke me, and shall not find mee, and where I am, can ye not come.

35 Then sayde the Iewes among themselues, Whither will hee goe, that we shall not find him? Will he go vnto them that are h dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that hee sayd, Yee shall seeke me, and shall not find mee? and, Where I am, can ye not come?

Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor ÿ Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye should haue knowen that Father of mine also.
20 These words spake Iesus in the e treasurie, as he taught in the Temple, and no man layd hands on him: 7 for his houre was not yet come.
21 8 Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shall seeke me, & shall die in your sinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come.
22 Then sayd the Iewes, Will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?
23 And he sayd vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.
24 I sayd therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleeue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.
25 9 Then sayd they vnto him, Who art thou?
And Iesus sayd vnto them, Euen f the same thing that I sayd vnto you from the beginning.
26 10 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.
27 11 They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.
28 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, When yee haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, so I speak these things.
29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do alwayes those things that please him.
30 ¶ As he spake these things, many beleeued
in him.
31 12 Then sayd Iesus to the Iewes which beleeued in him, If ye continue in my word, yee are verely my disciples,
32 And shall know the trueth, and the trueth shall g make you free.
33 h They answered him, We be i Abrahams seede, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shallbe made free?
34 Iesus answered them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the ✠ seruant of sinne.
35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.
36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free,
ye shall be free indeed.
37 13 I know that you are Abrahams seede, but yee seeke to kill mee, because my word hath no place in you.
38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which yee haue seene with your Father.
39 They answered, and sayd vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.
40 But nowe ye goe about to kill mee, a man that haue tolde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.
41 Ye doe the works of your father. Then said they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.
42 Therefore Iesus sayd vnto them, If God were your Father, then would yee loue me: for I proceeded foorth, and come from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.
43 Why doe ye not vnderstand my k talke? because ye cannot heare my word.
44 ✠ Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lustes of your father yee will doe: he hath bene a murtherer from the l beginning, and m aboade not in the n trueth, because there is no trueth in him.
When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh hee of his
o owne: for he is a liar, and the p father thereof.
45 And because I tell you the trueth, yee beleeue me not.
46 14 Which of you can rebuke me of sinne? and if I say the trueth, why do ye not beleeue me?
47 ✠ He that is of God heareth Gods wordes:
ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not
of God.
48 15 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, Say we not wel that thou art a Samaritane, &
hast a deuill?
49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me.
50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one that q seeketh it, and iudgeth.
51 16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man
keepe my word, he shall neuer r see death.

3 Christ would not take vpon him the ciuill Magistrates office: he contented himselfe to bring sinners to faith and repentance.

58 Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I[y] am.
59 21 Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middes of them, and so went his way.

CHAP. IX.

Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blind. 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharises, 24,35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euerlasting light.

AND[a] as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blinde from his birth.
2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?
3 Iesus answered, [a] Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.
4 [z] I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is[b] day: the night commeth when no man can worke.
5 As long as I am in the world, ✣ I am the light of the world.
6 [c] Assoone as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spettle, and anointed the eyes of the blinde with the clay,
7 And said vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came againe seeing.
8 Now the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blinde, said, Is not this he that sate and begged?
9 Some said, This is he: and other said, He is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.
10 Therefore they said vnto him, How were thine eyes[c] opened?
11 Hee answered, and said, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said vnto mee, Goe to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and receiued sight.
12 Then they said vnto him, Where is hee? He said, I cannot tell.
13 ¶ They brought to the Pharises him that was once blinde.
14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.
15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And he said vnto them, He laid clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.
16 [e] Then said some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a dissension among them.
17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.
18 Then the Iewes did not beleeue him (that he had beene blinde, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight.
19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom ye say was borne blinde? How doeth he now see then?
20 His parents answered them, and said, Wee know that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blinde:
21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is olde ynough: aske him: he shall answere for himselfe.
22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that hee was Christ, hee should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.
23 Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him.
24 Then againe called they the man that had beene blinde, and said vnto him, [d] Giue glory vnto God: we know that this man is a[e] sinner.
25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I see.
26 Then said they to him againe, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?
27 Hee answered them, I haue tolde you already, and ye haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye also be his disciples?
28 [f] Then reuiled they him, and said, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.
29 We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.
30 The man answered, and sayd vnto them, Doubtlesse, this is a marueilous thing, that yee know not whence hee is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.
31 Now wee know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.
32 Since the worlde began, was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

1 Sinne is the beginning euen of all bodily diseases, and yet doeth it not follow, that God alway respecteth their sinnes, whom he most sharpely punisheth.
a Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presupposse that there come no diseases but for sinnes onely: wherevpon he answereth that there was another cause of this mans blindnesse, and that was, that God his worke might be seene.
2 The workes of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkenesse of the world.
b By (day) is meant the light, that is, the lightsome doctrine of the heauenly trueth: and by (night) is meant the darkenesse which commeth by the obscurtie of the same doctrine. ✣ Chap. 3, 9. and 8, 12. and 12, 35. 3 Christ healing the man borne blinde, by taking the spigne of clay, and afterward the signe of the fountaine of Siloam (which signifieth Sent) sheweth that as he at the beginning made man, so doeth he againe reshore both his body & soule: & yet so, that hee himselfe commeth first of his owne accord to heale vs.
4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blinde, doe neither themselues receiue the light that is offered vnto them, nor suffer it in other, and yet make a great adoe among themselues.

c This is an Hebrewe kinde of speech, for they call a man eyes shut, when they cannot receiue any sight. And therefore they are said to haue their eyes opened, which of blinde men are made to see.
c Religion is not assauled by any meanes more then by presence of Religion: but the more it is pressed downe, the more it riseth vp.
d A solemne order, whereby men were constrained in olde time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore see thou reuerence his maiestie, and doe him this honour, rather to confesse the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Iosh. 7, 19. 1. Sam. 6, 5.
e He is called a sinner in the Hebrew tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as it were an ayde of sinning.
6 Proud wickednesse must needes at length breake foorth, which in vaine lieth hid vnder a zeale of godlinesse.

33 If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing.
34 They anſwered and ſayd vnto him, [f] Thou art altogether borne in ſinnes, and doeſt thou teach vs? ſo they caſt him out.
35 [7] Ieſus heard that they had caſt him out:
and when hee had found him, he ſayde vnto him,
Doeſt thou beleeue in the Sonne of God?
36 He anſwered, and ſayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeue in him?
37 And Ieſus ſayde vnto him, Both thou haſt
ſeene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.
38 Then hee ſaid, Lord, I beleeue, and wor-ſhipped him.
39 [8] And Ieſus ſayd, I am come vnto [g] iudge-ment into this world, that they [h] which ſee not, might ſee: and that they ✣ which ſee, might be made blinde.
40 And ſome of the Phariſes which were with him, heard theſe things, and ſaid vnto him, Are we blinde alſo?
41 Ieſus ſayd vnto them, If yee were blinde, ye ſhould not haue ſinne: but now ye ſay, Wee ſee:
therefore your ſinne remaineth.

f Thou art naught euen from the cradle, and as we vſe to ſay, there is nothing in thee but ſinne.
7 Moſt happy is their ſtate, which are caſt furtheſt out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boaſt themſelues of the name of the Church) that Chriſt may come neerer to them.
8 Chriſt doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Goſpel, which acknowledge their owne darkeneſſe: but ſuch as ſeeme to themſelues to ſee clarely ynough, thoſe he altogether blindeth: of which ſort are they oftentimes, which haue the hieſt place in the Church. g With great power and authoritie, to doe what is righteous and iuſt: as if he ſaid, Theſe men take vpon them to gouerne the people of God after their owne luſts, as though they ſaw all things, and no man but they: but I will rule farre otherwiſe then theſe men doe: for whom they account for blinde men, them will I lighten, and ſuch as take themſelues to be wiſeſt, them will I drowne in moſt groſſe darkeneſſe of ignorance. h In theſe words (of ſeeing and not ſeeing) there is a ſecret taunting & checke to the Phariſes: for they thought all men blinde but themſelues. ✣ Chap. 3,17. and 12,47.

CHAP. X.

1 Chriſt prooueth that the Phariſes are ye euill ſhepheards, 8 and by many reaſons, that himſelfe 12, 14 is the good ſhepheard: 19 And thereof diſſenſion ariſeth. 31 They take vp ſtones, 39 and goe about to take him, but he eſcapeth.

VErely, [1] Verely I ſay vnto you, He that entreth not in by the doore into the ſheepefold, but climeth vp another way, he is a theefe & a robber.
2 But he that goeth in by the doore, is the ſhepheard of the ſheepe.
3 To him the [a] porter openeth, and the ſheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne ſheepe by name, and leadeth them out.
4 And when hee hath ſent foorth his owne ſheepe, he goeth before them, and the ſheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.
5 And they will not follow a ſtranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of ſtrangers.
6 This [b] parable ſpake Ieſus vnto them: but they vnderſtood not what things they were which he ſpake vnto them.
7 Then ſayd Ieſus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I ſay vnto you, I am that doore of the ſheepe.
8 [2] All that [c] euer came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the ſheepe did not heare them.
9 [3] I am that doore: by me if any man enter in,
he ſhall be ſaued, and ſhall [d] goe in, and goe out,
and finde paſture.

1 Seeing that by Chriſt onely we haue acceſſe to the Father, there are neither other true ſhepheards then thoſe which come to Chriſt themſelues, and bring other thither alſo, neither is any to be thought the true ſheepefold, but that which is gathered to Chriſt.
a In thoſe dayes they vſed to haue a ſeruant alwayes ſitting at the doore, & therefore he ſpeaketh after the maner of thoſe dayes.
b This word (parable) which the Euangeliſt vſeth here, ſignifieth a darke kinde of ſpeach, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to ſignifie another thing to vs.
2 It maketh no matter how many, neither how old the falſe teachers haue beene. c Theſe large tearmes muſt be applyed to the matter hee ſpeaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himſelfe the doore, he calleth all them theeues and robbers which take vpon them this name of doore: which none of the Prophets can, for they ſhewed the ſheepe, that Chriſt was the doore. 3 Onely Chriſt is the true Paſtor, and that onely is the true Church, which acknowledge him to be properly their onely Paſtor: To him are oppoſite theeues which feede not the ſheepe but kill them: and hirelings alſo, which forſake the flocke in time of danger, because they feede it onely for their owne profite and gaines. e That is, ſhall liue ſafely: So vſe the Iewes to ſpeake, as Deut. 28,6, and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the ſhepheards office.

10 The theefe commeth not, but for to ſteale, and to kill, and to deſtroy: I am come, that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.
11 ✣ I am that good ſhepheard: that good ſhepheard giueth his life for his ſheepe.
12 But an hireling, and hee which is not the ſhepheard, neither the ſheepe are his owne, ſeeth
the wolfe comming, and hee leaueth the ſheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and ſcat-tereth the ſheepe.
13 So the hireling fleeth, becauſe he is an hireling, and careth not for the ſheepe.
14 I am that good ſhepheard, and know mine,
and am knowen of mine.
15 As the Father [e] knoweth me, ſo know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my ſheepe.
16 [4] Other ſheepe I haue alſo, which are not of this fold: them alſo muſt I bring, and they ſhall heare my voyce: and ✣ there ſhallbe [f] one ſheepefold, and one ſhepheard.
17 [5] Therefore doeth my Father loue mee, becauſe ∵ [g] I lay downe my life, that I might take it
againe.
18 No man taketh it from mee, but I lay it
downe of my ſelfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this ⁑ commandement haue I receiued of my Father.
19 ¶ [6] Then there was a diſſenſion againe
among the Iewes for theſe ſayings.
20 And many of them ſaid, He hath a deuill, and is mad: why heare ye him?
21 Others ſaid, Theſe are not the words of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eyes of the blinde?
22 And it was at Hieruſalem the feaſt of the [h] Dedication, and it was winter.
23 [7] And Ieſus walked in the Temple, in Solomons porch.
24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and ſayd vnto him, How long doeſt thou make vs to doubt? If thou be that Chriſt, tell vs plainely.
25 [8] Ieſus anſwered them, I tolde you, and yee beleeue not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers
Name, they beare witneſſe of me.
26 [9] But ye beleeue not: [i] for ye are not of my ſheepe, as I ſaid vnto you.
27 My ſheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me.
28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they ſhall neuer periſh, neither ſhall any plucke them out of mine hand.
29 My Father which gaue them mee, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.
30 I and my Father are one.
31 ✯ [10] Then the Iewes againe tooke vp ſtones, to ſtone him.
32 Ieſus anſwered them, Many good workes haue I ſhewed you from my [k] Father: for which of theſe workes doe ye ſtone me?
33 The Iewes anſwered him, ſaying, For the good worke wee ſtone thee not, but for blaſphemie, and that thou being a man, makeſt thy ſelfe
God.
34 Ieſus anſwered them, Is it not written in your Law, * I ſaid, Ye are gods?

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shewe that hee is 25 the life and the resurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17, 34 and buried, 43 and raiseth him vp. 47 As the Priests were consulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 prophecieth that one must die for the people. 56, 57 They command to seeke Christ out, and to take him.

A Nd a certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that ✣ Marie which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou loueſt, is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, he sayd, This sickenesse is not vnto [b] death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 2 And after he had heard that hee was sicke, yet aboade hee two dayes still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, sayd he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 3 The disciples said vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to ✣ stone thee, and doeſt thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not [c] twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after, he said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus [d] sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then sayd his disciples, Lord, if he sleepe, he shallbe safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then said Iesus vnto them plainely, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeue: but let vs go vnto him.

16 Then sayd Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

19 4 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Mary sate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst beene here, my brother hath not beene dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus sayd vnto her, Thy brother shall [e] rise againe.

24 Martha sayd vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe ✣ in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus sayd vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: ✣ hee that beleeueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

26 And whosoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeuest thou this?

27 She sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so sayd, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickely, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, She goeth vnto the graue to weepe there.

32 Then when Marie was come where Iesus was, and saw him, shee fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord if thou hadst beene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 5 When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, he [f] groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe, 34 And sayd, Where haue yee layd him? They sayd vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then sayd the Iewes, Behold, how he loued him.

37 And some of them sayd, [g] Could not hee which opened the eyes of the blind, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was layd vpon it.

39 Iesus sayd, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, sayd vnto him, Lord he stinketh already: for hee hath beene dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus sayd vnto her, Said I not vnto thee, that if thou didst beleeue, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layd. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and sayd, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou hearest me always: but because of the people that stand by, I sayd it, that they may beleeue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As hee had spoken these things, hee cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And he that was dead, came foorth, bound hand and foote with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus sayd vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

Mary, and had seene the things which Iesus did, beleeued in him.
46 [6] But some of them went their way to the Pharises, & told them what things Iesus had done.
47 Then gathered the hie Priests & the Phari-ses a [g] councill, and sayd, What shall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.
48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleeue in him, and the Romanes will come and [h] take away both our place, and the nation.
49 [7] Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,
50 ✠ Nor yet doe you consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.
51 [8] This spake he not of himselfe: but being hie Priest that same yeere, he prophecied that Iesus should die for that nation:
52 And not for that nation onely, but that he should gather together in one ẏ children of God, which [i] were scattered.
53 Then from that day foorth they consulted together to put him to death.
54 [9] Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wildernesse, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.
55 ¶ And the Iewes Passeouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Passeouer, to purifie themselues.
56 Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselues as they stoode in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he commeth not to the feast?
57 Now both the high Priests and the Pharises had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

6 The last point of hard and yron like stubburnnesse is this, to proclame open warre against God, and yet ceaseth not to make a pretence both of godlinesse, and of the profite of the common wealth.

CHAP. XII.

a As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, 3 Marie anointeth his feete. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 10 The Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ commeth to Hierusalem, 18 The people meet him: 22 The Grecians desire to see him. 42 The chiefe rulers that beleeue in him, but for feare doe not confesse him; 44 hee exhorteth to faith.

Then ✠ Iesus, sixe dayes before the Passeouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.
2 There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him.
3 Then tooke Marie a pound of ointment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Iesus feete, and wiped his feete with her haire, and the house was filled with the sauour of the ointment.
4 Then sayd one of his disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot, Symons sonne, which should betray him:
5 [1] Why was not this ointment sold for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore?
6 Now he sayd this, not that he cared for the poore, but because he was a thiefe, and ✠ had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen.
7 [2] Then sayd Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.
8 For the poore alwayes yee haue with you, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

9 [3] Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.
10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also,
11 Because that for his sake many of the Iewes went away, and beleeued in Iesus.
12 ¶ ✠ On the morow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Hierusalem, 13 Tooke branches of palme trees, and went foorth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the king of Israel that commeth in the Name of the Lord.
14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and sate thereon, as it is written,
15 ✠ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King commeth sitting on an asses colt.
16 But his disciples vnderstoode not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glorified, then remembred they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.
17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witnesse that hee called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.
18 Therefore met him the people also, because they heard that he had done this miracle.
19 [4] And the Pharises said among themselues, Perceiue ye how ye preuaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.
20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them that [a] came vp to worship at the feast.
21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.
22 Philip came and told Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip told Iesus.
23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.
24 [5] Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except the wheat corne fall into the ground and [b] die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth foorth much fruit.

26 ✠ If any man serue me, let him followe me: for where I am, there shall my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.
27 [6] Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, saue me from this [c] houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.
28 Father, [d] glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.
29 Then sayd the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him.
30 [7] Iesus answered and sayd, This voyce came not because of me, but for your sakes.
31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

3 When the light of the Gospell sheweth it selfe, some are found to be curious, and others (which least ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few doe so reuerently receiue him as they ought: Notwithstanding Christ beginneth his spirituall kingdome in the mids of his enemies.

3 We haue to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominie.
g This verse and the next following, are a most plaine and euident testimonie of the diuinitie of Christ.
4 The externall glory shall flow by little and little from the head into the members. But in the meane time, we must take good heede that wee passe ouer the race of this life in brotherly loue.

CHAP. XIV.

1 He comforteth his disciples, 2, 7 declaring his diuinitie and the fruit of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 euen the holy Spirit, 26 whose office he setteth out. 27 He promiseth his peace.

LEt [1] not your heart be troubled: ye beleeue
in God, beleeue also in me.
2 In my Fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, I [a] would haue told you: I goe to [b] prepare a place for you.
3 [a] And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will [c] come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.
4 3 And whither I goe, ye know, and the way
ye know.
5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can we then know ẏ way?

1 He beleeueth in God that beleeueth in Christ, and there is no other way to confirme our mindes in greatest distresses.
a That is, if it were not so as I tell you, to wit, vnlesse there were place ynough not onely for me, but for you also, in my Fathers house, I would not thus deceiue you with a vaine hope, but I would haue tolde you so plainely.
b All this speech is by way of an allegorie, whereby the Lord comforteth his owne, declaring vnto them his departure into heauen, which is, not to reigne there alone, but to goe before, and prepare a place for them. a Christ went not away from vs: to the end to forsake vs, but rather that hee might at length take vs vp with him into heauen. c These wordes are to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels sayd to the disciples when they were astonished, What stand you gazing vp into heauen? This Iesus shall so come as ye haue seene him go vp, Act.1.11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day, when God shallbe all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption. 3 Christ onely is the way to true and euerlasting life, for he it is in whom the Father hath reuealed himselfe.

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am [d] that Way, and that Trueth, and that Life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me.
7 [e] If ye had knowen mee, yee should haue knowen my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue seene him.
8 Philip said vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.
9 Iesus said vnto him, I haue beene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowen mee, Philip?
hee that hath seene mee, hath seene my Father:
how then sayest thou, Shew vs thy Father?
10 4 Beleeuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the workes.
11 Beleeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in mee: at the least, beleeue me for the very workes sake.
12 5 Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that be-leeueth in me, the workes that I doe, he shall doe also, and [f] greater then these shall hee doe: for I goe vnto my Father.
13 ✠ And whatsoeuer yee aske in my Name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.
14 If yee shall aske any thing in my Name, I will doe it.
15 6 If ye loue me, keepe my commandements.
16 And I will pray the Father, and he shall giue you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for euer,
17 Euen the [g] Spirit of trueth, whom the [h] world cannot receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye knowe him: for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.
18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse: but I will come to you.
19 Yet a little while, and the world shall see me no more, but yee shall see me: because I liue, ye shall liue also.
20 At that day shall ye know that I am [i] in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.
21 He that hath my commandements, and keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and hee that lo-ueth me, shallbe loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and will [k] shew mine owne selfe to him.
22 7 Iudas said vnto him, (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shew thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?
23 Iesus answered, and said vnto him, If any man loue mee, he will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and he will come vnto him,
and will dwell with him.
24 He that loueth mee not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye heare, is not mine,
but the Fathers which sent me.
25 8 These things haue I spoken vnto you,
being present with you.
26 ✠ But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue told you.

d This saying sheweth vnto vs both the nature, the will and office of Christ.
e It is plaine by this place, that to know God, & to see God, is all one: Nowe whereas he said before, that no man sawe God at any time, that is to be understood thus, without Christ: or were it not through Christ, no man could euer see, nor saw God at any time: for as Chrysostome saith, the Sonne is a very short and easie setting foorth of the fathers nature vnto vs.
4 The maiestie of God sheweth it selfe most euidently, both in Christes doctrine and deedes.
5 The approouing of the vertue of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spred through the body of his whole Church.
f That is, not I onely doe them, but I can also giue other men power to doe greater.
✠ Chap.16.23. mat.7.7. mar.11.24. iames 1.5.
6 He loueth Christ aright, which obeyeth his commandements: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in body: yet doeth he comforth his with the present vertue of the holy Ghost, whom the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not.
g The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of trueth, of the effect which he worketh, because hee inspireth the trueth into vs, whereas otherwise he hath trueth in himselfe.
h Worldly men.
i The Sonne is in the Father after such sort, that he is of one selfesame substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples in a certaine respect as an ayder and helper of them.

k I will shew my selfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not bodily, but spiritually, yet so plaine as none can be more. 7 Wee must not aske why the Gospel is reuealed to some rather then to other, but we must rather take heede, that we embrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that we truely loue him, that is to say, that we giue our selues wholly to his obedience. 8 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the minds of the elect in their times and seasons, that which Christ once spake.

9 All true felicity commeth to vs by Christ alone
13 So farre is it, that we should be sory for the departing of Christ, from vs according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, feeing that all the blessing of the members dependeth vpon the glorifying of the head.
l This is spoken in that, that he is Mediatour, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whom request is made, is greater then hee that maketh the request. 11 Christ goeth to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as yeelding to the deuill, but obeying his Fathers decree. m As who would say, Satan will by and by set vpon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he find any such thing in me, as he thinketh he shall.

27 ⁹ Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you: not as the world giueth, giue I vnto you.
Let not your heart be troubled, nor feare.
28 ¹⁰ Ye haue heard how I said vnto you, I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verely reioyce, because I said, I go vnto the Father: for the Father [l] is greater then I.
29 And now haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleeue.
30 ¹¹ Hereafter will I not speake many things
vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth,
and hath [m] nought in mee, 31 But it is that the worlde may knowe that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches. 5, 6 hee declareth how the disciples may beare fruit. 12. 17 He commendeth mutuall loue. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 by his owne example.

1 We are of nature drie and fit for nothing but the fire: Therefore that we may liue and be fruitfull, we must first be graffed into Christ, as it were into a vine by the Fathers hand: and then be daily shred with continuall meditation of the word and the crosse; otherwise it shall not auaile any man at all to haue beene graffed, vnlesse he cleaue fast vnto the vine, and so draw iuice out of it.

2 He abideth in Christ, which resteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruit: And the Father will denie such an one nothing.
a As who would say, Herein shall my Father be glorified, and herein also shall you be my disciples, if you bring forth much fruit.
3 The loue of the Father towards the Sonne, and of the Sonne towards vs, and ours towardes God and our neighbour, are ioyned together with an vnseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweet and pleasant then it is. Now this loue sheweth it selfe by the effects: a most perfect example whereof, Christ himselfe exhibiteth vnto vs in both parts. b That is, in that loue, wherewith I loue you: which loue is ✲ Chap. 13, 34. 1. thess. 4. 9. 1. Iohn 3, 11. and 4, 11. 4 The doctrine of the Gospell (as it is vttered by Christes owne mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsell of God, which pertaineth to our saluation, and is committed vnto the Apostles.

I ¹ Am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.
2 ✠ Euery braunch that beareth not fruite in mee, hee taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruit, hee purgeth it, that it may bring foorth more fruit.
3 ✠ Now are ye cleane through the word, which I haue spoken vnto you.
4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch can not beare fruit of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.
5 I am that vine: ye are the braunches: he that abideth in mee, and I in him, the same bringeth foorth much fruit: for without me can ye doe nothing.
6 ∵ If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.
7 ✲ ² If ye abide in me, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye will, and it shall be done to you.
8 [a] Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruit, and be made my disciples.
9 ³ As the Father hath loued me, so haue I loued
you: [b] continue in that my loue.
10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, yee shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his loue.
11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.
12 ✲ This is my commandement, that ye loue
one another, as I haue loued you.
13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.
14 Yee are my friends, if ye doe whatsoeuer I command you.
15 ⁴ Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you.
16 ⁵ Ye [c] haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordained you, ✠ that ye goe & bring forth fruit, and that your fruit remaine, that whatsoeuer ye shall aske of the Father in my Name, hee may giue it you.
17 These things command I you, that ye loue
one another.
18 ⁶ If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.
19 If ye were of the worlde, the world would loue his owne: but because ye are not of the world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.
20 Remember the word that I said vnto you,
✠ The seruant is not greater then his master. ∵ If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my worde, they will also keepe yours.
21 ⁷ But ∵ all these things will they doe vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.
22 [d] If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloake for their sinne.
23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.
24 If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne:
but now haue they both seene, and haue hated both me, and my Father.
25 But it is that the worde might be fulfilled, that is written in their [e] Law, ✲ They hated mee
without a cause.
26 ⁸ But when that Comforter shall come,
✱ whom I will sende vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.
27 And ye shall witnesse also, because ye haue
beene with me from the beginning.

4 Christ is the author and preseruer of the ministerie of the Gospell, euen to the worlds end, but the ministers haue aboue all things need of prayer and brotherly loue.

d As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not haue stuck to haue sayd still before Gods iudgement seat, that they are religious, and void of sinne: but seeing I came to them, and they cleane refuse me, they can haue no cloake for their wickednesse. e Sometime by this word, Law, are meant the fiue bookes of Moses, but in this place, the whole Scripture: for the place alledged is in the Psalmes. ✲ Psal. 35, 19. 8 Against the rage of the wicked, we shall stand surely by the inward testimonie of the holy Ghost: But the holy Ghost speaketh no otherwise, then he spake by the mouth of the Apostles. ✱ Chap. 14, 26. luke 24, 49.

a The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholly depend vpon his spirituall power.

3 The Spirit of God worketh ſo mightily by the preaching of the word, that he conſtraineth the world will it, nill it, to confeſſe it owne vnrighteouſneſſe, and Chriſts righteouſneſſe and almightineſſe.
a He will reproue the world, that the worldlings ſhall be able to pretend no excuſe.
b Hereſpecteth the time that followed his aſcenſion, when as all gainſayers were manifeſtly reprooued through the powring out of the holy Ghoſt vpon the Church: So that the very enemies of Chriſt were reprooued of ſinne, in that they were conſtrained to confeſſe that they were deceiued, in that they beleeued not, and therefore they ſaid to Peter, Acts 2. Men and brethren, what ſhall we doe?
c Of Chriſt himſelfe: For when the world ſhall ſee, that I haue powred out the holy Ghoſt, they ſhall be conſtrained to confeſſe that I was iuſt, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.
d Of that authority and power, which I haue both in heauen and earth.
e That is, becauſe they ſhall then vnderſtand and know indeed, that I haue ouercome the deuil, and doe gouerne the world when all men ſhall ſee, that they ſet themſelues againſt you in vaine, for I will arme you with that heauenly power, whereby you may deſtroy euery high thing which is lifted vp againſt the knowledge of God, 2.Cor 10,12.
4 The doctrine of the Apoſtles proceeded from the holy Ghoſt, and is moſt perfite.

8 [3] And when he is come, hee will [a] reproue
the [b] world of ſinne, and of righteouſneſſe, and of iudgement.
9 Of ſinne, becauſe they beleeued not in me:
10 Of [c] righteouſneſſe, becauſe I goe to my Father, and ye ſhall ſee me no more.
11 Of [d] iudgement, [e] becauſe the prince of this world is iudged.
12 [4] I haue yet many things to ſay vnto you,
but ye cannot beare them now.
13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the ſpirit of trueth, he will lead you into all trueth: for he ther for you:

27 For the Father himſelfe loueth you, becauſe ye haue loued me, ✠ and haue beleeued that

29 [9] His diſciples ſaid vnto him, Loe, now ſpeakeſt thou plainely, and thou ſpeakeſt no parable.
30 Nowe knowe wee that thou knoweſt all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould aske thee. By this wee beleeue, that thou art come out from God.
31 Ieſus anſwered them, Doe you beleeue

32 ✠ [10] Behold, the houre commeth, and is alreadie come, that yee ſhall be ſcattered euery man

33 [11] Theſe things haue I ſpoken vnto you, that [h] in me ye might haue peace, in the world ye ſhall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest

13 And now come I to thee,and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my 14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them,because they are not of ẏ world,

6 Secondarily hee offreth to God the Father, all his, that is, how many soeuer shall beleeue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaueth vnto the Father receiuing from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue life from him, and at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enioy euerlasting glory. ✠ Chap.12.26. 7 He communicateth with his by litle & litle,the knowledge of the Father, which is most full in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloued of the Father, with the selfe same loue wherewith he loueth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christes power,whom Iudas betrayeth,6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas 22 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdome.

When 1 Iesus had spoken these things,hee went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke ✠ Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples, 2 And Iudas which betrayed him knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither
with his disciples,
3 ✠ 2 Iudas then, after he had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.
4 3 Then Iesus,knowing all things that should come vnto him, went foorth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?
5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Now Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.
6 Assoone then as he had said vnto them,I am he, they went away backwardes, and fell to the ground.
7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.
8 4 Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am
he: therefore if ye seeke me,let these go their way.
9 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake,✠ Of them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.
10 5 Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priests seruant,and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.
11 Then saide Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sworde into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?
12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus and bound him.
13 6 And led him away to ✠ Annas first (for hee was father in lawe to Caiaphas,which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)
14 ✠ And Caiaphas was hee,that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.
15 ¶ 7 ✠ Now Simon Peter followed Iesus,and another disciple, and that disciple was knowen of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest.
16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the high Priests, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.
17 Then said the maid that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.
18 And the seruants and officers stood there,
which had made a fire of coales: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues and Peter also stood among them,and warmed himselfe.
19 ¶ (8 The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples,and of his doctrine.
20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple,whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.
21 Why askest thou mee? aske them which heard mee what I saide vnto them: beholde,they know what I said.
22 When hee had spoken these things,one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?
23 Iesus answered him,If I haue euill spoken, beare witnesse of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?
24 ¶ *Now Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest)
25 ✠ 9 And Simon Peter stoode and warmed himselfe,and they said vnto him,Art not thou also of his disciples? He denyed it, and said, I am not.

28 ¶ ✣ 10 Then led they Iesus from a Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common hall, least they should be ✣ defiled, but that they might eate the Passeouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and sayd, What accusation bring ye against this man?

32 It was that the word of Iesus ᵛ might be fulfilled which he spake, c signifying what death he should die.

33 ✲ So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and sayd vnto him, Art thou the king of the Iewes?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, and the high Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me, What hast thou done?

36 ¹¹ Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause I am borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnesse vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth, heareth my voice.

THen ✣ Pilate tooke Iesus, and ¹ scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And said, Haile King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 ² Then Pilate went foorth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I find no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers sawe him, they cryed, saying, ª Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ 3 When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere.

10 Then sayd Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thencefoorth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cesars friend: for whosoeuer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cesar.

13 ¶ 4 When Pilate heard this worde, hee brought Iesus foorth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the pauement, and in Hebrew, ᵇ Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Passeouer, and about the sixt houre: and hee said vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate saide vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priests answered, We haue no King but Cesar.

16 5 Then deliuered hee him vnto them, to be crucified. ✣ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the midst.

19 ¶ 6 And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrewe, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then said the high Priestes of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am the King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ 7 Then the ✣ souldiours, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coate was without seame wouen from the top thorowout

24 ¶ Therefore they saide one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled which saith, ᵛ They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ 8 Then stoode by the crosse of Iesus his mother,

26 And when Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loued, he sayd vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy sonne.

27 Then sayd he to the disciple, Beholde thy mother: and from that houre, the disciple tooke her home vnto him.

28 ¶ [9] After, when Iesus knewe that all things were performed, that the ✣ Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a [c] vessell full of vineger, and they filled a sponge with vineger, and put it about an Hyssope stalke, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Iesus had receiued of the vineger, hee sayd, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the ghost.

31 [10] The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other, which was crucified with Iesus.

33 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 [11] But one of the souldiers with a speare [d] pearced his side, and foorthwith came there out blood and water.

39 And there came ✣ also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundreth pound.

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen cloathes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

41 And in the place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was [e] neuer man yet layd.

42 There then layd they Iesus, because of the Iewes Preparation day, for the sepulchre was neere.

Marie bringeth word that Christ is risen: 3 Peter and Iohn 4 runne to see it. 15 Iesus appeareth to Marie, 19 and to the disciples that were together in the house, 25 Thomas, before faithlesse, 29 now beleeueth.

NOw ✣ [1] the first day of the weeke came Marie Magdalene, earely when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and saw the stone taken away from the toombe.

2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, and sayd vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they haue laid him.

3 Peter therefore went foorth, and the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outranne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen cloathes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and saw the linnen cloathes lie,

7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his heade, not lying with the linnen cloathes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knewe not the Scripture, That he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away againe vnto their owne home.

11 ¶ ✣ But Marie stood [a] without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed her selfe into the sepulchre,

13 And they said vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She said vnto them, They haue taken away [c] my Lord, and I know not where they haue laid him.

14 [3] When shee had thus said, shee turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus saith vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She supposing that hee had beene the gardener, saide vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell mee where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus saith vnto her, Marie. She turned her selfe, and said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 [4] Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my [d] brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto [e] my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and to your God.

18 Marie Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ ✣ [5] The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the [f] doores were shut where the disciples were assembled for feare of the Iewes, came Iesus and stoode in the mids, and said to them, Peace be vnto you.

30 ¶ ✠ 9 And many other signes also did Ie-sus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this booke.
31 But these things are written that ye might beleeue, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing yee might haue life through his Name.

6 The publishing of the forgiuenesse of sinnes by faith in Christ, and the setting forth and denouncing the wrath of God in retaining the sinnes of the vnbeleeuers, is the summe of the preaching of the Gospel.

7 Christ draweth out of the vnbeliefe of Thomas, a certaine and sure testimonie of his resurrection.

8 True faith dependeth vpon the mouth of God, and not vpon fleshly eyes.

✠ Chap.21,25.

9 To beleeue in Christ the Sonne of God: and our onely Sauiour, is the end of the doctrine of the Gospel, and especially of the history of the resurrection.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his disciples as they were a fishing, 6,7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 He committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

After these things, 1 Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias:
and thus shewed he himselfe:
2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.
3 Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing.
They sayd vnto him, Wee also will goe with thee.
They went their way and entred into a shippe straightway, and that night caught they nothing.
4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on ẏ shore: neuerthelesse the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.
5 Iesus then sayd vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meat? They answered him, No.
6 Then he sayd vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.
7 Therefore sayde the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his a coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.
8 But the other disciples came by shippe, (for they were not farre from lande, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fishes.

1 In that, that Christ here is not onely present, but also eateth with his disciples, he giueth a most full assurance of his resurrection.

a It was a linnen garment, which could not let his swimming.

9 As soone then as they were come to lande, they sawe hote coales, and fish layed thereon, and bread.
10 Iesus sayde vnto them, Bring of the fishes,
which ye haue now caught.
11 Simon Peter stepped foorth and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.
12 Iesus sayde vnto them, Come, and dine.
And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.
13 Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue
them, and fish likewise.
14 This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.
15 ¶ 2 So when they had dined, Iesus sayde to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He said vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feed my lambes.
16 He sayd to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He sayd vnto him, Feed my sheepe.
17 He sayd vnto him b the third time, Simon
the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus said vnto him, Feed my sheepe.
18 3 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou c girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch foorth thine handes, and another shall d gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldest e not.
19 And this spake he signifying by what f death he should glorifie God. And when he had said this,
he said to him, Follow me.
20 4 Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whom IESVS loued, following, which had also ✠ leaned on his brest at supper, and had sayde, Lord, which is hee that betrayeth
thee?
21 When Peter therefore saw him, hee sayd to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?
22 Iesus sayd vnto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.
23 Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this disciple shoulde not die.
Yet Iesus said not to him, Hee shall not die: but if I will that hee tary till I come, what is it to thee?
24 5 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true.
25 ✠ Now there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written euery one, I suppose the worlde coulde not conteine the bookes that should be written,
Amen.

2 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple deniall: and therewithall is aduertised, that he is indeed a pastour, which sheweth his loue to Christ in feeding his sheep.

b It was meet that he that had denied him thrise, should confesse him thrise, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiuenesse of his so grieuous a sinne, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.

3 The violent death of Peter is foretolde.

c They that tooke farre iourneys, especially in the East countrey, and in those places where the people vsed long garments, had need to be girded and trussed vp.

d He meant that kinde of girding which is vsed toward captiues, when they are bound fast with cordes and chaines, as who would say, Now thou girdest thy selfe as thou thinkest best, to go wither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another shall binde thee with chaines, and cary thee whither thou wouldest not.

e Not that Peter suffered ought for the trueth of God against his will: for we read that he came with ioy and gladnes when he returned from the Councill where he was whipped: but because this will commeth not from the flesh, but from the gift of that Spirit which is giuen vs from aboue, therefore he sheweth there should be a certaine striuing & conflict or repugnancie, which also is in vs, in all our sufferances, as touching the flesh. f That is, that Peter should die by a violent death. 4 Wee must take heede, that whiles wee cast our eyes vpon other, wee neglect not that which is inioyned vs. ✠ Chap.13.23. 5 The historie of Christ is true and warily written: not for the curiositie of men, but for the saluation of the godly. ✠ Chap.20.30.

THE

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY APOSTLES, WRITTEN BY LVKE THE EVANGELIST.

CHAP. I.

1 Luke tieth this historie to his Gospell. 19 Christ being taken into heauen, 10 the Apostles 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 to returne, 14 and giue themselues to prayer, 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traitours place 26 Matthias is chosen.

I Haue made the ¹ former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began to ᵃ doe and teach.

2 Vntill the day that hee was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had giuen commaundements vnto the Apostles, whom hee had chosen:

3 ² To whom also hee presented himselfe aliue after that hee had suffered, by many ᵇ infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.

4 ✣ And when he had ᶜ gathered them together, he commanded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, ✣ which said he, ye haue heard of me.

5 ∵ For Iohn indeed baptized with water, but ye shalbe baptized ᵈ with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 ³ When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time ᵉ restore the kingdome to Israel?

7 And he sayd vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the ᶠ seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

8 ✻ But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shalbe witnesses vnto mee both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vttermost part of the earth.

9 ✯ ⁴ And when hee had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken vp: for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly toward heauen, as he went, behold, two men stoode by them in white apparell, 11 Which also sayd, Yee men of Galile, why stand ye gasing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp ᵍ from you into heauen, shall so come, as ye haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 ¶ Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath ʰ dayes iourney.

13 ⁵ And when they were ⁱ come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, were aboade both Peter and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, & Matthewe, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother.

14 These all ᵏ continued with ˡ one accord in ᵐ prayer and supplication with the ⁿ women, and Marie the mother of Iesus, and with his ᵒ brethren.

15 ¶ ⁶ And in those dayes Peter stoode vp in the middes of the disciples, and sayd, (now the number of ᵖ names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie,)

16 ⁷ Yee men and brethren, this scripture must needes haue beene fulfilled, which the ✣ holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was ✣ guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For hee was numbred with vs, and had obteined fellowship in this ministration.

18 He therefore hath ᑫ purchased a fielde with the reward of iniquity: and when ∵ he had ʳ throwen downe himselfe headlong, he brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, ✻ Let his habitation be voyd, and let no man dwel therein: ✯ also, Let another take his ˢ charge.

21 ⁸ Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time, that the Lord Iesus was ᵗ conuersant among vs,

22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that he was taken vp ᵘ from vs, must one of them be made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

23 ⁹ And they ˣ presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That he may take the ʸ roume of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath ᶻ gone astray, to go to his owne place.

26 Then they gaue forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

1 A passing ouer from the historie of the Gospel, that is, from the historie of the sayings and doings of Christ, vnto the actes of the Apostles.

a The actes of Iesus are the miracles and doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfit holinesse and example of his doctrine.

2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heauen after his resurrection: because he would throughly prooue his resurrection: and with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

b He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessarie: now in that that Christ spake, and walked, & ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signes and tokens that he truely rose againe.

c They were disparsed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.

✣ Iohn 14.26.

∵ Matth. 3,11. marke 1,8. luke 3,16. chap 2,2. and 11,16. and 19,4.

d Either of the Father, or of me: so that either the Father or Christ is set here against Iohn, as the holy Ghost is against the water, as things answerable the one to the other. 3 We must fight before wee triumph: and wee ought not curiously to search after those things, which God hath not reuealed. e To the olde and ancient state. f That is, the fitte occasions that serue to doing of matters which the Lord hath appointed to bring things to passe in. ✻ Chap 2,2. ✯ Luke 24 51. 4 After that Christ had promised the full vertue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he would gouerne his Church, although hee should be absent in body, he tooke vp his body from vs into the heauenly tabernacles, there to continue vntill the latter day of iudgement, as the Angels witnesse. g That is, out of your sight. h Aboue two miles. 5 Ecclesiasticall assemblies to heare the worde, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in priuate houses by the Apostles. i They went into the house, which the Church hath chosen at that time to be a receipt for the whole Assemblie.

k The Greeke word signified an inuincible constancy, and steadinesse.

l It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God, which are made with agreeing mindes and willes.

m The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be deliuered from present dangers wherewith they were beset.

n For it was behoueable to haue the wiues confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands.

o With his kinsfolkes.

6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret reuelation of the holy Ghost, or by expresse iudgement of the congregation.

p Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names.

7 Peter preuenteth the offence that might betaken of the falling away of Iudas the betrayer, shewing that all things which came vnto him, were foretolde by God.

✣ Psalm. 41,9.

✣ Iohn 13,17.

q Luke considered not Iudas his purpose, but that that followed of it, and so wee vse to say, that a man hath procured himselfe harme not that his will and purpose was so, but in respect of that which followed. ∵ Math 27.5. r The Greeke wordes signifie thus much, that Iudas fell downe flat, and was rent in sunder in the middes, with a marueilous huge noyse. ✻ Psalm 69,26. ✯ Psalm 109.7. s His office and ministerie. Dauid wrote these words against Doeg the Kings heardman: And these wordes, Shepheard, Sheepe and Flocke, are put ouer to the Church office and ministerie, so that the Church and the offices thereof are called by these names. 8 The Apostles deliberate vpon nothing, but first they consult and take aduisement by Gods word: and againe they doe nothing that concerneth and is behoueable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation priuie vnto it. t Word for word, went in and out, which kinde of speach betokeneth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exercising of a publique and painfull office, when they speake of such as are in any publique office, Deuter. 31.2. 1. Chronic. 27,1. u From our company. 9 Apostles must be chosen immediatly from God, and therefore after prayers, Matthias is chosen by lotte, which is as it were, GODS owne voyce. x Openly, and by the voyces of all the whole company. y That he may be fellow and partaker of this ministerie. z Departed from, or fallen from. And it is a Metaphore taken from the way: For callings are signified by the name of wayes, with the Hebrewes.

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost, 8 speake with diuers tongues. 12 They are thought to be drunke, 15 but Peter disprooueth that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messias: 37 And seeing the hearers astonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

AND [1] when the day of Pentecost was [a] come,
they were [b] all with one accord in one place.
2 And suddenly there came a sound from heauen, as of a rushing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sate.
3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues,
like fire, and it sate vpon eache of them,
4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speake with [c] other tongues, as the [d] Spirit gaue them vtterance.
5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem
Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.
6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together and were astonied, because that e-uery man heard them speake his owne language.
7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, saying among themselues, Behold, are not all these which speake, of Galile?
8 [e] How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?
9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,
10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene,
and strangers of Rome, & [f] Iewes, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: we heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull workes of God.
12 [2] They were all then amased, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?
13 And others [g] mocked, and sayd, They are full of new wine.
14 ¶ But Peter standing with the eleuen, [h] lift vp his voyce, and said vnto them, Yee men of Iu-dea, and ye all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my words.
15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the [i] third houre of the day.
16 But this is that, which was spoken by the [k] Prophet ✠ Ioel,
17 [3] And it shalbe in the last dayes, saith God,
I will powre out of my Spirit vpon [l] all [m] flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde
men shall dreame dreames.
18 And on my seruants, and on mine handmaides I will powre out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophecie.
19 And I will shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire,
and the vapour of smoke.
20 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.
21 [4] And it shalbe, that whosoeuer shall [n] call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued.
22 [5] Yee men of Israel, heare these wordes, IESVS of Nazareth, a man [o] approoued of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you,
as ye your selues also know:
23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the deter-minate counsell, and [p] foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked [q] hands, you haue crucified and [r] slaine.
24 [6] Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed
the [s] sorrowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.
25 For Dauid saith concerning him, ✠ I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.
26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not [t] leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.
28 Thou hast [u] shewed me the wayes of life,
and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.
29 Men and brethren, I may boldely speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, ✠ that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.
30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had ⁂ [x] sworne with an oathe to him, that of the fruit of his loines he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne,
31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that ✠ his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.
32 [7] This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.
33 Since then that hee by the [y] right hand of God hath beene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed foorth this which ye now see and heare.
34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but hee saith, ✠ The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand,
35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy footestoole.
36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath [z] made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom yee haue crucified.

1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemne feast day in one place, that it might euidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double signe from heauen authorised, and anointed with all the most excellent giftes of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinarie and necessary gift of tongues.

a Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begunne, as Luke 1,21. For the Hebrewes say, that a day, or a yeere is fulfilled or ended, when the former dayes or yeeres are ended, and the other begunne, Iere. 25.12. And it shall come to passe, that when seuentie yeeres are fulfilled, I will visite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people after the seuentieth yeere was ended, but in the seuentieth yeere. Now the day of Pentecost was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passeouer.

b The twelue Apostles, which were to be the Patriarkes as it were of the Church.

c He calleth them other tongues, which were not the same which the Apostles vsed commonly, and Marke calleth them new tongues.

d Hereby wee vnderstand that the Apostles vsed not now one tongue, and then another by haphazard and at all aduenture, or as fantasticall men vse to doe, but with good consideration of their hearers: and to be short, that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost gouerned their tongues. e Not that they spake with one voyce, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for els the miracle had rather beene in the hearers, whereas now it is in the speakers. Nazian. in his oration of Withsunday. f By Iewes, hee meaneth them that were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profession of religion, though they were borne in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles borne, and embraced the Iewish religion. 2 Gods worde pierceth some so, that it driueth them to seeke out the trueth, and it doeth so choke other, that it forceth them to be witnesse of their owne impudencie. g The worde which he vseth here, signifieth such a kinde of mocking which is reproachfull and contumelious: And by this reproachfull mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickednes of man dareth not speake euill of. h Peter his boldnesse is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seene, euen straight after the beginning. i After the sunne rising, which may be about seuen or eight of the clocke with vs. k There is nothing that can dissolue questions and doubts, but testimonies taken out of the Prophets: for mens reasons may be ouerturned, but Gods voyce can not be ouerturned. ✠ Ioel 2,28. esai. 44.3. 3 Peter setting the trueth of God against the false accusations of men, sheweth in himselfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Ioel spake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghost in the latter dayes: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted destruction, which doe contemne it. l All without exception, both vpon the Iewes and Gentiles. m That is, men.

4 The chiefest vse of all the giftes of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to saluation by faith.

n This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and crauing for helpe at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods prouidence crucified of wicked men.

o Who is by those workes which God wrought by him, so manifestly approoued and allowed of, that no man can gainesay him.

p Gods euerlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of euill: for God in his euerlasting & vnchangeable counsell, appointed the wicked acte of Iudas to an excellent ende: and God doeth that well, which the instruments doe ill.

q Gods counsell doeth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.

r The fact is sayd to be theirs, by whose counsell and egging forward it is done

6 Christ (as Dauid foretolde) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue voide of all corruption.

s The death that was full of sorowe both of body and minde: therefore when death appeared conquerour and victorer ouer those sorowes, Christ is rightly sayd to haue ouercome those sorowes of death, when as being dead, he ouercame death, to liue for euer with his Father.

✠ Psal. 16.9.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and ſayd vnto Peter and the other Apoſtles, Men and brethren, what ſhall we doe?
38 ⁸ Then Peter ſayd vnto them, Amend your liues, and be baptized euery one of you in the Name of Ieſus Chriſt for the remiſſion of ſinnes:
and ye ſhall receiue the gift of the holy Ghoſt.
39 For the ᵃ promiſe is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are afarre off, euen
as many as the Lord our God ſhall call.
40 ⁹ And with many other words he beſought and exhorted them, ſaying, Saue your ſelues from this froward generation.
41 ¹⁰ Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized, and the ſame day there were added to the Church about three thouſand ſoules.
42 ¹¹ And they continued in the Apoſtles doctrine, and ᵇ fellowſhip, and ᶜ breaking of bread, and prayers.
43 ¶ ¹² And feare came vpon euery ſoule: and many wonders & ſignes were done by ẏ Apoſtles.
44 ¹³ And all that beleeued, were in one place,
and had all things common.
45 And they ſold their poſſeſſions, and goods,
and parted them to all men, as euery one had need.
46 ¹⁴ And they continued dayly with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meat together with gladneſſe and ſingleneſſe of heart.
47 Praiſing God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, ſuch as ſhould be ſaued.

8 Repentance and remiſſion of ſinnes in Chriſt, are two principles of the Goſpel, and therefore of our ſaluation, and they are obtained by the promiſes apprehended by faith, and are ratified in vs by Baptiſme, wherewith is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghoſt.
a The word that is vſed here, giueth vs to vnderſtand that it was a free gift.
9 Hee is truely ioyned to the Church which ſeparateth himſelfe from the wicked.
10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghoſt: but ſuch as are of age, are not baptized before they make confeſſion of their faith.
11 The markes of the true Church of the doctrine of the Apoſtles, the duties of charitie, the pure and ſimple adminiſtration of the Sacraments, and true inuocation vſed of all the faithfull.
b Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charitie, as is ſhewed afterward. c The Iewes vſed thin loaues, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them: So by breaking of bread, they vnderſtood that liuing together and the banquets which they vſed to keepe. And when they kept their loue feaſtes, they vſed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which euen in theſe dayes began to be corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1. Cor 11. 12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of ſtrangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue ſome refreſhing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the vſe, according as neceſſitie requireth. 14 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not onely to the hearing of the word, but alſo to meat.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter goeth into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to ſee the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the myſterie of our ſaluation through Chriſt, 14 accuſing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

NOw ¹ Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.
2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe was carried, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.
3 Who ſeeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into ẏ Temple, deſiring to receiue an almes.
4 And Peter earneſtly beholding him with Iohn, ſayd, Looke on vs.
5 And he ᵃ gaue heede vnto them, truſting to receiue ſome thing of them.
6 Then ſaid Peter, Siluer & gold haue I none, but ſuch as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Ieſus Chriſt of Nazareth, riſe vp and walke.
7 And hee tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones
receiued ſtrength.
8 And he leaped vp, ſtoode, and walked, and entred with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praiſing God.
9 And all the people ſaw him walke, and praiſing God.
10 And they knew him, that it was he which ſate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amaſed, and ſore aſtonied
at that, which was come vnto him.
11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed,
ᵇ held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne amaſed
vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.
12 ² So when Peter ſawe it, hee anſwered vnto
the people, Ye men of Iſrael, why marueile ye at this? or why looke ye ſo ſtedfaſtly on vs, as though by our own power or godlineſſe, we had made this man goe?
13 The God of Abraham, and Iſaac, and Iacob, the ✠ God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Ieſus, whom ye betraied, and denied in the preſence

this perfite health of his whole body in the pre-ſence of you all.

Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, he hath thus fulfilled.
19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your ſinnes may be put away, when the time of refreſhing ſhall come from the preſence of the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

1 Peter and Iohn 3 are taken and brought before the councill, 7 and 19 They ſpeake boldly in Chriſts cauſe. 25 The diſciples pray vnto God. 32 Many ſell their poſſeſſions, 36 Of whom Barnabas is one.

ANd ¹ as they ſpake vnto the people, the Prieſtes and the ᵃ Captaine of the Temple,

1 None are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the Church, then ſuch as profeſſe themſelues to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more conſtantly the faithfull ſeruants of God do continue.
a The Iewes had certaine gariſons for the garde and ſafetie of the Temple and holy things, Mat. 16. 61. Theſe gariſons had a Captaine, ſuch as Eleazarus Ananias the hie Prieſtes ſonne was, in the time of the warre that was in Iudea being a very impudent and proud yong man, Ioſeph. lib 2. of the taking of Iudea.

and the Sadduces came vpon them,

2 Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they layd hands on them, and put them in hold, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, beleeued, and the [b] number of the men was about fiue thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morrow, that their [c] rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the [d] kinred of the hie Priest.

7 [2] And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what [e] Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, sayd vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 [3] For as much as we this day are examined, of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 [4] Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.

11 ✣ This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is [f] giuen none other [g] Name [h] vnder heauen, whereby we must be saued.

13 [5] Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned men and without [i] knowledge, they marueiled, & knew them, that they had beene wt Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commaunded them to goe aside out of the Councill, and [k] conferred among themselues,

16 [6] Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus.

19 [7] But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and sayd, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 [8] So they threatned them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 [9] Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had sayd vnto them.

24 [10] And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them,

25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast sayd, ✣ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy Sonne Iesus, whom thou haddest anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles & the [l] people of Israel gathered themselues together,

28 To [m] do whatsoeuer [n] thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word,

30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus.

31 [11] And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 [12] And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of [o] one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things ✣ common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.

34 [13] Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And layd it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, sold it, and brought the money, and layd it downe at the Apostles feete.

CHAP. V.

1 Ananias for his deceit in keeping backe part of the price, 5 falleth downe dead, 10 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through diuers the Apostles miracles 14 the faith is increased. 18 The Apostles that were imprison, 19 are deliuered by an Angel, 26 and being before the Synode of the Priests, 36 through Gamaliels counsell they are kept aliue, 40 and beaten: 41 They glorifie God.

BVt [1] a certaine man named Ananias, with Saphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And [a] kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and laid it downe at the Apostles feet.

3 Then sayd Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan [b] filled

9 The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation. 10 We ought neither to be afraid of the threatnings of our enemies, neither yet foolishly contemne their rage and madnesse against vs, but we haue to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking vpon the power and good will of God (both which we doe manifestly behold in Christ) and so flee to the ayd and succour of our Father. ✣ Psalme 2. 1. l Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plurall number is here vsed, not so much for the twelue tribes, euery one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselues together, as Iudg. 5,14. m The wicked execute Gods counsell, though they thinke nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault. n Thou haddest determined of thine absolute authoritie and power. 11 God witnesseth to his Church by a visible signe, that it is he that will establish it by shaking the powers both of heauen and earth. 12 An example of the true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charitie one towards another: And the Pastours diliuer true doctrine both sincerely, and constantly. o They agree both in counsell, will, and all purposes. ✣ Chap. 2. 44. 13 True charitie helpeth the necessitie of the poore with his owne losse: but so, that all things be done well and orderly.

1 Luke sheweth by contrary examples, how great a sinne hypocrisie is, especially in them which vnder a false pretence and cloake of zeale, would seeme to shine and be chiefe in the Church. a Craftily tooke away, b filled thine heart, that thou shouldest c lye vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appetteined it not vnto thee? and after it was sold, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast d conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell me, sold ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said vnto her, Why haue yee agreed together, to e tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the f doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then she fell downe straightway at his feet, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 a And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Salomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioyne himselfe to them: neuertheless, the people g magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more.)

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadow of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ 3 Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the h sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation,

18 And laid handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 4 But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doores, and brought them foorth, and said,

20 5 Goe your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the i wordes of this life.

21 6 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainely we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when wee had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priests and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would growe.

25 7 Then came one and shewed them, saying, Behold, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 8 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, least they should haue bene stoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them,

28 9 Saying, Did not we straightly cōmand you, that ye should not teach in this name? and behold, ye haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would k bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 10 Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 11 The ✣ God of our fathers hath raised vp Iesus whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiuenesse of sinnes.

32 12 And we are his witnesses concerning these things which wee say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they l brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 13 Then stood there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Law, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles foorth a litle space,

35 And said vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intend to doe touching these men.

36 14 For before these times, rose vp Theudas m boasting himselfe, to whom resorted a number of men, about foure hundreth, who was slaine: and they all which obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say vnto you, n Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsell, or this worke be of o men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, least ye be found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 15 So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And dayly in the p Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

b Fully possessed. c For when they had appointed that farme or possession for the Church, they stucke not at it to keepe away a part of the price, as though they had had to doe with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God. d Hereby is declared an aduised and purposed deceit, and the fault of the man in admitting the deuils suggestions. e Looke how oft men do things with an euill conscience, so oft they pronounce sentence against themselues, and as much as in them lieth, prouoke God to anger, as of set purpose, minding to trie whether he be iust and almightie or no. f Are at hand. a The Lord by his marueilous vertue brideleth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some hee keepeth in his awe and feare: and other some he allureth vnto him. g Highly praysed them. 3 The more that the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Satan, and therefore they proceede from threatnings, to prisoning. h The word which is vsed here, is Heresie, which signifieth a choyse, and so is taken for a right forme of learning, or faction, or studie and course of life, which the Latines call a sect: at the first this word was indifferently vsed, but at length, it came to be taken onely in euill part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth astray from sound and wholesome doctrine after such sort, that he setteth light by the iudgement of God and his Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church 4 Angels are made seruants of the seruants of God. 5 God doeth therefore deliuer his, that they may more stoutly prouoke his enemies. i Wordes, whereby the way vnto life is shewed. 6 God mocketh his enemies attempts from aboue.

7 The more openly that Christes vertue sheweth it selfe, the more increaseth the madnes of his enemies which conspire against him. 8 Tyrants which feare not God, are constrained to feare his seruants. 9 It is the propertie of tyrants to set out their owne commandements as right and reason, be they neuer so wicked. k Make vs guiltie of murdering, that man whom yet they will not vouchsafe to name. 10 We ought to obey no man, but so farre foorth as obeying him, we may obey God. 11 Christ is appointed and indeede declared Prince and preseruer of his Church in despite of his enemies. ✣ Chap. 3. 13. 12 It is not sufficient for vs that there is a right end, but we must also according to our vocation goe on forward till we come vnto it. l This betokneth that they were in a most vehement rage, and maruelously disquieted in minde, for it is a borowed kinde of speech taken from them which are harrishly cut in sunder with a sawe. 13 Christ findeth defenders of his cause euen in the very route of his enemies, so oft as he thinketh it needefull. 14 In matters of religion we must take good heede that we attempt nothing vnder a colour of zeale, beside our vocation. m To be of some fame. n He disswadeth his fellowes from murdering the Apostles, neither doeth he thinke it good to referre the matter to the Romane Magistrate, for the Iewes could abide nothing worse, then to haue the tyrannie of the Romanes confirmed. o If it be counterfeit and vnaduised. 15 The Apostles accustomed to suffer and beare wordes, are at length iuured to beare stripes yet so, that by that meanes they become stronger. p Both publikely and priuately.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Apoſtles 3 appoynt the office of Deaconſhip ſeuen choſen men: 8 Of whom Steuen full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 & accuſed as a tranſgreſſour of Moſes Law.

AND [1] in thoſe dayes, as the number of the diſciples grew, there aroſe a murmuring of the [a] Grecians towardes the Hebrewes, becauſe their widowes were neglected in the [b] dayly miniſtring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the diſciples together, and ſaide, It is not [c] meete that we ſhould leaue the word of God to ſerue the [d] tables.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you ſeuen men of honeſt report, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and of wiſedome, which we may appoynt to this buſineſſe.

4 And wee will giue our ſelues continually to prayer, and to the miniſtration of the word.

5 And the ſaying pleaſed the whole multitude: and they choſe Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghoſt, and ✠ Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proſelyte of Antiochia,

6 [4] Which they ſet before the Apoſtles: and they prayed, and [e] layed their hands on them.

7 [5] And the worde of God increaſed, and the number of the diſciples was multiplied, in Hieruſalem greatly, and a great company of the Prieſts were obedient to the [f] faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen full of faith & [g] power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there aroſe certaine of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Aſia, and diſputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to reſiſt the wiſedome, and the Spirit by the which he ſpake.

11 Then they ſuborned men, which ſayd, We haue heard him ſpeake blaſphemous words againſt Moſes, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill.

13 [10] And ſet foorth falſe witneſſes, which ſaid, This man ceaſeth not to ſpeake blaſphemous words againſt this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him ſay, that this Ieſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this place, and ſhal change the ordinances which Moſes gaue vs.

15 And as all that ſate in the Councill looked ſtedfaſtly on him, they [i] ſaw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

1 When Satan hath aſſailed the Church without, and that to ſmall purpoſe and in vaine, he aſſaileth it within, with ciuill diſſention and ſtrife betwixt themſelues: But the Apoſtles take occaſion thereby to ſet order in the Church.
a Of them partes which of Grecians became religious Iewes.
b In the beſtowing of almes according to their neceſſitie.
2 The office of preaching the word, and diſpenſing the goods of the Church are different one from another, and not raſhly to be ioyned together, as the Apoſtles doe here inſtitute: And the Apoſtles doe not chuſe ſo much as the Deacons without the conſent of the Church.
c It is ſuch a matter, as we may in no wiſe accept of it.

4 The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were conſecrate to the Lord, ſuch as were lawfully elected.
e This ceremonie of laying on of handes came from the Iewes, who vſed this order both in publike affaires, and offering of ſacrifices, and alſo in priuate prayers and bleſſings, as appeareth Gene. 48. and the Church obſerued this ceremonie, 1. Tim. 5, 22. actes 8 17 but here is no mention made either of creame, or ſhauing, or raſing, or croſſing, &c. 5 An happie end of temptation. f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Goſpell which engendreth faith. 6 God exerciſeth his Church firſt with euill wordes and ſlaunders, then with impriſonments, afterward with ſcourgings, and by theſe meanes prepareth it in ſuch ſort, that at length hee cauſeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloodſhead and death, and that with good ſucceſſe. g Excellent and ſingular giftes 7 Schooles and Vniuerſities were of olde time addicted to falſe paſtours, and were the inſtruments of Satan to blowe abroad and defend falſe doctrines. h Of the company & Colledge as it were 8 Falſe teachers, becauſe they will not be ouercome, flee from diſputations to manifeſt and open ſlaundering and falſe accuſations. 9 The firſt bloody perſecution of the Church of Chriſt beganne and ſprang from a Councill of Prieſts by the ſuggeſtion of the Vniuerſitie doctours. 10 An example of cauillers or falſe accuſers, which gather falſe concluſions of things that are well vttered and ſpoken. i Hereby it appeareth that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and ſetled minde, a good conſcience, and ſure perſwaſion that his cauſe was iuſt: for ſeeing he was to ſpeake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearced and amaſed.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cauſe, ſheweth that God choſe the Fathers, 20 before Moſes was borne, 44 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heauenly Paterne. 54 The Iewes gnaſhing their teeth, 59 ſtone him.

THEN [1] ſayd the chiefe Prieſt, Are theſe things ſo?

2 [2] And he ſaid, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken. ✠ That God of [a] glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in [b] Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And ſaid vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kinred, and come into the land which I ſhall ſhew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead: God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the [c] bredth of a foote: yet he [d] promiſed that he would giue it to him for a poſſeſſion, and to his ſeede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God ſpake thus, that his ✠ ſeede ſhould be a ſoiourner in a ſtrange land: and that they ſhould keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill [e] foure hundreth yeeres.

7 But the nation to whom they ſhallbe in bondage, will I iudge, ſaith God: and after that, they ſhall come forth and ſerue me in this place.

8 ✠ He gaue him alſo the couenant of circumciſion: and ſo Abraham begate ✠ Iſaac, and circumciſed him the eight day: and Iſaac begate ✠ Iacob, and Iacob the twelue * Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes mooued with enuie, ſold ✠ Ioſeph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him, 11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no ſuſtenance.

15 So ✠ Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers,

16 And were [h] remooued into Sychem, and were put in the ſepulchre, that Abraham had bought ✠ for money of the ſonnes of Emor, ſonne of Sychem.

CHAP. VIII.

The godly make lamentation for Steuen 3 Saul maketh hauocke of the Church. 5 Philip preacheth Christ at Samaria. 9 Simon Magus 18 his couetousnesse reproued. 26 Philip 27 commeth to the Ethiopian Eunuch, 38 and baptizeth him.

AND [1] Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, & they were all scattered abroad thorow the regions of Iudea and Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 [a] Then certaine men fearing God, [a] caried Steuen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 [3] But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ [4] Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loude voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that citie.

9 [5] And there was before in the citie, a certaine man called Simon, which vsed [b] witchcraft, and [c] bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.

10 To whom they gaue heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time hee had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But assoone as they beleeued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 [6] Then Simon himselfe beleeued also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondred, when he saw the signes and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ [7] Now when the Apostles, which were at Ierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn.

15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receiue the holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet he was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)

17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.

18 [8] And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was giuen, he offred them money,

20 [9] Then said Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this [e] businesse: for thine heart is not [f] right in the sight of God.

22 [10] Repent therefore of this thy wickednes, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.

23 For I see that thou art in the [g] gall of bitternesse, and in the [h] bond of iniquitie.

24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken come vpon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritanes.

26 [11] Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe toward the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and beholde, a certaine Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopians [i] chiefe Gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship.

28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, hee read Esaias the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said vnto Philip, Goe neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.

30 And Philip ranne thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and sayd, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?

31 And hee sayd, How can I, except I had [k] a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him.

32 [12] Nowe the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, ✢ He was led as a sheepe to the slaughter: and like a lambe dumbe before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.

33 In his [l] humilitie his iudgement hath beene exalted: but who shall declare his [m] generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuch sayd, See, here is water, what doeth let me to be baptized?

37 [13] And Philip sayd vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and sayd, [n] I beleeue that that Iesus Christ is that Sonne of God.

38 Then hee commanded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 And assoone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

10 ¶And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And hee said, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and go into the streete which is called Streight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of [f] Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth,

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euill he hath done to thy Saints at Hierusalem.

14 Moreouer here hath authoritie of the hie Priests, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a [g] chosen vessell vnto mee, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will [h] shew him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into [i] that house, and put his handes on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent mee (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had beene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized,

19 And receiued meate, and was strengthened. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 [2] And straightway hee preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God.

21 So that all that heard him were amased, and said, Is not this hee, that made haucke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, & came hither for that intent, that he should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 [3] But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, [k] confirming that this was that Christ.

23 [4] And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together, to kill him.

24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: now they ✠ watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 [5] Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 [6] And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, hee assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken vnto him, and how hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 [7] And hee was conuersant [l] with them at Hierusalem.

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the [m] Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 [8] But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him foorth to Tarsus.

31 [9] Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were [n] edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 [10] And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 Then said Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at [o] Lydda and Saron, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 [11] There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) shee was full of good workes and almes which she did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius 4 at the Angels commandement, 5 sendeth for Peter: 11 Who alsoby a vision 15.20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles. 34 He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his houshold: 45 Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

1 FVrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

2 [a] A deuout man, and one that feared God with [b] all his houshold, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, [c] What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come vp into [e] remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter:

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: hee shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morow as they went on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some thing readie, he fell into a [f] trance.

11 And he sawe heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had beene a great sheete, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe of the earth.

12 Wherein were [h] all maner of [i] foure footed beasties of the earth, and wilde beasties and [k] creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 [a] But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, [l] polluted thou not.

16 This was so done thrise: and the vessell was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which hee had seene, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had enquired for Simons house, and stoode at the gate,

18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit saide vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee, 20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause whereefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went foorth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Cesarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen, and speciall friends.

25 3 And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Yee know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Foure dayes agoe, about [m] this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and beholde, a man stood before me in bright clothing,

31 4 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 5 Sende therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tannar by the Sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediately, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 6 Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a trueth I perceiue, that [n] God is no accepter of persons,

35 But

1 Peter confirmeth the first fruits of the Gentiles to God by the meane of two miracles.

a So that he worshipped one God, and was no idolater, neither could he be voide of faith in Christ, because he was a deuout man: but as yet he knew not that he was come.

b This is a great commendation of the man, to say he laboured to haue all his houshold and familiar friends and acquaintance to be religious and godly.

c What wilt thou with me, Lord? for he seeketh himselfe to heare.

d This is a borowed kind of speech, which the Hebrews vse very much, taken from sacrifices, and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and sauour of them goeth vp into Gods nostrels: so do our prayers as a sweete smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.

e That is, in so much that they will not suffer God as it were to forget thee: for so doeth the Scriptures vse oftentimes to prattle with vs as nurses doe with little children, when they frame their tongues to our tongue tyed, but talketh with God, and is instructed in his mysteries, yet his minde was farre otherwise then it was wont to be, but shortly returned to the olde bent.

f So it is termed to be a foure square sheete.

g Here is this word (All) which is general, plainely put for an vndistinct and vncertaine, that is to say, for some of all sorts, not for all of euery sort.

h That is such as were meete for mans vse.

2 Religious adoration or worship agreeth onely to God: but ciuill worship is giuen to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

m He meaneth not the self same houre, but the like, that is about nine of the clock the other day, as it was then none when he spake to Peter.

4 Cornelius saith, he weeth foorth it selfe by prayer and charitie.

5 As saith commeth by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth vp by the same.

Iudea, ✠ beginning in Galile, after the Baptisme which Iohn preached:
38 To wit, how God q anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.
39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.
40 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:
41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses r chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eat and drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.
42 And hee commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.
43 To him also giue all the ✠ Prophets witnes, that through his Name all that beleeue in him, shall receiue remission of sinnes.
44 8 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.
45 So they of the circumcision, which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.
46 For they heard them speake with tongues,
and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 9 Can any man forbidde water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?
48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine dayes.

o By the feare of God, the Hebrewes vnderstand the whole seruice of God: whereby we perceiue that Cornelius was not void of faith, no more then they were which liued before Christs time: and therefore they deale foolishly, which build preparatiue workes and free wil vpon this place.

7 The summe of the Gospell (which shall be made manifest at the latter day when Christ himselfe shall sit as iudge both of the quicke and dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mightie power of God, (which was by all meanes shewed) and at length crucified to reconcile vs to God, did rise againe the third day, that whosoeuer beleeueth in him should be saued through the remission of sinnes.

CHAP. XI.

Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, 5 defendeth himselfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are first called Christians: 28 and there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

NOw 1 the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard that the Gentiles had also re-ceiued the word of God.
2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against
him,
3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumci-sed, and hast eaten with them.
4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing
in order to them, saying,
5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I sawe this vision, A certaine vessell com-ming downe as it had beene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

1 Peter being without cause reprehended of the vnskilfull and ignorant, doth not obiect that hee ought not to be iudged of any, but openly giueth an account of his doing.

6 Towarde the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, & saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things,
and foules of the heauen.
7 Also I heard a voice, saying vnto me, Arise,
Peter: slay and eate.
8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.
9 But the voice answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.
10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.
11 Then beholde, immediatly there were three men alreadie come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.
12 And the Spirit said vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer, these sixe brethren came with me, and wee entred into the mans house.
13 And he shewed vs, how he had seene an Angell in his house, which stood and said to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.
14 He shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and thine house shall be saued.
15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, ✠ euen as vpon vs at the beginning.
16 Then I remembred the word of the Lord,
how hee said, ✠ Iohn baptized with water, but yee
shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost.
17 For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when wee beleeued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?
18 a When they heard these things, they helde their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles graunted repentance vnto life:
19 ¶ 3 And they which were ∵ scattered abroad
because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice, and Cyprus, and a Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.
20 4 Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.
21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeued and turned vnto
the Lord.
22 5 Then tidings of those things came vnto
the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent foorth Barnabas, that he should goe
vnto Antiochia.
23 Who when hee was come and had seene
the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.
24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned themselues vnto the Lord.
25 ¶ 6 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:
26 And when hee had found him, hee brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

4 The Church of Antioch, the new Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.
5 The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinarie vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.
6 There was no contention among the Apostles either of vsurping, or of holding places and degrees.

b Thatus, that thereof the Deacons might succour the poore: for it behooued to haue all these things done orderly and decently, and therefore it is said, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the gouernours of the Church.

27 7 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.

28 And there stood vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.

29 8 Then the disciples euery man according to his abilitie, purposed to sende b succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.

a Herod killeth Iames with the sword. 4 And imprisoneth Peter, 8 whom the Angell deliuereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe, 23 he is eaten with wormes, and so dyeth.

NOw 1 about that time, a Herod the king stretched foorth his hand to vexe certaine of the Church,

2 And he b killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 2 And when he saw that it pleased the Iewes, hee proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.)

4 3 And when he had caught him, hee put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiours to be kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 4 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiours, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 ✠ And behold, the Angell of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the c house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him vp, saying, Arise quickely. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and bind on thy sandales. And so he did. Then hee said vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knewe not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 5 And as he consi*dered the thing, hee came to the house of Mary, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 6 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide d came foorth to hearken, named Rhode,

14 But when she knew Peters voice, shee opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and saw him, they were astonied.

17 7 And he beckened vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And hee said, Goe shewe these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and hee departed and went into an other place.

18 ¶ 8 Now assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiours, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, & commanded them to be led to be punished. And hee went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 9 Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accorde vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, & they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudgement seat, and made an oration vnto them.

22 10 And the people gaue a shoute, saying, The voice of God, and not of man.

23 11 But immediately the Angell of the Lord smote him, because he e gaue not glorie vnto God, so that hee was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 12 And the f word of God grew and multiplyed.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, & tooke with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

CHAP. XIII.

a The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is stricken blind. 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 they preach the Gospell, 45 the Iewes vehemently withstanding them.

THere 1 were also in ℣ Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen (which had beene brought vp with a Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they b ministred to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue c called them.

3 a Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

4 3 And they after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto d Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the worde of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also Iohn to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the yle vnto Paphus, they found a certaine sorcerer, a

1 God giueth his Church a truce, but for a little time.
a This name Herod was common to all them that came of the stocke of Herod Ascalonites, whose surname was Magnus: but hee that is spoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great, sonne to Aristobulus, and father to that Agrippa who is spoken of afterward.
b Violently, his cause being not once heard.
2 a It is no old fashion of tyrants to procure the fauour of the wicked, with the blood of the godly.
3 The tyrants and wicked make a galous for themselues euen then when they doe most according to their owne will and fantasie.
4 The prayers of the godly ouerturne the counsell of tyrants, obtaine Angels of God, breake the prison, vnloose chaines, put Satan to flight, and preserue the Church.
✠ Chap. 5. 19.
a In the prison.
5 Holy meetings in the night as well of men as women (when they can not be suffered in the day time) are allowable by the example of the Apostles.
6 We obtaine more of God, then we dare well hope for.
d Out of the place where they were assembled, but not out of the house,

7 We may somestimes giue place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so, that our diligence which ought to be vsed in Gods businesse, be not a whit slackened.
8 Euill counsell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the deuisers of it.

9 A miserable and shamefull example of the end of the enemies of the Church.
10 The flatterie of the people, maketh fooles faine.
11 God resisteth the proud.
e Iosephus recordeth, that this king did not reprehe shose flatterers tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cryed out of their vanitie.
12 Tyrants build vp the Church by plucking it downe.
f They that heard the word of God.

1 Paul with Barnabas is againe the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinarie commaundement of the holy Ghost.
a The same was Antipas, which put Iohn Baptist to death.
b Whiles they were busie doing their office, that is, as Chrysostome expoundeth it, while they were preaching.
c The Lord is said to call (whereof this word (calling) commeth which is vsuall in the Church) when hee causeth that to be, which was not, whether you referre it to the matter it selfe or to any qualitie or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, because when things begin to be, then they haue some name: as Gods mightie power is also declared thereby, who spake the worde, and things were made.
2 Fast, and solemne prayers were vsed before the laying on of handes.
3 Paul and his companions doe at the first bring Cyprus to the subiection and obedience of Christ.
d Seleucia was a citie of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexanders successours.

false

false prophet, being a Iew, named Bariesus, 7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desireth to heare the word of God.
8 4 But Elimas the sorcerer, (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turne away the Deputie from the faith.
9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him,
10 5 And sayde, O full of all subtilty and all e mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteousnes, wilt thou not cease to peruert the straight wayes of the Lord?
11 Now therefore behold, the f hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blind, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediatly there fell on him a mist & a darkenes, and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand.
12 Then the Deputie when hee saw what was done, beleeued, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord.
13 6 Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by shippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem.
14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, & sate downe.
15 7 And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if y^e^ h haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on.
16 8 Then Paul stood vp and beckened with the hand, and sayd, Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, hearken.
17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and i exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of ✣ Egypt, and with an ✣ k high arme brought them out thereof.
18 And about the time ∵ of fortie yeeres, suffred hee their maners in the wildernesse.
19 And he destroyed seuen nations in the land of Chanaan, & ✱ diuided their land to them by lot.
20 Then afterward he gaue vnto them ✲ Iudges about l foure hundreth and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.
21 So after that, they desireth a ✱ King, and God gaue vnto them ✣ Saul, the sonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Beniamin, by the space of m fourtie yeeres.
22 And after he had taken him away, he raised vp ✣ Dauid to be their King, of whom hee witnessed, saying, I haue found Dauid the sonne of Iesse, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will.
23 9 Of this mans seede hath God ∵ according to his promise raised vp to Israel, the Sauiour Iesus:
24 When ✱ Iohn had first preached n before his comming the baptisme of repentance to all the people of Israel.
25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his course, he said, ✣ Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he: but behold, there commeth one after mee, whose shooe of his feete I am not worthy to loose.
26 10 Yee men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoeuer among you feareth God, to you is the word of this saluation sent.
27 11 For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knewe him not, nor yet the wordes of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him.
28 And though they found no cause of death in him, ✣ yet desired they Pilate to kill him.
29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him downe from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre.
30 12 But God ∵ raised him vp from the dead.
31 And he was seene many daies of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hierusalem, which are his witnesses vnto the people.
32 And we declare vnto you, that touching the promise made vnto the fathers,
33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he o raised vp Iesus, 13 euen as it is written in the second Psalme, ✱ Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.
34 Now as concerning that hee raised him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, hee hath saide thus, ✲ I will giue you the holy things of Dauid, p which are faithfull.
35 14 Wherefore hee saieth also in another place, ✱ Thou wilt not suffer thine holy one to see corruption.
36 Howbeit, Dauid after hee had serued his time by the counsell of God, hee ✣ slept, and was laid with his fathers, and saw corruption.
37 But hee whom God raised vp, sawe no corruption.
38 15 Be it knowen vnto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached vnto you the forgiuenesse of sinnes:
39 And from q all things, from which ye could not be iustified by the Law of Moses, by him euerie one that beleeueth, is iustified.
40 16 Beware therefore least that come vpon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets,
41 ✣ Beholde, yee despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which yee shall not beleeue, if a man would declare it you.
42 ¶ 17 And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these wordes to them the next Sabbath day.
43 Now when the congregation was dissolued, many of the Iewes and r Proselites that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

4 The deuill maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himselfe against him.
5 The sorcerer which was striken of Paul with a corporall punishment (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawfull magistrates, how they ought to punish them which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.
e He noteth out such a fault, as who so hath it, runneth headlone and with great desire to all kind of wickednesse with the least motion in the world.
f His power which he sheweth in striking and beating downe his enemies.
6 An example in one and the selfe same company both of singular constancie, and also of great weakenesse.
g This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antiochia which was in Syria.
7 In the Synagogue of the Iewes (according to the patterne whereof Christian Congregations were instituted) first the Scripture were read, then such as were learned were licenced by the rulers of the Synagogue to speake and expound.
h Word for word, If there be any word in you: and this is a kinde of speach taken from the Hebrewes, whereby is meant, that the giftes of Gods grace are in vs, as it were in treasure houses, and that they are not ours, but Gods: In like sort saith Dauid, Thou hast put a new song in my mouth: Psal 40.

44. And

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole citie together, to heare the word of God.
45 [18] But when the Iewes saw the people, they were full of enuie, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.
46 [19] Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and sayd, It was necessary that the word of God should first haue beene spoken vnto you: but seeing yee put it from you, and [f] iudge your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles.
47 For so hath the Lord commanded vs, saying, ✠ I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world.
48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, & glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were [t] ordained vnto eternall life, beleeued.
49 Thus the word of the Lord was published thorowout the whole countrey.
50 [20] But the Iewes stirred certaine [u] deuoute and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.
51 [21] But they ✠ shooke off the dust of their feete against them, and came vnto Iconium.
52 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

18 The fauour of one selfe same Gospel is vnto the reprobate and vnbeleeuers, death, and to the elect and such as beleeue, life.
19 The Gospel is published to the Gentiles by the expresse commandement of God.
f By this your doing you doe as it were pronounce sentence against your selues, and iudge your selues.
✠ Esa.49 6.
t Therefore either all were not appointed to euerlasting life, or els all should haue beleeued: but because that is not so, it followeth that some certeine were ordained, & therefore God did not onely foreknow, but also foreordaine, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordeining or appointmēt, but his ordeining the cause of faith.
20 Such is the craft and subtiltie of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicitie of some which are not altogether euill men, to execute their crueltie.
u Such as embraced Moses his Law.
21 The wickednesse of the worlde cannot let God to gather his Church together, and to foster and cherish it, when it is gathered together.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted at Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healeth a creeple: 13 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them. 18 but they forbid it: 19 Paul by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing thorow diuers Churches, 26 they returne to Antiochia.

AND [1] it came to passe in [a] Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleeued.
2 And the [b] vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.
3 [2] So therefore they aboade there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gaue testimony vnto the word of his grace, & caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.
4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided:
and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.
5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with the rulers,
to doe them violence, and to stone them,
6 They were ware of it, and [c] fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,
7 And there preached the Gospel.
8 ¶ [3] Now there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.
9 He heard Paul speake: who beholding him and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed, 10 Saide with a loud voice, Stand vpright on thy feete. And he leaped vp, and walked.
11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lift vp their voices, saying in the speach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.
12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: and Paul,
Mercurius, because he was the chiefe speaker.
13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their citie, brought buls with garlands vnto the [d] gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.
14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their cloathes, and ran in among the people, crying, 15 [4] And saying, O men, why doe yee these things? We are euen men subiect to the [e] like passions that yee be, and preach vnto you, that yee should turne from these [f] vaine things vnto the liuing God, ✠ which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:
16 [5] Who in times past ✠ [g] suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.
17 Neuerthelesse, he left not himselfe without witnes, in that he did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitfull seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladnesse.
18 And speaking these things, scarse appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.
19 [6] Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, ✠ stoned Paul, and drewe him out of the citie, supposing he had beene dead.
20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, hee arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.
21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospell to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia.
22 [8] Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that wee must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.
23 [9] And when they had ordeined them Elders
by election in euerie Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleeued.
24 [10] Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.
25 And when they had preached the worde in Perga, they came downe to [h] Attalia.
26 And thence sailed to [i] Antiochia, ✠ from whence they had bene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.
27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how hee had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.
28 So there they aboade a long time with the disciples.

2 We ought not to leaue our places and giue place to threatnings, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedie, and that not for our owne quietnes sake, but that the Gospel of Christ may be spread further abroad.
c It is lawfull sometime to flee dangers, in time conuenient.

CHAP. XV.

1 Certaine goe about to bring in circumcision at Antiochia: 6 About which matter the Apostles consult: 19 and what must be done 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

Then

THen [1] came downe [a] certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, yee cannot be saued.

2 [2] And when there was great dissention, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordained that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus [b] being brought foorth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeue, rose vp, saying that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the Law of Moses.

6 [3] Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had beene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and sayd vnto them, ✠ [4] Yee men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while agoe, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeue.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And he put no [d] difference betweene vs and them, after that ✠ [e] by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 [5] Now therefore, why [f] tempt ye God, to ∵ lay a yoke on the disciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeue, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saued, euen as they doe.

12 [6] Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, [g] Iames answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 [7] Simeon hath declared, how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 ✠ After this I will returne, and will builde againe the Tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it vp,

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, sayeth the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the worlde, God [h] knoweth all his workes.

19 [8] Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that we send vnto them, that they absteine themselues from [i] filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.

22 [9] Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,

23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, & the Elders, & the brethren, Vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 [10] Forasmuch as we haue heard, that certaine which [k] went out from vs, haue troubled you with words, and [l] combred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe the Law: to whom we gaue no such commandement,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that haue [m] giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 We haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tel you the same things by mouth.

28 [11] For it seemed good to the [n] holy Ghost, and [o] to vs to lay no more burden vpon you, then these [p] necessarie things, 29 [12] That is, that ye absteine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 [13] Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in [q] peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ [14] But after certaine dayes, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne and visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

1 The Church is at length troubled with dissention within it selfe, and the trouble riseth of the proud and stubburne wittes of certaine euill men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saued by his onely righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the Law.

a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.

2 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppresse heresies, whereunto certaine were sent, by common consent in the name of all.

b Courteously and louingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.

3 The matter is first handled, both parts being heard in the assemblie of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

✠ Chap.10.20. and 11.13.

4 God himselfe in calling of the Gentiles which are vncircumcised, did teach that our saluation doth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Law.

c Word for word, of old time, that is, euen from the first time that we were commanded to preach the Gospel, and straightwayes after that the holy Ghost came downe vpon vs.

d He put no difference betweene vs and them, as touching the benefite of his free fauour.

e Christ pronounceth them blessed, which are pure of heart: and here we are plainely taught, that men are made such by faith.

5 Peter, passing from the Ceremonies to the Law it selfe in generall, sheweth that none could be saued, if saluation were to be sought for by the Law, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ, because that no man could euer fulfill the Law, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle. f Why tempt yee God, as though hee could not saue by faith? ∵ Matth.23.4. 6 A true patterne of a lawfull Councill, where Gods trueth onely reigneth. g The sonne of Alpheus, who is called the Lordes brother. 7 Iames confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the worde of God, therein agreeing to Peter. ✠ Amos 9.11. h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent we may so farre beare with the weakenesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.

i From sacrifices, or from feastes which were kept in idoles Temples.

9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed Iudges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or vpon a Lordlines, neither doth the common multitude sat themselues tumultuously against them, which sit as Iudges by the worde of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which haue beene so determined and agreed vpon.

10 The Councill of Hierusalem concludeth, that they trouble mens consciences, which teach vs to seeke saluation in any other meanes then in Christ onely, apprehended by faith, from whence soeuer they come, and whomsoeuer they pretend to be authour of their vocation.

k From our congregation.

l A borrowed kinde of speach taken of them which pull downe that that was built vp: and it is a very vsuall metaphore in the Scriptures, to say the Church is built, for, the Church is planted and stablished.

m Haue greatly hazarded their liues.

11 That is, a lawfull Councill, which the holy Ghost ruleth.

n First they make mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to be any mans worke.

o Not that men haue any authoritie of themselues, but to shewe the faithfulnesse that they vsed in their ministerie and labour. p This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably liue together with lesse occasion of quarell. 12 Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent. 13 It is requisite for all people to knowe certainely what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend vpon the pleasure of a few. q This is an Hebrew kinde of speach, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leaue. 14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vnlesse they be diligently seene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synodes were instituted and appointed.

15 A lamentable example of discord betweene excellent men and very great friends, yet not for prophane or their priuate affaires, neither yet for doctrine.
16 God vseth the faultes of his seruants to the prophete and building of his Church, yet we haue to take heed, euen in the best matters that wee passe not measure in our heart.
r They were in great heate: but herein we haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meanes it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospel was exercised in many places.

37 15 And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 16 Then were they so r stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Sylas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul hauing circumcised Timotheus, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructed Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of diuination 18 is by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened. 31 The Gaolor receiueth the faith.

THen 1 came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certaine disciple was there, named ✣ Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a a Iewesse, and beleeued, but his father was a Grecian.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, b reported well.

3 2 Therefore Paul would that hee should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of the Iewes, which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Grecian.

4 3 And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them c the decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles & Elders which were at Hierusalem.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and increased in number dayly.

6 ¶ 4 Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were d forbidden of the holy Ghoſt, to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to goe into Bithynia: But the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas,

9 r Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 6 And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went wee forth from Troas, and with a streight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 7 And on the Sabbath day we went out of the citie, besides a riuer, where they were wont to e pray: and wee sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 8 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lord opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 9 And when shee was baptized, and her houshold, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come into mine house, & abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 10 And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maid hauing a spirit f of diuination, met vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cried, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did shee g many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and said to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 11 Now when her masters saw that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place vnto the Magistrates.

20 12 And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes trouble our citie,

21 13 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 14 The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their cloathes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commanding the Gaolor to keepe them surely,

24 Who hauing receiued such commandement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet h fast in the stocks.

25 15 Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 16 Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, hee drew out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bin fled.

28 17 But Paul cried with a loude voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for we all are here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas.

30 And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they sayde, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, & thou shalt be saued, and thine housholde.

32 And they preached vnto him the worde of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

33 18 Afterwarde hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him straightway.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioyced that he with all his houlhold beleeued in God.

35 19 And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 Then

r Paul himselfe doeth not receiue Timothie into the ministerie without sufficient testimonie, and allowance of the brethren.
✣ Rom.16.21. phil.2.19. 1.thes.3.2.
a Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothie, commendeth the godlines of Timothies mother and grandmother.
b Both for his godlinesse and honestie.
2 Timothie is circumcised, not simply for any necessitie, but in respect of the time onely to winne the Iewes.
3 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent that so regard be had both of the weake, and the quietnesse of the Church.
c Those decrees which he spake of in the former chapter.
4 God appointeth certaine and determinate times to open and set forth his trueth, that both the election and the calling may proceed of grace.
d He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching vs to obey and not to inquire.
5 They are the ministers of the Gospel, by whom hee helpeth such as were like to perish.
6 The Saints did not easily beleeue euery vision.
7 God beginneth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acception of person in the Gospell.
e Where they where woont to assemble themselues.
8 The Lord onely openeth the heart to heare the word which is preached.
9 An example of a godly housewife.
10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and couseneth to enter by vndermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and easteth him out.
f This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to giue answeres to them that asked him.
g Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was led by the Spirit.
11 Couetousnesse of lucre and gaine is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing Timothie, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battaile.
12 Couetousnesse pretendeth a desire of common peace and godlinesse.
13 It is an argument of the deuill, to vrge the authoritie of ancestors without any distinction.
14 An Example of euill Magistrates to obey the furie and rage of the people.
h Because hee would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stockes.
15 The prayers of the godly do shake both heauen and earth.
16 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life, euen through the midst of death, and whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie.
17 In meanes which are especially extraordinarie, we ought not to mooue our foote forward, vnlesse that God go before vs.
18 God with one selfesame hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.
19 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the reward of wicked and vniust Magistrates.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence,
and goe in peace.
37 [20] Then sayd Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out priuily? nay verely:
but let them come and bring vs out.
38 [21] And the sergeants tolde these wordes vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.
39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.
40 [22] And they went out of the prison, and en-tred into the house of Lydia and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

20 We must not render iniurie for iniurie, and yet notwithstanding it is lawfull for vs to vse such helpes as God giueth vs, to bridle the outrageousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.
21 The wicked are not mooued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes also God prouideth for his, when it is needefull
22 We may eschew dangers, so that we neuer neglect our duetie.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6.7 is intertained of Iason: 10 Hee is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars streete 23 hee preacheth the liuing God to them vnknowen, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

NOw [1] as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synogogue of the Iewes.
2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them
by the Scriptures,
3 [2] Opening and alledging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead, and this is Iesus Christ, whom sayd he, I preach to you.
4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Greci-ans that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.
5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeued not, moo-ued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine [a] vagabondes and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
6 But when they found them not, they drew Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted
the state of the [b] world, and here they are,
7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying, that there is another King, one Iesus.
8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard these things.
9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient [c] assurance of Iason and of the other,
they let them goe.
10 [4] And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.
11 [5] These were also more [d] noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the worde with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those things were so.
12 Therefore many of them beleeued, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.
13 ¶ [6] But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and mooued
the people.
14 [7] But by and by the brethren sent away
Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Ti-motheus aboade there still.
15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timo-theus that they should come to him at once, they departed.
16 ¶ [9] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was [f] stirred in him, when he saw the citie subiect to [g] idolatry.
17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market dayly with [h] whom soeuer
he met.
18 [10] Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoicks, disputed with him, and some said, What will this [i] babbler say? Others sayd, He seemeth to be a setter foorth of strange gods (because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)
19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars streete, saying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?
20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: wee would know therefore what these things meane.
21 [11] For all the Athenians and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselues to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.
22 [12] Then Paul stood in the middes of Mars streete, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things yee are too [l] superstitious.
23 For as I passed by, and behelde your [m] deuotions, I founde an altar wherein was written,
VNTO THE [n] VNKNOWEN GOD.
Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shewe I
vnto you.
24 [13] God hath made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heauen and earth, ✠ dwelleth not in temples made with hands,
25 ✠ Neither is worshipped with mens hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath and all things, 26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the bounds of their habitation.

1 The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the sauing of many other.
2 Christ is therefore the Mediatour, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is he to be reiected, because the crosse is ignominious
3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so goodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither trueth nor equitie: But yet the wicked cannot doe what they list, for euen among themselues God stirreth vp some, whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.
a Certaine companions which doe nothing but walke the streets, wicked men, to be hired for euery mans money, to doe any mischiefe, such as we commonly call the rascals and very sinkes and dunghil knaues of all townes and cities.
b Into what countrey and place soeuer they come, they cause sedition and tumult.
c When Iason had put them in good assurance that they should appeare.
4 That is indeede the wisedome of the Spirit, which alwayes setteth the glory of God before it selfe as a marke whereunto it directeth it selfe, and neuer swarueth from it.
5 The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people, diuers examples of his vnsearchable wisedome, to cause them to feare him. d He compareth the Iewes, with the Iewes.

6 Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that euen such, as least of all ought.
7 There is neither counsell, nor furie, nor madnesse, against the Lord.
8 The sheepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastors health and safetie, but yet in the Lord.
e It is not for nought that the Iewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, and there is in distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Bœotia, and Attica.
9 In comparing the wisedome of God with mans wisedome, men scoffe and mocke at that which they vnderstand not: And God vseth the curiositie of fooles to gather together his elect.
f He could not forbeare
g Slauishly giuen to Idolatry: Pausanias writeth that there were more Idoles in Athens, then in all Grecia, yea they had altars dedicated to Shame and Fame, & Lust, whom they made goddesses.
h Whomsoeuer Paul met with, that would suffer him to talke with him, he reasoned with him, so throughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory.
10 Two sectes especially of the Philosophers doe set themselues against Christ: the Epicures, which make a mocke and scoffe at all religion: and the Stoickes, which determine vpon matters of religion according to their owne braines. i Word for word, seedegatherer: a borowed kind of speach taken of birds which spoile corne, and is applied to them which without all arte bluster out such knowledge as they haue gotten by hearing this man & that man. k This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the iudges sate which were called Areopagita, vpon weightie affaires, which in olde time arreigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impietie. 11 The wisedome of man is vanitie. 12 The idolaters themselues minister most strong and forcible arguments against their owne superstition. l To stand in too peeuish and seruile a feare of your gods. m Whatsoeuer men worship for religions sake, that we call deuotion. n Pausanias in his Atticis, maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to vnknowen gods: and Laertius in his Epimenides maketh mention of an altar that had no name intituled. 13 It is a most foolish and vaine thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limite him within a place, which can be comprehended in no place, and to thinke to allure him with giftes, of whom all men haue receiued all things whatsoeuer they haue: And these are the fountaines of all idolatrie. ✠ Chap. 7.48. ✠ Psalm 50.8. 14 God is wonderfull in all his works, but especially in the worke of man: not that we should stand amased at his works, but that we should lift vp our eyes to the workeman, o Of one stocke and one beginning.

27 That

27 That they fhould feeke the Lord, if fo be they might haue p groped after him, and found him, though doubtleffe he be not farre from euery one of vs.

28 For in him we liue, and mooue, and haue our being, as alfo certaine of your owne Poets haue faid: For we are alfo his generation.

29 ✠ Forafmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto gold, or filuer, or ftone q grauen by arte and the inuention of man.

30 15 And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now he admonifheth all men euery where to repent,

31 Becaufe hee hath appointed a day in the which he will iudge the world in righteoufneffe, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath giuen an r affurance to all men, in that hee hath raifed him from the dead.

32 16 Now when they had heard of the refurrection from the dead, fome mocked, and other faid, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And fo Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleeued: among whom was alfo Denys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

15 The oldneffe of the errour doeth not excufe them that erre, but it commendeth and fetteth forth the patience of God: who notwithftanding will be a iuft iudge to fuch as contemne him.
r By declaring Chrift to be iudge of the world through the refurrection from the dead.
16 Men, to fhew forth their vanitie, are diuerfly affected and mooued with one felfe fame Gofpel, which notwithftanding ceafeth not to be effectuall in the elect.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accufed before Gallio, 16 but in vaine. 18 From thence he faileth to Syria, 19 and fo to Ephefus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he ftrengtheneth the difciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly inftructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Chrift with great efficacie.

AFter 1 thefe things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certaine Iew named ✠ Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Prifcilla (becaufe that a Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and hee came vnto them.

3 And becaufe he was of the fame craft, hee abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents.)

4 2 And he difputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and b exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul c forced in Spirit, teftified to the Iewes that Iefus was the Chrift.

6 3 And when they refifted and blafphemed, he ∵ fhooke his raiment, and faid vnto them, Your d blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So hee departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans houfe, named Iuftus, a worfhipper of God, whofe houfe ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And ✠ Crifpus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleeued in the Lord with all his houfe-hold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeued and were baptized.

1 The true minifters are fo farre from feeking their owne profite, that they do willingly depart from their right, rather then the courfe of the Gofpell fhould be hindered in the leaft wife that might be.
✠ Rom.6.3.
a Suetonius recordeth that Rome banifhed the Iewes, becaufe they were alwayes at difquiet, and that by Chriftes meanes.
2 The trueth ought alwayes to be freely vttered, yet notwithftanding the doctrine may be fo moderated, as occafion of the profite that the people take thereby, fhall require.
b Exhorted fo that he perfwaded. & fo the word fignifieth.
c Was very much grieued in minde: whereby is fignified the great earneftneffe of his minde, which was greatly mooued: for Paul was fo zealous, that he cleane forgate himfelfe, and with a wonderfull courage gaue himfelfe to preach Chrift.
3 Although wee haue affayed all meanes poffible, & yet in vaine, wee muft not leaue off from our worke, but forfake the rebellious, and goe to them that be more obedient.
∵ Chap. 13 51. matth.10 14.
d This is a kinde of fpeach taken from the Hebrewes, whereby hee meaneth, that the Iewes are caufe of their owne deftruction: and as for him, that he is without fault in forfaking them and going to other nations.
✠ 1.Corinth.1.14.

9 4 Then faid the Lord to Paul in the night by a vifion, Feare not, but fpeake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man fhall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he e continued there a yeere & fixe moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ 5 Now when Gallio was deputie of f Achaia, the Iewes arofe with one accord againft Paul, and brought him to the iudgement feate, 13 Saying, This fellow perfwadeth men to worfhip God otherwife then the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio fayd vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O ye Iewes, I would according to g reafon maintaine you.

15 But if it be a queftion of h wordes and i names, and of your Law, looke yee to it your felues: for I will be no iudge of thofe things.

16 And hee drawe them from the iudgement feate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Softhenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beate him before the iudgement feate: but Gallio cared nothing for thofe things.

18 6 But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, he tooke leaue of the brethren, and failed into Syria, (and with him Prifcilla and Aquila) after that k he had fhorne his head in l Cenchrea: for he had made a ✠ vowe.

19 Then hee came to Ephefus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and difputed with the Iewes.

20 7 Who defired him to tarrie a longer time with them: but he would not confent,

21 But badde them farewell, faying, I muft needes keepe this feaft that commeth, in Hierufalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, ✠ m if God will. So he failed from Ephefus.

22 ¶ And when hee came downe to Cefarea, he went vp to Hierufalem: and when he had faluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia & Phrygia by order, ftrengthening all ẏ difciples.

24 8 And a certaine Iewe named ∵ Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephefus, an eloquent man, and n mighty in the Scriptures.

25 The fame was inftructed in the way of the Lord, and hee fpake feruently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptifme of Iohn onely.

26 And hee began to fpeake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when ✠ Aquila and Prifcilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the o way of God more perfectly.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the difciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleeued through p grace.

28 For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, fhewing by the Scriptures, that Iefus was that Chrift.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 3 hauing onely receiued Iohns baptisme, & and knew not the visible giftes of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Coniuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

AND[1] it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine
disciples,
2 And sayd vnto them, Haue ye receiued the [a] holy Ghost since yee beleeued? And they sayd vnto him, We haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.
3 [2] And he sayd vnto them, Vnto [b] what were ye then baptized? And they sayd, Vnto [c] Iohns baptisme.
4 Then sayd Paul, ✤ Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleeue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.
5 And when they heard it, they were baptized
in the Name of the Lord Iesus.
6 So Paul layd his handes vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophecied.
7 And all the men were about twelue.
8 ¶ Moreouer he went into the Synagogue,
and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.
9 [3] But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the [d] way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schoole of one [e] Tyrannus.
10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that al they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians, 11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,
12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchefs, or handkerchefs, & the diseases departed from them, & ẏ euil spirits went out of thē.
13 [4] Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, [f] ex-orcists tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euill spirits, the name of the Lord Iesus, saying,
We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.
14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iew, the Priest, about seuen which did this.) 15 And the euill spirit answered, and sayd, Iesus
I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?
16 And the man in whom the euill spirit was,
ranne on them, and ouercame them, and [g] preuailed against them, so that they fleede out of that house, naked and wounded.
17 And this was knowne to all the Iewes and Grecians also which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Ie-sus was magnified,
18 [5] And many that beleeued, came and [h] confessed, and shewed their works.
19 Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it [i] fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.
20 So the word of God grewe mightly, and preuailed.
21 ¶ [6] Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the [k] Spirit to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.
22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.
23 [7] And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.
24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer [l] temples of Diana,
brought great gaines vnto the craftesmen, 25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and sayd, Sirs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue our goods:
26 Moreouer ye see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not Gods which are made with hands.
27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our [m] portion shallbe reprooued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cryed out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the cōmon place with one assent, and caught ✤ Gaius, and ✤ Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.
30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto
the people, the disciples suffered him not.
31 [8] Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia, which were his friends, sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.
32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.
33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with his hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.
34 [9] But when they knew that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
35 [10] Then the towne clearke when hee had stayed the people, sayd, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great god-desse Diana, and of the image, which [n] came downe from Iupiter?
36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.
37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacriledge, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.
38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue a [o] matter against any man, the [p] law is open, and there are [q] Deputies: let them accuse one another.
39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters,

2 Iohn did onely begin to instruct the disciples whom Christ should make perfite.
b In what doctrine then are you taught and instructed?

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appoynted to goe to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntil midnight, 9 Eutychus fel downe dead out of a windowe, to he raiseth him to life: 15 At Miletum, 27 hauing cal ed the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 he declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOw [1] after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.
2 And when he had gone through those parts,
& had exhorted them with a many words, he came into Grecia,
3 [2] And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes layd waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.
4 And there accompanied him into Asia, So-pater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.
5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.
6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where wee aboade seuen dayes.
7 [3] And the b first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the mo-row, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.
8 [4] And there were many lights in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.
9 And there sate in a windowe a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe:
and as Paul was long preaching, he ouercome with sleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.
10 But Paul went downe, and layd himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.
11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, hee so departed.
12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.
13 [5] Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe a foote.
14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos,
and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.
15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arri-ued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.
16 [5] For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if hee could possible, at Hierusalem at the day of Pentecost.
17 ¶ Wherefore from c Miletum, hee sent to r He speaketh of a lawful assembly, not onely to except against the disordered hurly burly of the people, but also against all meeting and comming together which was not by order: for there were certaine dayes appointed to call the people together in.

1 Paul departed from Ephesus by the consent of the Church, not to be idle or at rest, but to take paines in another place.
a For after so great trouble there was neede of a long exhortation.
2 A froward zeale is the guider and instructour to murders: and we are not debarred by the wisedome of God to preuent the endeuours of wicked men.
3 Assemblies in the night time can not be iustly condemned, neither ought, when the cause is good.
b Word for word, the first day of the Sabbath, that is, vpon the Lords day: so that by this place, and by 1. Cor. 16:2. it is not amisse gathered, that in those dayes the Christians were wont to assemble themselues solemnely together vpon that day.
4 The deuill minding to trouble the Church with a great offence, giueth Paul a singular occasion to confirme the Gospell.
5 Paul an earnest and diligent follower of Christ, making hast to his bonds without any ceasing or stopping in his race, doth first of all as it were make his testament, wherein he giueth an account of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastours of the Church to perseuere and goe forward with continuance in their office.

sayd vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what maner I haue beene
with you at all seasons, 19 Seruing the Lord with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings await of the Iewes, 20 And how I kept d backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house, 21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, & faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ, 22 [7] And nowe beholde, I goe e bound in the Spirit, vnto Hierusalem, and know not what things shall come vnto me there, 23 Saue that the holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.
24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospell of the grace
of God.
25 And now beholde, I know that hencefoorth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.
26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am f pure from the blood of all men.
27 [8] For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.
28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerseers, to g feede the Church of God which h hee hath purchased with i that his owne

29 [9] For I know this, that after my departing shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.
30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to k draw disciples after them.
31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares.
32 [10] And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an l inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.
33 [11] I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor golde, nor apparell.
34 Yea, ye knowe, that these handes haue mi-nistred vnto my ✠ necessities, and to them that were with me.
35 I haue shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought to m support the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, howe that he sayd, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.
36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled
downe, and prayed with them all.
37 [12] Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, 38 Being chiefly sorie for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem, 8 at Cesarea he talketh with Philip the Euangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After hee came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 The Iewes layd hands on him: 31 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

AND[1] as we launched foorth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And wee found a ship that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set foorth.

3 And when wee had discouered Cyprus, wee left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the shippe vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes And they told Paul through the [a] Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, wee departed & went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wiues & children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when wee had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when wee had ended the course from Tyrus, wee arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and aboade with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and wee entred into the house of ✠ Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the [b] seuen Deacons, and aboade with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophecie.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when hee was come vnto vs, hee tooke Pauls girdle, & bound his owne hands & feete, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 And when wee had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said What doe ye weeping, and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not for to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 [2] So when he would not be perswaded, wee ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes we trussed vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, & brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom wee should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 [3] And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 [4] So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needes come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. Wee haue foure men, which haue made a vow,

24 Them take, and [d] purifie thy selfe with them, and [e] contribute with them, that they may ✠ shaue their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they haue beene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeue, we haue written, and determined, that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselues from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, [f] declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.

27 [5] And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooued all the people, and layd hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreouer, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted his holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was mooued, and the people ran together: and they tooke Paul, and drewe him out of the Temple, and foorthwith the doores were shut.

31 [6] But as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an vproare.

32 Who immediatly tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ran downe vnto them: and when they saw the chiefe captaine, and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when hee could not know the certaintie for the tumult, hee commanded him to be led into the castle.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should haue beene led into the castell, hee saide vnto the chiefe captaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who said, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the [g] Egyptian, who before these dayes raised a sedition, and led out into the wildernesse foure thousand men that were murtherers?

39 Then Paul saide, Doubtlesse, I am a man which am a Iew, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous

4 In things indifferent (of which sort were not the traditions of the Pharises, but the ceremonies of the Law, vntill such time as Christian libertie was more fully reuealed to the Iewes) charitie willeth vs to conforme or apply our selues willingly so farre as we may, to our brethren which doe not stubburnly, and maiciously, resist the trueth, but are not throughly instructed especially if the question be of the whole multitude.

d That is, consecrate thy selfe: for he speaketh not here of the vncleane, but of such as were subiect to the vow of the Nazarites.

e That it may be knowen, that thou was not onely present at the vowe, but also a chiefe man in it: and therefore it is said afterwards, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites offring were appointed, yet they might adde somewhat vnto them, Num 6, 21.

f The Priests were to be aduertised of the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day that their vow was ended.

citie of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer mee to speake vnto the people.

43 And when hee had giuen him licence, Paul stood on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people, and when there was made great silence, he spake vnto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith, 21 and the Iewes heare him a while: 23 But so soone as they cried out, 24 He is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren, & fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that hee spake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said)

3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the [a] feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect maner of the Law of the fathers, and was [b] zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women,

5 As also the chiefe Priest doth beare me witnes & all the company of the Elders: of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I iourneyed, and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fell vnto the earth, & heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said vnto mee, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreouer they that were with mee, saw in deede a light and were afraide: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake vnto me.

10 Then I saide, What shall I doe Lord? And the Lord said vnto me, Arise, and goe vnto Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I coulde not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there,

13 Came vnto mee, and stood, and saide vnto me, Brother, Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him.

14 And he saide, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and shouldest see that Iust one, and shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witnesse vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a traunce,

18 And saw him, saying vnto mee, Make haste, and get thee quickely out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning me.

19 Then I saide, Lord, they know that I prisoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleeued in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stoode by, and consented vnto his death, & kept the cloathes of them that slew him.

21 Then hee saide vnto mee Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles

22 ¶ [2] And they heard him vnto this word, but then they lift vp their voyces, and saide, Away with such a fellowe from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.

23 And as they [c] cried & cast off their cloathes, and drew dust into the aire,

24 [3] The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that hee should be scourged, & examined, that he might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and saide to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after hee knew that he was a [d] Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because hee would haue knowen the certaintie whereefore hee was accused of the Iewes, hee loosed him from his bonds, and commanded the bie Priestes and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 As Paul pleadeth his cause, 2 Ananias commaundeth them to smite him. 7 Dissention among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Iewes laying waite for Paul, 20 is declared vnto the chiefe captaine. 27 He sendeth him to Felix the Gouernour.

AND [1] Paul beholde earnestly the Councill, and said, Men and brethren, I haue in al good conscience serued God vntill this day.

2 [2] Then the bie Priest Ananias commaunded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 [3] Then saide Paul to him, God [a] will smite thee, thou [b] whitbed wall: for thou sittest to iudge me according to the Lawe, and [c] transgressing the Law, commandest thou me to be smitten?

4 And they that stood by, saide, Reuilest thou Gods bie Priest?

5 [4] Then said Paul, I knew not brethren, that he was the bie Priest: for it is written, [5] Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people.

6 [5] But when Paul perceiued that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the

Pharises,

✠ Chap.24.21. phil.3.5.

Pharises, he cried in the Councill, Men and brethren, ✠ I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

6 The concord of the wicked is weake, although they conspire together to oppresse the trueth.

7 6 And when hee had sayde this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises & the Sadduces, so that the multitude was diuided.

7 It is an olde heresie of the Sadduces, to denie the substance of Angels and soules, and therewithall the resurrection of the dead.

✠ Mat.22.23.

d Natures that want bodies.

8 7 ✠ For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither [d] Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 8 Then there was a great crie: and the [e] Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

8 The Lord when it pleaseth him, findeth defenders of his cause, euen amongst his enemies.

e The Scribes office was a publik office, and the name of the Pharises was the name of a sect.

10 9 And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commanded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, & to bring him into the castell.

9 God will not forsake his to the end.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage, Paul, for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 10 And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselues[f] with a curse, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke till they had killed Paul.

10 Such as are caried away with a foolish zeale, think that they may lie and murther, and doe whatsoeuer mischiefe they list.

f They cursing and banning themselues, promised.

13 And they were moe then fourtie, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priests and Elders, and said, Wee haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eate nothing, vntill wee haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the [g] Councill, signifie vnto the chiefe captain, that he bring him forth vnto you to morow, as though you would knowe something more perfectly of him, and we, or euer he come neere will be ready to kill him.

g Yee and the Senate requiring the same to be done, least that the Tribune should thinke that it was demanded of him at some priuate mans suite.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the castell, and told Paul.

11 The wisedome of the Spirit must be ioyned with simplicitie.

17 11 And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayd, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath something to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he sayd, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring foorth Paul to morow into the Councill, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more then fourty men, which haue bound themselues with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

12 There is no counsell against the Lord and his seruants.

|| Greeke, that thou hast shewed these things to mee.

22 12 The chiefe captain then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, that hee had || shewed him these things.

23 And he called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may goe to Cesarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third houre of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the gouernour.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this maner:

26 13 Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble gouernour Felix sendeth greeting.

13 Lysias is suddenly made by the Lord Pauls patron.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue beene killed of them, I came vpon them with a garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that hee was a Romaine.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him foorth into their Councill.

29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Lawe, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed mee, how that the Iewes layd wait for ẏ man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commaunded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned into the Castell.

33 Now when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the Epistle to the gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, he asked of what prouince he was: and when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia,

35 I will heare thee, sayd hee, when thine accusers also are come, and commaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himselfe: 24 He preacheth Christ to the gouernour and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth, but in vaine, to receiue a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaueth Paul in prison.

NOwe [1] after fiue dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine oratour, which appeared before the gouernour against Paul.

1 Hypocrites, when they cannot doe what they would doe by force and deceit: at length they goe about to compasse it by a shewe of Law.

2 And when he was called foorth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that wee haue obteined great quietnesse [a] through thee, and that many [b] worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence, a Felix ruled that prouince with great crueltie and couetousnesse, and yet Iosephus recordeth that he did many worthy things, as that he tooke Eleazar the captaine of certain cut-throats, and put that deceauing wretch the Egyptian to flight, which caused great troubles in Iudea.

b He vseth a word which the Stoikes defined to be a perfit duetie and behauiour.

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankes.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few words.

5 Certainely we haue found this man a [c] pestilent fellow, and a moouer of sedition among al the Iewes thorowout the world, and a [d] chiefe maintainer of the sect of the [e] Nazarites:

c Word for word, a plague.

d As you would say, a ringleader, or ensigne bearer.

e So they called the Christians scoffingly, of the townes name where they thought that Christ was borne, whereupon it came that Iulian the Apostate called him Galilean.

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we toke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

f Confirmed Tertullus his saying.
2 Tertullus by the deuils rhetoricke beginneth with flatterie, maketh an end with lies: but Paul vsing heauenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple deniall.
g Paul pleaded his cause two yeeres before. Felix departed out of the prouince, chap.27 but he had gouerned Trachonite, and Bataneà, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him gouernour of Iudea: Iosephus in the historie of the Iewes warre, lib.2.cap.11.
h They cannot lay foorth before thee and prooue by good reasons.
3 Paul goeth in the case of religion from a state coniecturall to a state of qualitie, not onely not denying that religion which was obiected against him, but also prooving it to be true, to be heauenly and from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.
i Here this word, Heresie, or sect, is taken in good part.
4 Paul in conclusion telleth the thing which was done rarely, which Tertullus had before diuers wayes corrupted.
k And while I was busie about those things.
l Hereby it appeareth that these of Asia were Paul his enemies, and those that stirred vp the people against him.
m Whither the Tribune brought me.
5 The Iudge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtfull.
n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, vntill he had better vnderstanding of that way which Paul professed: and 9 And the Iewes likewise f affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 [2] Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I do the more gladly answere for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast beene of many yeeres a iudge vnto this nation,

11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they h prooue the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 [3] But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call i heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shallbe both of iust and vniust.

16 And herein I indeuour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.

17 [4] Now after many yeeres, I came & brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At k what time, certaine Iewes of l Asia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult, 19 Who ought to haue beene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselues say, If they haue found any vniust thing in mee, while I stood in the m Council, 21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 [5] Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and sayd, When I shall more n perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decise your matter.

23 [6] Then hee commaunded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousnes & temperance, & of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 Hee hoped also that money should haue beene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 [7] When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix roome: and Felix willing to p get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

is for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to differre it till hee heare Lysias, and therefore he gaue Paul somewhat more libertie. 6 God is a most faithfull keeper of his seruants and the force of the trueth is wonderfull, euen amongst men which are otherwise prophane. o This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very harlot and ambitious woman, and being the wife of Azizus king of the Emesins, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was somtime Nero his bondman. 7 In a naughtie minde that is guilty to it selfe, although some time there be some shew of equitie, yet by and by it will be extinguished: but in the meane season we haue neede of patience, and that continuall. p For whereas he had behaued himselfe very wickedly in the prouince, had it not beene for fauour of his brother Pallas, hee should haue died for it: so that we may gather hereby why he would haue pleasured the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, 6 commandeth Paul to be brought foorth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cesar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to king Agrippa, 23 and bringeth him before him, 27 that he may vnderstand his cause.

1 When [1] Festus was then come into the prouince, after three dayes hee went vp from Cesarea vnto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layd wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ [2] Nowe when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went down to Cesarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seate, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Ierusalem, stoode about him and layd many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine proofe,

8 Forasmuch as he answered that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against ẏ temple, nor against Cesar.

9 [3] Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Councill, hee answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 ¶ [4] And after certaine dayes, King b Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the king, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix,

15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the hie Priests and Elders of the Iewes enformed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the maner of the c Romanes for fauour to deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought foorth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they

1 Satans Ministers are subtill and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his hindreth all their counsels easily.
2 We may repell an iniurie iustly, but not with iniurie.
a They could not prooue them certainly & with vndoubted reasons.
3 God doeth not onely turne away the counsell of the wicked, but also turneth it vpon their owne heads.
4 Festus thinking no such thing, euen before kings, bringing to light the wickednesse of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doeth maruelously confirme the Church of God.
b This Agrippa was Agrippa his sonne, whose death Luke spak of before, and Bernice was his sister.
c The Romanes vse not to deliuer any man to be punished before, &c.

they brought no crime of such things as I suppo-sed:

19 5 But had certaine questions against him of their owne d superstitions, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 6 Then Agrippa sayd vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morrow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morrowe when Agrippa was come, and Bernice with great e pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought foorth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neuertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my f lord: wherefore I haue brought him foorth vnto you, and especially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

27 For mee thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shew the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

a Paul in the presence of Agrippa, declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 21 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost he perswaded him to Christianitie. 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

THen Agrippa said vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 1 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes:

3 Chiefely, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare mee patiently.

4 2 As touching my life from my childehood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, knowe all the Iewes,

5 Which a knewe me heretofore, euen from my b Elders (if they would testifie) that after the most straight sect of our religion, I liued a Pharisee.

6 3 And now I stande and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly serning God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O king Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 4 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 ✣ Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my d sentence.

11 And I punished them thorowout all the Synagogues, and e compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to ✣ Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the high Priests,

13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heauen passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about mee, and them which went with me.

14 So when wee were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, and saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feet: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee,

18 5 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenesse of sinnes, & inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 6 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision,

20 ✣ But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and thorowout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught me in the ✣ Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 7 Neuertheless, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to f small and to great, saying none other things, then these which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should g suffer, and that he should be the h first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 8 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus sayd with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selue, much learning doeth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the words of truth, and sobernesse.

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a k corner.

27 9 O king Agrippa, beleeuest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeuest.

28 Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, I I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 10 And when he had thus spoken, the king

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7,9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleeued. 14 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 21.41 and suffer shipwracke: 34 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

1 Paul with many other prisoners, and through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and set forth and commended vnto the world with many singular testimonies.
✠ 2.Cor.11,25.

NOw [1] when it was concluded, that we should saile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion, named Iulius, of the band of Augustus.

2 And ✠ we entred into a shippe of Adramytium, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched foorth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arriued at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we launched, & sailed hard by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a shippe of Alexandria, sailing into Italie, and put vs therein.

7 And when we had sailed slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not, we sailed hard by Candie, neere to [a] Salmone, a Which was an high hill of Candie.

2 Gods prouidence taketh not away the causes which God vseth as meanes, but rather ordereth and disposeth their right vse euen then when he openeth an extraordinarie issue.
b This is meant of the Iewes fast, which they keepe in the feast of expiation, as we reade Leuit 23,27 which fell in the seuenth moneth which we call October, and is not good for nauigation, or sailing.
3 Men cast themselues willingly into an infinite store of dangers, when they chuse to follow their owne wisedome, rather then God speaking by the mouth of his seruants.
c By Candie, from whose shore our ship was driuen by that meanes.
d Northeast wind.
4 The end prooueth that none prouide worse for themselues, then they which commit themselues to be gouerned onely by their owne wisdome.

8 And with much adoe sailed beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called ẏ Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea.

9 [2] So when much time was spent, and sailing was now ieopardous, because also the [b] Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said vnto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not of the lading and ship onely, but also of our liues.

11 [3] Neuerthelesse the Centurion beleeued rather the gouernour and the master of the shippe, then those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southerne winde blewe softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by [c] it a stormie winde called [d] Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were caried away.

16 And we ran vnder a little Yle named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were caried.

18 [4] The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightned the ship.

19 And the third day wee cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.

21 [5] But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Sirs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candie: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse.

5 God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosens sake.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shalbe no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship onely.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely, all that saile with thee.

25 [6] Wherefore, Sirs, be of good courage: for I beleeue God, that it shall be so as it hath beene tolde me.

6 The promise is made effectuall through faith.

26 Howbeit, wee must be cast into a certaine Iland.

27 [7] And when the fourteenth night was come, as wee were caried to and fro in the [e] Adriaticall sea about midnight, the ship men deemed that some countrey [f] approached vnto them,

7 We attaine and come to the promised and sure saluation through the midst of tempests and death it selfe.
e For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall sea beateth vpon the East shore of Sicilia.
f That they drew neere to some countrey.

28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ancres out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

30 [8] Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boat into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship,

8 There is none so foule an act, whereupon distrust and an euill conscience doe not enforce men.

31 [9] Paul saide vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be safe.

9 Although the performing of Gods promises doth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselues vnworthy of Gods bountifulnesse, which doe not embrace those meanes which God offreth them, either vpon rashnesse or distrust.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 [10] And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an [g] haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thankes to God in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meat.

10 When the world trembleth, the faithfull alone be not onely quiet, but confirme others by their example.
g This is a prouerbe which the Hebrues vse, whereby is meant, that they shalbe safe, and not one of them perish.

37 Now we were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and sixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 [11] And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine [h] creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

11 Then are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the port or hauen is neerest.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the shippe vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoised vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fell into a place, where [i] two seas mette, they thrust in the shippe: and the forepart stucke fast, and could not be mooued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waues.

h A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea.
i So is Isthmus called, because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

11 There is no where m... vnfaithfu...es and vnthank...es then in vnbeleeue...s
13 God hath euen among his enemies them whose helpe be vsed to preserue his.
14 The goodnesse of God ouercommeth mans malice.

42 [11] Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners,l ast any of them,when he had swomme out, should flee away.
43 [13] But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commaunded
that they that could swimme, should cast themselues
first into the sea, and goe out to land:
44 [14] And the other, some on boards,and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe, that they came all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians curtesie towards Paul and his companie. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 He shaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes, 20 the cause of his comming. 23 He preacheth Iesus 30 two yeeres.

a That is it which at this day we call Malta.

AND when they were come safe, then they knew that the Ile was called [a] Melita.
2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no litle kindnesse, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery
one, because of the present showre, and because of the cold.
3 [1] And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks,and laid them on the fire,there came a viper out of the heat,and leapt on his hand.
4 [2] Now when the Barbarians sawe the worme hang on his hand, they said among themselues,
This man surely is a murtherer,whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet [b] Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.
5 But hee shooke off the worme into the fire,
and felt no harme.
6 Howbeit they waited when hee should haue [c] swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: [3] but after they had looked a great while,and sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes,and said, That he was a God.
7 [4] In the same quarters,the chiefe man of the Ile (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.
8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in,and when hee prayed,hee layde his hands on him,and healed him.
9 [5] When this then was done, other also in the Ile, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed.
10 [6] Which also did vs great honour: and when wee departed,they laded vs with things necessarie.
11 ¶ [7] Now after three moneths wee departed in a ship of Alexandria,which had wintred in the Ile, whose [d] badge was Castor, and Pollux.
12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried
there three dayes
13 And from thence wee fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South
wind blewe, and wee came the second day to Puteoli:
14 [8] Where wee found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen daies,and so we went toward Rome.
15 ¶ [9] And from thence when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the [e] Market of Appius, and at the three tauernes, whom when Paul sawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.
16 So when wee came to Rome,the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine:
but Paul was suffered to dwell by [f] himselfe with a souldier that kept him.
17 [10] And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together,and when they were come, hee saide vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people,
or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the handes of the Romanes.
18 Who when they had examined me,would haue let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.
19 [11] But when the Iewes spake contrarie, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar,not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.
20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.
21 Then they said vnto him,We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.
22 But wee will heare of thee what thou thinkest:
for as concerning this sect we know that euerie
where it is spoken against.
23 [12] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whome hee expounded, [g] testifying the kingdome
of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.
24 [13] And some were perswaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.
25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues,they departed, after that Paul had spoken
one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost
by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers, 26 [14] Saying ✝ Goe vnto this people,and say,
By hearing ye shall heare,and shall not vnderstand,
and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.
27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing and with their eyes haue they [h] winked,least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne that I might heale them.
28 [15] Be it knowen therefore vnto you,that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.
29 [16] And when hee had said these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.
30 [17] And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, & receiued all that came in vnto him.
31 Preaching the kingdome of God,and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speech,without let.

1 The godly are sure to haue danger vpon danger, but they haue alwayes a glorious issue.
2 Although aduersitie be the punishment of sinne, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doth not alwayes respect sinne, they iudge rashly, which either doe not wait for the end, or doe iudge and esteeme of men according to prosperitie or aduersitie.

3 There is nothing more vnconstant euery way, then they which are ignorant of true religion.

10 Paul in euery place remembreth himselfe to be an Apostle.
11 We may vse the meanes which God giueth vs but so that wee seeke the glorie of God, and not our selues.
12 The law and the Gospel agree well together.
g By good reasons, and prooued that the kingdome of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.
13 The Gospell is a sauour of life to them that beleeue, & a sauour of death to them that be disobedient.
14 The vnbeleeuers doe willingly resist the trueth, and yet not by chance.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee first sheweth on what authoritie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then hee commendeth the Gospell, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saued, 17 by faith, 21 but were guiltie of wicked vnthankefulnesse to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 29 so that they ranne headlong to all kinde of sinne.

PAVL [1] a [2] a seruant of IESVS
Christ called to be an [b] Apostle, ✠ [c] put apart to preach the Gospel
of God,
2 (Which hee had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)
3 [3] Concerning his [d] Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord (which was [e] made of the seed of Dauid [f] according to the flesh, 4 And [g] declared [h] mightily to be the sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)
5 [i] By whome wee haue receiued [k] grace and Apostleship (that [l] obedience might be giuen vnto
the faith) for his name [m] among all the Gentiles, 6 Among whome ye be also the [n] called of Iesus Christ:
7 To all you that be at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: [o] Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
8 [4] First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is [p] published thorowout the [q] whole world.
9 For God is my witnesse (whom I serue in my [r] spirit in the [s] Gospell of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you.
10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come
vnto you.
11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:
12 That is, that [t] I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.
13 Now my brethren, I would that yee should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue bene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruit also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles.
14 I am detter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the vnwise.
15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am readie to preach the Gospell to you also that are at [u] Rome.
16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospell of Christ: [5] for it is the [x] power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first, and also to the [y] Grecian.
17 [6] For by it the righteousnesse of God is reuealed from [z] faith to faith: [7] as it is written, ✠ The iust shall liue by faith.
18 [8] For the wrath of God is reuealed from heauen against [a] all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withholde the [b] trueth in vnrighteousnesse.
19 [9] Forasmuch as that, which may be knowen of God, is manifest in [c] them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.
20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternall power & Godhead, are seene by the creation of the world, being [d] considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:
21 Because that when they knewe God, they [e] glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but became [f] vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse.
22 When they [g] professed themselues to be wise, they became fooles.
23 For they turned the glorie of the [h] incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foure footed beasts, and of creeping things.
24 [10] Wherefore [i] also God [k] gaue them vp to their hearts lusts, vnto vncleannesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues:
25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lye,
and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking
the Creator, which is blessed for euer, Amen.
26 For this cause God gaue them vp to vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.
27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such [l] recompence of their errour, as was meet.

1 The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable preface vnto verse 16.
2 He wooing the Romanes to giue diligent eare vnto him in that hee sheweth that hee commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messenger vnto the Gentiles, intreateth with them of the waightiest matter, that is promised long since of God, by many fit witnesses, and now at the length performed indeede.
a A minister, for this worde seruant, is not taken in this place, as set against this word, Freeman, but declareth his ministerie and office.
b Whereas hee said before in a generall tearme, that he was a minister, now he commeth to a more speciall name, and saith he is an Apostle, and that he tooke not vpon him this office of his owne head, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes, doeth nothing but his duetie.
c Appointed of God to preach the Gospel.

u He meaneth all them that dwelt in Rome, though some of them were not Romanes, Looke the end of the epistle.
5 The second part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. Chap. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say: to shew that there is but one way to attaine vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Iesus Christ apprehended by faith.
x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to saue men by.
y When this word Grecian, is set against this word Iewe, then doth it signifie a Gentile.
6 The confirmation of the former proposition: we are taught in the Gospel that we are iustified before God by faith which encreaseth daily: and therefore also saued.
z From faith which encreaseth daily.
7 The proofe as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giueth vnto faith both iustice and life before God.
✠ Abak. 2, 4.
8 Another confirmation of that principall question: All men being considered in themselues or without Christ, are guiltie both of godlinesse, and also vnrighteousnesse, and therefore are subiect to condemnation: Therefore must they needs seeke righteousnes in some other.

3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, hee stirreth vp the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof hee entreateth: So then hee sheweth that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospell) is the onely sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seed of Dauid, but touching his diuine and spirituall nature, whereby hee sanctified himselfe, is begotten of the Father from euerlasting, as by his mightie resurrection manifestly appeareth. d This is a plaine testimonie of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties. e Which tooke flesh of the virgin, Dauid his daughter. f As he is man: for this word Flesh, by the figure Synechdoche, is taken for man. g Shewed and made manifest. h The diuine and mightie power is set against the weakenesse of the flesh, for that ouercame death. i Of whom. k This meruailous liberall and gracious gift, which is giuen mee, the least of all the Saints, to preach, &c. Ephes. 3, 8. l That men through faith might obey God. m For his Names sake. n Which through Gods goodnesse, are Christes. o Gods free good will: by peace, the Hebrewes meane a prosperous successe in all things. 4 He procureth their fauourable patience, in that he reckoneth vp their true commendation, and his true Apostolike good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himselfe to witnesse. p Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches. q In all Churches. r Very willingly and with all my heart. s In preaching his Sonne. t Though Paul were neuer so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

a Against all kind of vngodlinesse. b By trueth, Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into fauour with God, but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man. 9 Their vngodlines he prooueth hereby, that although al men haue a most cleare and euident glasse wherein to behold the euerlasting & almightie nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet haue they fallen away from those principles to most foolish & found deuises of their own braines, in constituting and appointing the seruice of God. c In their hearts. d Thou seest not God, and yet thou acknowledgest him as God by his workes, Cicero. e They did not honour him with that honour, and seruice, which was meet for his euerlasting power and Godhead. f As if he said, became so mad of themselues. g Or, thought themselues. h For the true God they tooke another. 10 The vnrighteousnesse of men hee setteth forth first, in this, that euen against nature following their lusts, they defiled themselues one with another, by the iust iudgement of God. i The contempt of religion, is the fountaine of all mischiefe. k As a iust iudge. l A meet reward for their deserts.

11 He prooueth the vnrighteousnesse of man by a large rehearsall of many kindes of wickednesse, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.
m Into a mad and froward minde, whereby it commeth to passe, that the conscience being once put out, and hauing almost no more remorse of sinne, men runne headlong into all kind of mischiefe.
n Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines.

28 11 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a m reprobate minde, to doe these things which are not conuenient,
29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuie, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers,
30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inuenters of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, n couenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer be appeased, mercilesse.
31 Which men, though they knew the o Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not onely doe the same, but also p fauour them that doe them.

o By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselues termed the Law of nations. p Are fellowes and partakers with them in their wickednesse, and besides that, commend them which doe amisse.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee bringeth all before the iudgement seat of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend 14 of ignorance, he taketh quite away. 17 Hee vrgeth the Iewes with the written Law, 23 in which they boasted. 27 And so maketh both Iew and Gentile alike.

1 He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and sayth that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselues would be found guilty in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against themselues.
a Paul alledgeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as euery man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuill himselfe is not able to plucke them out.
b Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shew.
2 A vehement and grieuous crying out against them that please themselues because they see more then other do, and yet are no whit better then others are.

Therefore 1 thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.
2 But we a know that the iudgement of God is according to b trueth, against them which commit such things.
3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?
4 2 Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?
5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, ✠ c heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,
6 3 ✠ Who will reward euery man according to his workes:
7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke d glory, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life:
8 But vnto them that are contentious, and disobey the e trueth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shall be f indignation and wrath.
9 Tribulation and anguish shall be vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.
10 But to euery man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.
11 For there is g no respect of persons with God.

✠ Iam. 5. 3. c Whilest thou giuest thy selfe to pleasures, thinking to increase thy goods, thou shalt find God his wrath. 3 The ground of the former disputation, That both the Iewes and Gentiles haue altogether need of righteousnes. ✠ Psal. 62. 12. matt. 16. 27. reue. 22. 12. d Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before vs as though there were any that could attaine to saluation by his owne strength, but by laying this condition of saluation before vs, which no man can performe: to bring men to Christ, who alone iustifieth the beleeuers, as he himselfe concludeth, chap. 3. 21. and following. e By trueth, he meaneth that knowledge which we haue of nature. f Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled. g God doeth not measure men either by their blood, or by their countrey, either to receiue them, or to cast them away.

12 4 For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Law, shalbe iudged by the Law, 13 5 (For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Law shall be h iustified.
14 6 For when the Gentiles which haue i not the Lawe, doe by k nature the things contained in the Law, they hauing not the Law, are a Law vnto themselues, 15 Which shew the effect of the Law l written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witnes & their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing)
16 7 At the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to m my Gospel.
17 ¶ 8 Behold, thou art called a Iew, and restest in the Law, and gloriest in God, 18 And knowest his will, and n ‖ tryest the things that dissent from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:
19 And perswadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse,
20 An instructer of them which lack discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the o forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the p law.
21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?
22 Thou that saiest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacriledge?
23 Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonourest thou God?
24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, ✠ as it is written.
25 9 For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou doe the Law: but if thou be a transgressour of the Law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.
26 Therefore q if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Law, shall not his r vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?
27 And shall not s vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Law) condemne thee which by the t letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Law?
28 For hee is not a Iewe, which is one u outward,

4 He applieth that generall accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.
5 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Lawe doeth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Lawe doeth iustifie.
h Shalbe pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true indeede, if any such could be found that had fulfilled the law: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes.
6 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they haue not the Lawe of Moses, yet they haue no reason whereby they may excuse their wickednes in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in stead of a Law, as men that forbid, and punish some things as wicked, and command and commend other some as good.
i Not simply, but in comparison of the Iewes.
k Command honest things, and forbid dishonest.
l This knowledge is a naturall knowledge.
7 God deferreth many iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most straight examination, not onely of words and deedes, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret. m As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach. 8 Hee prooueth by the testimonie of Dauid, and the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits vpon the Iewes, in giuing them also the Lawe, but that they are the most vnthankefull and wickedest of all men. n Canst trie & discerne what things swarue from Gods will. ‖ Or allowest the things that are excellent. o The way to teach and frame other in the knowledge of the trueth. p As though he said, that the Iewes vnder a colour of an outward seruing of God, challenged all to themselues, when as indeed, they did nothing lesse then obserue the Lawe. ✠ Esai 52. 5. ezek. 36. 20. 9 Hee preciselv preuenteth their obiection, which set an holinesse in circumcision, and the outward obseruation of the Law: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision if it be separated from the inward, doeth not onely not iustifie, but also condemne them that are indeed circumcised, of whome requireth that, which is signified, that is to say, cleannesse of the heart and the whole life, according to the commaundement of the Law, so that if there be a man vncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is farre better and more to be accounted of, then any Iewe that is circumcised according to the flesh onely. q This is the figure Metonymie, for, if the vncircumcised. r The state and condition of the vncircumcised. s He which is vncircumcised by nature and blood. t Paul vseth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spirituall end of the ceremonie, is true holinesse and righteousnesse whereby the people of God is knowen from profane and heathenish men. u By the outward ceremonie onely.

ward : neither is that circumciſion , which is outward in the fleſh :

29 But he is a Iewe which is one within,and the circumciſion is of the heart,in the [x] ſpirit , not in the letter, whoſe praiſe is not of men, but of God.

CHAP. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes ſome 2 preferment, for the couenants ſake, 4 but yet ſuch, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercie. 9 That both Iewes & Gentiles are ſinners, 11 he proueth by Scriptures: 19 and ſhewing the vſe of the Law, 28 he concludeth that we are iuſtified by faith.

What 1 is then the preferment of the Iew ? or what is the profit of circumciſion ?

2 Much euery maner of way: for [a] chiefly, becauſe vnto them were of credit committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what , though ſome did not [c] beleeue ? ſhall their vnbeleefe make the [d] faith of God without effect ?

4 God forbid : yea, let God be true, and euery man a liar , as it is written , That thou mighteſt be [e] iuſtified in thy words , and ouercome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 2 Now if our [g] vnrighteouſnes commend the righteouſnes of God,what ſhall we ſay? is God vnrighteous which puniſheth? (I ſpeake as [h] a man.)

6 God forbid : (els how ſhall God iudge the world ?)

7 3 For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a ſinner ?

8 And (as we are blamed,and as ſome affirme, that we ſay) why doe we not euill, that good may come thereof ? whoſe damnation is iuſt.

9 4 What then ? are we more excellent ? No, in no wiſe : for we haue already prooued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] vnder ſinne,

10 As it is written, ✣ There is none righteous, noe not one.

11 There is none that vnderſtandeth : there is none that ſeeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way : they haue beene made altogether vnprofitable : there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 ♣ Their throat is an open ſepulchre : they haue vſed their tongues to deceit : the poyſon of aſpes is vnder their lips.

14 ※ Whoſe mouth is full of curſing and bitterneſſe.

15 ✲ Their feete are ſwift to ſhed blood.

16 Deſtruction and calamity are in their waies:

17 And the [l] way of peace they haue not knowen.

18 * The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 5 Now wee knowe that whatſoeuer the [m] law ſayeth, it ſaieth it to them which are vnder the lawe , that 6 euery mouth may be ſtopped, and all the world be [n] ſubiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the Law ſhall no [p] fleſh be [q] iuſtified in his [r] ſight : for by the Law commeth the knowledge of ſinne.

21 7 But now is the righteouſnes of God made manifeſt without the Law , hauing witneſſe of the Law, and of the Prophets, 22 8 To wit , the righteouſneſſe of God by the faith of [ſ] Ieſus Chriſt , vnto all , and vpon all that beleeue.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue ſinned, and are depriued of the [t] glory of God,

24 9 And are iuſtified [u] freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Chriſt Ieſus,

25 10 Whom God hath ſet forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood, to declare his righteouſneſſe , by the forgiueneſſe of the ſinnes that [y] are paſſed,

26 Through the [z] patience of God , to ſhew at [a] this time his righteouſneſſe , that hee might be [b] iuſt, and a [c] iuſtifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Ieſus.

27 11 Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Law ? of workes? Nay : but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore wee conclude , that a man is iuſtified by faith , without the workes of the Lawe.

29 12 God, is hee the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles alſo ? Yes , euen of the Gentiles alſo.

30 For it is one God , who ſhall iuſtifie [g] circumciſion of faith , and vncircumciſion through faith.

31 13 Doe wee then make the Lawe of [h] none effect through faith ? God forbid : yea,wee [i] eſtabliſh the Law.

x Whoſe force is inward, and in the heart.

1 The firſt meeting with, or preuenting an obiection of the Iewes : what then, haue the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles ? yes , that haue they, ſayth the Apoſtle, on Gods behalfe : for he committed the tables of the couenant to them, ſo that the vnbeliefe of a few , can not cauſe the whole nation without exception to be caſt away of God , who is true, and who alſo vſeth their vnworthines to commend and ſet foorth his goodneſſe.

a The Iewes ſtate and condition was chiefeſt.

b Wordes.

c Brake the couenant.

d The faith that God gaue.

e That thy iuſtice might be plainely ſeene.

f Foraſmuch as thou ſhewedſt forth an euident token of thy righteouſnes, conſtancie & faith, by preſeruing him who had broken his couenant.

2 Another preuention , iſſuing out of the former anſwer : that the iuſtice of God is in ſuch ſort commended and ſet foorth by our vnrighteouſneſſe, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world , and therefore a moſt ſeuere reuenger of vnrighteouſneſſe.

g Treachery, and all the fruits thereof.

h Therefore I ſpeake not theſe wordes in mine owne perſon , as though I thought ſo , but this is the talke of mans wiſedome , which is not ſubiect to the will of God. 3 A third obiection which addeth ſomewhat to the former , If ſinnes do turne to the glory of God, they are not onely to be puniſhed, but wee ought rather to giue our ſelues to them : which blaſphemie Paul contending himſelfe to curſe and deteſt , pronounceth iuſt puniſhment againſt ſuch blaſphemers. i The trueth and conſtancie. 4 Another anſwere to the firſt obiection : that the Iewes , if they be conſidered in themſelues , are no better then other men are : as it hath beene long ſince pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets k Are guiltie of ſinne. ✣ Pſal. 14.1.3. and 53.1.3. ♣ Pſal. 5.10. ※ Pſal. 140.3. ※ Pſal. 10.7. ✲ Eſai. 59.7. l An innocent and peaceable life. * Pſal. 36.1. 5 He prooueth that this grieuous accuſation which is vttered by Dauid and Eſaias , doeth properly concerne the Iewes. m The law of Moſes. 6 A concluſion of all the former diſputation , from the 8 verſe of the firſt Chapter Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle , No man can hope to be iuſtified by any Law, whether it be that generall Law, or the particular Law of Moſes , and therefore to be ſaued : ſeeing it appeareth (as we haue already prooued) by comparing the Law and mans life together , that all men are ſinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the ſight of God.

n Be found guilty before God.

o By that that the Law can by vs be performed

p Fleſh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force : for it is put to ſhew the contrarietie betwixt God and man : as if you would ſay , Man who is nothing elſe but a piece of fleſh defiled with ſinne, and God who is moſt pure and moſt perfit in himſelfe.

q Abſolued before the iudgement ſeate of God.

r A ſecret ſetting of the righteouſneſſe which is before men , be they neuer ſo iuſt, againſt the iuſtice which can ſtand before God : now there is no righteouſneſſe can ſtand before God , but the righteouſneſſe of Chriſt onely

7 Therefore ſaieth the Apoſtle , Leaſt that men ſhould periſh , God doth now exhibite that, which he promiſed of old, that is to ſay , a way whereby we may be iuſtified and ſaued before him without the Law.

8 The matter, as it were of this righteouſneſſe, is Chriſt Ieſus apprehended by faith , and for this end offered to all people , as without him all people are ſhut out from the kingdome of God. ſ Which wee giue to Ieſus Chriſt, or which reſteth vpon him. t By the Glory of God, is meant that marke which wee all ſhoote at, that is, euerlaſting life , which ſtandeth in that wee are made partakers of the glory of God. 9 Therefore this righteouſneſſe touching vs, is altogether freely giuen , for it ſtandeth vpon thoſe things which we haue not done our ſelues , but ſuch as Chriſt hath ſuffered for our ſakes , to deliuer vs from ſinne. u Of his free gift , and meere liberalitie. 10 God then is the authour of that free iuſtification, becauſe it pleaſed him: and Chriſt is hee, which ſuffered puniſhment for our ſinnes , and in whom wee haue remiſſion of them : and the meane whereby wee apprehend Chriſt , is faith. To be ſhort, the end is the ſetting foorth of the goodneſſe of God , that by this meanes it may appeare, that hee is mercifull indeede , and conſtant in his promiſes , as hee that freely , and of meere grace iuſtifieth the beleeuers. x This name of Blood, calleth vs backe to the figure of the olde ſacrifices , the trueth and ſubſtance of which ſacrifices is in Chriſt. y Of thoſe ſinnes which wee committed when we were his enemies. z Through his patience and ſuffering nature. a To wit, when Paul wrote this. b That he might be found exceeding true & faithfull. c Making him iuſt, and without blame by imputing Chriſts righteouſneſſe vnto him. d Of the number of them which by faith lay hold vpon Chriſt : contrarie to whome, are they which looke to be ſaued by circumciſion, that is, by the Law. 11 An argument to prooue this concluſion , that we are iuſtified by faith without workes, taken from the end of Iuſtification. The end of Iuſtification is the glorie of God alone . therefore we are iuſtified by faith without workes : for if wee were iuſtified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes , the glorie of this iuſtification ſhould not be wholly giuen to God. e By what doctrine ? now the doctrine of workes hath his condition ioyned with it , If thou doeſt : and the doctrine of faith hath this condition , If thou beleeueſt. 12 Another argument of an abſurditie: if iuſtification depended vpon the Law of Moſes , then ſhould God be a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe : if hee ſhoulde ſaue the Iewes after one ſort . and the Gentiles after another , hee ſhould not be one and like himſelfe. Therefore hee will iuſtifie both of them after one ſelfe ſame manner, that is to ſay, by faith. Moreouer, this argument muſt be ioyned to that which followeth next , that this concluſion may be firme and euident. f God is ſaid to be their God , after the manner of the Scripture , whome hee loueth and tendereth. g The circumciſed. 13 The taking away of an obiection: yet is not the Law taken away therefore, but is rather eſtabliſhed, as it ſhalbe declared in his proper place. h Vaine, voide, to no purpoſe, and of no force. i Wee make it effectuall and ſtrong.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

He prooueth that which he sayd before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3 6 and the testimonie of the Scripture: and ten times in the Chapter he beateth vpon this word Imputation.

WHat [1] shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the [a] flesh?

2 [2] For if Abraham were iustified by works, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 [3] For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteousnesse.

4 [4] Now to him that [b] worketh, the wages is not [c] counted by fauour, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that [d] iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse.

6 [5] Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without works, saying,

7 Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne.

9 [6] Came this [e] blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousnesse.

10 [7] How was it then imputed? when hee was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when hee was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised.

11 [8] After, hee receiued the [f] signe of circumcision, as the [g] seale of the righteousnes of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, [9] that hee should be the father of all them that beleeue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also.

12 [10] And the father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was vncircumcised.

13 [11] For the promise that hee should be the [h] heire of the world, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seed, through the [i] Law, but through the righteousnesse of faith.

14 [12] For if they which are of the [k] Law, be heires, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 [13] For the Law causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.

16 [14] Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the [l] seed, [15] not to that onely which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham who is the father of vs all,

17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a [16] father of many nations) euen before [m] God whom he beleeued, who [n] quickneth the dead, & [o] calleth those things which be not, as though they were.

18 [17] Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.

19 And he [p] not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now [q] dead, being almost an hundred yeere old, neither the deadnesse of Saras wombe,

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue [r] glory to God,

21 Being [s] fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse.

23 [18] Now is it not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse,

24 But also for vs, to whom it shall be imputed for righteousnesse, which beleeue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead,

25 Who was deliuered to death for our [t] sinnes, and is risen againe for our iustification.

1 A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the proposition: if Abraham be considered in himselfe by his workes, he hath deserued nothing wherein to reioyce with God.
a By works, as appeareth in the next verse.
2 A preuenting of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God.
3 A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his works.
4 The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserueth any thing by his labor, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing: but beleeueth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed.
b To him that hath deserued any thing by his worke.
c Is not reckoned nor giuen him.
d That maketh him which is wicked in himselfe, iust in Christ.
5 Another proofe of the same confirmation: Dauid putteth blessednes in free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also. 6 A new proposition: that this maner of iustification belongeth both to the vncircumcised, and also to the circumcised: as is declared in the person of Abraham. e This saying of Dauid, wherein he pronounceth them blessed. 7 He prooueth that it belongeth to the vncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcised) in this sort: Abraham was iustified in vncircumcision, therefore this iustification belongeth also to the vncircumcised. Nay it doth not appertaine to the circumcised in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are vncircumcised shut out for their vncircumcision. 8 A preuenting of an obiection: why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousnes (saith he) might be confirmed in him. f Circumcision, which is a signe: as we say, the Sacrament of Baptisme, for Baptisme which is a Sacrament. g Circumcision was called before a signe, in respect of the outward ceremony: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, to what end it is vsed, to wit, not onely to signifie, but also to seale vp the righteousnesse of faith, whereby we come to possesse Christ himselfe: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly indeed, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the word, doe represent. 9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumcised beleeuers, whose father also he maketh Abraham. 10 And applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleeuers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith. 11 A reason why the seed of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of that promise, whereby he was made the father of all nations. h That all the nations of the world should be his children: or by the world may be vnderstood the land of Canaan. i For works that he had done, or vpon this condition that he should fulfill the Law. 12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith should be ioyned in vaine to that promise which should be apprehended by workes. k If they be heires which haue fulfilled the Law.

13 A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, forsomuch as no man can obserue it.
14 The conclusion of this argument: The saluation and iustification of all the posteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith, which layeth hold on the promise made vnto Abraham, and which promise Abraham himselfe first of all layed hold on.
15 That is to say, not onely of them which beleeue and are also circumcised according to the Lawe, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham. 16 This fatherhood is spirituall, depending onely vpon the vertue of God, who made the promise. m Before God, that is, by a spirituall kinred, which hath place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God. n Who restored to life. o With whom these things are already, which as yet are not in deed, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing. 17 A description of true faith, wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set foorth in the example of Abraham. p Very strong and constant. q Void of strength, and vnmeet to get children. r Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true. s A description of true faith 18 The rule of iustification is alwayes one, both in Abraham and in all the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sinnes in Christ our mediatour, raised him from the dead, that we also being iustified, might be saued in him. t To pay the ransome for our sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Christs righteousnesse, which is layed hold on by faith. 5 who was giuen for the weake, 8 and sinfull. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam, 17 Death with Life, 20 and the Law with Grace.

1 THen being [1] iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ.

2 ✠ [2] By whom also through faith wee haue [a] had this accesse into this grace [b] wherein wee [c] stand, [3] and [d] reioyce vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 [4] Neither that onely, but also we ✠ reioyce in tribulations, [5] knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience.

1 Another argument taken of the effects: we are iustified with that, which truely appeaseth our conscience before God: but faith in Christ doth appease our conscience, and not the Law, as it was before sayd, therefore by faith wee are iustified, and not by the Law. ✠ Ephes. 2.18. 2 Whereas quietnesse of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ; who is the giuer of faith it selfe, and in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. a We must here know, that wee haue yet still this same effect of faith. b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue and good will, or to that state whereunto wee are graciously taken. c We stand stedfast. 3 A preuenting of an obiection against them, which beholding the dayly miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they bragge of their felicitie: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicitie is layed vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they doe no lesse reioyce for that happinesse, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our mindes are not onely quiet and setled, but also we are maruellously glad and conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance which waiteth for vs. 4 Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doth it make vs miserable. ✠ Iam. 1. 2. 5 Afflictions accustome vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnesse of God, and this experience confirmeth, and fostereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith: whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.
e Wherewith he loueth vs.
7 A sure comfort in aduersitie, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loued them that were of no strength, and while they were yet sinners, that hee died for them, how can he neglect them being now sanctified and liuing in him?
f In time fit and conuenient, which the father hath appointed.
✠ Heb.9.15. 1.pet.3.18.
8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, so that we cannot doubt of it, who deliuered Christ to death for the vniust, and for them of whom he could receiue no commoditie, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it be then that Christ being now aliue, should not saue them from destruction, whom by his death he iustifieth and reconcileth?
g In the stead of some iust man.
h He setteth out his loue unto vs, that in the middest of our affliction we may know assuredly, he will be present with vs.
i While sinne reigned in vs.
k From affliction and destruction.
9 He now passeth ouer to the other part of iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: so that to the remission of sinnes there is added moreouer and besides, the gift of Christes righteousnesse, imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which swalloweth vp that vnrighteousnesse which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the fruits thereof: so that in Christ wee doe not onely cease to be vniust, but we beginne also to be iust.
10 From Adam, in whom all haue sinned, both guiltinesse and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all.
l By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make those which are theirs, partakers of that they haue: but they are vnlike in this, that Adam deriueth sinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousnesse by grace, and that vnto life.
m By sinne is meant that disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it originall sinne: for so he vseth to call that sinne in the singular number, whereas, if he speake of the fruits of it, he vseth the plurall number, calling them sinnes.
n That is, in Adam.
11 That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death beganne not after the giuing and transgressing of Moses Lawe, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen: for in that they died, sinne, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputed: wherevpon it followeth that there was then some Law, the breach whereof was the cause of death.
o Euen from Adam to Moses.
p Where there is no Law made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie.
12 But that this Lawe was not that vniuersall Lawe, and that death did not proceed from any actuall sinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could euer knowe nor transgresse that naturall Lawe, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam.
q Ouer infants.
r Not after that sort as they sinne that are of moe yeeres, following their lusts: but yet the whole posteritie was corrupt in Adam, when as hee wittingly and willingly sinned.
13 Now that first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared.
14 Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them do giue and yeeld to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spread his fault to the destruction of many, but Christs obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many.
s That is, Adam.
15 An other inequalitie consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guilty, but the righteousnesse of Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely absolue vs from that one fault, but from all other.

4 And patience experience, and experience
hope,
5 6 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the e loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.
6 7 For Christ, when wee were yet of no strength, at his f time died for the ✠ vngodly.
7 8 Doubtlesse one will scarce die g for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.
8 But God h setteth out his loue toward vs, seeing that while wee were yet i sinners, Christ died for vs.
9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shalbe saued from k wrath through him.
10 For if when wee were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saued by his life,
11 9 And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.
12 10 Wherefore, as by l one man m sinne en-tred into the world, and death by sinne, & so death went ouer all men, n in whom all men haue sinned.
13 11 For vnto the o time of the Law was sinne in the world, but sinne is not p imputed, while there is no law.
14 12 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer q them also that sinned not after the like r maner of the transgression of Adam, 13 which was the figure of him that was to come.
15 14 But yet the gift is not so as is the offence:
for if through the offence of s that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.
16 15 Neither is the gift so, as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to t iustification.
17 16 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, u reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.
18 17 Likewise then, as by the offence of one,
the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the x iustification of life.
19 18 For as by one mans y disobedience z many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one, shall many also be made righteous.
20 19 Moreouer, the Law a entred therevpon, that the offence should abound: neuerthelesse,
where sinne abounded, there grace b abounded much more:
21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousnesse vnto eternall life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

t To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit, and pronounced righteous.
16 The third difference is, that the righteousnesse of Christ being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his posteritie to death.
u Be partakers of true and euerlasting life.
17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence, the guiltines on all men, to make them subiect to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousnes of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleeuers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlasting life.
x Not onely because our sinnes are forgiuen vs, but also because the righteousnesse of Christ is imputed vnto vs.
18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stocks or rootes, so that out of the one, sinne by nature, out of the other, righteousnesse by grace doeth spring foorth vpon others.
y So then sinne entred not into vs onely by following the steppes of our forefathers, but we take corruption of him by inheritance.
z This word, Many, is set against this word, A few.
19 A preuenting of an obiection. why then did the Law of Moses enter therevpon? that men might be so much the more guiltie, and the benefit of God in Christ Iesus be so much the more glorious.
a Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entred.
b Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counteruaile sinne, but aboue measure passed it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christes righteousnesse, he prooueth 4 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 12 and therevpon exhorteth to holinesse of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

WHat 1 shall wee say then? Shall we continue still in a sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.
2 2 How shall we, that are b dead to sinne, liue
yet therein?
3 3 Know ye not, that ✠ all wee which haue beene baptized into c Iesus Christ, haue beene baptized into his death?
4 ✠ We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, that like as Christ was raised vp from the dead d to the glory of the Father, so e wee also should ✠ walke in newnesse of life.

1 He passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneration.
a In that corruption: for though the guiltinesse of sinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth still in vs: the which Sanctification that followeth Iustification killeth by litle and litle.
a The benefit of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ, by the grace of God: Now sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleannesse and purenesse of nature reformed.
b They are sayd of Paul to be dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christ, that that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruits: and on the other side, they are sayd to liue in sinne, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not deliuered from the slauerie of the corruption of nature.
3 There are three parts of this Sanctification, to wit, the death of the olde man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefit our baptisme is the signe and pledge.
✠ Gal.3.27.
c To the end that growing vp in one with him, we should receiue his strength, to quench sinne in vs, and to make vs new men.
✠ Coloss.2.12.
d That Christ himselfe being discharged of his infirmitie and weakenesse, might liue in glory with God for euer.
e And wee which are his members rise for this ende, that being made partakers of the selfesame vertue, we should begin to leade a new life, as though we were already in heauen.
✠ Ephes.4.23 coloss.3.8 hebr.12.1. 1.pet.2,1.
4 The death of sinne and the life of righteousnesse, or our ingraffing into Christ, and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any meanes, neither in death nor life, whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth still to sinne: and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not, and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he sayd before, the Law is not subuerted, but established by faith.
✱ 1.Cor.6,14. 2.tim.2,11.

§ similitude

f Insomuch as by the meanes of the strength which commeth from him to vs, we so die to sinne as he is dead.
g For we become euery day more perfit then other: for we shall neuer be perfectly sanctified, as long as we liue here.
h All our whole nature, as we are conceiued and borne into this world with sinne, which is called olde, partly by comparing that old Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.
i Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deede, but by imputation.
k That naughtines which sticketh fast in vs.

similitude of his death, euen so shall we g be to the similitude of his resurrection, 6 Knowing this, that our h old man is crucified with i him, that the body of k sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not l serue sin.
7 5 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.
8 Wherefore, if wee be dead with Christ, wee beleeue that we shall liue also with him, 9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.
10 For in that he died, he died m once to sinne:
but in that he liueth, he liueth to n God.
11 Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are aliue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.
12 6 Let not sinne o reigne therefore in your mortall body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof:
13 Neither p giue ye your q members, as r weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnes vnto God.
14 7 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer
you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.
15 8 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.
16 ✠ Knowe yee not, that to whomsoeuer ye giue your selues as seruants to obey, his seruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse?
17 9 But God be thanked, that ye haue beene
the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the f forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.
18 Being then made free from sinne, yee
are made the seruants of righteousnesse.
19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as ye haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now giue your members
seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse.
20 For when ye were the seruants of sinne, yee were t freed from righteousnesse.
21 10 What fruite had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the u ende of those things is death.
22 But now being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holinesse, and the end, euerlasting life.
23 11 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

7 Hee granteth that sinne is not yet so dead in vs, that it is vtterly extinct: but he promised victory to them that contend manfully, because we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh so, that the Lawe is not now in vs the power and instrument of sinne.
8 To be vnder the Law and vnder sinne, signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side, to be vnder grace and righteousnesse, agree to them that are regenerate. Nowe these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousnes expel sinne. ✠ Iohn 8.34.
2.pet.2.19. 9 By nature we are slaues to sinne, and free from righteousnes, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to righteousnesse, and therefore free from sinne. f This kinde of speech hath a force in it: for hee meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine mould which wee are cast into to be framed and fashioned like vnto it. t Righteousnesse had no rule ouer
you. 10 An exhortation to the studdie of righteousnes and hatred of sinne, the contrary endes of both being set downe before vs. u The reward or payment.
11 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto life euerlasting.

CHAP. VII.

1 He declareth what it is, to be no more vnder the Law,
2 by an example taken of the Lawe of marriage. 7. 13.
And lest the Lawe should seeme faultie, 14 hee prooueth, that our sinne is the cause, 15 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was giuen vs vnto life. 21 He setteth out the battell betweene the flesh and the spirit,

(know ye not, brethren, for I speake to them that know the Lawe) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?
2 ✠ For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Law to the man, while hee liueth. but if the man be dead, shee is deliuered from the Law of the man.
3 So then, if while the man liueth, shee taketh
another man, shee shalbe a called an ✠ adulteresse:
but if the man be dead, she is free from the Lawe,
so that she is not an adulteresse, though shee take another man.
4 2 So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Law
by the b body of Christ, that ye should be to another,
euen vnto him that is raised vp from the dead,
that we should bring forth c fruit vnto d God.
5 3 For when we were in the e flesh, the f affections of sins, which were by the g law, had h force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death.
6 But now we are deliuered from the Law, he i being dead k in whom we were l holden, that we should serue in m newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldnesse of the n letter.
7 4 What shall we say then? Is the Law sinne?
God forbid. Nay, I knew not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen o lust, except the Law had sayd, ∵ Thou shalt not lust.
8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commandement,
and wrought in me all maner of concupiscence:
for without the Law sinne is p dead.
9 5 For I once was aliue, without the q lawe:
but when the commandement r came, sinne reuiued, 10 But I f died: and the same commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.
11 For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby slew me.
12 6 Wherefore the Lawe is ✠ holy, and that
t commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

1 Expounding the similitude of a marriage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The law of matrimony, saith he, is this, that so long as the husband liueth, the marriage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry againe.
✠ 1.Cor.7.39.
a That is, shee shall be an adulteresse, by the consent & iudgement of all men.
✠ Matth.5.32.
2 An amplification of the similitude thus: So, saith he, doeth it fare with vs: for now we are ioyned to the spirit, as it were to the second husband, by whom we bring foorth children: we are dead in respect of the first husband, but in respect of the latter, we are as it were raised from the dead.
b That is, in the body of Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand how straight and neere that felowship is betwixt Christ and his members.
c He calleth the children, which the wife hath by her husband, fruit.
d Which are acceptable to God.
3 A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscence

(saith hee) which the law stirred vp in vs, were in vs as it were an husband, of whom we brought forth very deadly & cursed children. But now since that husband is dead, and consequently being deliuered from the force of that killing law, we haue passed into the gouernance of the spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten and dead, but liuely children. e When we were in the state of the first mariage, which he calleth in the next verse following, the oldnes of the letter. f The motions that egged vs to sinne, which shew their force euen in our minds. g He saith not, of the law, but by the law, because they spring of sin which dwelleth within vs, & take occasion to worke thus in vs, by reason of the restraint that the law maketh, not that the fault is in the law, but in our selues. h Wrought their strength. i As if he said, The bond which bound vs, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch, that sinne which held vs, hath not now wherewith to hold vs.
k For this husband is within vs. l Satan is an vniust possessor, for he brought vs in bondage of sinne and himselfe deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, we sinne willingly. m As becommeth them, which after the death of their old husband are ioyned to the spirit: & whom the spirit of God hath made new men. n By the letter he meaneth the law, in respect of that olde condition:
for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the law speaketh but to deafe men, & therefore it is dumbe & dead to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it. 4 An obiection: What then? are the law and sinne all one, and do they agree together?
nay, saith he: Sinne is reprooued and condemned by the law. But because sinne cannot abide to be reprooued, & was not in a maner felt vntill it was prouoked & stirred vp by the law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outragious, and yet by no fault of the law. o By the word, Lust, in this place he meaneth not euill lusts themselues, but the fountaine from whence they spring: for the very heathen philosophers themselues condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly, but as for this fountaine of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seat of this naturall and vncleane spot and filth. ∵ Exo.20.17. deut.
5.21. p Though sinne be in vs, yet it is not knowen for sinne, neither doth it so rage, as it rageth after that the law is knowen. 5 He setteth himselfe before vs for an example, in whom all men may beholde, first, what they are of nature before they earnestly thinke vpon the law of God: to wit, blockish, and heady to sinne and wickednes, without all true sence and feeling of sinne, then what maner of persons they become, when their conscience is reprooued by the testimonie of the law, to wit, stubburne, and more enflamed with the desire of sinne, then euer they were before. q When I knew not the law, then me thought I liued in deed: for my conscience neuer troubled mee, because it knew not my disease. r When I began to vnderstand the commandement. f In sinne, or by sinne. 6 The conclusion:
That the lawe of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which abuse the law.

4 And patience experience, and experience
hope,
might x appeare [illegible] me by that which is good, that sinne might be y out of measure sinfull by the commandement.
14 8 For wee know that the Law is spirituall,
but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.
15 9 For I 10 allow not that which I do: for what I 11 would, that do I not: but what I hate, that doe I.
16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.
17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but z sinne that dwelleth in me.
18 12 For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to wil is present with me:
but I find a no means to performe that which is good, 19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euill, which I would not, that doe I.
20 Now if I doe that I would not, it is no more
I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.
21 13 I finde then that when I would do good,
I am thus yoked, that euill is present with me.
22 For I delight in the Law of God, concerning the b inner man,
23 But I see another lawe in my members, re-belling against the Lawe of my c minde, and leading mee captiue vnto the Lawe of sinne, which is in my members.
24 14 O d wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the body of this death!
25 I e thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then I f my selfe in my minde serue the Law of God, but in my flesh, the law of sinne.

7 The [illegible] That the Law [illegible] not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not onely discouered, but also stirred vp, and tooke occasion thereby to rebell, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence commeth guiltinesse, and occasion of death.

u Beareth it the blame of my death?

x That sinne might shew it selfe to be sinne, and bewray it selfe to be that, which it is in deed.

y As euill as it could, shewing all the venime it could.

8 The cause of this matter, is this: Because that the Law requireth a heauenly purenes, but men, such as they be borne, are bondslaues of corruption, which they willingly serue.

9 He setteth himselfe, being regenerate, before vs, for an example, in whom may easily appeare the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Law of God, and our wickednes. For since that the Law in a man not regenerate bringeth forth death onely, therefore in him it may easible be accused: but seeing that in a mã which is regenerate, it bringeth forth good fruit, it doth better appeare that euill actions proceede not from the Law, but from sinne, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also, what the true vse of the Law is, in reproouing sinne in the regenerate, vnto the end of the chapter, as a little before (to wit, from the seuenth verse vnto this fifteenth) he declared the vse of it in them which are not regenerate. 10 The deedes of my life, saith he, answere not, nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Law, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth euidently, that the Law & a right ruled will do perswade one thing, but corruption which hath her seate also in the regenerate, another thing. 11 It is to be noted, that one selfe same man is said to will & not to will, in diuers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as he was borne. But because the part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conquerour, therefore Paul susteining the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sinned willingly, were something without a man: although afterwarde hee granteth that this euill is in his flesh, or in his members. z That naturall corruption, which cleaueth fast euen to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conquered. 12 This vice, or sinne, or lawe of sinne doeth wholy possesse those men which are not regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are regenerate. a This doeth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a newe man: for where the Spirit is not, how can there be any strife there? 13 The conclusion: As the Law of God exhorteth to goodnesse, so doeth the Lawe of sinne (that is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force vs to wickednesse: but the Spirit, that is, our minde, in that that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Lawe of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondslaue to the Law of sinne. Therefore to be short, wickednesse and death are not of the Law, but of sinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and doe euill: But in them that are regenerate it striueth against the Spirit or Lawe of the minde, so that they cannot either liue so well as they would, or be so voyde of sinne as they would. b The inner man, and the new man are all one, & are answereable and set as contrary to the olde man: neither doeth this word, Inner man, signifie mans minde and reason, and the olde man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatsoeuer is either without or within a man, from tope to toe, so long as that man is not borne anew by the grace of God. c The Lawe of the minde in this place, is not to be vnderstood of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirite of God. 14 It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subiect to sinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but wee must cry to the Lord, who will by death it selfe at length make vs conquerours as wee are allready conquerours in Christ. d Wearied with miserable and continuall conflicts. e Hee recouereth himselfe, and sheweth vs that he resteth onely in Christ. f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to confesse that they are imperfite.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit, 3 howsoeuer they be as yet burdened with sinnes. 9 For they liue through that Spirit, 14 Whose testimonie, 15 driueth away all feare. 28 and releeueth our present miseries.

NOw 1 then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which 2 walke not after the a flesh, but after the Spirit.
2 3 For the b Law of the Spirit of c life which is in d Christ Iesus, hath e freed me from the Law of sinne and of death.
3 4 For (that that was f impossible to the Law, in as much as it was weake, because of the g flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the similitude of h sinful flesh, and for i sinne, k condemned sin in the flesh, 4 That that l righteousnes of the Lawe might be fulfilled 5 in vs, which walke not after the flesh,
but after the Spirit.
5 6 For they that are after the m flesh, sauour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.
6 7 For the wisedome of the flesh is death: but the wisdome of the Spirit is life and peace, 7 8 Because the wisedome of the flesh is eni-mitie against God: 9 for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can be.
8 10 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.
9 11 Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, because the spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

1 A conclusion of all the former disputation from vers. 16. of chap. 1. euen to this place: Seeing that wee being iustified by faith in Christ, do obtaine remission of sins and imputation of righteousnes, and are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are graffed into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.

2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctification, which is begun in vs, doe not ingraft vs into Christ, but doe declare that wee are graffed into him.

a Follow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not sayd to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he step away.

3 A preuenting of an obiection: seeing that the vertue of the spirit which is in vs, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? because saith he, that vertue of the quicking spirit which is so weake in vs, is most perfit and most mighty in Christ, and being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, causeth vs to be so accounted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption, and death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul disputed of remission of sins, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but now he speaketh of the perfit imputation of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: for our sinnes are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltines of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Christ obedience: and the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinfull sinne) is healed in vs by little and little, by the gift of sanctification, but yet it lacketh besides that another remedy, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christes owne flesh, which also is to vs imputed. b The power & authority of the spirit, against which is set the tyranny of sin. c Which mortifieth the olde man, and quickneth the new man. d To wit, absolutely and perfitely. e For Christs sanctification being imputed vnto vs, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in vs. 4 He vseth no argument here, but expoundeth the mystery of sanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for because, saith he, that the vertue of the law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfit: and for that it rather kindled the disease of sin, then did put it out and extinguish it, therefore God cloathed his Son with flesh like vnto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vtterly abolished our corruption, that being accounted thorowly pure and without fault in him apprehended & layd hold on by faith, we might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, & therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. f Which is not proper to the Law, but commeth by our fault. g In man not born anew, whose disease the law could point out, but it could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through sin, vntill he sanctified it. i To abolish sin in our flesh. k Shewed that sin hath no right in vs. l The very substance of the law of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the law requireth, that wee may be found iust before God: for if with our iustification there be ioyned that sanctification which is imputed to vs, we are iust, according to that perfect forme which the Lord requireth. 5 He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ: which is a most plentifull fruit of a godly & honest life. 6 A reason, why to walke after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the spirit agreeth and is meet for them: because, saith he, that they which are after the flesh, sauour the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit. m They that liue as the flesh leadeth them 7 He prooueth the consequent: because that whatsoeuer the flesh fauoureth, that ingendreth death: and whatsoeuer the spirit fauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euerlasting. 7 A reason and proofe, why the wisedome of the flesh is death: because, saith he, it is the enemy of God 9 A reason why the wisdome of the flesh is enemy to God, because it neither will neither can be subiect to him. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate. 10 The conclusion: therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth that they are not ingraffed into Christ 11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the spirit, of whom we haue to vnderstand contrary things to the former: and first of all he defineth what it is to be in the spirit, or to be sanctified; to wit, to haue the spirit of God dwelling in vs; then he declareth, that sanctification is so ioyned and knit to our graffing in Christ, that it can by no meanes be separated.

10 12 And

10 [12] And if Christ be in you, the [n] body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousnesse sake.
11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Ie-sus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that [o] dwelleth in you.
12 [14] Therefore brethren, wee are debters not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh:
13 [15] For if ye liue after the flesh, yee shall die:
but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.
14 [16] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.
15 [17] For yee haue not receiued the [p] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but ye haue receiued ỳ Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.
16 The same Spirit beareth witnesse with our spirit, that we are the children of God.
17 [18] If we be children, we are also [s] heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: [19] if so be that wee suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.
18 [20] For I [t] count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shallbe shewed vnto vs.
19 [21] For the feruent desire of the [u] creature
waiteth when the sonnes of God shallbe reuealed, 20 Because the creature is subiect to [x] vanitie, not of it [y] owne will, but by reason [z] of him, which hath subdued it vnder [a] hope, 21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.
22 For wee know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and [c] trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.
23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen wee doe sigh in our [d] selues, waiting for the adoption, euen ✠ [e] the redemption of our body.
24 [23] For wee are saued by hope: but [f] hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?
25 But if we hope for that we see not, wee doe with patience abide for it.
26 [24] Likewise the Spirit also [g] helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh [h] request for vs with sighs, which cannot be expressed.
27 But hee that searcheth the hearts, knoweth
what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for ỳ Saints, [k] according to the will of God.
28 [25] Also we know that [l] all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his [m] purpose.
29 For those which hee knew before, he also predestinate to bee made like to the image of his Sonne, that hee might be the first borne among many brethren.
30 Moreouer, whom he [n] predestinate, them also he called, & whom he called, them also he iusti-fied, and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.
31 [26] What shall wee then say to these things?
If God be on our side, who can be against vs?
32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him [o] giue vs all things also?
33 [27] Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is [p] God that iustifieth.
34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead: yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.
35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of [q] Christ? shall tribulation, or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or peril, or sword?
36 As it is written, ✠ For thy sake are we killed al day long: we are conted as sheep for ỳ slaughter.
37 [r] Neuerthelesse, in all these things wee are more then conquerers through him that loued vs.
38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,
39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

12 He confirmeth the faithfull against the relikes of flesh and sinne, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, lumpe) which is not yet purged from his earthly filthines, in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of his combate, because that euen the litle sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousnesse, is the seede of life, n The flesh, or all that which as yet sticked fast in the clefts of sinne, and death.

13 A confirmation of the former sentence: You haue the selfe same Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall doe the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly layd aside, and dead ouercome, it shall cloath you with heauenly glory. o By the vertue and power of it, which shewed the same might first in our head, and dayly worketh in his members. 14 An exhortation to oppresse the flesh dayly more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are detters vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefites of him. 15 Another reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as striue and fight valiantly, shall haue euerlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therefore shall they haue life euerlasting. 17 He declareth and expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers; because saith hee, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible, and fearefull, but a most benigne & louing Father in Christ, so that with great boldnes we call him Father, the holy Ghost sealing their adoption in our hearts by faith. p By the Spirit is meant the holy Ghost, whom we are said to receiue, when he worketh in our minds. q Which feare is stirred vp in our minds, by the preaching of the Law. r Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouthes. 18 A proofe of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the Sonne of God, doeth enioy God with Christ. s Partakers of our fathers goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption. 19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first, that we haue Christ a companion & fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shallbe also his fellowes in that euerlasting glory. 20 Thirdly, that this glory which we looke for doeth a thousand parts surmount the misery of our afflictions. t All being well considered, I gather. 21 Fourthly, he plainely teacheth vs that wee shall certainely be renued from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sinne of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect. u All this world. x Is subiect to a vanishing & flitting state. y Not by their naturall inclination. z That they should obey the Creatours commandement, whom it pleased to shew by their fickle estate, how greatly he was displeased with man. a God would not make the world subiect to euerlasting curse, for the sinne of man, but gaue it hope that it should be restored. b From the corruption which they are now subiect to, they shallbe deliuered and changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shallbe reuealed when the sonnes of God shallbe aduanced to glory. c By this word is meant, not onely exceeding sorow, but also the fruit that followeth of it. 22 Fiftly, if the rest of the world looke for a restoring, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs also to sigh, yea, let vs be more certainely perswaded of our redemption to come, forasmuch as we haue the first fruits of the Spirit;

d Euen from the bottome of our heartes.
✠ Luke 21.28.
e That last restoring, which shalbe the accomplishment of our adoption.
23 Sixtly, hope is necessarily ioyned with faith: seeing then that we beleeue those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope respecteth not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently wait for that which we beleeue shall come to passe.
f This is spoken by the figure Metonymie: Hope, for that which is hoped for.
24 Seuenthly, There is no cause why we should faint vnder the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister vnto vs a most sure helpe, which can not be frustrate, seeing they proceed from the Spirit of God, which dwelleth in vs.
g Beareth our burden, as it were that we faint not vnder it.
h Prouoketh vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were within, what we shall say, and how we shall grone.
i What sobs and sighs proceed from the instinct of his Spirit.
k Because he teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will.
25 Eightly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great profit, who as he chose vs from the beginning, so that hee predestinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in his time, being called and iustified, to glory, by the crosse. l Not onely afflictions, but whatsoeuer els. m He calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will & pleasure. n He vseth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrewes vse, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signifie the certainty of it: & he hath also a regard to Gods continuall working. 26 Ninthly, wee haue no cause to feare that the Lord wil not giue vs whatsoeuer is profitable for vs, seeing that hee hath not spared his owne Sonne to saue vs. o Giue vs freely. 27 A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that wee haue neede to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absolueth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse neede wee to feare damnation, seeing that we rest vpon the death and resurrection, the almightie power and defence of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so weightie in this life, or of so great force & power, that might feare vs, as though we might fall from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Christ: Surely nothing. Seeing ỳ it is in it selfe most constant & sure, & also in vs being confirmed by stedfast faith. p Who pronounceth vs, not onely guiltlesse, but also perfitly iust in his Sonne. q Wherewith Christ loueth vs. ✠ Psal. 44.22. r We are not onely not ouercome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

1 He answereth an obiectiō, ỳ might be brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 & telleth of two sorts of Abrahams childrē, 15 & that God worketh althings in this matter according to his will, 20 euen as the potter doth. 24.30 He prooueth aswell the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the reiecting of the Iewes, 25.27 by the testimonie of the Prophets.

I Say [1] the trueth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witnesse in the holy Ghost,

all sorow in mine heart.

men according to the [b] flesh,

in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercy.

1 The third part of this Epistle, euen to the twelft Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all, because he purposed to speake much of the casting off of the Iewes, he vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple oathe, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their saluation, his singular loue towards them and there withall granting vnto them all their prerogatiues.

a The Apostle loued his brethren so entirely, that if it had bene possible, he would haue beene ready to haue redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the losse of his owne soule for euer: for this word separate, betokeneth as much in this place.

b Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and countrey.

c The arke of the couenant, which was a token of Gods presence.

10 The first obiection: If God doth loue or hate vpon no consideration of worthines or vnworthines, then is he vniust, because he may loue them which are vnworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, and afterward answereth it seuerally, point by point.

n Mans wit knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this obiection riseth.

11 He answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in chusing of whom, he denieth that God may seeme vniust, although he chuse and predestinate to saluation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthinesse: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed end, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cause next vnder predestination. Now mercy presupposeth miserie, and againe miserie presupposeth sinne or voluntarie corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreouer mercy is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will shew afterward. Nowe all these things, orderly following the purpose of God, doe clearely prooue that he can by no meanes seeme vniust in louing and sauing his. ✠ Exod. 33.19. o I will be mercifull & fauourable to whom I list to be fauourable. p I will haue compassion on whomsoeuer I list to haue compassion. 12 The conclusion of the answere: Therefore God is not iniust in chusing & sauing of his free goodnes, such as it pleaseth him, as he also answered Moses, when he prayed for all the people. q By will, he meaneth the thought & endeuour of heart, & by running, good works: to neither of which he giueth the prayse, but onely to the mercy of God. 13 Now hee answereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, & hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthines. And first of all hee prooueth this to be true, by alleadging the testimonie of God himselfe touching Pharao, whom he stirred vp to this purpose, that he might be glorified in his hardning and iust punishing. r God so speaketh vnto Pharao in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God so speaking to Pharao, Exod. 9.16. s Brought thee into this world. 14 Secondly, he bringeth the end of Gods counsell, to shewe that there is no vnrighteousnes in him. Now this chiefest end, is not properly & simply the destruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their rightful punishment. 15 A conclusion of the full answere to the first obiection: therefore seeing God doth not saue them whom he freely chose according to his good will & pleasure, but by iustifying & sanctifying them by his grace, his counsell in sauing them cannot seeme vniust. And againe, there is no vniustice in the euerlasting counsell of God touching the destruction of them whom he listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth: Therefore the third answere for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euerlasting counsel of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding be concealed in the former verse, because the History of Pharao was wel knowen. But the force of the word is great: for Hardning, which is set against Mercy, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe corruption presupposeth a perfit state of creation. Moreouer, this hardning also is voluntary, for God so hardneth being offended with corruption, that he vseth their owne wil whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of Hardening, to wit, vnbeliefe and sinne, which are the true & proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doeth hee harden? because they are corrupt: why doeth he condemne? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnesse? Nay, if hee should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should he doe iniurie? t Whom it pleased him to appoint, to shew his fauour vpon. 16 An other obiection but onely for the reprobate, rising vpon the former answere. If God doe appoint to euerlasting destruction, such as hee listeth, and if that cannot be hindred notwithstanding that he hath once decreed how doth he iustly condemne them, which perish by his will? 17 The Apostle doeth not answere that it is not Gods will, or that God doth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie, but he rather granteth his aduersarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods wil, and that it must of necessitie so fall out yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vniust reuenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proofe that this is the will of God and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but dust and ashes to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man say that the doubt is not so dissolued and answered, I answere, that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded vnto this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousnesse. 18 An amplification of the former answere, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that Gods determinate counsell is set of Paul the hiest of all causes, so that it dependeth not vpon any respect of second causes, but doth rather frame and direct them. ∵ Esai. 45.9. u This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankinde.

✠ Chap. 2.17. ephe. 2.12. d The tables of the couenant: and this is spoken by the figure Metonymia. e Of the iudiciall Lawe. f The ceremoniall Lawe. g Which were made to Abraham and to his posteritie. 2 A most manifest testimonie of the Godhead and diuinitie of Christ. ✠ Chap. 2.28. 3 He entreth into the handling of predestination by a kind of preuenting an obiection: How may it be, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall wee must also make the couenant which God made with Abraham and his seede, frustrate and voyd? Hee answereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Israel be cast off: for the election of the people of Israel is so generall and common, that notwithstanding the same, God chuseth by his secret counsell, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of this Treatise: The grace of saluation is offered generally in such sort, that notwithstanding it, the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. h Israel in the first place, is taken for Iaakob, and in the second, for the Israelites. ∵ Gen. 21.12. hebr. 11.18. 4 The first proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne house, wherein Isaac onely was accounted the sonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Ismael also was borne of Abraham, & circumcised before Isaac. i Isaac shalbe thy true & naturall sonne, & therefore heire of thy blessing. 5 A generall application of the former proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the course of nature. ⁂ Galat. 4.28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promise. 6 A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was borne by the vertue of the promise, & therefore hee was not chosen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect and not that they be first borne and then afterward elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate. ✠ Gen. 18.10. 7 Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the sonne of the promise, of one mother, & at one birth, and not at diuers as Ismael & Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off, onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodnesse of Iacobs might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednes of Esaus of his casting away. * Gene. 25.21. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleased him to chuse one, and refuse the other. 8 Paul saith not, might be made, but being made, might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make foreseene faith the cause of election, and foreknowen infidelitie, the cause of reprobation. 9 He prooueth the casting away of Esau by that, that hee was made seruant to his brother: and prooueth the chusing of Iacob by that that hee was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the first begotten. And least that any man might take this saying of God, & referre it to externall things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, & the Lordship of Iacob with the loue of God. ✠ Gen. 25.23.

there they shallbe called, The children of the liuing God.
27 [26] Also Esaias cryeth concerning Israel, ✱ Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant 31 [28] But Israel which followed the Lawe of righteousnesse, could not attaine vnto the Law of

CHAP. X.

1 Hee handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace. 4 Christ, who is the end of the Law. 15 Hee sheweth that Moses foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esaias the hardening of the Iewes.

Brethren, [1] mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saued.
2 For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.
3 [2] For they, [a] being ignorant of the righteous-nesse of God, and going about to [b] stablish their owne righteousnesse, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnesse of God.
4 ✠ [3] For Christ is the [c] end of the Lawe for righteousnesse vnto [d] euery one that beleeueth.
5 [4] For Moses thus discribeth the righteousnesse which is of the Law, ∵ That the man which doeth
these things, shall liue thereby.
6 But the righteousnes which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, ✱ [e] Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue.)
7 Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead,) 8 [5] But what saith it? ✠ The [f] worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.
9 [6] For if thou shalt [g] confesse with thy mouth
the Lord Iesus, and shalt beleeue in thine heart, that [h] God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued:
10 For with the heart man [i] beleeueth vnto righteousnesse, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.
11 [7] For the Scripture saith, * Whosoeuer [k] be-leeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.
12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for hee that is Lord ouer all,
is rich vnto all that call on him.
13 ✠ [8] For whosoeuer shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued.

✠ Ier.18.6. 19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and doeth dayly make according as he purposed from euerlasting, both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, making, declareth. 20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was onely made of vessels to dishonour: yet he speaketh of the other also in this answere, for that he prooueth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries doeth require. x To honest vses. 21 Seeing then, that in the name of dishonour, the ignominie of euerlasting death is signified, they speake with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction: and they that are offended with this kind of speech bewray their owne folly.

22 The second answere is this, that God, moreouer and besides that he doeth iustly decree whatsoeuer he doeth decree, vseth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate, in that, that he suffreth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and singular benefits, vntill at length hee iustly condemne them, and that to good end and purpose, to wit, to shewe himselfe to be an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that in many appeare what power hee is of by these seuere iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set foorth indeede, how great his mercie is towards the elect. y By vessels, the Hebrewes vnderstand all kindes of instruments. 23 Therefore againe, wee may say with Paul, that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction. z The vnmeasurable and marueilous greatnesse. 24 Hauing established the doctrine of the eternall predestination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect: hee commeth now to shewe the vse of it, teaching vs that wee ought not to seeke the testimonie of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set foorth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes & Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceiued. a Hee sayth not that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and some of the Gentiles. 25 Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, euen as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne vnworthinesse, or the vnworthinesse of our ancesters should cause vs to thinke that wee are not the elect and chosen of God, if wee be called of him, and so embrace through faith the saluation that is offered vs. ✠ Hos.2,23. 1.peter 2.10 ∵ Hos 1,10. 26 Contrarywise, Neither any outwarde generall calling, neither any worthinesse of our ancesters, is a sufficient witnesse of election, vnlesse by faith and beliefe wee answere Gods calling, which thing came to passe in the Iewes, as the Lord had forewarned. ✱ Isai.10.21. b God purposeth to bring the vnkinde and vnthankefull people to an extreme fewnesse. ✠ Isai.1.9. c Armies, by which word the chiefest power that is, is giuen to God d Euen a very fewe. 27 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles. e Sothen, the Gentiles had no workes to prepare & procure Gods mercie before hande, and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercy of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselues, because they sought it not aright. 28 The pride of men is the cause that they contemne vocation, so that the cause of their damnation neede not to be sought for any other where but in themselues. f Seeking to come by righteousnesse, they followed the Law of righteousnesse.

✠ Psal.118.22. isai.8.14 and 28.16. 1.pet.2.6.

1 Purposing to set foorth in the Iewes an example of marueilous obstinacie, he vseth an insinuation. 2 The first entrance into the vocation vnto saluation, is to renounce our owne righteousnesse: the next is, to embrace that righteousnesse by faith, which God freely offereth vs in the Gospel. a The ignorance of the Law which wee ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his houshold. b Ignorance hath alway pride ioyned with it. ✠ Galat.3.24. 3 The proofe: The Law it selue hath respect vnto Christ that such as beleeue in him should be saued. Therefore the calling to saluation by the workes of the Law, is vaine and foolish, but Christ is offered for saluation to euery beleeuer. c The end of the Law is to iustifie them that keepe the Law: but seeing we do not obserue the Law through the fault of our flesh, wee attaine not vnto this ende: But Christ salueth this disease, for hee fulfilled the Law for vs. d Not onely to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles. 4 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest proofe, for that it propoundeth such a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Christ onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that nowe no man can aske, who can ascend vp into heauen, or bring vs from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that for their sakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them. ∵ Leui.18.5. ezek.20.11. gal 3,12. ✱ Deut.30,12. e Thinke not with thy selfe, as men that are staggering vse to doe. 5 Vocation commeth by the worde preached. ✠ Deuteron.30,14. f By the word, Moses vnderstoode the Lawe which the Lord published with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospel which was the perfection of the Lawe. 6 That is indeede true faith which is setled not onely in the head, but also in the heart of man, whereof also wee giue testimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone & onely Sauiour, euen as hee setteth forth himselfe in his word. g If thou professe plainely, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Iesus onely to be thy Lord and Sauiour. h The Father, who is saide to haue raised the Sonne from the dead: and this is not spoken to shut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to set foorth the Fathers counsell touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Sonne. i Faith is saide to iustifie, and furthermore seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to saluation, it followeth that faith is also saide to saue. 7 Nowe hee prooueth the other part which hee propounded afore in the fourth verse, to wit, that Christ called whomsoeuer hee listeth without any difference, and this he confirmeth by a double testimonie. * Isai.28,16. k To beleeue in God is to yeelde and consent to God his promise of our saluation by Christ, and that not onely in generall: but when wee know that the promises pertaine to vs whereupon riseth a sure trust. ✠ Ioel.2.32. 8 True calling vpon the Name of God is the testimonie of true faith, and true faith of true vocation or calling, and true calling, of true election.

9 That is, true faith, which seeketh God in his word, and that preached, according as God hath appointed in the Church.
✠ Isa.52.7. nahum.1,15.
10 Wheresoeuer faith is, there is also the word, but not contrary wise. wheresoeuer the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word.
l He speaketh this because of the Iewes.
✠ Isa.53,1. Iohn 12.38.
11 A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election.
m By Gods Commandement.

14 But howe shall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? 9 And how shall they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and how shall they heare without a preacher?
15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, ✠ How beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!
16 10 But they haue not l all obeyed the Gospel: for Esaias saith, ✠ Lord, who hath beleeued our report?
17 11 Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the m word of God.
18 12 But I demaund, Haue they not heard? ✠ No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.
19 13 But I demaund, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, ✠ I will prouoke you to enuie by a n nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.
20 ✠ And Esaias is o bolde, and saith, I was found of them that sought mee not, and haue beene made manifest to them that asked not after mee.
21 And vnto Israel hee saith, * All the day long haue I stretched foorth mine hand vnto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

12 An obiection: If calling be a testimony of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not graunt that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not beene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. ✠ Psal.19.3 13 The defender and mainteiner of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to aske, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esay (saith the Apostle) denieth it, and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and vniuersall calling, which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe small or no efficacie, vnlesse it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by vnbeleefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. ✠ Deuter.32.21. n He calleth all profane people, a nation that is no nation, as they are not saide to liue but to die, which are appointed for euerlasting condemnation. ✠ Isa.65,1. o Speaketh without feare. * Isa.65.2.

CHAP. XI.

1 Least the casting off of the Iewes should be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 hee sheweth that Elias was in times past deceiued: 16 and that, seeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shalbe holy. 18, 24 He exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 cryeth out, that Gods iudgements are vnsearcheable.

1 Now the Apostle sheweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore hee teacheth vs that all the Iewes in particular are not cast away, and therefore we ought

I Demaund then, 1 Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for 2 I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.
2 3 God hath not cast away his people which he a knew before. 4 Know yee not what the Scripture saith of Elias, how hee communeth with God against Israel, saying,
3 ✠ Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine Altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life?
4 But what saith the answere of God to him? ✠ I haue b reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousande men, which haue not bowed the knee to c Baal.
5 Euen so then, at this present time is there a remnant according to the d election of grace.
6 5 And if it be of grace, it is e no more of workes: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace, or els were worke no more worke.
7 What then? Israel hath not obteined that he sought: but the election hath obteined it, and the rest haue beene f hardened,
8 6 According as it is written, ✠ God hath giuen them the spirit of g slumber: eyes that they h should not see, and eares that they should not heare vnto this day.
9 And Dauid saith, ✠ i Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling blocke, euen for a recompense vnto them.
10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not, and bow downe their backe alwayes.
11 7 I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.
12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the k riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their l aboundance be?
13 8 For in that I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I m magnifie mine office, 14 To try if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to follow them, and might saue some of them.
15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, n but life from the dead?
16 9 For if the o first fruites be holy, so is the whole lumpe: and if the p roote be holy, so are the branches.

✠ 1.king.19 18.
b He speaketh of remnants and reserued people, which were chosen from euerlasting, and not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect.
c Baal signifieth as much as Master or patrone, or one in whose power an other is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrones and patronesses or Ladies.
d The election of grace, is not wherby men chose grace, but whereby God chose vs of his grace and goodnesse.
5 That although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely chosen: and let them that stubburnly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it vnto themselues.
e This saying beateth downe flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kindes and maner of workes, wherby our iustifiers of themselues doe teach, that workes are either wholy or partly the cause of our iustification. f Looke Marke 3.5. 6 And yet this hardnesse of heart commeth not but by Gods iust decree & iudgement, and yet without fault, when as hee so punishe h the vnthankefull by taking from them all sense and perceiuance, & by doubling their darkenesse, that the benefites of God which are offered vnto them, doe redound to their iust destruction. ✠ Isa.6,9.and 29,10.matth. 13,14.Iohn 12,40.act.28.26. g A very dead sleepe which taketh away all sense, h That is, eyes vnfit to see. ✠ Psal.69,23. i As vnhappy birdes are intised to death by that which is their sustenance, so did that onely thing turne to the Iewes destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous zeale whereof they refused the Gospel. 7 God appointed this casting out of the Iewes, that it might be an occasion to call the Gentiles: and againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occasion to restore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed and prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselues at length embrace the Gospel And hereby we may learne, that the seueritie of God serueth aswell to the setting foorth of his glory as his mercie doeth, and also that God prepare himselfe a way to mercy, by his seueritie: so that we ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke them to an holy emulation, that God may be glorified in thē also. k By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospel to euerlasting life: and by the world, all nations dispersed thorowout the whole world. l Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ. 8 Hee witnesseth by his owne example, that hee goeth before all other in this behalfe. m I make noble and famous. n It shall come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were quicken againe, and rise vp from death to life. 9 The nation of the Iewes, being considered in their stocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the braunches be cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, wee must not sticke in their vnworthinesse, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the roote of the couenant, and rather goe backe to their ancesters which were faithfull, that wee may know that the blessing of ẏ Couenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as wee also finde proofe hereof in our selues. o Hee alludeth to the first fruites of those loaues, by the offring whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, and they might vse the rest of the yeere folowing with good conscience. p Abraham.

not to pronounce rashly of priuate persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not. a The first proofe, I am a Iew, and yet elected, therefore wee may and ought fully resolue vpon our election, as hath beene before said: but of another mans we cannot be so certainely resolued, and yet ours may cause vs to hope well of others. 3 The second proofe; Because that God is faithfull in his league or Couenant, although men be vnfaithfull: So then seeing that God hath said, that hee will be the God of his vnto a thousand generations, wee must take heede, that wee thinke not that the whole race & offspring is cast off, by reason of the vnbeliefe of a fewe, but rather, that wee hope well of euery member of the Church, because of Gods league and Couenant. a Which he loue and chose from euerlasting. 4 The third proofe, taken from the answere that was made to Elias: euen then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knewe his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that euen the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke it be cleane extinct and put out. ✠ 1.King. 19,10,

17 ✠ [10] And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast graft in q for them, and made r partaker of the root, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 s Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high minded, but t feare.

21 For if God spared not the u naturall branches, take heede, least he also spare not thee.

22 [11] Beholde therefore the x bountifulnesse, and seueritie of God: toward them which haue fallen, seueritie: but toward thee, bountifulnesse, if thou continue in his y bountifulnesse: or els thou shalt also be cut off.

23 [12] And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shalbe graffed in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by z nature, and wast graffed contrary to nature in a a right Oliue tree, howe much more shall they that are by nature, be graffed in their owne Oliue tree?

25 [13] For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (least yee should be arrogant in your b selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be c come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saued, as it is written, ✠ The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the vngodlinesse from Iacob.

27 And this is my couenant to them, ∵ When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 [14] As concerning the d Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the e election, they are beloued for the fathers sakes.

29 [15] For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

✠ Ierem.11,6.
10 There is no cause why the Gentiles which haue obtained mercy, should triumph ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, seeing they are graffed into the Iewes. But let them rather take heed that that also be not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof also this generall doctrine may be gathered and taken, that wee ought to be studious of Gods glory, euen in respect of our neighbours: so far ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before other by a singular grace.
q In place of those boughes which are broken off.
r It is against the common course of husbandry, that the barren ioyce of the tree is changed with the iuyce of the good tree.
s We may reioyce in the Lord, but so that we despise not the Iewes, whom we ought rather to prouoke to that good striuing with vs.
t See that thou stand in awe of God modestly and carefully.

u He calleth them naturall, not because they had any holinesse of nature, but because they were borne of them whom the Lord set apart for himselfe, from other nations, by his league and couenant which he freely made with them. 11 Seeing the matter it selfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetuall) wee must take good heede, that that be not found in our selues, which wee thinke blameworthy in others, for the election is free. but they that are truely elect and engraffed are not proud in themselues with contempt of other, but with due reuerence to God, and loue toward their neighbour, runne to the marke which is set before them. x The tender and louing heart. y In that state which God his bountifulnesse hath aduanced thee vnto: and wee must marke here, that hee speaketh not of the election of euery priuate man which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation. 12 Many are now, for a season cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time shallbe graffed in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, & touching the outward shewe, seeme to be ingraffed, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off and cleane cast away: which thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes. z Vnderstand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie. a Into the people of the Iewes which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and he speaketh of the whole nation, not of euery one part. 13 The blindenesse of the Iewes is neither so vniuersall that the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shallbe a time wherein they also (as the Prophets haue forewarned) shall effectually imbrace that which they doe now so stubburnly for the most part reiect and refuse. b That yee be not proud within your selues. c Into the Church. ✠ Esai.59 20. ∵ Esai.27 9. 14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teach what duety the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, hee beateth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not vtterly cast off without hope of recouery. d Forasmuch as they receiued it not. e In that, that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what he promised to Abraham 15 The reason or proofe: because the couenant made with that nation of life euerlasting cannot be frustrate and vaine,

30 [16] For euen as yee in times past haue not beleeued God, yet haue nowe obteined mercy through their vnbeliefe:

31 Euen so now haue they not beleeued by the mercy shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercy.

32 For God hath shut vp f all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercy on all.

33 [17] O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisedome, and knowledge of God! how vnsearchable are his g iudgements, and his h wayes past finding out!

34 ✠ [18] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? or who was his counseller?

35 Or who hath giuen vnto him i first, and hee shalbe recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for k him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

16 Another reason, because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbornnesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of that mercie which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselues also be partakers of the same benefit, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued, onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue beene so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had saued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. f Both Iewes and Gentiles. 17 The Apostle crieth out as astonished with this wonderfull wisedome of God, which hee teacheth vs. ought to be religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and prophanely to be searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath reuealed vnto vs. g The course that hee holdeth in gouerning all things both generally and particularly h The order of his counsels and doings. ✠ Iob 41,2. Esai. 40,13 1 corinth.2,16. 18 Hee bridleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man. First, because that God is aboue all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainely godlesse to measure him by our folly. Moreouer, because he is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may wee contend and debate the matter with him. i This saying ouerthroweth the doctrine of foreseene workes and merits. k To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new workes which hee worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 Hee exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God: 9 to loue vnfained, 14, 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beseech [1] you therefore brethren, a by the mercies of God, that yee b giue vp your c bodies a d liuing sacrificie, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your e reasonable seruing of God.

2 [2] And fashion not your selues like vnto this world, but be yee changed by the renewing of your f minde, that yee may ✠ prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 [3] For I g say through the grace that is giuen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man h presume to vnderstand aboue that which is meete to vnderstand, but that he vnderstand according to i sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the ∵ measure of k faith.

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life, And first of all he giueth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this, that euery man consecrate himselfe wholly to the spirituall seruice of God, and doe as it were sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God. a By this preface hee sheweth that Gods glory is the vtmost ende of all our doings. b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is euerywhere. c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, now our owne must be offered. d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them. e Spirituall. 2 The second precept is this, That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, set before vs as our marke, the will of God, as it is manifested and opened vnto vs in his word. f Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castell, nor for mans free will, which the Popish schoolemen dreame on, if the minde must be renued. Looke Ephesians 1,18. and 2,5 and 4. 17. and Colossians 1,21. ✠ Ephesians 5,17. 1.thess 4,3. 3 Thirdly hee admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him. g I charge. h That he please not himselfe too much, as they doe, which perswade themselues they know more then indeede they doe. i We shall be sober, if we take not that vpon vs, which we haue not. & if we bragge not of that we haue. ∵ 1.Corin.12,11. eph.4,7. k By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, and the gifts which the holy Ghost powreth vpon the faithfull.

4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: and therefore, he doeth backwardly, and not onely vnprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearieth himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuersitie and inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commoditie: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Wherevpon it followeth that no man ought to be grieued thereat, seeing that the vse of euery priuate gift is common.
✠ 1 Pet.4,10.
5 That which he spake before in generall, he applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And he diuideth them into two sorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons: and againe he diuideth the Prophets into doctours, and Pastours. And of Deacons hee maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church cofers, whom hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of discipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were. l That euery man obserue the measure of that which is reuealed vnto him. m Whose office onely is to expound the Scriptures n Who in other places is called the Pastour. o To wit, the almes, that he destribute them faithfully, & without respect of person. ✠ Mat 6,2. 2 cor 9,7 p The Elders of the Church q They that are busied about tending on the poore, must doe it with cheerefulnesse least they adde sorow to sorow 6 Now hee commeth to the dueties of the second Table, which he deriueth from charitie, which is as it were the fountaine of them all. CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee willeth that we submit our selues to Magistrates: 8 To loue our neighbours: 13 To liue vprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

1 Let ✠ 1 euery a soule be subiect vnto the higher powers: 3 for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are b ordained of God.
2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God, and they that resist, shall receiue to themselues condemnation.
3 4 For magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euill. 5 Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue praise of the same:
4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth: 6 but if thou doe euill, feare: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to c take vengeance on him that doeth euill.
5 7 Wherefore we must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but d also for conscience sake.
6 8 For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselues for the same thing.
7 ✠ Giue to all men therefore their duety, tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom e feare: honour, to whom ye owe f honour.
8 9 Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: 10 for hee that loueth another, hath fulfilled the g Law.
9 For this, ∵ Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witnes, Thou shalt not couet: and if there be any other commandement, it is h briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this, ✻ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.
10 Loue doth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the ✣ fulfilling of the Law.
11 11 And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleepe: for now is our saluation neerer, then when wee beleeued it.

1 Now he sheweth seuerally, what subiects owe to their Magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which hee sheweth, that no man is free: and in such sort that it is not onely due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also euen to the basest, which hath any office vnder him.
a Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet. Chrysostome Therefore the tyranny of the Pope ouer all kingdomes must downe to the ground.
2 A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiour should be subiect vnto them?
3 Another argument of great force. Because God is authour of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselues great miserie and calamity.
b Be destributed: for some are greater, some smaller.
